Tam Teacher Strike Keeps Most Off Job

80 Per Cent Missing In Protest Over Pay

By BILL ROBERTS

Eighty per cent of the Tamalpais High School District's teachers today stayed off the job in a one-day strike over salary negotiations, leaving most students in the three high schools with only recreational programs and movies.

Only 65 of the district's 334 teachers reported for work and were greeted by about 60 per cent of the district's 5,800 students, according to figures compiled by Edward J. Neumeier, district administrative assistant.

Neumeier said the district will lose about $1,900 in state aid as a result of student absenteeism but it will save over $20,000 in salaries which will be withheld from striking teachers.

A handful of school administrators, substitute teachers and parent volunteers aided the regular teachers but at two schools no regular classes were offered.

Only at Sir Francis Drake High School, where 30 teachers were on the job, the top turnout in the district, were regular classes held by combining smaller classes with larger ones. Drake also had the highest student attendance with 66 per cent as compared to 50 per cent at Tam and 54 per cent at Redwood.

Picketing teachers were spread throughout the district, some at the schools, district

Budget Of $51.3 Million Proposed For The County

A $51.3 million county budget, which would not greatly change the level of public services provided, has been proposed for fiscal 1974-75 by Marin County Administrator John F. Barrows. (For a detailed breakdown of the budget, see page 24).

The proposed spending program, released this week for review prior to next month's budget hearings by county supervisors, is about $800,000 higher than the present budget.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell estimated that the county administrator's proposed budget could be financed with a tax rate "significantly less than the current rate."

The current rate stands at $2.58 per $100 assessed valuation and Mitchell said that might drop 10 to 20 cents depending on a number of variables. Those include increased assessments and how much money is left over from the present county budget. He said he will have a more precise estimate next week.

Mitchell said the tax rate will be three cents higher than it normally would have been because part of the county's share of increased revenue from higher assessment valuation within San Rafael's redevelopment area is going to the city's redevelopment agency to help finance redevelopment there.

In his budget message to the board, Barrows listed possible points of contention that supervisors will have to resolve.

He said his proposed budget is $5 million less than the total amount requested by county department heads.

A major portion of that difference is in the roads budget, where public works director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. requested $4.7 million but Barrows recommended only $3.5 million.

Barrows said a drop in gas tax revenues because of the gasoline shortage was the primary reason for his lower recommendation.

Foreaker, meanwhile, maintains the $1.2 million more is needed and that road maintenance will suffer if not granted.

He is expected to ask supervisors to dip into property and sales tax revenues to make up the difference.

In the parks and recreation department, Barrows differs with parks director Pierre W. Joske over the need for nine new positions.

The department now has 18 employees and Joske wants 30. Barrows recommended 21. Barrow's proposed budget shows $512,000 for the department (excluding capital improvements) and Joske's shows $619,000.

There are relatively minor differences between the two over how much should be spent developing Stafford Lake Park, near Novato, and other recreation areas.

$150,000 Fire Damage To Apartment Complex

Fire of undetermined origin did damage estimated at $150,000 to an apartment complex last night in San Rafael and sent one fireman to the hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.

The fire started at 8:32 p.m. in the apartment of Ralph Torsiello and Gary Friedlander at 108 Professional Center Parkway, Apt. 303. Firemen were five hours and 22 minutes on the scene.

Capt. Donald Woford was treated at Marin General Hospital for smoke inhalation.

According to Capt. J. Kenneth Mazza of the San Rafael Fire Department, firemen were hampered by the U-shaped design of the four-story building, and the stairs and long corridors in the apartment complex.

Fire totally destroyed the one unit and the attic above it. There was smoke damage to 10 other apartments and water damage to 20, Mazza said.

The department had five engines and one truck company fighting the fire. The Kentfield Fire Department assisted in the salvage work. The San Anselmo and Larkspur fire departments stood by.

Nixon Gets Warning On Subpoena

WASHINGTION (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee voted 28 to 10 today to inform President Nixon his refusal to honor its subpoenas "might constitute a ground for impeachment."

After an hour's debate the congressmen agreed to send Nixon a letter advising him they will feel free to conclude he is hiding evidence harmful to his cause by continuing to ignore subpoenas for Watergate tapes and documents.

The committee also was considering whether to subpoena more presidential tapes and documents in its impeachment inquiry. Three subpoenas have already been issued. Nixon ignored two and released his Watergate transcripts in response to the third.

In their debate the members revised and somewhat softened a letter proposed by Rep. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., a key southerner on the committee.

The key paragraph in the adopted version read:

"In meeting their constitutional responsibilites, committee members will be free to consider whether your refusals require the drawing of adverse inferences concerning the substance of the materials, and whether your refusals in and of themselves might constitute a ground for impeachment."

San Rafael Studies More Urban Funding

By NELS JOHNSON

The San Rafael city administration, while proposing a $5,694,648 redevelopment budget for 1974-75, is recommending reopening negotiations to boost the urban renewal project's $6 million limit on spending. (For another San Rafael city budget story, see page 9.)

"To redevelop downtown San Rafael in the manner which should be done, appears at this time to require increasing the bond limits as set in the county and (Marin Community College District) agreements," according to a statement accompanying the budget proposed by William J. Bielser, redevelopment agency executive director.

"Limitation of tax increment bonding to $6 million . . . presents serious difficulties for the project," according to Bielser's redevelopment budget message.

The San Rafael Redevelopment Agency settled bitter squabbles with the county and college district over redevelopment by agreeing to several limitations, including limiting the project to $6 million over seven years.

The county and college district sought the limitations because their share of increased revenue resulting from increased assessed valuation of property in the redevelopment area would be taken by the redevelopment agency for as long as needed to pay for redevelopment.

The budget notes that the county has already agreed that the project's seven-year lifespan will begin next year with the second sale of redevelopment bonds, and says that negotiations are under way for a similar agreement with the college district.

Bielser said focus on the first six months of the fiscal year will be on development of a redevelopment master plan, and added the plan will be linked to reopening negotiations.

Bielser's $5,694,648 redevelopment proposal is up $4,385,243 from this year's $1,309,405 spending program.

The rise in agency spending results from a proposed $5 million capital investment program, up from this year's $1 million. Other budget divisions are a $306,448 allocation for administration, up from this year's $126,600, and a $388,200 allocation for long term obligations, up from $182,805.

The budget is based on estimated revenue of $818,590 generated by a $7,590,077 increase in assessed valuation within the redevelopment area this year, and on $5 million in bond issues.

Bielser explained that the agency's $5 million capital in-

Another Reagan Pitch On Prop. 1

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today toured the historic Stanford mansion and called for voters to approve Proposition 1, a $250 million bond issue that would restore the mansion as part of the state park system.

The mansion, built in 1857, was once the home of Gov. Leland Stanford and now is used as a home for mentally disturbed teen-agers. It would be one of the 37 historical projects which could be financed by Proposition 1 on the June 4 ballot.

Law Firm, Bank Donate To Cooke

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Marin County Coroner and Public Administrator Donovan O. Cooke has received nearly $2,300 in campaign contributions from a local legal firm and a bank which he has used over the years almost exclusively to handle probate cases.

The contributions from the firm of Vallarino, Costamagna and Morehouse and from the Redwood Bank, both of San Rafael, are listed in Dr. Cooke's campaign financial statements — the latest of which was filed Tuesday.

(Deadline for second filing of campaign statements by all candidates was Tuesday, and the county elections office today reported little change in contribution and expenditure filings from those reported in detail in the Independent-Journal May 15. A final statement must be filed by each candidate by July 12).

Listed for Cooke was a $1,995 campaign cocktail party thrown for him by the legal firm and a $300 donation from Phillip J. Kirch, manager of Redwood Bank.

The legal firm handles virtually all the public administrator's probate cases that pass through Dr. Cooke's office, while the bank holds the money of those who have died without wills.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said no state law prohibits candidates from accepting contributions from firms doing business with the county. Only if the contribution is given and accepted in return for some consideration, such as a contract or a vote, is it illegal, he said.

The party thrown by the legal firm in its office May 17 drew between 400 and 500 people, said attorney David J. Costamagna. It was given "because Dr. Cooke is a personal friend," he said.

He said that other clients were invited, too, but acknowledged that the invitations announced the party as in honor of Dr. Cooke and his wife and that reelection signs were placed on walls.

Since 1967, the legal firm has made tens of thousands of dollars handling Cooke's probate cases. Since last January, the firm has made about $12,000 with the settlement of some cases still pending. It received $7,283 for one case and handled others for no fee.

Besides the legal aspects of the cases, Dr. Cooke is charged under state law with holding and safeguarding the estates of those who die without wills, pending final deposition. Under the law, he controls the funds and not the county treasurer.

In the case of Redwood Bank,

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

New Belfast Break

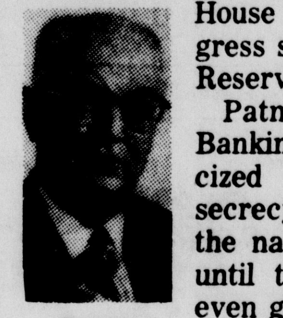
BELFAST, North Ireland (UPI) — The Protestant Ulster Defense Association (UDA) warned Protestants and Roman Catholics alike today that unless they learn to live and work together "the alternative is a bloodbath with quarter neither given nor expected."

The UDA is the largest Protestant paramilitary group and its warning signaled a break with other Protestant groups who refused to cooperate with the Catholics under any circumstances and backed their beliefs with a 15-day strike that brought down Northern Ireland's coalition government.

Britain sent Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees to Belfast today for talks with assembly leaders to see if it could salvage its previous arrangements to share power between the Protestants and the minority Catholics.

Patman Wins 'Fed' Probe Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After almost a decade of fruitless efforts, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., finally has succeeded in bringing a bill to the House floor that would give Congress some oversight of the Federal Reserve Board.



Patman

Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, has long criticized both the policies and the secrecy of the "Fed" in handling the nation's monetary policies. But until this year he was blocked in even getting a bill to the floor.

Today is Patman's day. He finally managed to convince the House Rules Committee this year to allow debate on a bill providing an audit of the board by the General Accounting Office (GAO), an agency of Congress.

The bill, which has been attacked in a heavy lobbying effort by banking interests, would allow a GAO audit of the country's central bank at least once every three years.

Strikes Ended

LISBON (UPI) — Bakers, bus drivers and streetcar conductors returned to work today, ending a series of paralyzing strikes after the government threatened to use force to prevent economic chaos in Portugal.

Union officials said the strikers had agreed to resume work while negotiations with a government conciliation board continued.

Transport workers went on strike for a 60 per cent pay increase Monday, and bakers joined them with similar claims one day later.

The end to the strikes came after the government fired administrators of the Lisbon subway, post office and telephone companies and installed new executives in a move to stabilize the shaky economy of the strike-plagued nation.

Leaks Continue

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI) — About four city blocks remained off-limits to nearly 1,000 persons early today as firemen worked to rid sewer pipes of persistent gasoline fumes that have caused repeated evacuations of homes since Tuesday.

Although a few persons returned to their homes yesterday, police said most of the displaced residents were prevented from going back by yet another outpouring of gasoline vapors from sewers in the northeast part of the city.

OEO Voted Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has voted to abolish the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), the 10-year-old war on poverty headquarters, but to continue its major programs of aid to the poor for three years under a $3.7 billion authorization.

The House voted 331-53 yesterday to approve a "Community Services Act," which would repeal the 1964 law that created OEO as a major Great Society program. It had been under constant congressional criticism for waste and mismanagement of funds.

The bill was sent to the Senate, but President Nixon has implied he would veto it if it cleared that body, mainly because the measure keeps the Community Action program alive.

Contact Concludes

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong walked out of a meeting with the United States and South Vietnam today, ending the last formal contact among the four parties, a government military spokesman said.

The major effect of the walkout is to end, at least temporarily, all discussion of accounting for Americans still missing in action from the Indochina war.

U.S. officials had no immediate comment.

Relief Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has approved an administration bill providing $1.5 billion to the International Development Association (IDA), which lends money without interest to the world's poorest countries.

The 55-27 vote yesterday would set the U.S. contribution at $375 million in each of four years.

The House defeated the measure, 248-155, in January, partly because of anxiety over the adverse effect on the U.S. balance of payments by the sharp increases in oil prices.

1975 Cars Will Save Much Gas

DETROIT (UPI) — Auto industry claims of fuel economy improvements of as much as 20 per cent on some larger 1975-model cars are not exaggerated, says a high official of the federal agency that publishes mileage figures.

Eric O. Stork, Environmental Protection Agency deputy assistant administrator, said yesterday that estimates made last fall that fuel economy would improve by about 8 per cent and those of General Motors that mileage would be up by 13 per cent were too conservative.

Stork also said there should be less confusion in the public's mind when fuel economy figures for 1975 models are published than was evident last fall for the 1974 models. The EPA obtains its mileage figures from data collected while certifying that cars meet federal emission requirements.

"Our testing and preliminary data certainly suggest that our estimates as well as those for GM will turn out to have been too conservative," Stork told newsmen after a meeting with auto industry executives at the EPA's emmissions testing laboratory yesterday in nearby Ann Arbor. Claims by GM of as much as 20 per cent fuel economy improvement on some 1975 models over comparable 1974 models "come as no surprise to us and I have no reason whatsoever to say anything than that they are probably correct," said Stork.

The use of the catalytic converter — a muffler-like device that helps change noxious exhaust gases into harmless carbon dioxide and water —will provide the fuel economy improvement. He said it would be greatest on the large cars since they have been most affected by the emission control devices added to cars in te last four years.

Stork said that there have been remarkably few failures of the catlaytic converters — expected to cost about $150 per car —during 50,000—mile certification tests.

Equal-Time Violation Is Charged By Roth

SAN FRANCISCO(UPI) — William Matson Roth, of Ross, Democratic candidate for governor, has accused two television stations of violating the federal equal-time requirement.

Roth said yesterday he complained to the Federal Communications Commission saying station KOVR, Sacramento, and KNBC, Los Angeles, violated the requirement by offering candidates Joseph Alioto, Edmund G. Brown Jr., and Bob Moretti free time for debate and interviews, but did not offer time to him.

"Based on name recognition alone, the major television stations in Los Angeles and other metropolitan areas decided that there were only three candidates in this race," Roth said.

By promoting the appearances of the other candidates, he said, station KNBC is "in the business of news making, not news coverage."

Frank McPeak, director of public relations for McClatchy Broadcasting, owner of KOVR, said Roth had been interviewed by newsmen for a full hour on March 10 as a Democratic candidate for governor on the station's "State Capitol" program.

He said the station subsequently invited all 18 Democratic candidates to be interviewed, including Roth, and that Roth turned it down but three others accepted. He noted the format of the program involved newsmen asking questions of the candidates.

"Actually, Mr. Roth had more time on KOVR than any other candidate during the total campaign period," McPeak said.

He said the format used in previous "State Capitol" programs as well as the appearance by Alioto and Moretti "was an interview and not a debate. Mr. Roth had been interviewed. He was offered a second chance to be interviewed and he turned it down."

Hope Returns Home For Party

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Bob Hope came back to his childhood home last night for a benefit dinner and the celebration of his 71st birthday, and wisecracked about President Nixon's golf game.

"The President has a short backswing," Hope told newsmen before the $100-a-plate dinner to benefit the USO. "I played with him a few years ago and told him to get his hands up higher, but how many times can you tell the President to get his hands up?"

Asked if he planned to go into politics, Hope said, "No way. I could never live on that much money. Politics and show business are the same; one day you're drinking the wine and the next day you're picking the grapes."

Asked how stayed so fit at 71, Hope quipped: "I lie about my age."

Anti-Knock Auto Fuel Discovered

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AIR FORCE BASE, Ohio (UPI) — The discovery of a lead-free anti-knock gasoline additive was announced here yesterday by scientists at Wright-Patterson's aero-space chemistry research laboratory.

Dr. Robert E. Sievers said the discovery will save billions of dollars otherwise needed to build refineries and will make possible the lead-free gasoline needed to avoid "poisoning" of new catalytic automobile systems.

Sievers said Ford and Chrysler are currently testing the new fuel to determine if it is compatible with their converters.

The additive, already patented by the Air Force here and applications for patents made in 14 foreign nations, is based on special "rare earth" compounds rather than on tetra ethyl lead which is the principal anti-knock agent now used in gasoline.

"As a matter of fact," said Sievers, "this most promising additive is based on serium which is more abundant in the Earth's crust than lead and abundant deposits are available in the United States."

Three Quit Watergate Prosecution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The three Watergate prosecution lawyers who had been investigating the International Telephone and Telegraph case have quit.

But spokesmen for Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworksi won't say whether they left because they were unhappy with the charging of former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst with a misdemeanor rather than a felony for perjury.

Kleindienst was allowed by prosecutors to plead guilty to a misdemeanors charge arising out of false testimony at his confirmation hearing before the Senate Judiciary Commitee in the spring of 1972.

The Washington Post, quoting unnamed sources, said yesterday that ITT task force chief Joseph Connolly quit because he was unhappy with the decision to let Kleindienst plead to the technical misdemeanor rather than prosecute him for perjury.

Connolly quit abruptly last Friday with no public announcement. Jaworski yesterday named Richard J. Davis, another assistant prosecutor, to take Connolly's place.

A few hours later, spokesmen for Jaworski announced that two other members of the the ITT task force, Lawrence A. Hammond and Paul R. Hoeber, had also resigned.

Hoeber's resignation was said to be effective "early next week," although Hammond will stay on until mid-August.

Prosecution spokesmen refused to confirm or deny the Post report of internal dissension.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

New Belfast Break

BELFAST, North Ireland (UPI) — The Protestant Ulster Defense Association (UDA) warned Protestants and Roman Catholics alike today that unless they learn to live and work together "the alternative is a bloodbath with quarter neither given nor expected."

The UDA is the largest Protestant paramilitary group and its warning signaled a break with other Protestant groups who refused to cooperate with the Catholics under any circumstances and backed their beliefs with a 15-day strike that brought down Northern Ireland's coalition government.

Britain sent Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees to Belfast today for talks with assembly leaders to see if it could salvage its previous arrangements to share power between the Protestants and the minority Catholics.

Patman Wins 'Fed' Probe Fight

Patman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After almost a decade of fruitless efforts, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., finally has succeeded in bringing a bill to the House floor that would give Congress some oversight of the Federal Reserve Board.

Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, has long criticized both the policies and the secrecy of the "Fed" in handling the nation's monetary policies. But until this year he was blocked in even getting a bill to the floor.

Today is Patman's day. He finally managed to convince the House Rules Committee this year to allow debate on a bill providing an audit of the board by the General Accounting Office (GAO), an agency of Congress.

The bill, which has been attacked in a heavy lobbying effort by banking interests, would allow a GAO audit of the country's central bank at least once every three years.

Strikes Ended

LISBON (UPI) — Bakers, bus drivers and streetcar conductors returned to work today, ending a series of paralyzing strikes after the government threatened to use force to prevent economic chaos in Portugal.

Union officials said the strikers had agreed to resume work while negotiations with a government conciliation board continued.

Transport workers went on strike for a 60 per cent pay increase Monday, and bakers joined them with similar claims one day later.

The end to the strikes came after the government fired administrators of the Lisbon subway, post office and telephone companies and installed new executives in a move to stabilize the shaky economy of the strike-plagued nation.

Leaks Continue

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI) — About four city blocks remained off-limits to nearly 1,000 persons early today as firemen worked to rid sewer pipes of persistent gasoline fumes that have caused repeated evacuations of homes since Tuesday.

Although a few persons returned to their homes yesterday, police said most of the displaced residents were prevented from going back by yet another outpouring of gasoline vapors from sewers in the northeast part of the city.

OEO Voted Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has voted to abolish the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), the 10-year-old war on poverty headquarters, but to continue its major programs of aid to the poor for three years under a $3.7 billion authorization.

The House voted 331-53 yesterday to approve a "Community Services Act," which would repeal the 1964 law that created OEO as a major Great Society program. It had been under constant congressional criticism for waste and mismanagement of funds.

The bill was sent to the Senate, but President Nixon has implied he would veto it if it cleared that body, mainly because the measure keeps the Community Action program alive.

Contact Concludes

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong walked out of a meeting with the United States and South Vietnam today, ending the last formal contact among the four parties, a government military spokesman said.

The major effect of the walkout is to end, at least temporarily, all discussion of accounting for Americans still missing in action from the Indochina war.

U.S. officials had no immediate comment.

Relief Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has approved an administration bill providing $1.5 billion to the International Development Association (IDA), which lends money without interest to the world's poorest countries.

The 55-27 vote yesterday would set the U.S. contribution at $375 million in each of four years.

The House defeated the measure, 248-155, in January, partly because of anxiety over the adverse effect on the U.S. balance of payments by the sharp increases in oil prices.

Portuguese Religious Festival Scheduled

Members of the Portuguese community in the Bay Area will celebrate the Holy Ghost Festival — an annual observance in Sausalito since 1889 — with a parade beginning at 10 a.m. Sunday at the IDESST Hall at 511 Caledonia Street.

Marchers will proceed to Star of the Sea Catholic Church for a mass at 10:30. Following the mass, they will march south on Bulkley Avenue to Bridgeway, through the city's downtown and back to the Portuguese hall for lunch of traditional sopas e carne (meat and bread).

Big queen for the festival is Sandy Freitas of Novato. Her attendants will be Lucia Silva and Alsilin Cabral and capeholders will be Dianne Freitas, Alicia Terriera, Connie Mendonca and Lena Silva.

Little queen is Janeen Dacosta of Petaluma. Her attendants will be Debbie Moreda and Gena Pimentel and capeholders will include Adena Pimentel, Shauna DeRosa and Kathy Rombeira.

Parade participants will include the Night Raiders drum and bugle corps, the Mel Castro orchestra, the Earl Blasingame band, members of Portuguese clubs from throughout the Bay Area, city officials and members of Sausalito youth and civic groups.

There will be dancing at the hall after lunch and following the 7 p.m. dinner.

The festival originated in 13th Century Portugal when the country was gripped by famine. The hunger ended when ships loaded with grain arrived two days after Queen Isabel was visited by a dove, symbol of the holy spirit, according to story. The queen held a mass and fiesta at the village of Alemquer near Lisbon and the holiday has been observed by the Portuguese ever since.

Leslie Steere Named College Paper Editor

Leslie G. Steere of Mill Valley has been named editor-in-chief of the College of Marin Times for the 1974 fall semester.

The 21-year-old Miss Steere will receive an associate of arts degree in humanities from the college this spring but will return this fall to take more journalism courses.

She plans to attend Pomona College next spring.

Miss Steers has served as arts editor and managing editor of the student publication and has been on the newspaper staff three semesters.

She has been on the dean's list at the college and also has served on the student personnel committee.

Miss Steere is the daughter of Dr. James H. Steere of Bolinas.

Devout French

PARIS (UPI) — According to an opinion poll published in a Paris newspaper, 96 per cent of French persons are baptized Roman Catholics, 73 per cent believe in God, 22 per cent do not. All the believers say they pray, 23 per cent of them daily.

Teachers Plan Strike Tomorrow

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — The first teachers strike in the county's history is planned for tomorrow when many of the district's 1,382 instructors are expected to take part in a one-day walkout.

The brief walkout, being called "Teacher Dignity Day," was called as part of a protest against "fiscal mismanagement by the district, overloaded class sizes and unacceptable salaries," said a teachers' spokesman.

Warning Labels For Microwave Ovens Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered permanent warning labels on all new microwave ovens.

The labels, which would become mandatory this summer, would warn the user not to operate the oven if there is an object caught in the door, if the door does not close properly or if the door, hinge latch or sealing surface is damaged.

The ovens, which have been selling at a rate of about 300,000 a year, can grill a steak in seconds or cook a roast in a fraction of the time conventional oven methods require. The order was issued yesterday.

Teachers Sanction September Strike

Novato teachers have sanctioned a strike for September if the majority of teachers then determine "a fair and equitable settlement has not been reached" in negotiations over pay, benefits and policies.

The Independent-Journal yesterday reported that teachers had voted a strike sanction for November.

Portuguese Religious Festival Scheduled

Members of the Portuguese community in the Bay Area will celebrate the Holy Ghost Festival — an annual observance in Sausalito since 1889 — with a parade beginning at 10 a.m. Sunday at the IDESST Hall at 511 Caledonia Street.

Marchers will proceed to Star of the Sea Catholic Church for a mass at 10:30. Following the mass, they will march south on Bulkley Avenue to Bridgeway, through the city's downtown and back to the Portuguese hall for lunch of traditional sopas e carne (meat and bread).

Big queen for the festival is Sandy Freitas of Novato. Her attendants will be Lucia Silva and Alsilin Cabral and capeholders will be Dianne Freitas, Alicia Terriera, Connie Mendonca and Lena Silva.

Little queen is Janeen Dacosta of Petaluma. Her attendants will be Debbie Moreda and Gena Pimentel and capeholders will include Adena Pimentel, Shauna DeRosa and Kathy Rombeira.

Parade participants will include the Night Raiders drum and bugle corps, the Mel Castro orchestra, the Earl Blasingame band, members of Portuguese clubs from throughout the Bay Area, city officials and members of Sausalito youth and civic groups.

There will be dancing at the hall after lunch and following the 7 p.m. dinner.

The festival originated in 13th Century Portugal when the country was gripped by famine. The hunger ended when ships loaded with grain arrived two days after Queen Isabel was visited by a dove, symbol of the holy spirit, according to story. The queen held a mass and fiesta at the village of Alemquer near Lisbon and the holiday has been observed by the Portuguese ever since.

LESLIE G. STEERE
College paper editor

Leslie Steere Named College Paper Editor

Leslie G. Steere of Mill Valley has been named editor-in-chief of the College of Marin Times for the 1974 fall semester.

The 21-year-old Miss Steere will receive an associate of arts degree in humanities from the college this spring but will return this fall to take more journalism courses.

She plans to attend Pomona College next spring.

Miss Steers has served as arts editor and managing editor of the student publication and has been on the newspaper staff three semesters.

She has been on the dean's list at the college and also has served on the student personnel committee.

Miss Steere is the daughter of Dr. James H. Steere of Bolinas.

Devout French

PARIS (UPI) — According to an opinion poll published in a Paris newspaper, 96 per cent of French persons are baptized Roman Catholics, 73 per cent believe in God, 22 per cent do not. All the believers say they pray, 23 per cent of them daily.

Teachers Plan Strike Tomorrow

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — The first teachers strike in the county's history is planned for tomorrow when many of the district's 1,382 instructors are expected to take part in a one-day walkout.

The brief walkout, being called "Teacher Dignity Day," was called as part of a protest against "fiscal mismanagement by the district, overloaded class sizes and unacceptable salaries," said a teachers' spokesman.

Warning Labels For Microwave Ovens Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has ordered permanent warning labels on all new microwave ovens.

The labels, which would become mandatory this summer, would warn the user not to operate the oven if there is an object caught in the door, if the door does not close properly or if the door, hinge latch or sealing surface is damaged.

The ovens, which have been selling at a rate of about 300,000 a year, can grill a steak in seconds or cook a roast in a fraction of the time conventional oven methods require. The order was issued yesterday.

Teachers Sanction September Strike

Novato teachers have sanctioned a strike for September if the majority of teachers then determine "a fair and equitable settlement has not been reached" in negotiations over pay, benefits and policies.

The Independent-Journal yesterday reported that teachers had voted a strike sanction for November.

BUFFER ZONE — The cease-fire line and buffer zone established by the Israeli-Syrian peace agreement is shown on this UPI newsmap. The buffer zone, to be patroled by U.N. troops, varies in width from 1.2 to 3.6 miles.

Kissinger Heads Home As U.N. Called To Consider Peace Pact

CAIRO (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger headed home to Washington today after the successful conclusion of his latest and toughest diplomatic mission, winning agreement from Israel and Syria to stop fighting on the Golan Heights and pull back their armies.

The U.N. Security Council was called into session to discuss the peace agreement at the request of the United States.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali asked for the meeting during a consultation with Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

The council meeting will start at noon EDT, a U.N. spokesman said.

The historic agreement will be signed in Geneva Friday by military delegations from the two countries. It provides for an immediate cease-fire on the Golan Heights front where Israeli and Syrian forces exchanged artillery fire for the 80th consecutive day today.

A senior American official with the Kissinger party said the United States would provide high altitude surveillance to assure that all the provisions were being carried out just as it does in the case of the Israeli-Egyptian disengagement accord.

The same official also disclosed that Kissinger was on the point of failure three times during his marathon negotiations with Israeli and Syrian leaders. He said Kissinger had packed his bags in preparation for departure but changed his mind because he was convinced that failure would mean renewed war in the Middle East.

Kissinger stopped off in Cairo to brief President Anwar Sadat, one of his chief allies in bringing about the agreement between Damascus and Jerusalem. Kissinger had helped negotiate a similar cease-fire agreement between Egypt and Israel on the Suez front in January.

The United States released the text of the Israeli-Syrian agreement yesterday, along with a map showing the cease-fire line and the buffer zone to be manned by United Nations troops in the Golan Heights.

Nixon Asks High Court To Deny Jaworski Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked the Supreme Court today not to make a "hasty determination" whether he should surrender new evidence in the Watergate coverup case.

In a brief filed in the high court, Nixon's attorneys said it would be far better to allow the judicial process "to run its orderly course" and for the case to first clear the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia, where it is now docketed.

Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski is seeking tapes and records of 64 White House conversations and wants the Supreme Court to decide in the next few weeks whether he can have them.

Jaworski has asked the justices to take the case away from the appeals court and decide it before the end of the current term in late June.

The President contends executive privilege allows him to withhold the materials.

The President's brief was signed by professor Charles Alan Wright of the University of Texas, who has been giving the White House legal assistance; by attorney James D. St. Clair and other lawyers for the President.

The court meets in its usual private session tomorrow and could decide then whether to agree to an early ruling or leave the case where it is. An announcement could come tomorrow or Monday, when the court holds its next public session.

Meanwhile, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica refused to turn over four other Watergate tapes to the House Judiciary Committee.

Sirica said the tapes had originally been subpoenaed for the Watergate grand jury and he had them solely for the purpose of screening them to rule on executive privilege claims.

SCHOOLS

office and corporation yard. No confrontation or violence was reported. Teachers gathered later in the morning for a mass rally in Corte Madera Town Park.

The teachers passed out leaflets saying they were striking because "after many weeks of fruitless negotiations, the board (of trustees) offered an insulting 4 per cent salary increase."

After nearly two months of negotiation and mediation by state representatives, teachers continued to ask for a 15 per cent cost-of-living raise while trustees continued to offer 4 per cent.

The district board had warned the teachers repeatedly at board meetings that their pay raise would be much reduced if the board agreed to teachers' insistence that no teacher be dismissed next year despite a $600,000 overrun in the budget.

Last week the board made it plain that 4 per cent was its final offer and the teachers decided to strike.

Today's walkout far exceeded the predictions of teacher representatives who said yesterday about 120 teachers or about 33 per cent would stay off the job.

"This is great, everything is going super," one picket at Redwood said about 8 a.m. as it became apparent that most teachers were staying out.

At the district corporation yard most nonteaching personnel hired by the district were on the job, according to Skip Bonner, district maintenance supervisor. But because the strike had sanction from the Marin Labor Council, three union carpenters, one painter and one electrician refused to cross the teachers' picket line.

"The student reaction has been very positive," a picket at Redwood said. "Look at the parking lot, it's normally full at this time (8 a.m.) and it's only about 10 per cent full now."

Parking lots did fill up later as Redwood students reported for attendance checks about 8:30 a.m. Students throughout the district were to have only a "minimum day" and were to finish classes at 12:30 p.m.

But when Redwood principal Donald Kreps announced that only movies and recreation programs would be available, many students took it as a cue to leave.

"They deserve the pay hike," said 16-year-old Pat Holmes, a Redwood junior. "They believe what they are doing. For the students it's just a field day."

Most students jammed into cars, discussing plans for a day at the beach or in the mountains.

"You have to do what you think is right," said Redwood teacher Robert J. Troppmann who stayed on the job. "I just don't believe in striking . . . yet I feel the same way they (strikers) do about the raise. "We hope that any animosity between us and them doesn't develop," he said.

Rusty McManus, another teacher on the job, was more critical of the strikers: "I feel we deserve a raise but I think there is a professional way to get it through further negotiation. I signed a contract from September to June. I vowed that I would fullfill the days in that period and I will."

Supt. Robert D. Torrey said, "I don't think any student who came to school today is ever going to forget it . . . and hopefully we can maximize what has happened to use it as an education experience."

No teacher who participated in the strike will be paid, for the day, according to Torrey, but "no other punitive action" is planned. The average teacher salary in the district is $90 per day.

Phone Service Is Disrupted

Outgoing telephone service from Novato was disrupted today and yesterday because of damage to an underground telephone cable during construction in the East Bay, according to Gordon Lee, division manager, Western California Telephone Co.

The damaged cable links Marin to the toll center in Oakland through which many long distance calls are connected, Lee explained.

Repairs have been completed, Lee said.

$45,000 Is Trimmed From Budget

The Reed School District board last night cut $45,000 from its proposed 1974-75 budget.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said the reductions were made after the board went through a list of 100 items which had been suggested for cutbacks by the superintendent and other district officials.

The original $3,094,584 proposed budget was up $89,414 from this year's.

Among items removed were $3,500 for a proposed advanced studies program for sixth, seventh and eighth graders; $10,000 for repainting of Granada School, and $10,000 for adding top soil and seed to playing fields at various schools.

Giovanniello has not yet estimated the 1974-75 tax rate for the district. This year's rate was $3.677 per $100 assessed valuation.

BUDGET

vestment program is based on use of $1 million from a tax allocation bond already sold, and sale next fiscal year of two additional $2 million bonds.

The budget proposes to add a fourth full-time employee to agency staff by hiring an "urban design officer" charged with on-site planning and review of redevelopment proposals.

Another highlight of the redevelopment budget is a proposal that the city develop new low and moderate income housing and senior citizen housing within the project area, to serve as quarters for individuals displaced by redevelopment projects.

The $5,694,648 proposal includes $61,948 for salaries, up from this year's $33,100 allocation, and $628,700 for supplies and service, up from $271,305.

Capital improvements proposed under the $5 million investment program are: Fourth Street demonstration project, $300,000; parking acquisition and improvements, $700,000; community recreation center, $500,000; development assistance fund, $2,000,000, and San Rafael Canal and Francisco Boulevard improvements, $1,500,000.

COOKE

about $100,000 is on deposit for the dead. Some $45,000 is in savings accounts and time deposits drawing interest. The remaining $55,000 is in a checking account drawing no interest from the bank.

Dr. Cooke was not available for comment yesterday but his assistant, Eugene R. Fontaine, explained that Redwood Bank was one of only two banks which expressed interest in having the accounts several years ago.

In return for the accounts, Fountain said, the bank gives the coroner's office a "full range of services." For example, he said, the bank supplies special checks free to the coroner's office.

According to County Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez, the funds were handled by his office until 1971 when a bill introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, directed the funds be held in private banks.

According to a spokesman for Bagley, the bill was introduced because interest on funds kept in the county treasury were accruing to the county and not to the heirs.

"Coroner-public administrators (statewide) pushed for it but personally I think the banks were behind it so they could make more money," Fontez said. "I think the funds should be returned to the county treasury and safeguarded like other public funds."

Fontez said "it would be no problem" to insure that the funds draw interest for relatives or others.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell expressed similar opinions.

Bank manager Kirch today expressed only a vague knowledge of his $300 donation to Dr. Cooke's campaign. He said the contribution, made about a month ago, was handled by Ted Craig, a private consultant to the bank.

Asked if the contribution was from him personally or from the bank, Kirch said, "You'll have to talk to Craig about that."

Craig refused to discuss the matter. "I see no reason to answer your questions," he said.

Asked why the bank does not pay interest on $55,000 of the money while making contributions to the man who deposited it, Craig replied: "I see no reason why we should give you any information about this bank."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Agnes M. Craemer Is Dead At Age Of 81

Agnes M. Craemer, widow of publisher Justus F. Craemer and mother of Independent-Journal editor and co-publisher Justus J. (Jack) Craemer, died last night at the Tamalpais retirement center of cancer. She was 81.

Mrs. Craemer was born in the mining town of Monarch, Mont., where her father operated the general store. She was the daughter of John Richard and Emma Bailey Fitzsimmons.

She grew up and attended schools in Montana as well as Spokane, Wash., and Los Angeles. She was a graduate of the old Los Angeles State Normal School, the predecessor of University of California at Los Angeles, and taught school in Los Angeles after graduation.

In 1915, she and Justus F. Craemer were married, and they lived for many years in the city of Orange in Orange County, where he was co-publisher of the Orange Daily News.

From 1939 to 1956, Craemer was a member of the California Public Utilities Commission, and during part of that time, the family lived in San Francisco. In 1951, they moved to Marin, living in Greenbrae and Kent Woodlands.

In 1937 Craemer, along with the late Roy A. Brown and William O. Hart, purchased the San Rafael Daily Independent and merged it with the Journal in 1948 to form the present newspaper.

After Craemer's death in 1966, Mrs. Craemer moved to the Tamalpais in Greenbrae.

Mrs. Craemer was a volunteer at Marin General Hospital for some years and was a member of the Goldenaires.

During World War II she did volunteer work at Letterman General Hospital in the Presidio of San Francisco.

She was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Craemer is survived by five grandchildren. A daughter, Barbara Craemer Ashley, preceded her in death.

Graveside service will be conducted by Rev. Max O. Nye of St. John's Church at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

IMPEACH

sending the letter. Twenty Democrats and eight Republicans voted in favor. Conyers objected because he wanted stronger action.

Speaking for the Republican opponents, Rep. David Dennis, R-Ind., called the letter a "useless gesture" and added the committee would draw inferences from Nixon's noncompliance with the subpoenas "whether or not we write a letter."

The letter as approved by the committee was essentially in the form drafted by the committee staff last night.

The President has steadfastly maintained he is innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with the Watergate scandals. Rep. C. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., one of his supporters who accompanied the President on a cruise last night, quoted him today as saying:

"If I was guilty, I'd get the hell out fast, but I'm not guilty."

The White House has insisted the committee has all the Watergate information it needs to make a judgment and there will be no more forthcoming.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, said yesterday the Judiciary Committee should not draw "an inference of guilt" by Nixon's refusal to turn over additional materials.

In today's open debate on the letter, Conyers said he was not satisfied with the language and said instead the committee should formally agree to consider Nixon's noncompliance as grounds for impeachment.

Conyers' motion to consider at the "earliest practical date" an article of impeachment charging Nixon with contempt and obstruction of the constitutional process was defeated 29 to 9.

The sternly worded draft was more than 30 lines long, in contrast to a four-line letter sent by Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J. to Nixon after he refused the committee's first subpoena. That letter stated merely that Nixon had "failed to comply."

The first letter was approved 20 to 18 by the committee.

"The committee is going forward with its inquiry," the draft of the new letter to Nixon said. "Before our inquiry is concluded, we hope that you will remember your obligation."

The draft said the President does not have the power "to conduct an inquiry into his own impeachment.

COUNTY

F. Campanella, who also is the fairgrounds coordinator, has asked for a $2.1 million allocation to complete improvements at the fairgrounds site. Barrows recommended slightly more than $1 million be given.

The county sheriff, meanwhile, wants 11 new deputies and Barrows has recommended against the request, saying the level of police protection is adequate.

The fire department budget, totaling $1,057,000, is in a state of flux because of a recent federal requirement reducing the number of hours firemen work from 84 to 60.

Another point of contention will arise between the county administrator and outside social service agencies which have requested county funding.

Barrows recommended against most requests. About 20 outside agencies are seeking $825,000 and Barrows is recommending funding for nine at $250,000.

The groups, which form the Marin Council of Agencies, have launched a letter writing campaign to supervisors urging that 1.5 per cent of the total budget be allocated to them. That amounts to about $760,000 of the $51.3 million proposed budget.

Supervisors have slated budget hearings to begin June 12 and continue for seven working days.

FRED H. THOMPSON
Former Marinite

FRED THOMPSON

Masonic funeral for Fred H. Thompson of Sonoma, former Marin resident, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Thompson died Monday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 69.

He was born and reared in Denver, Colo. and graduated from the University of Denver. He worked for Powerine Oil Co. before going to work for the Internal Revenue Service. He worked for the IRS in Hawaii and San Francisco before retiring a year ago after 30 years service. He had lived in Terra Linda for 19 years before moving to Sonoma a year ago.

He was a member of Marin Lodge No. 191, Free and Accepted Masons.

Thompson is survived by his wife, Barbara Thompson of Sonoma; a son, John Duane Thompson of Berkeley; three daughters, Doris Unrein of Grand Junction, Colo., Frances Wood of Casa Grande, Ariz. and Maureen Ketron of Santa Rosa, and six grandchildren.

Inurnment will be private.

Memorial gifts to the Masonic Homes Endowment Fund or the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children would be preferred by the family.

MARGARET SOMMER

Private graveside service has been held in Michigan, for Margaret Sommer of Ann Arbor, mother of Alex Sommer of Strawberry and Ralph F. (Skip) Sommer Jr. of Larkspur.

Mrs. Sommer, 75, died Friday during a visit to Marin.

She was wife of the late Dr. Ralph F. Sommer, dentist who developed the root conal operation for saving teeth.

Mrs. Sommer served as his assistant for many years, and accompanied him on lecture tours around the country.

In addition to her sons, she is survived by four grandchildren.

QUINTO BIN

Quinto Bin, 76, of Novato, a retired truck driver, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Bin, of 848 Eucalyptus Avenue, had been a truck driver in San Francisco and lived there before moving to Novato seven years ago. He was a native of Italy.

Surviving are his wife, Anita; a son, Quinto Bin Jr. and a daughter, Doris Malerbi, both of Novato; a sister, Rosa Sivilotti of Italy; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church, Novato. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato.

DR. HAROLD F. KAUFMANN

Private funeral has been held for Dr. Harold F. Kaufmann, a San Francisco optometrist and father of Muriel Lockner of San Rafael.

Dr. Kaufmann died Monday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 74.

He was a native and lifelong resident of San Francisco and practiced there until becoming ill last December.

He was a frequent visitor to Marin and his yacht "Gadabout" was berthed at the San Rafael Yacht Club harbor.

Dr. Kaufmann was a member of the Academy of California Optometrists, the San Rafael Yacht Club, and the Marin Rod and Gun Club. He was a holder of the Tyree Club of British Columbia gold button and former president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, Bay City Parlor No. 104. He was a former member of the society of American Magicians and former owner of the Kaufmann Camera Mart in San Francisco.

He also is survived by his wife, Marion, and four grandchildren.

LEONARD J. FITTERLING

Leonard Jacob Fitterling of Tamalpais Valley, a retired drygoods buyer, died yesterday at home following a short illness.

The coroner's office is doing a routine investigation in the case.

Fitterling, 83, had lived in Tamalpais Valley for four years with the family of his stepson, Orian Gardner. They resided at 419 Marin Avenue.

Born and reared in Kansas City, Mo., Fitterling was a drygoods buyer for 35 years in that city for the firm of H. T. Poindexter and Sons.

He came to California 25 years ago and resided first in Walnut Creek.

He was the husband of the late Allie Fitterling.

Survivors include his stepson, two sisters in Kansas City, and one step-grandson.

BUFFER ZONE — The cease-fire line and buffer zone established by the Israeli-Syrian peace agreement is shown on this UPI newsmap. The buffer zone, to be patroled by U.N. troops, varies in width from 1.2 to 3.6 miles.

Kissinger Heads Home As U.N. Called To Consider Peace Pact

CAIRO (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger headed home to Washington today after the successful conclusion of his latest and toughest diplomatic mission, winning agreement from Israel and Syria to stop fighting on the Golan Heights and pull back their armies.

The U.N. Security Council was called into session to discuss the peace agreement at the request of the United States.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali asked for the meeting during a consultation with Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

The council meeting will start at noon EDT, a U.N. spokesman said.

The historic agreement will be signed in Geneva Friday by military delegations from the two countries. It provides for an immediate cease-fire on the Golan Heights front where Israeli and Syrian forces exchanged artillery fire for the 80th consecutive day today.

A senior American official with the Kissinger party said the United States would provide high altitude surveillance to assure that all the provisions were being carried out just as it does in the case of the Israeli-Egyptian disengagement accord.

The same official also disclosed that Kissinger was on the point of failure three times during his marathon negotiations with Israeli and Syrian leaders. He said Kissinger had packed his bags in preparation for departure but changed his mind because he was convinced that failure would mean renewed war in the Middle East.

Kissinger stopped off in Cairo to brief President Anwar Sadat, one of his chief allies in bringing about the agreement between Damascus and Jerusalem. Kissinger had helped negotiate a similar cease-fire agreement between Egypt and Israel on the Suez front in January.

The United States released the text of the Israeli-Syrian agreement yesterday, along with a map showing the cease-fire line and the buffer zone to be manned by United Nations troops in the Golan Heights.

Nixon Asks High Court To Deny Jaworski Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked the Supreme Court today not to make a "hasty determination" whether he should surrender new evidence in the Watergate coverup case.

In a brief filed in the high court, Nixon's attorneys said it would be far better to allow the judicial process "to run its orderly course" and for the case to first clear the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia, where it is now docketed.

Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski is seeking tapes and records of 64 White House conversations and wants the Supreme Court to decide in the next few weeks whether he can have them.

Jaworski has asked the justices to take the case away from the appeals court and decide it before the end of the current term in late June.

The President contends executive privilege allows him to withhold the materials.

The President's brief was signed by professor Charles Alan Wright of the University of Texas, who has been giving the White House legal assistance; by attorney James D. St. Clair and other lawyers for the President.

The court meets in its usual private session tomorrow and could decide then whether to agree to an early ruling or leave the case where it is. An announcement could come tomorrow or Monday, when the court holds its next public session.

Meanwhile, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica refused to turn over four other Watergate tapes to the House Judiciary Committee.

Sirica said the tapes had originally been subpoenaed for the Watergate grand jury and he had them solely for the purpose of screening them to rule on executive privilege claims.

SCHOOLS

office and corporation yard. No confrontation or violence was reported. Teachers gathered later in the morning for a mass rally in Corte Madera Town Park.

The teachers passed out leaflets saying they were striking because "after many weeks of fruitless negotiations, the board (of trustees) offered an insulting 4 per cent salary increase."

After nearly two months of negotiation and mediation by state representatives, teachers continued to ask for a 15 per cent cost-of-living raise while trustees continued to offer 4 per cent.

The district board had warned the teachers repeatedly at board meetings that their pay raise would be much reduced if the board agreed to teachers' insistence that no teacher be dismissed next year despite a $600,000 overrun in the budget.

Last week the board made it plain that 4 per cent was its final offer and the teachers decided to strike.

Today's walkout far exceeded the predictions of teacher representatives who said yesterday about 120 teachers or about 33 per cent would stay off the job.

"This is great, everything is going super," one picket at Redwood said about 8 a.m. as it became apparent that most teachers were staying out.

At the district corporation yard most nonteaching personnel hired by the district were on the job, according to Skip Bonner, district maintenance supervisor. But because the strike had sanction from the Marin Labor Council, three union carpenters, one painter and one electrician refused to cross the teachers' picket line.

"The student reaction has been very positive," a picket at Redwood said. "Look at the parking lot, it's normally full at this time (8 a.m.) and it's only about 10 per cent full now."

Parking lots did fill up later as Redwood students reported for attendance checks about 8:30 a.m. Students throughout the district were to have only a "minimum day" and were to finish classes at 12:30 p.m.

But when Redwood principal Donald Kreps announced that only movies and recreation programs would be available, many students took it as a cue to leave.

"They deserve the pay hike," said 16-year-old Pat Holmes, a Redwood junior. "They believe what they are doing. For the students it's just a field day."

Most students jammed into cars, discussing plans for a day at the beach or in the mountains.

"You have to do what you think is right," said Redwood teacher Robert J. Troppmann who stayed on the job. "I just don't believe in striking . . . yet I feel the same way they (strikers) do about the raise. "We hope that any animosity between us and them doesn't develop," he said.

Rusty McManus, another teacher on the job, was more critical of the strikers: "I feel we deserve a raise but I think there is a professional way to get it through further negotiation. I signed a contract from September to June. I vowed that I would fullfill the days in that period and I will."

Supt. Robert D. Torrey said, "I don't think any student who came to school today is ever going to forget it . . . and hopefully we can maximize what has happened to use it as an education experience."

No teacher who participated in the strike will be paid, for the day, according to Torrey, but "no other punitive action" is planned. The average teacher salary in the district is $90 per day.

Phone Service Is Disrupted

Outgoing telephone service from Novato was disrupted today and yesterday because of damage to an underground telephone cable during construction in the East Bay, according to Gordon Lee, division manager, Western California Telephone Co.

The damaged cable links Marin to the toll center in Oakland through which many long distance calls are connected, Lee explained.

Repairs have been completed, Lee said.

$45,000 Is Trimmed From Budget

The Reed School District board last night cut $45,000 from its proposed 1974-75 budget.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said the reductions were made after the board went through a list of 100 items which had been suggested for cutbacks by the superintendent and other district officials.

The original $3,094,584 proposed budget was up $89,414 from this year's.

Among items removed were $3,500 for a proposed advanced studies program for sixth, seventh and eighth graders; $10,000 for repainting of Granada School, and $10,000 for adding top soil and seed to playing fields at various schools.

Giovanniello has not yet estimated the 1974-75 tax rate for the district. This year's rate was $3.677 per $100 assessed valuation.

vestment program is based on use of $1 million from a tax allocation bond already sold, and sale next fiscal year of two additional $2 million bonds.

The budget proposes to add a fourth full-time employee to agency staff by hiring an "urban design officer" charged with on-site planning and review of redevelopment proposals.

Another highlight of the redevelopment budget is a proposal that the city develop new low and moderate income housing and senior citizen housing within the project area, to serve as quarters for individuals displaced by redevelopment projects.

The $5,694,648 proposal includes $61,948 for salaries, up from this year's $33,100 allocation, and $628,700 for supplies and service, up from $271,305.

Capital improvements proposed under the $5 million investment program are: Fourth Street demonstration project, $300,000; parking acquisition and improvements, $700,000; community recreation center, $500,000; development assistance fund, $2,000,000, and San Rafael Canal and Francisco Boulevard improvements, $1,500,000.

about $100,000 is on deposit for the dead. Some $45,000 is in savings accounts and time deposits drawing interest. The remaining $55,000 is in a checking account drawing no interest from the bank.

Dr. Cooke was not available for comment yesterday but his assistant, Eugene R. Fontaine, explained that Redwood Bank was one of only two banks which expressed interest in having the accounts several years ago.

In return for the accounts, Fountain said, the bank gives the coroner's office a "full range of services." For example, he said, the bank supplies special checks free to the coroner's office.

According to County Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez, the funds were handled by his office until 1971 when a bill introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, directed the funds be held in private banks.

According to a spokesman for Bagley, the bill was introduced because interest on funds kept in the county treasury were accruing to the county and not to the heirs.

"Coroner-public administrators (statewide) pushed for it but personally I think the banks were behind it so they could make more money," Fontez said. "I think the funds should be returned to the county treasury and safeguarded like other public funds."

Fontez said "it would be no problem" to insure that the funds draw interest for relatives or others.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell expressed similar opinions.

Bank manager Kirch today expressed only a vague knowledge of his $300 donation to Dr. Cooke's campaign. He said the contribution, made about a month ago, was handled by Ted Craig, a private consultant to the bank.

Asked if the contribution was from him personally or from the bank, Kirch said, "You'll have to talk to Craig about that."

Craig refused to discuss the matter. "I see no reason to answer your questions," he said.

Asked why the bank does not pay interest on $55,000 of the money while making contributions to the man who deposited it, Craig replied: "I see no reason why we should give you any information about this bank."

IMPEACH

sending the letter. Twenty Democrats and eight Republicans voted in favor. Conyers objected because he wanted stronger action.

Speaking for the Republican opponents, Rep. David Dennis, R-Ind., called the letter a "useless gesture" and added the committee would draw inferences from Nixon's noncompliance with the subpoenas "whether or not we write a letter."

The letter as approved by the committee was essentially in the form drafted by the committee staff last night.

The President has steadfastly maintained he is innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with the Watergate scandals. Rep. C. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., one of his supporters who accompanied the President on a cruise last night, quoted him today as saying:

"If I was guilty, I'd get the hell out fast, but I'm not guilty."

The White House has insisted the committee has all the Watergate information it needs to make a judgment and there will be no more forthcoming.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, said yesterday the Judiciary Committee should not draw "an inference of guilt" by Nixon's refusal to turn over additional materials.

In today's open debate on the letter, Conyers said he was not satisfied with the language and said instead the committee should formally agree to consider Nixon's noncompliance as grounds for impeachment.

Conyers' motion to consider at the "earliest practical date" an article of impeachment charging Nixon with contempt and obstruction of the constitutional process was defeated 29 to 9.

The sternly worded draft was more than 30 lines long, in contrast to a four-line letter sent by Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J. to Nixon after he refused the committee's first subpoena. That letter stated merely that Nixon had "failed to comply."

The first letter was approved 20 to 18 by the committee.

"The committee is going forward with its inquiry," the draft of the new letter to Nixon said. "Before our inquiry is concluded, we hope that you will remember your obligation."

The draft said the President does not have the power "to conduct an inquiry into his own impeachment.

COUNTY

F. Campanella, who also is the fairgrounds coordinator, has asked for a $2.1 million allocation to complete improvements at the fairgrounds site. Barrows recommended slightly more than $1 million be given.

The county sheriff, meanwhile, wants 11 new deputies and Barrows has recommended against the request, saying the level of police protection is adequate.

The fire department budget, totaling $1,057,000, is in a state of flux because of a recent federal requirement reducing the number of hours firemen work from 84 to 60.

Another point of contention will arise between the county administrator and outside social service agencies which have requested county funding.

Barrows recommended against most requests. About 20 outside agencies are seeking $825,000 and Barrows is recommending funding for nine at $250,000.

The groups, which form the Marin Council of Agencies, have launched a letter writing campaign to supervisors urging that 1.5 per cent of the total budget be allocated to them. That amounts to about $760,000 of the $51.3 million proposed budget.

Supervisors have slated budget hearings to begin June 12 and continue for seven working days.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Agnes M. Craemer Is Dead At Age Of 81

Agnes M. Craemer, widow of publisher Justus F. Craemer and mother of Independent-Journal editor and co-publisher Justus J. (Jack) Craemer, died last night at the Tamalpais retirement center of cancer. She was 81.

Mrs. Craemer was born in the mining town of Monarch, Mont., where her father operated the general store. She was the daughter of John Richard and Emma Bailey Fitzsimmons.

She grew up and attended schools in Montana as well as Spokane, Wash., and Los Angeles. She was a graduate of the old Los Angeles State Normal School, the predecessor of University of California at Los Angeles, and taught school in Los Angeles after graduation.

In 1915, she and Justus F. Craemer were married, and they lived for many years in the city of Orange in Orange County, where he was co-publisher of the Orange Daily News.

From 1939 to 1956, Craemer was a member of the California Public Utilities Commission, and during part of that time, the family lived in San Francisco. In 1951, they moved to Marin, living in Greenbrae and Kent Woodlands.

In 1937 Craemer, along with the late Roy A. Brown and William O. Hart, purchased the San Rafael Daily Independent and merged it with the Journal in 1948 to form the present newspaper.

After Craemer's death in 1966, Mrs. Craemer moved to the Tamalpais in Greenbrae.

Mrs. Craemer was a volunteer at Marin General Hospital for some years and was a member of the Goldenaires.

During World War II she did volunteer work at Letterman General Hospital in the Presidio of San Francisco.

She was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Craemer is survived by five grandchildren. A daughter, Barbara Craemer Ashley, preceded her in death.

Graveside service will be conducted by Rev. Max O. Nye of St. John's Church at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

FRED H. THOMPSON
Former Marinite

FRED THOMPSON

Masonic funeral for Fred H. Thompson of Sonoma, former Marin resident, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Thompson died Monday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 69.

He was born and reared in Denver, Colo. and graduated from the University of Denver. He worked for Powerine Oil Co. before going to work for the Internal Revenue Service. He worked for the IRS in Hawaii and San Francisco before retiring a year ago after 30 years service. He had lived in Terra Linda for 19 years before moving to Sonoma a year ago.

He was a member of Marin Lodge No. 191, Free and Accepted Masons.

Thompson is survived by his wife, Barbara Thompson of Sonoma; a son, John Duane Thompson of Berkeley; three daughters, Doris Unrein of Grand Junction, Colo., Frances Wood of Casa Grande, Ariz. and Maureen Ketron of Santa Rosa, and six grandchildren.

Inurnment will be private.

Memorial gifts to the Masonic Homes Endowment Fund or the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children would be preferred by the family.

MARGARET SOMMER

Private graveside service has been held in Michigan, for Margaret Sommer of Ann Arbor, mother of Alex Sommer of Strawberry and Ralph F. (Skip) Sommer Jr. of Larkspur.

Mrs. Sommer, 75, died Friday during a visit to Marin.

She was wife of the late Dr. Ralph F. Sommer, dentist who developed the root conal operation for saving teeth.

Mrs. Sommer served as his assistant for many years, and accompanied him on lecture tours around the country.

In addition to her sons, she is survived by four grandchildren.

QUINTO BIN

Quinto Bin, 76, of Novato, a retired truck driver, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Bin, of 848 Eucalyptus Avenue, had been a truck driver in San Francisco and lived there before moving to Novato seven years ago. He was a native of Italy.

Surviving are his wife, Anita; a son, Quinto Bin Jr. and a daughter, Doris Malerbi, both of Novato; a sister, Rosa Sivilotti of Italy; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church, Novato. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato.

DR. HAROLD F. KAUFMANN

Private funeral has been held for Dr. Harold F. Kaufmann, a San Francisco optometrist and father of Muriel Lockner of San Rafael.

Dr. Kaufmann died Monday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 74.

He was a native and lifelong resident of San Francisco and practiced there until becoming ill last December.

He was a frequent visitor to Marin and his yacht "Gadabout" was berthed at the San Rafael Yacht Club harbor.

Dr. Kaufmann was a member of the Academy of California Optometrists, the San Rafael Yacht Club, and the Marin Rod and Gun Club. He was a holder of the Tyree Club of British Columbia gold button and former president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, Bay City Parlor No. 104. He was a former member of the society of American Magicians and former owner of the Kaufmann Camera Mart in San Francisco.

He also is survived by his wife, Marion, and four grandchildren.

LEONARD J. FITTERLING

Leonard Jacob Fitterling of Tamalpais Valley, a retired drygoods buyer, died yesterday at home following a short illness.

The coroner's office is doing a routine investigation in the case.

Fitterling, 83, had lived in Tamalpais Valley for four years with the family of his stepson, Orian Gardner. They resided at 419 Marin Avenue.

Born and reared in Kansas City, Mo., Fitterling was a drygoods buyer for 35 years in that city for the firm of H. T. Poindexter and Sons.

He came to California 25 years ago and resided first in Walnut Creek.

He was the husband of the late Allie Fitterling.

Survivors include his stepson, two sisters in Kansas City, and one step-grandson.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Snub To Fiscal Analyses Bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation containing key portions of Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposal to shift more responsibility for government spending to the Legislature appears to be dead.

The powerful Senate Rules Committee yesterday declined to act on three Reagan-sponsored bills authored by Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia. Without the panel's endorsement, the measures appear to be dead.

Afterwards, a dejected Stull said: "We here will continue to spend and continue to spend and the voters won't know any more than they do now."

Similar measures from the governor's office failed in the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee last year.

The bills would have made changes in legislative procedure with the aim of making lawmakers more aware and wary of the money they propose spending.

One bill (SB2008) would have required cost estimates be printed on the bills for the aid of legislators and the public.

"I don't think it's useful just to say how many dollars it is," objected chairman James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

Another of the measures (SB2009) would have required any bill which might result in a tax increase to be so labeled. The third (SB2010) would have required all bills that call for spending $1 million or more be labeled as to how large a tax increase might be needed or whether there were sufficient surplus funds to cover the cost.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, whose office would have made many of the cost and tax increase estimates, joined several committee members in doubting whether the proposed requirements really would work.

Stull's bills were never given a vote. As a compromise, Mills instituted a new policy to provide senators with quick access to fiscal analyses of appropriations bills.

HOUSING PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill establishing a state corporation to help finance housing for low and middle income Californians has suffered a setback in the Senate.

With more than one-quarter of the members absent, the Senate yesterday rejected the wide-ranging proposal (SB1633) by Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno. However, Zenovich was routinely granted permission to have the measure reconsidered later.

TRANSIT TAX

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation designed to create a new transit district with powers of taxation in San Mateo County has narrowly passed the Senate.

The bill (SB1619) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, was sent to the Assembly yesterday on a minimum 27-3 vote with no debate.

The measure would allow the county board of supervisors to place the issue before local voters.

LEGAL SYSTEM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure requiring that all high school social science classes include a study of the "American legal system" was given final legislative approval yesterday by the Senate.

The bill (SB1426) by Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan on a 22-2 vote to accept amendments to the measure.

Weed Feels That Patty Is Involved

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stephen Weed, fiance of Patricia Hearst, said yesterday he thought the young newspaper heiress was "intensely and emotionally" involved with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers.

"I've ceased making predictions," Weed said. "If either the police or the people with Patty have any sense of rationality, she'll be all right."

"But I have to make the assumption that she is emotionally and intensely involved in the group," he added.

Weed's remarks came during a panel discussion on kidnaping.

The discussion was taped for viewing tonight on ABC-TV's Dick Cavett Show.

Atlanta Constitution Editor Reginald Murphy, kidnaped and released earlier this year, and Burke Elbrick, former ambassador to Brazil taken prisoner five years ago by Brazilian terrorists, also were panelists.

The men agreed it was quite easy for kidnaped persons to identify with their captores.

"At first I would get irritated when people suggested that Patty might identify with her captors," Weed said. "But from what I have read since and what I read now, it would have been truly amazing if this had not happened."

In Chicago, a study of documents found in an abandoned Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) hideout in Los Angeles shows Miss Hearst was so fully trusted by her kidnapers that she was allowed to stand guard duty alone, the Chicago Tribune reported today.

The Tribune, in a dispatch from Los Angeles, said the FBI now believes the SLA included no more than nine hardcore members and that in recent weeks, Miss Hearst was counted among them.

Among the documents found was a notebook kept by William Harris, who with his wife Emily and Miss Hearst managed to elude police on May 16 and 17 and have not been seen since. The notebook and other documents, the Tribune said, was reported to have contained a guard schedule for the SLA members.

The newspaper said short notations in the notebook refer to the members by the numbers one through nine. Other scrawlings indicate that the slain leader of the small revolutionary band, Donald DeFreeze, was No. 1 and Miss Hearst, No. 9.

Next to a No. 9 were written the words, "All night to light," sources told the Tribune.

Federal agents seized the documents in an abandoned apartment only blocks from the scene of a massive police shootout and subsequent fire which took the lives of DeFreeze and five other SLA members.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Snub To Fiscal Analyses Bills

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation containing key portions of Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposal to shift more responsibility for government spending to the Legislature appears to be dead.

The powerful Senate Rules Committee yesterday declined to act on three Reagan-sponsored bills authored by Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia. Without the panel's endorsement, the measures appear to be dead.

Afterwards, a dejected Stull said: "We here will continue to spend and continue to spend and the voters won't know any more than they do now."

Similar measures from the governor's office failed in the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee last year.

The bills would have made changes in legislative procedure with the aim of making lawmakers more aware and wary of the money they propose spending.

One bill (SB2008) would have required cost estimates be printed on the bills for the aid of legislators and the public.

"I don't think it's useful just to say how many dollars it is," objected chairman James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

Another of the measures (SB2009) would have required any bill which might result in a tax increase to be so labeled. The third (SB2010) would have required all bills that call for spending $1 million or more be labeled as to how large a tax increase might be needed or whether there were sufficient surplus funds to cover the cost.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, whose office would have made many of the cost and tax increase estimates, joined several committee members in doubting whether the proposed requirements really would work.

Meyer, Krug Win Endorsement

Marin Alternative last night endorsed Peter C. Meyer, candidate for county clerk, and Edward M. Krug, running for district attorney.

Chairman Ken Howard called it the first unanimous recommendation in the organization's four-year history. About 20 members, all that were present, voted, he said. The organization has about 500 members.

The balloting came after the organization's candidates night for the two offices. Also appearing were county clerk candidates Howard Hanson, John F. Musser Jr. and Junetta Younglove. Absent were Frank Bigley and Nadean E. Chapman.

Appearing with Krug were Bruce B. Bales, the incumbent seeking reelection, and a second challenger, Harry A. Connick.

About 50 persons attended the meeting in the Marin Civic Center, at least half of them candidates and their entourages.

The four candidates for clerk spent most of their time attacking one another's performance in other county jobs they now hold. Connick and Bales repeated their objections that Krug has exaggerated his professional experience by claiming six years as a deputy district attorney when it fact it has been five and a half years.

Hanson, administrator of the superior court, said he was responsible for a "substantial reduction" in its backlog, but Musser argued the judges had cut the backlog before Hanson came to work 16 months ago.

Meyer said that as head of the county elections office he had raised it from the "dumps" (a dig at Musser, who headed it before Meyer) to win a national prize for efficiency. He was the only candidate to use campaign funds to provide literature useful to the citizens, Meyer said, referring to his pictorial chart of the Civic Center and where to find governmental services in the complex.

Musser said that the other candidates had praised the performance of incumbent county clerk, George N. Gnoss, thus indirectly praised Musser himself since he is assistant county clerk. Noting that he was appointed by Gnoss as his assistant, Musser said "he did not have to keep me if he wasn't satisfied."

Musser attacked Meyer's claim of operating the elections office efficiently by criticizing Meyer's $184,800 operating budget last year, up from the previous year's $176,000. "So much for efficiency," Musser snorted.

Mrs. Younglove, the county's deputy jury commissioner, objected the other candidates were "hardly civil," and declared she would have "no part in claims and counterclaims."

Just about the only agreement among the four was that agendas for the board of supervisors meetings should be more detailed so citizens can understand what is to come before the board.

Musser added that the agenda should be completed eight days before each board meeting, but a member of the audience pointed out this would exclude matters continued one week by the board.

Questions from the audience sparked a brief debate over the $100,000 budget for assembling jurors. Hanson objected that almost half of the money goes to pay jurors who are called to the Civic Center but never sit on a jury. Mrs. Younglove rebutted that this was inevitable because she has to call enough people to fill nine juries a week.

Musser and Hanson charged that Meyer had failed to cut obsolete registrations from the voter rolls, but Meyer rebutted that with some 16,000 Marinites moving every year, it was impossible to eliminate all obsolete registrations. Such dead wood was "true of every single county in the state," he said.

Meyer declared that his office was the only one in the state removing obsolete registrations continuously, while other counties do so only every other year.

Bales contrasted his years of experience with Krug's, saying of Krug, "It's pretty hard to evaluate a political promise." Connick acknowledged that most of his legal experience was in the military, but argued it equipped him to handle the district attorney's job.

Krug and Bales also differed over the job's duties, with Krug saying it required a new emphasis on preventing crime and Bales insisting that prosecuting crime takes up virtually all of his staff's time.

Bales charged Krug had mislead the voters by claiming he had handled prosecution of 31 "homicides," when in fact he had handled only two or three as deputy district attorney in Sonoma County. Krug rebutted that the count included manslaughter cases, which he said also are classed as homicides.

Connick and Bales defended the need for the death penalty, while Krug opposed it.

Cattle Groups Urge Cutting Beef Imports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Major cattle organizations are urging their members to flood Congress and the White House with letters demanding government action to cut down beef imports.

The American National Cattlemen's Association (ANCA) reported in a newsletter to members it has already asked President Nixon for "quick and decisive" action because import barriers erected by other countries are forcing exporting nations like Australia to funnel more supplies into the American market.

Because U.S. cattle prices have been depressed for months, Nixon is being asked to revive immediately a federal import restraint program that has been suspended since mid-1972, ANCA said.

"ANCA members are asked to let their feelings be known in letters to the President as well as congressmen. This would be very helpful in Association efforts to get restraints reimposed," the industry group added.

A similar appeal has gone out to members of the National Livestock Feeders Association (NLFA), which is urging its members to write letters and telegrams to Nixon and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

NLFA vice president B.H. Jones said last week that general import restraints and specific bans on purchases from the U.S. in some foreign countries were producing "gross discrimination" against American producers.

"The latest U.S. import figures indicate that major meat exporting nations are starting wide-scale diversion of meat shipments to the United States... Such action can result in serious additional injury to livestock feeders in this country who have already faced disastrous losses since last September," Jones said.

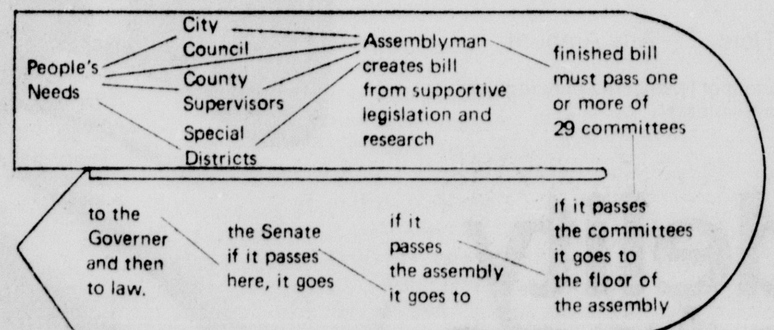
It Takes More Than A Political Campaign..

Coming up with red-hot campaign platforms is one thing — getting a bill to the floor of the assembly is quite another.

Every step of the way demands research, tenacity and a knowledge of what that bill will do now and ten years from now.



People's Needs
City Council
County Supervisors
Special Districts
Assemblyman creates bill from supportive legislation and research finished bill must pass one or more of 29 committees
if it passes the committees it goes to the floor of the assembly
if it passes the assembly it goes to the Senate if it passes here, it goes to the Governer and then to law.

If somewhere along the line an assemblyman's bill has a hole in it, it will sink — at a tremendous cost to the people that have elected him.

If you live in Marin or Southern Sonoma, you have the option of obtaining Michael Wornum to represent you in the assembly. He fought for workable conservation programs before it was the trend, took planning on as a reality, instituted transportation services against incredible odds and worked hard through the ups and downs of county government from council to Board of Supervisors.

He won't shake your hand and kiss your dog just to get your vote, but he will use 18 years of do-it-now experience to deliver effective legislation.

On June fourth, vote for someone who will represent you with wisdom and honest ability — because on November 5th your candidate may become your assemblyman.

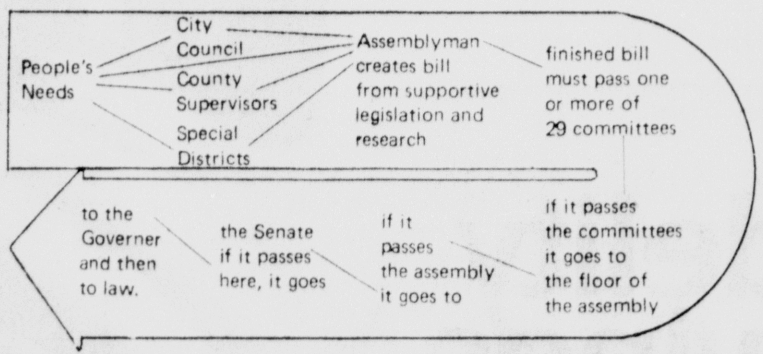
It Takes More Than A Political Campaign..

Coming up with red-hot campaign platforms is one thing – getting a bill to the floor of the assembly is quite another.

Every step of the way demands research, tenacity and a knowledge of what that bill will do now and ten years from now.



People's Needs
City Council
County Supervisors
Special Districts
Assemblyman creates bill from supportive legislation and research
finished bill must pass one or more of 29 committees
if it passes the committees it goes to the floor of the assembly
if it passes the assembly it goes to the Senate if it passes here, it goes to the Governer and then to law.

If somewhere along the line an assemblyman's bill has a hole in it, it will sink – at a tremendous cost to the people that have elected him.

If you live in Marin or Southern Sonoma, you have the option of obtaining Michael Wornum to represent you in the assembly. He fought for workable conservation programs before it was the trend, took planning on as a reality, instituted transportation services against incredible odds and worked hard through the ups and downs of county government from council to Board of Supervisors.

He won't shake your hand and kiss your dog just to get your vote, but he will use 18 years of do-it-now experience to deliver effective legislation.

On June fourth, vote for someone who will represent you with wisdom and honest ability – because on November 5th your candidate may become your assemblyman.

Assemblyman Leo McCarthy

Assemblyman Willie Brown

Assemblyman Barry Keane

Senator James Mills

WORNUM/ASSEMBLY

Bales Rapped On Plea Bargaining

Edward M. Krug of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County district attorney, yesterday accused the incumbent, Bruce B. Bales, with "misleading the public and embarrassing the judges by covering up plea bargain agreements."

Citing Bales's assertion that his office does not participate in plea bargaining, Krug declared that Bales's office "routinely plea bargains most criminal cases. The only difference is that in this county the bargain is not made public for the record," Krug said.

Krug said the practice of recommending a reduced charge or penalty to induce a guilty plea to avoid a trial sometimes is necessary, but added "the public should know the facts. The people cannot get honest law enforcement if the district attorney is not honest with the people."

Krug said plea bargains are made in judges' chambers in most criminal cases, then in open court the deputy recommends a stiffer sentence than the one agreed upon in chambers.

"The recommendation is strictly for public consumption," Krug said. "If the judge accepted the recommendation," he added, the defendant would have the right to withdraw his plea. This way, it looks as if the judges are consistently handing out softer sentences than the district attorney is asking.

"It makes the judges look bad," Krug said.

REEVES — Alan F. Reeves of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District and for election to the same seat for the remainder of the year, yesterday charged a rival candidate with carrying a Viet Cong flag in antiwar demonstrations.

Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, carried the flag and "and stood present while the American flag was burned," Reeves said, adding "yet he asks to be elected to an office where by oath he must vow to defend our flag."

BOYLAN — Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, has declared his opposition to the 15 per cent hike in rates voted by the district directors. "This figure is excessive since it allows for a contingency fund of almost $1 million," Boylan said. He termed the contingency "a luxury for the MMWD and a hardship for consumers.

"The average homeowner is being asked to subsidize, in advance, capital construction costs to provide water for new housing developments," Boylan said. Water hookup fees should be increased instead to keep pace with other construction costs, he proposed.

Large water users should pay more for their water, Boylan said.

FARLATTI — Coffees for Bernardino A. Farlatti of Tiburon, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, will be at 5 p.m. today at the Belvedere home of Stuart Rose, 25 Beach Road, and 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Tiburon home of Buddy Hirsch, 30 Circle Drive.

SEMINARIO — A precinct walk party for Joan Seminario of Kentfield, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 3 seat, will begin with coffee and doughnuts at 10 a.m. Saturday at the San Anselmo home of Margaret Melsh, 216 Los Angeles Boulevard. A wine and cheese party will follow in the afternoon. Child care will be provided.

HILL — A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has been endorsed by five past chairmen of the Marin County Republican Central Committee. The five, who headed the party from 1955 to 1972, are Rodgers C. Broomhead, Charles Michals, Gerald T. Misner, David Winslow and Elmer Worlund.

BROCKBANK — Elaine Brockbank of Kentfield, candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, has objected that budget cuts by the present board have endangered the district's career guidance program. "We cannot allow it to be discontinued," she said.

A coffee for Mrs. Brockbank will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Corte Madera home of Louis King, 516 Corte Madera Avenue.

DELAPLANE — A fund-raising cocktail party for Susan A. Delaplane of Tiburon, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, will be held at 7 p.m. Monday at her home, 396 Cecelia Way.

HOLLIS — Dr. Harry W. Humphreys of San Rafael, finance chairman for the reelection campaign of Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, yesterday said that errors in finance reports filed by the camapign committee were his own "oversight," not Hollis's.

(State law, however, requires the candidate to verify that he has read the financial report by his campaign committee.)

Hollis originally reported he spent $6,013 and got $5,176 in contributions, but after his opponent in the election complained, Hollis amended his report to show he got $11,731 in contributions and spent $9,840.

McGUIRE — A fund-raising party for Terrence V. McGuire of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District and for election to the same seat for the remainder of this year, will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday at the San Rafael home of Richard I. Hooke, 1456 Grand Avenue.

WORNUM — Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has urged expanded treatment programs for drug addicts, with free or low-cost methadone clinics and therapeutic programs. Only about 15 per cent of the nation's heroin addicts are in any kind of treatment program, he said.

Blaze Controlled

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Fire crews last night controlled a 270-acre brush fire which broke out in the Kern River canyon 30 miles east of here.

Bales Rapped On Plea Bargaining

Edward M. Krug of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County district attorney, yesterday accused the incumbent, Bruce B. Bales, with "misleading the public and embarrassing the judges by covering up plea bargain agreements."

Citing Bales's assertion that his office does not participate in plea bargaining, Krug declared that Bales's office "routinely plea bargains most criminal cases. The only difference is that in this county the bargain is not made public for the record," Krug said.

Krug said the practice of recommending a reduced charge or penalty to induce a guilty plea to avoid a trial sometimes is necessary, but added "the public should know the facts. The people cannot get honest law enforcement if the district attorney is not honest with the people."

Krug said plea bargains are made in judges' chambers in most criminal cases, then in open court the deputy recommends a stiffer sentence than the one agreed upon in chambers.

"The recommendation is strictly for public consumption," Krug said. "If the judge accepted the recommendation," he added, the defendant would have the right to withdraw his plea. This way, it looks as if the judges are consistently handing out softer sentences than the district attorney is asking.

"It makes the judges look bad," Krug said.

REEVES — Alan F. Reeves of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District and for election to the same seat for the remainder of the year, yesterday charged a rival candidate with carrying a Viet Cong flag in antiwar demonstrations.

Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, carried the flag and "and stood present while the American flag was burned," Reeves said, adding "yet he asks to be elected to an office where by oath he must vow to defend our flag."

BOYLAN — Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, has declared his opposition to the 15 per cent hike in rates voted by the district directors. "This figure is excessive since it allows for a contingency fund of almost $1 million," Boylan said. He termed the contingency "a luxury for the MMWD and a hardship for consumers.

"The average homeowner is being asked to subsidize, in advance, capital construction costs to provide water for new housing developments," Boylan said. Water hookup fees should be increased instead to keep pace with other construction costs, he proposed.

Large water users should pay more for their water, Boylan said.

FARLATTI — Coffees for Bernardino A. Farlatti of Tiburon, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, will be at 5 p.m. today at the Belvedere home of Stuart Rose, 25 Beach Road, and 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Tiburon home of Buddy Hirsch, 30 Circle Drive.

SEMINARIO — A precinct walk party for Joan Seminario of Kentfield, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 3 seat, will begin with coffee and doughnuts at 10 a.m. Saturday at the San Anselmo home of Margaret Melsh, 216 Los Angeles Boulevard. A wine and cheese party will follow in the afternoon. Child care will be provided.

HILL — A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has been endorsed by five past chairmen of the Marin County Republican Central Committee. The five, who headed the party from 1955 to 1972, are Rodgers C. Broomhead, Charles Michals, Gerald T. Misner, David Winslow and Elmer Worlund.

BROCKBANK — Elaine Brockbank of Kentfield, candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, has objected that budget cuts by the present board have endangered the district's career guidance program. "We cannot allow it to be discontinued," she said.

A coffee for Mrs. Brockbank will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Corte Madera home of Louis King, 516 Corte Madera Avenue.

DELAPLANE — A fund-raising cocktail party for Susan A. Delaplane of Tiburon, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, will be held at 7 p.m. Monday at her home, 396 Cecelia Way.

HOLLIS — Dr. Harry W. Humphreys of San Rafael, finance chairman for the reelection campaign of Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, yesterday said that errors in finance reports filed by the camapign committee were his own "oversight," not Hollis's.

(State law, however, requires the candidate to verify that he has read the financial report by his campaign committee.)

Hollis originally reported he spent $6,013 and got $5,176 in contributions, but after his opponent in the election complained, Hollis amended his report to show he got $11,731 in contributions and spent $9,840.

McGUIRE — A fund-raising party for Terrence V. McGuire of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District and for election to the same seat for the remainder of this year, will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday at the San Rafael home of Richard I. Hooke, 1456 Grand Avenue.

WORNUM — Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, has urged expanded treatment programs for drug addicts, with free or low-cost methadone clinics and therapeutic programs. Only about 15 per cent of the nation's heroin addicts are in any kind of treatment program, he said.

SAN RAFAEL BUDGET

$8 Million Spending Plan

By NELS JOHNSON

San Rafael City Mgr. William J. Bielser has proposed a $8,104,400 budget for 1974-75, down $86,538 from this fiscal year's spending program.

The preliminary budget, which includes funds for pay increases for municipal employees, will be viewed by the city council at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in city hall.

The fiscal plan will require a tax rate of 96.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, down 2.5 cents from this year's 99-cent rate, according to Bielser. He noted that residents of the annexed Terra Linda tract are exempt from the city's five-cent sewer tax and would pay a rate of 91.5 cents per $100.

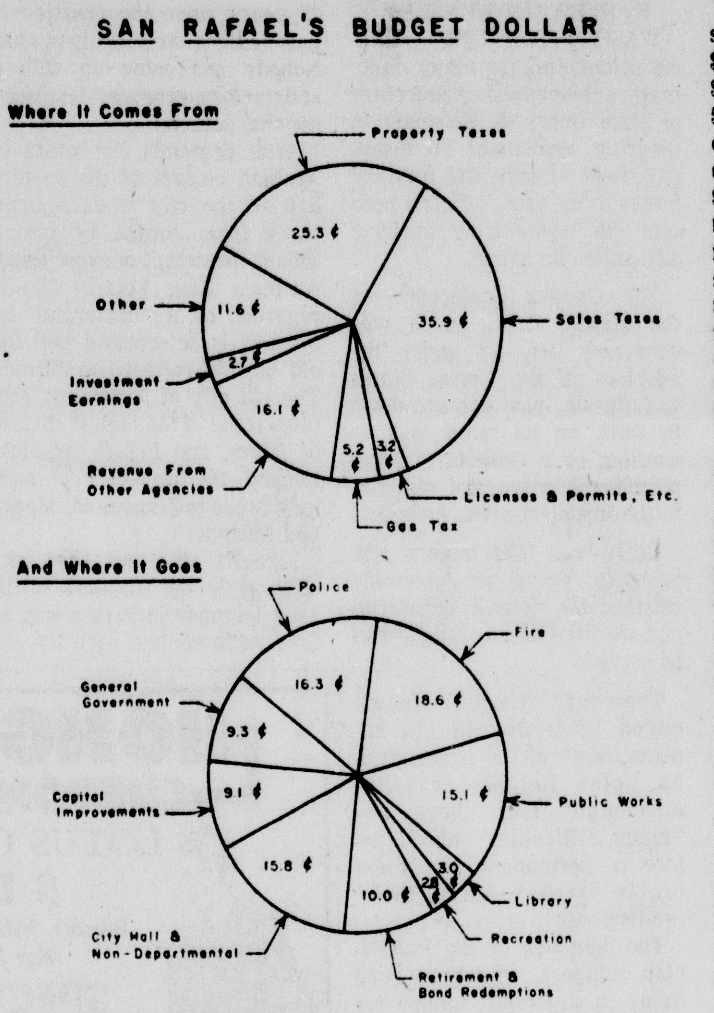
The tax reduction is possible primarily because of high interest earnings on open space bond proceeds now on deposit, according to Bielser.

The proposed $8,104,400 spending program is based on estimated revenue of $7,317,892 which includes: $4,870,824 in total taxes; $236,000 in licenses and permits; $255,000 in fines and penalties; $196,900 in interest; $1,555,728 from other agencies; $126,340 in service charges and $77,100 in other revenue.

Bielser's budget proposes a $7,364,533 operating budget, up from this year's $6,859,433, and a $739,867 capital expenditures budget, down from this year's $1,311,505.

Some $5,088,580 of the spending program is budgeted to pay for salaries. Materials, services and supplies consume $2,212,735 of the municipal pie.

Highlights of the budget include proposals to delete five full-time staff positions by eliminating one police patrolman, one police lieutenant, one fireman, one maintenance man and one recreation leader. Net reduction in staff, however, amounts to only two positions since the budget calls for creation of three new posts: a personnel director, code enforcement officer, and traffic engineer.



SLICING THE PIE — Graphs supplied by the San Rafael city administration depict origins of city revenues, and how city leaders intend to carve the municipal pie.

Bielser also recommends in the budget that the council decide whether or not the Dollar mansion should be acquired by the city for public use, and declares the matter should be placed on the November ballot.

The purchase would be financed through a special tax levy not to exceed 5 cents for the first three years and two cents thereafter, the city manager said.

Developers and preservationists have long squabbled over the fate of the historic mansion, with one side seeking to raze the structure and develop the property, and the other seeking to preserve the mansion as a cultural center.

Bielser also is recommending that the city spend $50,000 to remodel its downtown library and expand floor space by 30 per cent. In addition, the budget calls for purchase of a parcel adjustment to St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda, perhaps as the site of a future branch library.

Bielser also urges a major reorganization of the city police department by consolidating the department's five divisions into three units: administrative and services, investigations and uniform. The new organization would provide for better career development by allowing individuals to rotate through each division, according to Bielser.

Another budget feature is Bielser's recommendation that the city parks division be shifted from the parks and recreation department to the public works department. The shift is needed for economical use of manpower, according to Bielser.

Bielser's proposed $739,876 capital expenditure program includes $240,000 for widening of the Miracle Mile; $130,000 for street resurfacing; $10,000 for installation of raised pavement markets, and $10,000 for Freitas Parkway improvements.

Other capital expenditure projects are: main library expansion, $50,000; branch library park site acquisition, $50,000; storm pumping stations, $14,000; geological survey, $9,000; sidewalk replacement program, $10,000; storm drainage work, $25,000; park improvements, $12,867; Terra Linda recreation center improvements, $14,000; downtown recreational center, $55,000; Albert Park renovation, $55,000; Peacock Gap recreational area, $15,000; Davidson School improvements, $5,000; architectural services for city hall expansion, $10,000; water main replacement, $23,000, and fire alarm system, $2,000.

Operating budget figures by departments, with current figures in parenthesis, are: City council, $21,490 ($21,190); city attorney, $22,425 ($21,038); city clerk, $38,661 ($37,473); elections, $9,500 ($8,500); city manager, $91,525 ($92,948); general personnel, $9,685 ($8,500); city manager, $91,525 ($92,948); general personnel, $9,685 (new post); city treasurer, $38,658 ($37,429); finance, $57,896 ($57,404).

General services, central services $172,739 ($157,829); general services, garage, $171,524 ($156,680); recreation, $43,453 ($43,759); recreation $185,568 ($212,245); library, $233,606 ($238,088); planning, $161,875 ($175,287); public works, administration and engineering, $410,313 ($391,056).

Public works, streets, $556,471 ($576,452); parks, $175,760 ($184,611); building, $67,266 ($65,214); police, $1,324,556 ($1,340,105); fire, $1,481,573 ($1,351,389); bond retirement fund, $333,543; parking district $47,676 ($86,558); parking meters, $10,452 ($10,249); nondeparmental, $1,682,493; San Rafael Sanitation District, $10,000 ($20,000) and San Rafael Cayes maintenance, $2,725 ($500).

Bielser's 108-page budget, a document spiced by etchings and script printing reminiscent of the city's centennial year, begins with a poem by Charles Dickens from "A Tale of Two Cities."

The verse, written 199 years ago, declares that period to be at once both the best and worst of times, an age of wisdom and foolishness. The city manager reflects that the poem in some ways is relevant to today's world and notes that while the budget meets many municipal needs, it does not meet others, like adequate maintenance of city streets and storm drains.

First Lady Is Looking Forward To Mideast Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pat Nixon says she is looking forward to traveling to the Middle East with her husband, and she hailed the Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement as "such good news."

"I've been praying for it for a long time," the First Lady told reporters. "My prayers have been answered."

The President's wife discussed her husband's forthcoming Middle East trip briefly with reporters after greeting 200 guests, representing eight international clubs from the Washington area.

"I always look forward to trips," Mrs. Nixon said. "I have friends all over the world."

SAN RAFAEL BUDGET

$8 Million Spending Plan

By NELS JOHNSON

San Rafael City Mgr. William J. Bielser has proposed a $8,104,400 budget for 1974-75, down $86,538 from this fiscal year's spending program.

The preliminary budget, which includes funds for pay increases for municipal employees, will be viewed by the city council at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in city hall.

The fiscal plan will require a tax rate of 96.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, down 2.5 cents from this year's 99-cent rate, according to Bielser. He noted that residents of the annexed Terra Linda tract are exempt from the city's five-cent sewer tax and would pay a rate of 91.5 cents per $100.

The tax reduction is possible primarily because of high interest earnings on open space bond proceeds now on deposit, according to Bielser.

The proposed $8,104,400 spending program is based on estimated revenue of $7,317,892 which includes: $4,870,824 in total taxes; $236,000 in licenses and permits; $255,000 in fines and penalties; $196,900 in interest; $1,555,728 from other agencies; $126,340 in service charges and $77,100 in other revenue.

Bielser's budget proposes a $7,364,533 operating budget, up from this year's $6,859,433, and a $739,867 capital expenditures budget, down from this year's $1,311,505.

Some $5,088,580 of the spending program is budgeted to pay for salaries. Materials, services and supplies consume $2,212,735 of the municipal pie.

Highlights of the budget include proposals to delete five full-time staff positions by eliminating one police patrolman, one police lieutenant, one fireman, one maintenance man and one recreation leader. Net reduction in staff, however, amounts to only two positions since the budget calls for creation of three new posts: a personnel director, code enforcement officer, and traffic engineer.

Bielser also recommends in the budget that the council decide whether or not the Dollar mansion should be acquired by the city for public use, and declares the matter should be placed on the November ballot.

The purchase would be financed through a special tax levy not to exceed 5 cents for the first three years and two cents thereafter, the city manager said.

Developers and preservationists have long squabbled over the fate of the historic mansion, with one side seeking to raze the structure and develop the property, and the other seeking to preserve the mansion as a cultural center.

Bielser also is recommending that the city spend $50,000 to remodel its downtown library and expand floor space by 30 per cent. In addition, the budget calls for purchase of a parcel adjustment to St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda, perhaps as the site of a future branch library.

Bielser also urges a major reorganization of the city police department by consolidating the department's five divisions into three units: administrative and services, investigations and uniform. The new organization would provide for better career development by allowing individuals to rotate through each division, according to Bielser.

Another budget feature is Bielser's recommendation that the city parks division be shifted from the parks and recreation department to the public works department. The shift is needed for economical use of manpower, according to Bielser.

Bielser's proposed $739,876 capital expenditure program includes $240,000 for widening of the Miracle Mile; $130,000 for street resurfacing; $10,000 for installation of raised pavement markets, and $10,000 for Freitas Parkway improvements.

Other capital expenditure projects are: main library expansion, $50,000; branch library park site acquisition, $50,000; storm pumping stations, $14,000; geological survey, $9,000; sidewalk replacement program, $10,000; storm drainage work, $25,000; park improvements, $12,867; Terra Linda recreation center improvements, $14,000; downtown recreational center, $55,000; Albert Park renovation, $55,000; Peacock Gap recreational area, $15,000; Davidson School improvements, $5,000; architectural services for city hall expansion, $10,000; water main replacement, $23,000, and fire alarm system, $2,000.

Operating budget figures by departments, with current figures in parenthesis, are: City council, $21,490 ($21,190); city attorney, $22,425 ($21,038); city clerk, $38,661 ($37,473); elections, $9,500 ($8,500); city manager, $91,525 ($92,948); general personnel, $9,685 ($8,500); city manager, $91,525 ($92,948); general personnel, $9,685 (new post); city treasurer, $38,658 ($37,429); finance, $57,896 ($57,404).

General services, central services $172,739 ($157,829); general services, garage, $171,524 ($156,680); recreation, $43,453 ($43,759); recreation $185,568 ($212,245); library, $233,606 ($238,088); planning, $161,875 ($175,287); public works, administration and engineering, $410,313 ($391,056).

Public works, streets, $556,471 ($576,452); parks, $175,760 ($184,611); building, $67,266 ($65,214); police, $1,324,556 ($1,340,105); fire, $1,481,573 ($1,351,389); bond retirement fund, $333,543; parking district $47,676 ($86,558); parking meters, $10,452 ($10,249); nondeparmental, $1,682,493; San Rafael Sanitation District, $10,000 ($20,000) and San Rafael Cayes maintenance, $2,725 ($500).

Bielser's 108-page budget, a document spiced by etchings and script printing reminiscent of the city's centennial year, begins with a poem by Charles Dickens from "A Tale of Two Cities."

The verse, written 199 years ago, declares that period to be at once both the best and worst of times, an age of wisdom and foolishness. More Soviet Musicians Seek Leaves

MOSCOW (UPI) — World-famed pianist Sviatoslav Richter and two other Soviet musicians have asked permission to live abroad for extended periods, Soviet sources said today.

Cellist Matislav Rostropovich, officially ostracized because of his support of exiled author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, previously obtained permission to live abroad for two years and flew Sunday to London.

The sources said the latest applications suggest a serious defection in Soviet musical ranks.

In addition to Richter, they said the applicants included Rudolf Barshai, chief conductor of the Moscow Chamber Orchestra, and Gennady Rozhdestvensky, former conductor of the radio and television symphony orchestra.

The sources said Richter, 57, hailed by some Western critics as one of the world's greatest pianists, has applied to go to London.

The sources said Barshai has a Japanese wife and has applied to go to Japan.

They said Rozhdestvensky recently got official permission to be guest conductor of the Stockholm Philharmonic Orchestra starting next fall, and was supposed to go to Stockholm several times each year.

But they said he has now asked permission to live abroad for an extended period.

Earlier this week, Soviet sources said Stalin Prizewinning novelist Viktor Nekrasov also had applied for permission to live abroad.

Massive Problems Remain To Finalize Mideast Peace

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Without discounting the major diplomatic achievement of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in securing agreement on disengagement of opposing military forces in the area, officials here said that some truly massive difficulties lie ahead.

The Geneva Conference on the Middle East, which was convened Dec. 22 under the auspices of the United States and Russia, now can get down to work on its main task — working on a formula to bring permanent peace and stability to the turbulent area.

But it will take months and probably years to determine whether the volatile territorial and security issues actually can be settled.

President Nixon acknowledged yesterday in his announcement of the Israeli-Syrian Golan Heights ceasefire agreement that there are "many difficulties" ahead before a permanent settlement can be reached. Among these, the toughest to solve are:

The demands by the Palestinian refugees, who have been living in makeshift camps for 25 years since the creation of Israel, for a state of their own. Nobody has come up with a satisfactory proposal for meeting this demand.

Arab demands for return to Arabian control of the eastern half of the city of Jerusalem, taken from Jordan by Israel. This is important because Saudi Arabia's King Feisal, who is regarded as a "moderate" influence, is determined that the old city be restored to Jordan. The old city of Jerusalem contains some of the holiest shrines of Islam, and Feisal considers himself the protector of such holy areas in Jerusalem, Mecca and Medina.

Israel's demand that any changes in the frontiers in the area be made in such a way as to guarantee her security. Israel insists on demilitarization of the Syrian territory in the Golan Heights, arrangements at Sharm el Seikh at the foot of the Sinai Peninsula which will prevent Egypt from having any ability to close the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping. While apparently willing to return all of the Sinai to Egypt, Israel is certain to insist on strict limitation on military forces and arms Egypt can maintain in that desert area east of the Suez Canal.

Nixon expressed the belief that chances for this are better than they have been "at any other time over the last 25 years."

This is true. But it would be a grave error to minimize the magnitude of the problems ahead.

Health Costs

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Spiraling government and private expenditures for health care coverage, treatment and materials were at the $80 billion level in 1972, Arthur D. Little Inc., reports, adding that the figure is likely to double by the end of the decade.

FINALLY THE FOUNTAIN IS FUNCTIONING

Water splashes merrily down the Victorian fountain in Sausalito's Vina Del Mar Park which until last week had been dry for about eight months. City officials overhauled the fountain's pump at the urging of 8-year-old Lauren Gonzales. Lauren had tried to persuade the city fathers to open the park to the public, but they declined, saying heavy foot traffic would damage the small green area. However, officials did agree to add landscaping to the park to make it more attractive. The fountain came to Sausalito in the early 1930s from the World's Fair in San Francisco.

Body Of Fifth Stranded Youth Found In Desert

GILA BEND, Ariz. (UPI) — Searchers today found the body of the fifth victim in the desert sun which felled members of a brass scavenging expedition on the Gila Bend Gunnery Range.

Sheriff's officials said David Capistran, 19, apparently died of exposure as did four companions who were found dead on Tuesday. Capistran's body was found 16 miles south of Interstate 8 by some of the 75 deputies and possemen who participated in the search.

Survivors said the promise of $25 and a bonus enticed them to spend the Memorial Day weekend picking up the brass shell casings.

Donnie Warrington, 16, who survived the ordeal, said yesterday that Louis J. Dykes offered him and several friends the money for stealing the casings off the gunnery range, a restricted area used by Air Force pilots to practice strafing and bombing runs.

Warrington said Dykes and another man fled in a rented truck early Sunday when an Air Force helicopter appeared over the theft ring's camp. When Dykes failed to return, other members of the ring started wandering in the desert where temperatures were estimated at 120 degrees.

Warrington said he sought shelter under a shade tree and prayed that the others would send help.

Four of those stranded managed to walk back and notify sheriff's deputies Monday. Dykes and six other persons had been arrested Sunday but had not told authorities of the boys left in the desert.

"Those boys didn't stand a chance out there without food and water," said Sheriff's Lt. Dave Lofgren. "As far as I'm concerned, it's a crime to knowingly leave them stranded in the desert."

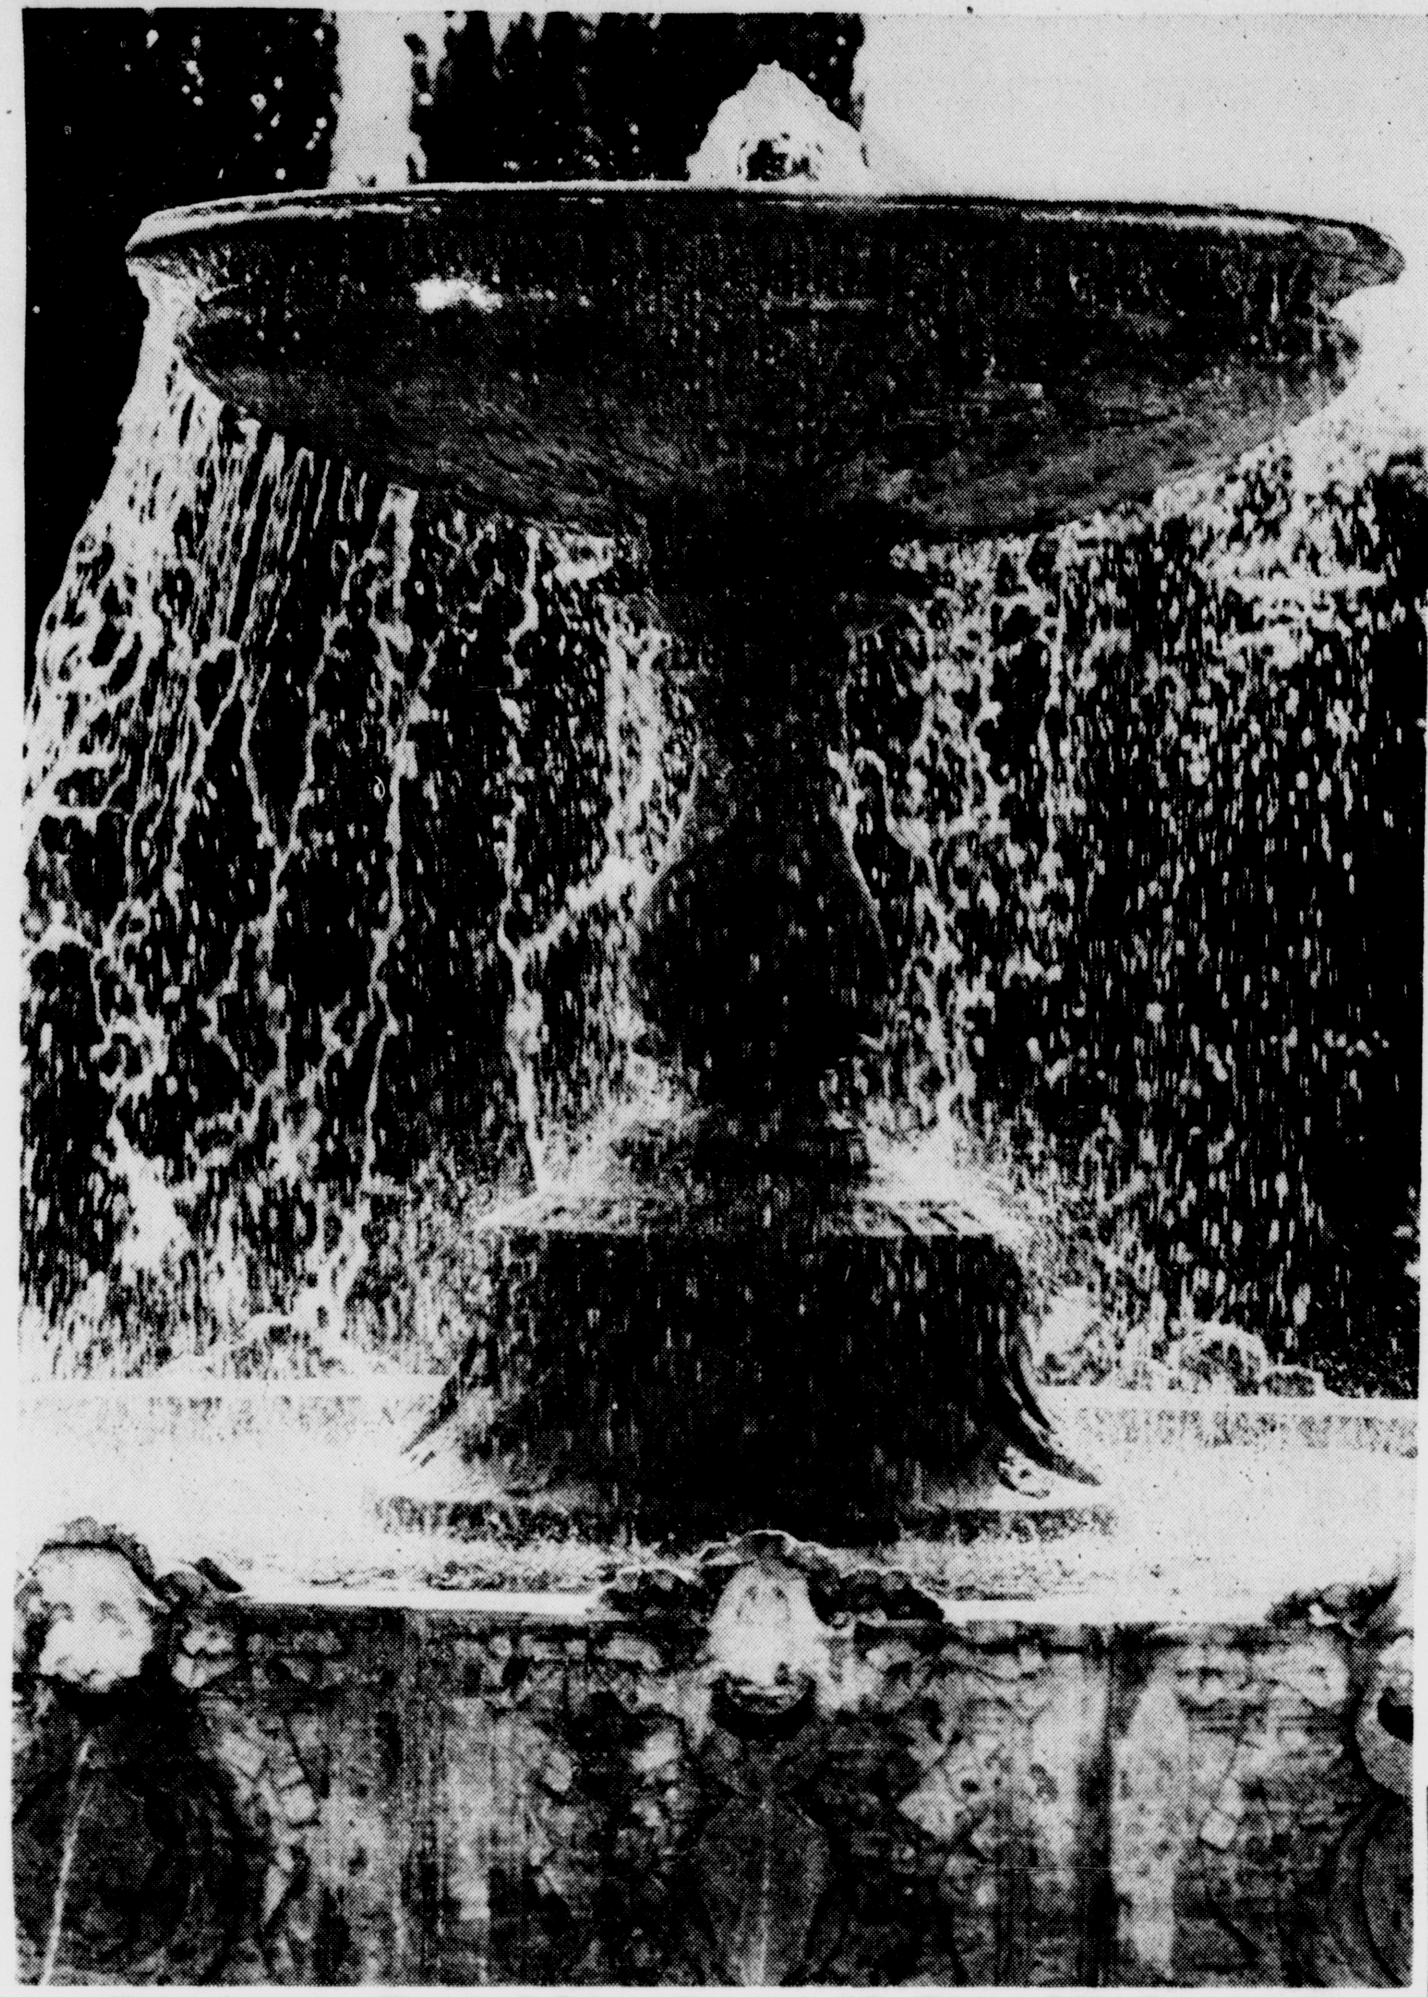
PETER MEYER
COUNTY CLERK

Paid for by Committee to Elect PETER C. MEYER County Clerk. Co-chairmen: Betty Deedy & Richard Breiner, 9 Eucalyptus Lane, San Rafael.



FINALLY THE FOUNTAIN IS FUNCTIONING

Water splashes merrily down the Victorian fountain in Sausalito's Vina Del Mar Park which until last week had been dry for about eight months. City officials overhauled the fountain's pump at the urging of 8-year-old Lauren Gonzales. Lauren had tried to persuade the city fathers to open the park to the public, but they declined, saying heavy foot traffic would damage the small green area. However, officials did agree to add landscaping to the park to make it more attractive. The fountain came to Sausalito in the early 1930s from the World's Fair in San Francisco.

More Soviet Musicians Seek Leaves

MOSCOW (UPI) — World-famed pianist Sviatoslav Richter and two other Soviet musicians have asked permission to live abroad for extended periods, Soviet sources said today.

Cellist Matislav Rostropovich, officially ostracized because of his support of exiled author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, previously obtained permission to live abroad for two years and flew Sunday to London.

The sources said the latest applications suggest a serious defection in Soviet musical ranks.

In addition to Richter, they said the applicants included Rudolf Barshai, chief conductor of the Moscow Chamber Orchestra, and Gennady Rozhdestvensky, former conductor of the radio and television symphony orchestra.

The sources said Richter, 57, hailed by some Western critics as one of the world's greatest pianists, has applied to go to London.

The sources said Barshai has a Japanese wife and has applied to go to Japan.

They said Rozhdestvensky recently got official permission to be guest conductor of the Stockholm Philharmonic Orchestra starting next fall, and was supposed to go to Stockholm several times each year.

But they said he has now asked permission to live abroad for an extended period.

Earlier this week, Soviet sources said Stalin Prizewinning novelist Viktor Nekrasov also had applied for permission to live abroad.

Massive Problems Remain To Finalize Mideast Peace

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Without discounting the major diplomatic achievement of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in securing agreement on disengagement of opposing military forces in the area, officials here said that some truly massive difficulties lie ahead.

The Geneva Conference on the Middle East, which was convened Dec. 22 under the auspices of the United States and Russia, now can get down to work on its main task — working on a formula to bring permanent peace and stability to the turbulent area.

But it will take months and probably years to determine whether the volatile territorial and security issues actually can be settled.

President Nixon acknowledged yesterday in his announcement of the Israeli-Syrian Golan Heights ceasefire agreement that there are "many difficulties" ahead before a permanent settlement can be reached. Among these, the toughest to solve are:

The demands by the Palestinian refugees, who have been living in makeshift camps for 25 years since the creation of Israel, for a state of their own. Nobody has come up with a satisfactory proposal for meeting this demand.

Arab demands for return to Arabian control of the eastern half of the city of Jerusalem, taken from Jordan by Israel. This is important because Saudi Arabia's King Feisal, who is regarded as a "moderate" influence, is determined that the old city be restored to Jordan. The old city of Jerusalem contains some of the holiest shrines of Islam, and Feisal considers himself the protector of such holy areas in Jerusalem, Mecca and Medina.

Israel's demand that any changes in the frontiers in the area be made in such a way as to guarantee her security. Israel insists on demilitarization of the Syrian territory in the Golan Heights, arrangements at Sharm el Seikh at the foot of the Sinai Peninsula which will prevent Eqypt from having any ability to close the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping. While apparently willing to return all of the Sinai to Egypt, Israel is certain to insist on strict limitation on military forces and arms Egypt can maintain in that desert area east of the Suez Canal.

Nixon expressed the belief that chances for this are better than they have been "at any other time over the last 25 years."

This is true. But it would be a grave error to minimize the magnitude of the problems ahead.

Health Costs

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Spiraling government and private expenditures for health care coverage, treatment and materials were at the $80 billion level in 1972, Arthur D. Little Inc., reports, adding that the figure is likely to double by the end of the decade.

Difficult Task

NEW YORK (AP) — Ensuring variety and nutrition in each meal is a difficult task, according to an in-depth study of homemakers conducted for Hoffmann-La Roche Inc.

Body Of Fifth Stranded Youth Found In Desert

GILA BEND, Ariz. (UPI) — Searchers today found the body of the fifth victim in the desert sun which felled members of a brass scavenging expedition on the Gila Bend Gunnery Range.

Sheriff's officials said David Capistran, 19, apparently died of exposure as did four companions who were found dead on Tuesday. Capistran's body was found 16 miles south of Interstate 8 by some of the 75 deputies and possemen who participated in the search.

Survivors said the promise of $25 and a bonus enticed them to spend the Memorial Day weekend picking up the brass shell casings.

Donnie Warrington, 16, who survived the ordeal, said yesterday that Louis J. Dykes offered him and several friends the money for stealing the casings off the gunnery range, a restricted area used by Air Force pilots to practice strafing and bombing runs.

Warrington said Dykes and another man fled in a rented truck early Sunday when an Air Force helicopter appeared over the theft ring's camp. When Dykes failed to return, other members of the ring started wandering in the desert where temperatures were estimated at 120 degrees.

Warrington said he sought shelter under a shade tree and prayed that the others would send help.

Four of those stranded managed to walk back and notify sheriff's deputies Monday. Dykes and six other persons had been arrested Sunday but had not told authorities of the boys left in the desert.

"Those boys didn't stand a chance out there without food and water," said Sheriff's Lt. Dave Lofgren. "As far as I'm concerned, it's a crime to knowingly leave them stranded in the desert."

Nearing Limits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Far from having a limitless resource in the sea, the world is nearing the limit of its fishery possibilities, says Dr. Robert M. White, chief of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

PETER MEYER COUNTY CLERK

Paid for by Committee to Elect PETER C. MEYER County Clerk. Co-chairmen: Betty Deedy & Richard Breiner, 9 Eucalyptus Lane, San Rafael.

Trial Ordered In 'Zebra' Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four young black men were ordered to stand trial July 8 after pleading innocent yesterday to charges of carrying out three of the random "Zebra" murders of whites here during the past eight months.

Over defense objections, Superior Court Judge Morton Colvin refused to lift a controversial gag rule banning public statements by principals regarding evidence in the case.

Manuel Moore, 29; J. C. Simon, 29; Larry Craig Green, 22, and Jessie Cooks, 29, all Black Muslims and San Francisco residents, face possible life sentences if convicted of the murders. They also are charged with assaults on four "Zebra" victims who survived.

About a dozen armed deputies stood in the courtroom as the defendants, heads bowed and wearing orange prison jumpsuits, quietly responded "not guilty," when the court clerk recited the charges against them.

Clinton White, attorney for Moore, Simon and Green, told Colvin: "It is the desire of the defense not to have any so-called gag rule. We see no need for it." Cooks' attorney, Roger Pierucci, expressed no opinion on the matter.

But Colvin, who had said he would lift the ban if neither side objected, let it stnad after Assistant Dist. Atty. Robert Podesta argued that the gag rule "will protect both sides' rights to a fair trial."

White complained that the defendants were humiliated by being forced to appear in the orange prison garb. But Colvin said such dress was standard during pretrial hearings and said they would be permitted to wear street clothes at the trial.

The San Francisco County Grand Jury indicted the men on a total of 22 felony counts May 16 after a series of latenight sessions held amid unprecedented security.

Moore, Simon and Green were arrested May 1 during a predrawn raid by police and are being held on $300,000 bail each. At the time of their arrests, Cooks was in Folsom State Prison serving a life sentence for a murder here unrelatec to the "Zebra" slayings.

The "Zebra" killings — named by police after their "Z" radio channel — are a series of 13 apparently motiveless slayings and seven nonfatal assaults on whites dating to last October.

One of the witnesses who reportedly testified before the grand jury was exconvict Anthony Cornelius Harris, who previously had contacted Mayor Joseph Alioto in hopes of getting a $30,000 reward offered in the case.

Alioto said Harris told him the Zebra killings were the work of a fanatical sect.

Question On Destroying Documents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Massive numbers of classified documents are destroyed annually before being either reviewed or declassified, the head of the National Archives told the Senate yesterday.

"There are a great many records that are classified that are destroyed before being declassified," Dr. James B. Rhoads told the Senate subcommittee on intergovernmental relations, which is investigating government secrecy. He said most of the material was boring and would never be sought by the public.

"That's a neat way to destroy classified documents so that they can never be seen by the public," said Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, said such a system "amounts to burying history."

Muskie asked Rhoads, "Is there any chance that they are not only being lost to the Archives but also to history?"

Rhoads said that as Archivist of the United States he is faced with the problem of how to handle the enormous paper work produced by the government annually.

"The paper work produced in one year by the Federal Government would fill the Archives entirely," he said. "If we had to save all documents a year longer for public scrutiny, we would have an enormous paper problem. If anything, we are under pressure to destroy documents sooner, not later."

Rhoads said a committee of expert historians at the National Archives determines which documents should be preserved for historical value and which destoryed, not the intelligence sources that originally classified the document.

He said later, however, that under terms of an Executive Order establishing a new system for classification and declassification, the agencies involved have the bulk of responsibility for such declassification.

Rhoads is Acting Chairman of the Interagency Classification Review Committee which oversees the operations of 25 separate agencies, 11 White House offices and 17,000 officials in the declassification program.

Pressed by Muskie, however, Rhoads conceded only one person has been assigned fulltime responsibilities by the committee. There is no specific budget request to fund the operation, he said.

In a prepared statement, Rhoads said "At the National Archives we estimate that only 2 to 3 per cent of all the documents created by the government in a year are worthy of preservation as the permanently valuable records of the federal government."

MOORE FOR ASSEMBLYMAN

Always a LEADER, never one to sit back and let someone else do the job, MOORE WON the Democratic Primary in 1972.

Harry is the only candidate to win in a County-wide election, Marin College Board, 1967.

Harry campaigned for political reform two years ago and supports Prop. 9 now.

Harry was Marin co-chairman for Citizens Against Prop. 1 and continues to seek property tax reform.

He was co-chairman for the 1973 North Marin Water Bond, which won by 78%. He asked the Novato City Council, not the water board, for a growth limit policy.

YOU'VE HEARD A LOT OF RUMORS AND WILD ACCUSATIONS ABOUT THE TAM HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT TEACHERS AND WHY THEY ARE ON STRIKE TODAY. NOW

LET'S FACE FACTS

— An Explosion of Myths about the Tam District —

from the tamalpais Federation of Teachers, and the Tamalpais District Teachers Association

MYTH - The district is too financially strapped to give teachers a true cost-of-living increase.

REALITY - Teacher research shows that by cutting unnecessary management costs (already 3% higher than recommended for good business practices) the classroom will not be directly affected and some of the money can be found.

MYTH - The district needs to hold on to its million dollar reserve fund.

REALITY - Even the conservative State Board of Education has recommended that a school district reserve of 5% of the budget is more than adequate. This would mean $500,000 for a satisfactory Tam reserve. Here, the bulk of the money lies. What better way to use an emergency fund than in an emergency?

MYTH - All teachers want is more money.

REALITY - In the teachers' negotiating package there are many more items addressed than merely salary; e.g. a realistic class size to provide a better learning situation for the children of the Tam District, improved physical conditions of classrooms, increased textbook and instructional supplies for students, teacher training for new programs.

MYTH - Teachers have two months off with pay in the Summer and all those other vacations.

REALITY - In fact, teachers are paid only for the 10 month school year. When a teacher is forced to take a day off without pay for some personal reason, 1/181 of his salary is deducted; thus, he is paid only for the time worked during school. Teachers are virtually laid off without salary for the Summer months and many teachers are forced to search for other jobs to supplement their incomes during those so-called "vacations."

MYTH - Teachers make lots of money now.

REALITY - Tam District teachers, with an average six years of college credit and advanced degrees, have an average salary of $15,000 as compared to an average income of $22,000 for comparably educated people in the community which they serve. Also, a more than 10% rise in the cost-of-living during the past year means that any salary increase of less than that is no raise at all. Furthermore, the prediction for the coming year is at least an 11.1% increase in living costs according to economists in a Time magazine article (May 27, 1974). During the past five years the teachers have not even been given an adequate cost-of-living increase.

MYTH - A raise for teachers will mean higher taxes for the public.

REALITY - Teachers have suggested many budget cuts not involving students such as selling the district's surplus school sites in Tiburon and San Geronimo on which the district does not intend to build in the foreseeable future. This alone would free $200,000 without a tax raise.

MYTH - Teachers get raises automatically ever year anyway.

REALITY - As in every business, school employees are rewarded for expertise acquired through experience and further formal training. Thus, teachers do receive yearly increments of $500, but only up to 12 years. Beyond this, increments are given only at the 15th, 20th, 25th year. However, the basic salary schedule remains unchanged except through negotiations.

MYTH: It ill-becomes teachers as "professionals" to employ picketing as a tactic.

REALITY: Teachers are forced to picket because of bad faith negotiation by the Superintendent and the Board. Teachers have only their services to offer and do not control their salaries or working conditions as true professionals do.

The teachers' negotiators on the CEC (Certificated Employees Council) made a 15% salary increase proposal on April 3, 1974 only to have Superintendent Torrey respond as late as May 8, 1974 with a counter offer of 4%. The unacceptable 4% offer was proferred again on May 17, 1974 at which time Torrey declared an impasse to negotiations.

Trial Ordered In 'Zebra' Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four young black men were ordered to stand trial July 8 after pleading innocent yesterday to charges of carrying out three of the random "Zebra" murders of whites here during the past eight months.

Over defense objections, Superior Court Judge Morton Colvin refused to lift a controversial gag rule banning public statements by principals regarding evidence in the case.

Manuel Moore, 29; J. C. Simon, 29; Larry Craig Green, 22, and Jessie Cooks, 29, all Black Muslims and San Francisco residents, face possible life sentences if convicted of the murders. They also are charged with assaults on four "Zebra" victims who survived.

About a dozen armed deputies stood in the courtroom as the defendants, heads bowed and wearing orange prison jumpsuits, quietly responded "not guilty," when the court clerk recited the charges against them.

Clinton White, attorney for Moore, Simon and Green, told Colvin: "It is the desire of the defense not to have any so-called gag rule. We see no need for it." Cooks' attorney, Roger Pierucci, expressed no opinion on the matter.

But Colvin, who had said he would lift the ban if neither side objected, let it stnad after Assistant Dist. Atty. Robert Podesta argued that the gag rule "will protect both sides' rights to a fair trial."

White complained that the defendants were humiliated by being forced to appear in the orange prison garb. But Colvin said such dress was standard during pretrial hearings and said they would be permitted to wear street clothes at the trial.

The San Francisco County Grand Jury indicted the men on a total of 22 felony counts May 16 after a series of latenight sessions held amid unprecedented security.

Moore, Simon and Green were arrested May 1 during a predrawn raid by police and are being held on $300,000 bail each. At the time of their arrests, Cooks was in Folsom State Prison serving a life sentence for a murder here unrelatec to the "Zebra" slayings.

The "Zebra" killings — named by police after their "Z" radio channel — are a series of 13 apparently motiveless slayings and seven nonfatal assaults on whites dating to last October.

One of the witnesses who reportedly testified before the grand jury was exconvict Anthony Cornelius Harris, who previously had contacted Mayor Joseph Alioto in hopes of getting a $30,000 reward offered in the case.

Alioto said Harris told him the Zebra killings were the work of a fanatical sect.

Question On Destroying Documents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Massive numbers of classified documents are destroyed annually before being either reviewed or declassified, the head of the National Archives told the Senate yesterday.

"There are a great many records that are classified that are destroyed before being declassified," Dr. James B. Rhoads told the Senate subcommittee on intergovernmental relations, which is investigating government secrecy. He said most of the material was boring and would never be sought by the public.

"That's a neat way to destroy classified documents so that they can never be seen by the public," said Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, said such a system "amounts to burying history."

Muskie asked Rhoads, "Is there any chance that they are not only being lost to the Archives but also to history?"

Rhoads said that as Archivist of the United States he is faced with the problem of how to handle the enormous paper work produced by the government annually.

"The paper work produced in one year by the Federal Government would fill the Archives entirely," he said. "If we had to save all documents a year longer for public scrutiny, we would have an enormous paper problem. If anything, we are under pressure to destroy documents sooner, not later."

Rhoads said a committee of expert historians at the National Archives determines which documents should be preserved for historical value and which destoryed, not the intelligence sources that originally classified the document.

He said later, however, that under terms of an Executive Order establishing a new system for classification and declassification, the agencies involved have the bulk of responsibility for such declassification.

Rhoads is Acting Chairman of the Interagency Classification Review Committee which oversees the operations of 25 separate agencies, 11 White House offices and 17,000 officials in the declassification program.

Pressed by Muskie, however, Rhoads conceded only one person has been assigned fulltime responsibilities by the committee. There is no specific budget request to fund the operation, he said.

In a prepared statement, Rhoads said "At the National Archives we estimate that only 2 to 3 per cent of all the documents created by the government in a year are worthy of preservation as the permanently valuable records of the federal government."

Always a LEADER, never one to sit back and let someone else do the job, MOORE WON the Democratic Primary in 1972.

Harry is the only candidate to win in a County-wide election, Marin College Board, 1967.

Harry campaigned for political reform two years ago and supports Prop. 9 now.

Harry was Marin co-chairman for Citizens Against Prop. 1 and continues to seek property tax reform.

He was co-chairman for the 1973 North Marin Water Bond, which won by 78%. He asked the Novato City Council, not the water board, for a growth limit policy.

YOU'VE HEARD A LOT OF RUMORS AND WILD ACCUSATIONS ABOUT THE TAM HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT TEACHERS AND WHY THEY ARE ON STRIKE TODAY. NOW

LET'S FACE FACTS

— An Explosion of Myths about the Tam District —

from the tamalpais Federation of Teachers, and the Tamalpais District Teachers Association

MYTH - The district is too financially strapped to give teachers a true cost-of-living increase.

REALITY - Teacher research shows that by cutting unnecessary management costs (already 3% higher than recommended for good business practices) the classroom will not be directly affected and some of the money can be found.

MYTH - The district needs to hold on to its million dollar reserve fund.

REALITY - Even the conservative State Board of Education has recommended that a school district reserve of 5% of the budget is more than adequate. This would mean $500,000 for a satisfactory Tam reserve. Here, the bulk of the money lies. What better way to use an emergency fund than in an emergency?

MYTH - All teachers want is more money.

REALITY - In the teachers' negotiating package there are many more items addressed than merely salary; e.g. a realistic class size to provide a better learning situation for the children of the Tam District, improved physical conditions of classrooms, increased textbook and instructional supplies for students, teacher training for new programs.

MYTH - Teachers have two months off with pay in the Summer and all those other vacations.

REALITY - In fact, teachers are paid only for the 10 month school year. When a teacher is forced to take a day off without pay for some personal reason, 1/181 of his salary is deducted; thus, he is paid only for the time worked during school. Teachers are virtually laid off without salary for the Summer months and many teachers are forced to search for other jobs to supplement their incomes during those so-called "vacations."

MYTH - Teachers make lots of money now.

REALITY - Tam District teachers, with an average six years of college credit and advanced degrees, have an average salary of $15,000 as compared to an average income of $22,000 for comparably educated people in the community which they serve. Also, a more than 10% rise in the cost-of-living during the past year means that any salary increase of less than that is no raise at all. Furthermore, the prediction for the coming year is at least an 11.1% increase in living costs according to economists in a Time magazine article (May 27, 1974). During the past five years the teachers have not even been given an adequate cost-of-living increase.

MYTH - A raise for teachers will mean higher taxes for the public.

REALITY - Teachers have suggested many budget cuts not involving students such as selling the district's surplus school sites in Tiburon and San Geronimo on which the district does not intend to build in the foreseeable future. This alone would free $200,000 without a tax raise.

MYTH - Teachers get raises automatically ever year anyway.

REALITY - As in every business, school employees are rewarded for expertise acquired through experience and further formal training. Thus, teachers do receive yearly increments of $500, but only up to 12 years. Beyond this, increments are given only at the 15th, 20th, 25th year. However, the basic salary schedule remains unchanged except through negotiations.

MYTH: It ill-becomes teachers as "professionals" to employ picketing as a tactic.

REALITY: Teachers are forced to picket because of bad faith negotiation by the Superintendent and the Board. Teachers have only their services to offer and do not control their salaries or working conditions as true professionals do.

The teachers' negotiators on the CEC (Certificated Employees Council) made a 15% salary increase proposal on April 3, 1974 only to have Superintendent Torrey respond as late as May 8, 1974 with a counter offer of 4%. The unacceptable 4% offer was proferred again on May 17, 1974 at which time Torrey declared an impasse to negotiations.

Nine Propositions Share State Ballot

Nine state propositions will share the ballot next Tuesday with a multitude of candidates.

Propositions 1, 2 and 3 are all bond issues.

PROPOSITION 1 calls for a $250 million state bond issue to finance purchase of parks and open space lands.

Just about everyone is for open space. However, with the many local bond issues to finance such purchase (there will be one on the ballot in the Strawberry Recreation District), with the county parks district, etc., there comes a time to question whether every such issue is necessary. This may be the time — particularly since the proposition is being promoted by the old "pork barrel" method: "Look, there's something in it for your county!"

We take no position for or against Proposition 1.

PROPOSITION 2 is for another $250 million bond issue, to provide funds for water pollution control.

On this one, we advocate a "yes" vote since only the state is in position to approach water pollution problems on a wide enough basis to solve some of the most difficult of them.

PROPOSITION 3 is to extend the Veterans Bond Act through another $350 million issue. These bonds pay themselves off from the proceeds of state home loans to veterans. We think it would be unfortunate if the program stopped now, when Vietnam veterans need such low-cost loans to make home purchase possible. Let's keep it going by voting "yes"!

PROPOSITION 4 would empower the legislature to authorize reassessment of properties destroyed or damaged by a disaster after the March closing date for assessment rolls. Need for this was made evident by the Southern California earthquake. Although there is some possibility of legislative abuse, we recommend a "yes" vote.

PROPOSITION 5 would expand the amount of gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenues that could be diverted to mass transit. The idea behind this — alleviating highway congestion by promoting other means of transit — is a good one. However, up to now the diversion from these sources has produced little except high-flown promises and grandiose plans. We therefore take no position on Proposition 5.

PROPOSITION 6, which is on the ballot partly because of efforts of our own state Sen. Peter H. Behr, would open committee meetings of the legislature to the public, with a few exceptions. This one deserves the "yes" vote of every citizen who believes that public business is what its name implies.

PROPOSITION 7 would exempt six officials in the California Department of Education from civil service. We think the state civil service needs overhauling, and many positions probably should be removed from it. But this is a poor, piecemeal approach. We'll vote "no."

PROPOSITION 8 authorizes Sacramento to consolidate into a charter city and county. We have no idea whether Sacramento would benefit from such reorganization, nor whether the people there want it. But "yes on 8" will merely give them the opportunity to decide.

PROPOSITION 9, for which we have editorialized earlier, is the Common Cause-People's Lobby initiative for limits on campaign spending and full disclosure of possible conflicts of interest by public officials. A heavy campaign has been mounted against this, which sees entrenched officials in league with the AFL-CIO and the California Chamber of Commerce in opposition. Incidentally, this has produced an example of "academic freedom" in which the California Federation of Teachers at first supported Proposition 9, then switched to opposition for the sake of union labor solidarity. Unlike the CFT, we still support it.

Do Polls Prejudice Elections? Europeans Believe They Do

In Europe during the recent French electoral period, I heard numerous complaints against polling tactics of the public opinion probers. They are too good, too accurate. Thus, say the critics, the publication of polls just before an election (or, indeed, during the campaign) may have an illegitimate influence on the voting.

Some citizens, it is speculated, regarding the outcome as cut and dried — and known in advance — might not bother to vote. Some, on the side of the indicated victor, might not vote out of an excess of confidence. Others, on the side of the indicated loser, might regard a vote as hopeless.

I am not aware of any actual facts bearing on these fears. Have there, in fact, been such effects? But the fears are taken very seriously in Europe. They were a lively part of the recent British general election.

IN THE UNITED STATES, the Senate has attached amendments to the campaign reform bill to prohibit making public any election returns before midnight, Eastern time, of election day. This is to prevent the actual returns, or a projection of them, from influencing voting in later time zones. This proposal of news suppression raises certain basic questions, but the Senate also legislated keeping the polls in the Eastern time zone open until midnight, until 11 in the Central zone, and so on so as to give far western voters a fair chance to vote before the results are known.

Meantime, George Gallup says his organization is "weighing very carefully" the suspension of polls on impeachment during the congressional process. Here, too, the fear is that the publication of public opinion poll results would have an inordinate influence on those making the decision, namely Congress.

It's all part of the same ball of wax: the relationship between knowledge of public opinion and decision-making itself. Frankly, I think the dangers are more hypothetical than real. Yet some situations are a little ridiculous, as when the networks are accurately projecting the results of a presidential election just after a few voting places close in the East, and it is midafternoon in California.

Moreover, the importance of not only the reality but also the appearance of a fair trial suggests that Mr. Gallup's people may be well advised to suspend publishing impeachment poll results while Congress is engaged in the solemn process of adjudication. I do not believe any significant number of congressmen would be swayed from their convictions by such polls, but it does not harm to maintain the dignity of a court procedure.

THE PRESS IS ALSO in a delicate role. Should we ask a senator how he would vote on impeachment? Should he tell? Would we ask a judge or juror such a question? And yet the public surely would want to know how the Senate seems to line up. You can be sure that the managers of the case for and against the president, if it comes to that, will be taking their own very accurate polls, just as they did in 1867.

It would be the height of impropriety to ask a Supreme Court justice how he is going to vote on a pending case, or for him to tell.

Another use, or abuse, of polling is for a candidate to find out his own and his opponent's strengths and weaknesses by very skillful sounding of voter thought and emotion, and then construct his campaign on the soft and hard spots respectively. This amounts to doing by very expensive and "scientific" techniques what shrewd politicians have always done by instinct. Somehow the old-fashioned method seems more legitimate.

Are there limits to the acceptable manipulation of public opinion? Is the battle between truth and error in the forum of public opinion carried out according to the rules? Can we count on truth prevailing in the face of today's technology and skill? These matters have not yet been fully resolved.

Union Chiefs' About-Face Leaves Members Confused

By EARL G. WATERS

Union members, and others who look to organized labor for guidance, cannot be blamed if they go to the polls next Tuesday in an utter state of confusion. The leadership, which once took them along the roads to glorious political victories, has faltered. No longer is organized labor showing the courage it has always demanded of the candidates.

Of course, the labor Democratic voters will be only half as confused on election day as they would have been a month ago. That was when, in a revolting display of brotherly love, their convention endorsed not one but four candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The polls had been showing Edmund G. Brown Jr., Joseph Alioto, and Bob Moretti, in that order, leading an overcrowded field of candidates. The California Federation of Labor, in a newly discovered tradition of not wishing to hurt anyone's feelings, took the position "We love 'em all". To prove it they threw Jerry Waldie, who had been trailing badly, in for ballast and endorsed all four.

THAT ENDORSEMENT, as it later developed, was a hyperbole. For the labor leaders were in a bitter battle to defeat Proposition 9, viewing it as something almost as dangerous as the right to work issue. And they had overlooked the fact that three of their endorsed gubernatorial hopefuls were going the other way on the issue.

This difference of opinion came forcefully home when proponents of Proposition 9 unleashed a vicious attack on state labor chief John Henning. It so riled him that he called for a recount on the endorsements. The result was that the federation withdrew its support of Junior Brown and Waldie, leaving itself still straddling the candidacies of Alioto and Moretti. Asked about Moretti, who has also espoused support of Proposition 9, the response was that Moretti was not actively working for its passage.

What organized labor seems to have said is, "We don't mind supporting candidates who say one thing but really mean something else." Moretti, in his few transitory years of power, has become adept at that sort of thing. But it still leaves the rank and file confused.

IF THE RANKS of labor are confused, what about Mayor Alioto? He got into the campaign largely on the promises of full backing by labor. He has done more to earn union support than all the rest put together.

When the review came and labor withdrew its support from two candidates, solely on the basis of their stands on Proposition 9, Alioto was still nonplussed. He is the only major Democratic candidate who has shown the intestinal fortitude to call Proposition 9 a bummer. He told the voters "it is a dangerous proposal" and warned them not to be "misled by slogans". But the union leaders have placed him in the same bed with Moretti, who lacks the integrity to take a stand and mean it.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Attorney Muzio Not Supporting Candidate

As I read the political advertisement for Bruce Bales' campaign for district attorney in the Independent-Journal of May 24, I was surprised to discover my name as one of the citizens endorsing Mr. Bales as district attorney.

I have not authorized Mr. Bales or anyone else to use my name in connection with the campaign for D.A., nor have I taken a position of public support of any candidate in that contest.

Mr. Bales' campaign staff was polite and helpful in responding to my inquiries regarding this error, and I am satisfied that no one connected with him is responsible for it.

Reasons For Opposing Fairfax School Bonds

Realizing that to take a position against school proposals is about as hazardous as taking one on either side of the motherhood question in today's muddled world, I nonetheless strongly urge the voters of Fairfax to reject the proposed $750,000 bond issue, for the following reasons:

(1) I do not consider the proposed use of this money for development of a community center to be a proper function of a school authority. I'm old-fashioned enough to believe the function of schools is to educate, though quite open minded on methodology.

(2) Fairfax has a pavilion, owned by the city, in keeping with the character of the town, which a competent architect with one-tenth as much money can develop so as to serve all the proposed functions for which the community has need.

(3) Seven hundred and fifty thousand are one hell of a lot of dollars for this little town — not far from $100 for every man, woman and child, right off the bat, and interest on top of that year after year after year. . .

(4) The time has come to realize that the old cow is being milked dry. Real estate, and especially private homes, no longer index ability to pay; the realty tax is a vestige of the 18th Century when the landed gentry had it.

Parks Director Finds Open Space Valuable

Re Proposition One on June 4, the state park bond act, it is gratifying to read State Parks Director William Penn Mott's statement that "lands in parks and open space are the best way to insure lower taxes in your community. I don't know of a single city or county in California which has decreased its taxes by increasing its development."

Also gratifying is the state Parks Department's recognition that park development should not be intensive because "much of public recreation interest is now centered on walking, hiking and bicycling and the many types of outdoor recreation which require only minimum development." Yet they also intend to acquire one or two appropriate sites for off-highway recreation vehicle use "without delay," so that those roaring cycles can be where they can enjoy each other.

Vote yes on Proposition One, which, incidentally, will bring $861,652 to Marin County for parks.

Police, Fire Efficiency Highlight Of Celebration

Sunday's Centennial Parade was a gala and highly enjoyable affair, but to me the highlight of the day was the operation of our police and fire department people. I watched from the corner of Fourth and C Streets near the firehouse which apparently was casualty headquarters. The precision, efficiency, and graciousness with which the police and firemen cooperatively picked up casualties of the heat, opened up the crowd of parade watchers, carried the victims by motor cart to the firehouse, apparently even administering oxygen, getting some into ambulances was something to behold. Well planned and well executed, it makes me proud to be one of their fellow citizens.

Free Balloons, Lemonade — Old Fashioned Politics

I really enjoyed your coverage of the Centennial parade and especially of the varied ways politicians used to get their names in front of the crowds.

It's too bad that your hot and thirsty reporter did not make it to Fourth and D streets, where Jack Felson's Assembly headquarters gave away almost 50 gallons of free lemonade and ice water, provided benches and bathrooms for the weary, passed out helium balloons to children, and then stayed to help clean up some of the litter left by other candidates.

I certainly enjoyed the parade.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Big Political Contributions By Unions Largely Ignored

By DONALD LAMBRO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski has forcefully moved against illegal corporate campaign funding, questions arising from organized labor's election spending activities have gone almost unnoticed.

Under the Corrupt Practices Act, which bans corporate spending in federal elections, Jaworski has thus far won guilty pleas from 12 corporations. The Wall Street Journal says he plans "to throw the book at additional corporations" expected to be accused of illegal political spending.

THE LAW NOT ONLY prohibits corporate money from being used in campaigns, it bans use of union funds.

A newly published book, based on thousands of private union documents made public by a federal court, accuses organized labor of being in "flagrant violation" of the law for years.

In his book "The $100 Million Payoff", attorney Douglas Caddy alleges that tens of millions of dollars —in contributions and services —from tax-exempt union treasuries have been poured into Democratic campaigns.

Union dues, he maintains, have been used to provide direct contributions, under the guise of "political education," in addition to a wide variety of services. The services include mass mailings, computer work, registration and get-out-the-vote drives, printing campaign literature, transportation, and availability of full-time professional union employes for campaign work.

Caddy, who for a time represented the original seven Watergate defendants, also charges that not only are many unions and their top officials guilty of illegal campaign financing, so are many candidates and members of Congress who accept the assistance with knowledge it comes from union treasuries.

ALL OF THE DOCUMENTS to support his allegations came from the files of the International Association of Machinists and its political arm, the Non-Partisan Political League. The files were made public as a result of a court suit brought by dissident union members seeking to bar the IAM from using dues money for any political activity.

Contrasted with the illegal use of corporate funds, the documents show that union dues were finding their way into the campaigns of many members of Congress who are friendly to labor.

The IAM, for example, spent $9,302 in 1969 from its dues-paid political education treasury to place the names of 65,000 registered Democrats on computer tape for Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., according to the documents.

They also say that in early 1972, the union agreed to spend $1,000 "for assistance in newsletters" used by Sen. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., in his reelection bid, and paid a $1,740 printing bill for campaign brochures in 1970 for Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif.

ONE FORMER TOP IAM official is quoted in the material as saying the union has "been encouraging congressmen like (Rep.) Lloyd Meeds (D-Wash.) to use newsletters extensively in their campaigns since these can be paid for with dues money."

Other memoranda outline how union employes were assigned to the campaign states of candidates on a fulltime basis. One letter has Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., asking for such help "for as much time as you can possibly spare him."

Caddy details other examples of alleged union abuses in his lawyer-like brief and proposes that a special prosecutor be appointed to investigate and prosecute the guilty —both in Congress and in labor.

His bottom line argument is: If it's illegal for big business, it's just as illegal for big labor.

"What's in a name?" Shakespeare inquired.

"Confusion", that's what's init in the GOP primary.

"Which name?

"Flournoy."

Houston Flournoy is the controller of California. He has been for two terms, and a good one. Now he's running for governor, an office he is qualified to hold.

So, there's a golden opportunity for anyone who also happens to be named Flournoy.

That chap is James Flournoy. He happens to be a Republican. Otherwise, there is no connection with Houston Flournoy.

So, he has filed for the office of controller. He hopes to get a lot of votes from people who are impressed by the fine reputation of the incumbent controller, but who won't distinguish between Houston and James Flournoy. This is the same maneuver he made in 1970, but with a little different twist. That time he ran for secretary of state but was beaten by another candidate who was also running on a noted name — Edmund G. Brown Jr. Pat's boy won. Now he's out for governor.

While James Flournoy may hope to win, that will only happen if the Republicans of California are asleep in the voting booth.

The real candidate is Bill Bagley, the assemblyman from San Rafael who has a very substantial record. He was the catalyst in bringing about the major overhaul of school finance — the one commonly known as "SB 90". In welfare reform he negotiated the compromise between the Reagan administration and the Democrats in the legislature.

Now he has to take time out from the legislature to campaign against a Mr. Nobody, a James What's-his-name?

Nine Propositions Share State Ballot

Nine state propositions will share the ballot next Tuesday with a multitude of candidates.

Propositions 1, 2 and 3 are all bond issues.

PROPOSITION 1 calls for a $250 million state bond issue to finance purchase of parks and open space lands.

Just about everyone is for open space. However, with the many local bond issues to finance such purchase (there will be one on the ballot in the Strawberry Recreation District), with the county parks district, etc., there comes a time to question whether every such issue is necessary. This may be the time — particularly since the proposition is being promoted by the old "pork barrel" method: "Look, there's something in it for your county!"

We take no position for or against Proposition 1.

PROPOSITION 2 is for another $250 million bond issue, to provide funds for water pollution control.

On this one, we advocate a "yes" vote since only the state is in position to approach water pollution problems on a wide enough basis to solve some of the most difficult of them.

PROPOSITION 3 is to extend the Veterans Bond Act through another $350 million issue. These bonds pay themselves off from the proceeds of state home loans to veterans. We think it would be unfortunate if the program stopped now, when Vietnam veterans need such low-cost loans to make home purchase possible. Let's keep it going by voting "yes"!

PROPOSITION 4 would empower the legislature to authorize reassessment of properties destroyed or damaged by a disaster after the March closing date for assessment rolls. Need for this was made evident by the Southern California earthquake. Although there is some possibility of legislative abuse, we recommend a "yes" vote.

PROPOSITION 5 would expand the amount of gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenues that could be diverted to mass transit. The idea behind this — alleviating highway congestion by promoting other means of transit — is a good one. However, up to now the diversion from these sources has produced little except high-flown promises and grandiose plans. We therefore take no position on Proposition 5.

PROPOSITION 6, which is on the ballot partly because of efforts of our own state Sen. Peter H. Behr, would open committee meetings of the legislature to the public, with a few exceptions. This one deserves the "yes" vote of every citizen who believes that public business is what its name implies.

PROPOSITION 7 would exempt six officials in the California Department of Education from civil service. We think the state civil service needs overhauling, and many positions probably should be removed from it. But this is a poor, piecemeal approach. We'll vote "no."

PROPOSITION 8 authorizes Sacramento to consolidate into a charter city and county. We have no idea whether Sacramento would benefit from such reorganization, nor whether the people there want it. But "yes on 8" will merely give them the opportunity to decide.

PROPOSITION 9, for which we have editorialized earlier, is the Common Cause-People's Lobby initiative for limits on campaign spending and full disclosure of possible conflicts of interest by public officials. A heavy campaign has been mounted against this, which sees entrenched officials in league with the AFL-CIO and the California Chamber of Commerce in opposition. Incidentally, this has produced an example of "academic freedom" in which the California Federation of Teachers at first supported Proposition 9, then switched to opposition for the sake of union labor solidarity. Unlike the CFT, we still support it.

Do Polls Prejudice Elections? Europeans Believe They Do

In Europe during the recent French electoral period, I heard numerous complaints against polling tactics of the public opinion probers. They are too good, too accurate. Thus, say the critics, the publication of polls just before an election (or, indeed, during the campaign) may have an illegitimate influence on the voting.

Some citizens, it is speculated, regarding the outcome as cut and dried — and known in advance — might not bother to vote. Some, on the side of the indicated victor, might not vote out of an excess of confidence. Others, on the side of the indicated loser, might regard a vote as hopeless.

I am not aware of any actual facts bearing on these fears. Have there, in fact, been such effects? But the fears are taken very seriously in Europe. They were a lively part of the recent British general election.

IN THE UNITED STATES, the Senate has attached amendments to the campaign reform bill to prohibit making public any election returns before midnight, Eastern time, of election day. This is to prevent the actual returns, or a projection of them, from influencing voting in later time zones. This proposal of news suppression raises certain basic questions, but the Senate also legislated keeping the polls in the Eastern time zone open until midnight, until 11 in the Central zone, and so on so as to give far western voters a fair chance to vote before the results are known.

Meantime, George Gallup says his organization is "weighing very carefully" the suspension of polls on impeachment during the congressional process. Here, too, the fear is that the publication of public opinion poll results would have an inordinate influence on those making the decision, namely Congress.

It's all part of the same ball of wax: the relationship between knowledge of public opinion and decision-making itself. Frankly, I think the dangers are more hypothetical than real. Yet some situations are a little ridiculous, as when the networks are accurately projecting the results of a presidential election just after a few voting places close in the East, and it is midafternoon in California.

Moreover, the importance of not only the reality but also the appearance of a fair trial suggests that Mr. Gallup's people may be well advised to suspend publishing impeachment poll results while Congress is engaged in the solemn process of adjudication. I do not believe any significant number of congressmen would be swayed from their convictions by such polls, but it does not harm to maintain the dignity of a court procedure.

THE PRESS IS ALSO in a delicate role. Should we ask a senator how he would vote on impeachment? Should he tell? Would we ask a judge or juror such a question? And yet the public surely would want to know how the Senate seems to line up. You can be sure that the managers of the case for and against the president, if it comes to that, will be taking their own very accurate polls, just as they did in 1867.

It would be the height of impropriety to ask a Supreme Court justice how he is going to vote on a pending case, or for him to tell.

Another use, or abuse, of polling is for a candidate to find out his own and his opponent's strengths and weaknesses by very skillful sounding of voter thought and emotion, and then construct his campaign on the soft and hard spots respectively. This amounts to doing by very expensive and "scientific" techniques what shrewd politicians have always done by instinct. Somehow the old-fashioned method seems more legitimate.

Are there limits to the acceptable manipulation of public opinion? Is the battle between truth and error in the forum of public opinion carried out according to the rules? Can we count on truth prevailing in the face of today's technology and skill? These matters have not yet been fully resolved.

Union Chiefs' About-Face Leaves Members Confused

By EARL G. WATERS

Union members, and others who look to organized labor for guidance, cannot be blamed if they go to the polls next Tuesday in an utter state of confusion. The leadership, which once took them along the roads to glorious political victories, has faltered. No longer is organized labor showing the courage it has always demanded of the candidates.

Of course, the labor Democratic voters will be only half as confused on election day as they would have been a month ago. That was when, in a revolting display of brotherly love, their convention endorsed not one but four candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The polls had been showing Edmund G. Brown Jr., Joseph Alioto, and Bob Moretti, in that order, leading an overcrowded field of candidates. The California Federation of Labor, in a newly discovered tradition of not wishing to hurt anyone's feelings, took the position "We love 'em all". To prove it they threw Jerry Waldie, who had been trailing badly, in for ballast and endorsed all four.

THAT ENDORSEMENT, as it later developed, was a hyperbole. For the labor leaders were in a bitter battle to defeat Proposition 9, viewing it as something almost as dangerous as the right to work issue. And they had overlooked the fact that three of their endorsed gubernatorial hopefuls were going the other way on the issue.

This difference of opinion came forcefully home when proponents of Proposition 9 unleashed a vicious attack on state labor chief John Henning. It so riled him that he called for a recount on the endorsements. The result was that the federation withdrew its support of Junior Brown and Waldie, leaving itself still straddling the candidacies of Alioto and Moretti. Asked about Moretti, who has also espoused support of Proposition 9, the response was that Moretti was not actively working for its passage.

What organized labor seems to have said is, "We don't mind supporting candidates who say one thing but really mean something else." Moretti, in his few transitory years of power, has become adept at that sort of thing. But it still leaves the rank and file confused.

IF THE RANKS of labor are confused, what about Mayor Alioto? He got into the campaign largely on the promises of full backing by labor. He has done more to earn union support than all the rest put together.

When the review came and labor withdrew its support from two candidates, solely on the basis of their stands on Proposition 9, Alioto was still nonplussed. He is the only major Democratic candidate who has shown the intestinal fortitude to call Proposition 9 a bummer. He told the voters "it is a dangerous proposal" and warned them not to be "misled by slogans". But the union leaders have placed him in the same bed with Moretti, who lacks the integrity to take a stand and mean it.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Attorney Muzio Not Supporting Candidate

As I read the political advertisement for Bruce Bales' campaign for district attorney in the Independent-Journal of May 24, I was surprised to discover my name as one of the citizens endorsing Mr. Bales as district attorney.

I have not authorized Mr. Bales or anyone else to use my name in connection with the campaign for D.A., nor have I taken a position of public support of any candidate in that contest.

Mr. Bales' campaign staff was polite and helpful in responding to my inquiries regarding this error, and I am satisfied that no one connected with him is responsible for it.

Reasons For Opposing Fairfax School Bonds

Realizing that to take a position against school proposals is about as hazardous as taking one on either side of the motherhood question in today's muddled world, I nonetheless strongly urge the voters of Fairfax to reject the proposed $750,000 bond issue, for the following reasons:

(1) I do not consider the proposed use of this money for development of a community center to be a proper function of a school authority. I'm old-fashioned enough to believe the function of schools is to educate, though quite open minded on methodology.

(2) Fairfax has a pavilion, owned by the city, in keeping with the character of the town, which a competent architect with one-tenth as much money can develop so as to serve all the proposed functions for which the community has need.

(3) Seven hundred and fifty thousand are one hell of a lot of dollars for this little town — not far from $100 for every man, woman and child, right off the bat, and interest on top of that year after year after year. . .

(4) The time has come to realize that the old cow is being milked dry. Real estate, and especially private homes, no longer index ability to pay; the realty tax is a vestige of the 18th Century when the landed gentry had it.

Parks Director Finds Open Space Valuable

Re Proposition One on June 4, the state park bond act, it is gratifying to read State Parks Director William Penn Mott's statement that "lands in parks and open space are the best way to insure lower taxes in your community. I don't know of a single city or county in California which has decreased its taxes by increasing its development."

Also gratifying is the state Parks Department's recognition that park development should not be intensive because "much of public recreation interest is now centered on walking, hiking and bicycling and the many types of outdoor recreation which require only minimum development." Yet they also intend to acquire one or two appropriate sites for off-highway recreation vehicle use "without delay," so that those roaring cycles can be where they can enjoy each other.

Vote yes on Proposition One, which, incidentally, will bring $861,652 to Marin County for parks.

Police, Fire Efficiency Highlight Of Celebration

Sunday's Centennial Parade was a gala and highly enjoyable affair, but to me the highlight of the day was the operation of our police and fire department people. I watched from the corner of Fourth and C Streets near the firehouse which apparently was casualty headquarters. The precision, efficiency, and graciousness with which the police and firemen cooperatively picked up casualties of the heat, opened up the crowd of parade watchers, carried the victims by motor cart to the firehouse, apparently even administering oxygen, getting some into ambulances was something to behold. Well planned and well executed, it makes me proud to be one of their fellow citizens.

Free Balloons, Lemonade — Old Fashioned Politics

I really enjoyed your coverage of the Centennial parade and especially of the varied ways politicians used to get their names in front of the crowds.

It's too bad that your hot and thirsty reporter did not make it to Fourth and D streets, where Jack Felson's Assembly headquarters gave away almost 50 gallons of free lemonade and ice water, provided benches and bathrooms for the weary, passed out helium balloons to children, and then stayed to help clean up some of the litter left by other candidates.

I certainly enjoyed the parade.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Big Political Contributions By Unions Largely Ignored

By DONALD LAMBRO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski has forcefully moved against illegal corporate campaign funding, questions arising from organized labor's election spending activities have gone almost unnoticed.

Under the Corrupt Practices Act, which bans corporate spending in federal elections, Jaworski has thus far won guilty pleas from 12 corporations. The Wall Street Journal says he plans "to throw the book at additional corporations" expected to be accused of illegal political spending.

THE LAW NOT ONLY prohibits corporate money from being used in campaigns, it bans use of union funds.

A newly published book, based on thousands of private union documents made public by a federal court, accuses organized labor of being in "flagrant violation" of the law for years.

In his book "The $100 Million Payoff", attorney Douglas Caddy alleges that tens of millions of dollars —in contributions and services —from tax-exempt union treasuries have been poured into Democratic campaigns.

Union dues, he maintains, have been used to provide direct contributions, under the guise of "political education," in addition to a wide variety of services. The services include mass mailings, computer work, registration and get-out-the-vote drives, printing campaign literature, transportation, and availability of full-time professional union employes for campaign work.

Caddy, who for a time represented the original seven Watergate defendants, also charges that not only are many unions and their top officials guilty of illegal campaign financing, so are many candidates and members of Congress who accept the assistance with knowledge it comes from union treasuries.

ALL OF THE DOCUMENTS to support his allegations came from the files of the International Association of Machinists and its political arm, the Non-Partisan Political League. The files were made public as a result of a court suit brought by dissident union members seeking to bar the IAM from using dues money for any political activity.

Contrasted with the illegal use of corporate funds, the documents show that union dues were finding their way into the campaigns of many members of Congress who are friendly to labor.

The IAM, for example, spent $9,302 in 1969 from its dues-paid political education treasury to place the names of 65,000 registered Democrats on computer tape for Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., according to the documents.

They also say that in early 1972, the union agreed to spend $1,000 "for assistance in newsletters" used by Sen. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., in his reelection bid, and paid a $1,740 printing bill for campaign brochures in 1970 for Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif.

ONE FORMER TOP IAM official is quoted in the material as saying the union has "been encouraging congressmen like (Rep.) Lloyd Meeds (D-Wash.) to use newsletters extensively in their campaigns since these can be paid for with dues money."

Other memoranda outline how union employes were assigned to the campaign states of candidates on a fulltime basis. One letter has Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., asking for such help "for as much time as you can possibly spare him."

Caddy details other examples of alleged union abuses in his lawyer-like brief and proposes that a special prosecutor be appointed to investigate and prosecute the guilty —both in Congress and in labor.

His bottom line argument is: If it's illegal for big business, it's just as illegal for big labor.

What's In A Name? In This Case, Confusion On The Ballot

(Reprinted from Redlands Daily Facts)

"What's in a name?" Shakespeare inquired.

"Confusion", that's what's init in the GOP primary.

"Which name?

"Flournoy."

Houston Flournoy is the controller of California. He has been for two terms, and a good one. Now he's running for governor, an office he is qualified to hold.

So, there's a golden opportunity for anyone who also happens to be named Flournoy.

That chap is James Flournoy. He happens to be a Republican. Otherwise, there is no connection with Houston Flournoy.

So, he has filed for the office of controller. He hopes to get a lot of votes from people who are impressed by the fine reputation of the incumbent controller, but who won't distinguish between Houston and James Flournoy. This is the same maneuver he made in 1970, but with a little different twist. That time he ran for secretary of state but was beaten by another candidate who was also running on a noted name — Edmund G. Brown Jr. Pat's boy won. Now he's out for governor.

While James Flournoy may hope to win, that will only happen if the Republicans of California are asleep in the voting booth.

The real candidate is Bill Bagley, the assemblyman from San Rafael who has a very substantial record. He was the catalyst in bringing about the major overhaul of school finance — the one commonly known as "SB 90". In welfare reform he negotiated the compromise between the Reagan administration and the Democrats in the legislature.

Now he has to take time out from the legislature to campaign against a Mr. Nobody, a James What's-his-name?

Houses Have Feelings Too — Even If They're Whitewashed

WASHINGTON — I was walking past the White House the other night when I heard this voice.

"Damn media."

"Who's speaking?" I asked in fright.

"I'm speaking," said the voice. "I'm the White House."

"Don't kid me," I said. "Buildings can't talk."

"OH YEAH," the voice said. "Then why do you people keep writing, 'The White House said today it wasn't going to hand over any more tapes,' or 'The White House denied accepting any Howard Hughes money to finance the election'?"

"That's just a figure of speech," I said. "Everyone knows we're not talking about the White House — we're talking about the people in it."

"It's easy for you to say that. But if you were sitting where I'm sitting you wouldn't think it was funny. I haven't done anything. I'm clean as a hound's tooth and everyone lays everything on me. Houses have feelings, too."

"This is ridiculous," I told the White House. "No one is blaming you for anything that went on there. As far as most people are concerned, you're a pillar of the community."

"MAYBE," the voice replied, "but the other night I heard Dan Rather say on television that the White House planned to stonewall the House Judiciary Committee. I've never stonewalled anyone in my life.

"Then John Chancellor said the White House decided to hang tough against special prosecutor Jaworski. How can a house hang tough?"

"I see what you mean."

"I've had a lot of people live in me; some have been good and some have been bad, but it says right in the lease I am not responsible for anything they do. All I'm supposed to do is provide shelter from the elements and keep up a good facade. Now everyone is throwing stones at me."

"It does seem unfair that the media has played loose with you," I said, "but I'm certain it was just an oversight."

THE VOICE was trembling. "I can understand it when they talk about the Pentagon. That's a bad building. When they say the Pentagon asked for $100 billion, naturally people are going to get sore. Or when the Pentagon admits to an overrun on a nuclear aircraft carrier. But I've never done anything like that. All I've ever done is hold receptions, entertain tourists, and pose for pictures. Why doesn't the media ever write about that?"

"I guess it's your location," I said," I said. "You're an easy target for every reporter in this town."

"Well, I'm staying here," the voice said, "even if what's-his-name get impeached. Good gravy, just the other day I saw a headline in a newspaper which said, 'White House Announces New Rise in Cost of Living.' I did no such thing. Why would I be stupid enough to announce something like that?"

"Look, I'm busy," I said. "What do you want from me?"

"I thought you could use a column," he said chortling. "Take any one on the front porch you want."

"Very funny," I said, "but I've been sucked in by the White House one too many times."

"There," cried the voice, "even you're doing it."

"I'm sorry," I said, "but don't forget one thing. When you became the White House, we never promised you a Rose Garden."

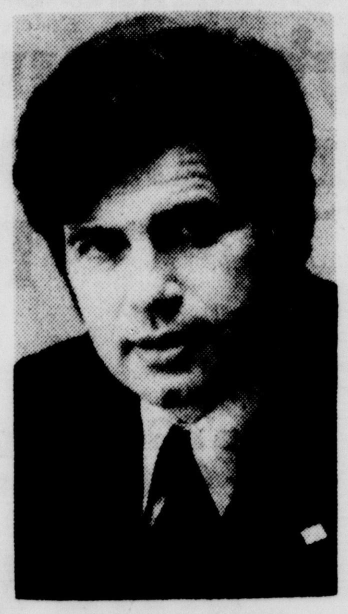
Battin Sees Strong Need For Integrity



ROBERT W. BATTIN
Integrity most important

Robert W. Battin, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, said on a San Rafael visit yesterday that he sees integrity as the major issue of next week's primary elections.

"In this year of Watergate, the candidate's integrity is the most important issue," Battin declared in an interview at the Independent-Journal. "Dymally's integrity has really been put in issue; Walsh's also." (Mervyn M. Dymally and Lawrence E. Walsh are other candidates for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.)

Battin, an Orange County supervisor since 1968, said he sees the lieutenant governor's role on the State Lands Commission as also important. Battin prides himself on his conservationist credentials. "We don't want men on the lands commission who will permit new offshore drilling at Santa Barbara, for instance," he said.

The 44-year-old attorney, a native of Yreka, Siskiyou County, and a Navy veteran of the Korean War, said he is for Proposition 9, the initiative proposal for a strict campaign spending-disclosure law.

As county supervisor, he drew up for Orange County the first lobbyist reporting ordinance in any county in California, he said. After it had been passed, its effective date was postponed — until the indictment of Vice President Spiro Agnew. At that point, related Battin, he reintroduced the ordinance in "much tougher" form and win immediate passage. More than 100 employees of Orange County's biggest development firm registered as lobbyists as the first result of the law, he said.

Battin also said he favors exclusive union bargaining for public employees, although the Orange County Board of Supervisors has had problems with the only two unions it has recognized among that county's employees.

Battin received his law degree from University of California at Berkeley. He also is a certified public accountant. He worked as a Treasury agent after graduation from law school until entering legal practice in Orange County.

Jail Time Given In Burglary Case

A Sonoma man has been sentenced to 364 days in Marin County Jail after pleading guilty to burglarizing the Novato home of Jean E. Anderson on April 16.

Kenneth Richard Barling, 19, was sentenced on the misdemeanor count by Judge David R. Baty, who also gave him two years' probation for striking Mrs. Anderson when she found him in her home.

Novato police arrested Barling at a nearby shopping center soon after he fled from Mrs. Anderson's home on Sunset Parkway.

"I see what you mean."

"I've had a lot of people live in me; some have been good and some have been bad, but it says right in the lease I am not responsible for anything they do. All I'm supposed to do is provide shelter from the elements and keep up a good facade. Now everyone is throwing stones at me."

"It does seem unfair that the media has played loose with you," I said, "but I'm certain it was just an oversight."

THE VOICE was trembling. "I can understand it when they talk about the Pentagon. That's a bad building. When they say the Pentagon asked for $100 billion, naturally people are going to get sore. Or when the Pentagon admits to an overrun on a nuclear aircraft carrier. But I've never done anything like that. All I've ever done is hold receptions, entertain tourists, and pose for pictures. Why doesn't the media ever write about that?"

"I guess it's your location," I said," I said. "You're an easy target for every reporter in this town."

"Well, I'm staying here," the voice said, "even if what's-his-name get impeached. Good gravy, just the other day I saw a headline in a newspaper which said, 'White House Announces New Rise in Cost of Living.' I did no such thing. Why would I be stupid enough to announce something like that?"

"Look, I'm busy," I said. "What do you want from me?"

"I thought you could use a column," he said chortling. "Take any one on the front porch you want."

"Very funny," I said, "but I've been sucked in by the White House one too many times."

"There," cried the voice, "even you're doing it."

"I'm sorry," I said, "but don't forget one thing. When you became the White House, we never promised you a Rose Garden."

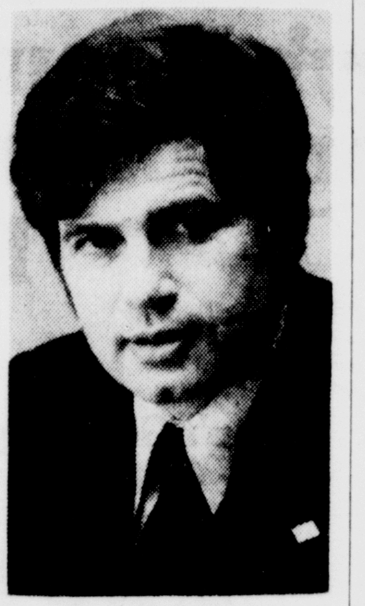
Battin Sees Strong Need For Integrity



ROBERT W. BATTIN
Integrity most important

Robert W. Battin, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, said on a San Rafael visit yesterday that he sees integrity as the major issue of next week's primary elections.

"In this year of Watergate, the candidate's integrity is the most important issue," Battin declared in an interview at the Independent-Journal. "Dymally's integrity has really been put in issue; Walsh's also." (Mervyn M. Dymally and Lawrence E. Walsh are other candidates for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.)

Battin, an Orange County supervisor since 1968, said he sees the lieutenant governor's role on the State Lands Commission as also important. Battin prides himself on his conservationist credentials. "We don't want men on the lands commission who will permit new offshore drilling at Santa Barbara, for instance," he said.

The 44-year-old attorney, a native of Yreka, Siskiyou County, and a Navy veteran of the Korean War, said he is for Proposition 9, the initiative proposal for a strict campaign spending-disclosure law.

As county supervisor, he drew up for Orange County the first lobbyist reporting ordinance in any county in California, he said. After it had been passed, its effective date was postponed — until the indictment of Vice President Spiro Agnew. At that point, related Battin, he reintroduced the ordinance in "much tougher" form and win immediate passage. More than 100 employees of Orange County's biggest development firm registered as lobbyists as the first result of the law, he said.

Battin also said he favors exclusive union bargaining for public employees, although the Orange County Board of Supervisors has had problems with the only two unions it has recognized among that county's employees.

Battin received his law degree from University of California at Berkeley. He also is a certified public accountant. He worked as a Treasury agent after graduation from law school until entering legal practice in Orange County.

Jail Time Given In Burglary Case

A Sonoma man has been sentenced to 364 days in Marin County Jail after pleading guilty to burglarizing the Novato home of Jean E. Anderson on April 16.

Kenneth Richard Barling, 19, was sentenced on the misdemeanor count by Judge David R. Baty, who also gave him two years' probation for striking Mrs. Anderson when she found him in her home.

Novato police arrested Barling at a nearby shopping center soon after he fled from Mrs. Anderson's home on Sunset Parkway.

A Dim View On Probing Star Areas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Nobel Prize-winning biologist says reaching for the dazzling, beckoning stars would be disastrous for mankind and only ill would come from communicating with life in outer space.

"It would be the worst disaster that could happen to us. Nothing good could come of it," said Harvard professor George Wald who won the Nobel Prize in 1967 for unraveling the chemistry of vision.

Wald delivered the annual lecture for the Institutes of Medical Sciences of Pacific Medical Center last night.

He said communicating with nonhuman life would destroy uniquely human arts and sciences and set off a radio-telescopic race for new, possibly devastating military information from outer space.

"There is really little reason to doubt that our universe contains intelligent life other than our own," he siad in an interview.

If only 1 per cent of the stars have planets capable of supportpng life it would mean our Milky Way Galaxy should contain a billion life-supporting stars, he said.

But Wald disagreed with scientists like Carl Sagan of Cornell University who want to set up radio receivers to search the skies for signals from stellar civilizations.

Such a venture would produce "the most highly exploited military information in the history of the earth," said Wald, adding that it only would endanger the planet's precarious nuclear stalemate.

"It would simply set off a great radiotelescope race," he said.

"To attach by some sort of umbilical to non-human creatures in outer space would be the end of human science and arts," he said. "It would result in a naive and unthinking quest for answers.

"The only guys that could have fun would be guys with computers unraveling the messages."

Wald took a dim view of the human condition: "It seems very likely we will destroy ourselves. It is as though we are going through the trials of childhood diseases and likely not to survive."

Saying there is great nobility in man, Wald added: "We have in us a lot of the history of the universe. The atoms in each of us were cooked in previous generations of dying stars, gathered over unimaginable reaches of time and space.

"A person should be proud of that."

Galbraith May Give Up Post

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Economist John Kenneth Galbraith says he may not return to the teaching job he has held at Harvard for the past 25 years.

"Everything is in the realm of interior speculation," he told the Harvard Crimson Wednesday. "I'm contemplating the whole future."

Galbraith, who will be 66 in October, said he plans to produce a British television series in England next year.

Dates Set For Moscow Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The dates have been set for President Nixon's trip to Moscow, a presidenital spokesman said today, as White House aides hurriedly made plans for a Nixon visit to the Mideast in advance of the Summit.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the dates of the Moscow trip will be announced "very soon." Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Saturday the President would arrive in Moscow around June 24.

Nixon arranged to meet with Vice President Gerald R. Ford this afternoon to brief him on the Moscow trip and the new Middle East agreement.

Democratic and Republican congressional leaders will receive a briefing on the Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement from the President tomorrow morning. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who will be returning from his 33-day Middle East mission after midnight, will attend that meeting.

Warren was unable to provide further details on Nixon's plans to go to the Middle East, possibly as soon as next weekend, but White House aides were speeding plans for such a journey which Nixon is eager to take to dramatize his successes in foreign policy.

As it stands now, the President will make stops in Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and possibly Syria and Algeria.

Cultural Minister Won't Leave Post

MOSCOW (UPI) — Culture Minister Yekaterina Furtseva, reported to have been reprimanded by the Communist Party recently, has let it be known she intends to stay in her job, Soviet sources said today.

The New York Times reported earlier this week that Mrs. Furtseva, the highest-ranking woman in the Soviet government, drew a party reprimand for building an ostentatious $170,000 dacha outside Moscow.

The newspaper quoted Soviet sources as saying she had been ordered to make large financial repayments to the state. It also reported speculation she might be replaced as culture minister.

Soviet sources, who confirmed the report of the reprimand today, said Mrs. Furtseva signaled her intention to stay on the job through a friendly Soviet journalist.

At a news conference today, called to announce the Fifth Tchaikovsky International Music Competition, Mrs. Furtseva declined to answer questions about the New York Times article.

"Absolutely frankly, I do not know anything about the article," she said, then announced the news conference was closed.

Nader Paints A Gloomy Nuclear Plant Picture

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader says if the wind is right, a nuclear power plant accident in Connecticut would "take the whole state."

Nader said yesterday that a nuclear power plant can explode with 2,000 times the power of the nuclear bomb dropped in Hiroshima in World War II.

Speaking at a meeting of the Independent Connecticut Petroleum Association, Nader said there has been "a horrendous series of small accidents and near misses "in the 44 nuclear plants operating in the U.S."

He said it would take a perfect technology to prevent a major accident by the year 2000, when some 1,000 nuclear power plants are expected to be in operation.

Nader said the irony of the case is that the nuclear plants may not be necessary because he believes oil companies have lied about the fuel shortage and there is enough oil supplies for the world's future needs.

Visitor Robbed Of Money, Ring

A visiting business executive was robbed last night of $160 in cash and a diamond pinkie rng worth $500 as he strolled in front of the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

James E. Barth, 32, of Colorado, told police the robber emerged from behind a tree at 9:05 p.m., stuck a hard object in his back and informed him that "this is a stickup."

Barth said he did not see the man, who escaped on foot from the scene of the holdup at 112 Bulkley Avenue.

Kidnapped Nurse's Fate Not Known

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The fate of a young American nurse kidnapped from a mission hospital Monday in the town of Ghinda in Northern Ethiopia remained unknown today.

Authorities continued their search for 24-year-old Deborah Dortzbach, daughter of a Presbyterian minister in Denver, Colo.

The pregnant woman and another nurse, Anna Stickwerda, 54, were kidnapped by the rebel Eritrean Liberation Front. Mrs. Stickwerda's body was found about a quarter of a mile from the hospital a few hours after the attack. She had been shot through the head.

Mrs. Dortzbach, who is five months pregnant, was forced into the hills by her four abductors, according to witnesses.

Reports reaching Addis Ababa from Ghinda today indicated that three Americans and two Canadians captured two months ago by the Eritrean Liberation Front are still alive.

Reports said the men, captured when their helicopter was forced down during a violent storm, have been subjected to a forced march through the rugged mountain interior.

The president of the liberation front's revolutionary council, Idris Mohammed Adam, said the five were alive and in good health and would be freed in exchange for the release of political prisoners.

The captured men have been identified as Don Wederford and Clifford James of Canada, J. W. Rogers of New York State, Matte Tavola of California and William Casce of Texas.

$747.5 Million Budget Approved For Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council yesterday approved a $747.5 million municipal budget for 1974-75--another record total—which includes an 8.9 per cent increase in the city's property tax rate.

The tax rate increase is designed to offset a $10 million hike in the cost of the retirement benefits for city employes. It was estimated that the tax hike will mean a boost of $3.78 in the property tax bill for the owner of an average $24,000 home.

The council's final decision upheld budget cuts made by Mayor Tom Bradley totaling $10.6 million.

Planners Deadlock On Homes

Sausalito Planning commissioners deadlocked last night on whether to require an environmental impact report for seven single-family homes proposed for the Toyon Terrace subdivision.

Commissioner Thomas H. Gildersleeve and chairman Robert L. Nissen agreed with a planning staff report that there would be no significant environmental impact from the project planned by Caroline-Knudson Inc. for seven half-acre lots on Woodward Avenue, south of Spring Street.

Commissioners Dorothy Gibson and L. J. Gordon Levinson urged that an impact report be prepared to answer concerns about possible earthslides and damage to wildlife habitats. Commissioner Frank Bowen was absent.

Planning Director Herb Case said the issue again will be discussed at the next commission meeting after City Atty. Leland H. Jordan decides whether the 2-to-2 vote upholds or overturns the staff recommendation — or whether another vote must be taken with the full five-member commission.

Commissioners also granted a variance to Paul DeMoss to add 36 seats to the Seven Seas restaurant on Bridgeway. They waived a requirement for eight parking spaces to accommodate the larger capacity, but ruled that half of the rear patio area where the new seats will be installed, be landscaped.

The commission set 8 p.m. June 19 for a public hearing on a proposal to require that no building permit be issued for any portion of a development until city approval is obtained for the entire project.

Two Youths Injured In Auto Crash

Two youths were injured yesterday near Fallon when the car in which they were riding plunged 30 feet from the road into a ditch.

Reported today in satisfactory condition at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco, was the driver, Philip A. Backlund, 18, of 200 Eugenia Drive, Petaluma. A hospital spokesman said he suffered a broken arm, a possible shoulder separation, and multiple cuts in the accident.

The passenger in the car, David T. Meehan, 17, of 3797 Tomales-Petaluma Road, Tomales, was reported in fair condition at Hillcrest Hospital. His injuries were not known yet, according to a hospital spokesman.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Backlund lost control of the car while traveling at an "excessive rate of speed" in an S-curve of Fallon-Two Rock Road near Highway 1, at approximately 6:50 p.m.

The car skidded from the roadway and plunged 30 feet into a ditch, officers said. The car was totaled.

Reagan Warning On Proposition 9

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today warned California voters to be "wary" of Proposition 9, the "political reform initiative," saying it went overboard in trying to clean up politics.

"We must be wary of socalled reforms that seem to offer a panacea for all that is wrong with the body politic," Reagan said in his first speech to discuss Proposition 9.

"Most of all, we must be sure that the reforms we adopt are aimed at the abuses and do not restrict the right of any individual or group to legitimately petition government for a redress of grievances," Reagan added.

The governor again urged citizens to support his political reform plan and said opponents of Proposition 9 "feel its impact is something akin to bulldozing the whole forest to clear the tree that is blocking the road."

Speaking to the California State Employees Association, Reagan added that political reform laws must not "unduly" infringe on the right of privacy of state employees, just because they happened to be employed by government."

Six-Month Term Given For Drugs

A San Francisco construction worker convicted on two drug counts was given six months in jail yesterday.

William Reid Lane, 39, was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick.

Lane was tried twice in Superior court. In the first trial, presided over by Judge Broderick in March, the jury convicted him of possessing cocaine and marijuana, but deadlocked on three other charges — possessing a gun silencer and hashish oil and selling cocaine.

In a second trial earlier this month before Judge Joseph G. Wilson, jurors once again deadlocked on the charges.

Broderick dismissed the three contested counts yesterday and also placed Lane on one year's probation.

The judge additionally fined Lane $200 for an outburst during the first trial.

Lane's charges stemmed from a raid by local, state and federal authorities on a Belvedere home last July in which four gallons of hashish oil, marijuana, cocaine and a silencer-equipped pistol were seized.

Foes To Melones Dam Are Hopeful For Ballot Bid

OAKLAND (AP) — Leaders of an initiative drive to halt construction of New Melones dam are optimistic they have enough signatures to qualify the measure for the November election ballot.

"We think we made it, but we won't know for sure for a couple of days," said Robert Caughlan, spokesman for Friends of the River.

Caughlan said yesterday the group has collected between 442,000 and 460,000 signatures. A total of 325,000 valid signatures from registered voters were needed by May 27 to qualify the proposal.

Britain set off its first hydrogen bomb on May 15, 1957.

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Drinking a glass of water may not be as satisfying as eating a steak, but it may, someday soon, become a lot more nutritious, according to scientists at the Novo Enzyme Corp. here.

Kidnapped Nurse's Fate Not Known

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The fate of a young American nurse kidnapped from a mission hospital Monday in the town of Ghinda in Northern Ethiopia remained unknown today.

Authorities continued their search for 24-year-old Deborah Dortzbach, daughter of a Presbyterian minister in Denver, Colo.

The pregnant woman and another nurse, Anna Stickwerda, 54, were kidnapped by the rebel Eritrean Liberation Front. Mrs. Stickwerda's body was found about a quarter of a mile from the hospital a few hours after the attack. She had been shot through the head.

Mrs. Dortzbach, who is five months pregnant, was forced into the hills by her four abductors, according to witnesses.

Reports reaching Addis Ababa from Ghinda today indicated that three Americans and two Canadians captured two months ago by the Eritrean Liberation Front are still alive.

Reports said the men, captured when their helicopter was forced down during a violent storm, have been subjected to a forced march through the rugged mountain interior.

The president of the liberation front's revolutionary council, Idris Mohammed Adam, said the five were alive and in good health and would be freed in exchange for the release of political prisoners.

The captured men have been identified as Don Wederford and Clifford James of Canada, J. W. Rogers of New York State, Matte Tavola of California and William Casce of Texas.

$747.5 Million Budget Approved For Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council yesterday approved a $747.5 million municipal budget for 1974-75–another record total—which includes an 8.9 per cent increase in the city's property tax rate.

The tax rate increase is designed to offset a $10 million hike in the cost of the retirement benefits for city employes. It was estimated that the tax hike will mean a boost of $3.78 in the property tax bill for the owner of an average $24,000 home.

The council's final decision upheld budget cuts made by Mayor Tom Bradley totaling $10.6 million.

Planners Deadlock On Homes

Sausalito Planning commissioners deadlocked last night on whether to require an environmental impact report for seven single-family homes proposed for the Toyon Terrace subdivision.

Commissioner Thomas H. Gildersleeve and chairman Robert L. Nissen agreed with a planning staff report that there would be no significant environmental impact from the project planned by Caroline-Knudson Inc. for seven half-acre lots on Woodward Avenue, south of Spring Street.

Commissioners Dorothy Gibson and L. J. Gordon Levinson urged that an impact report be prepared to answer concerns about possible earthslides and damage to wildlife habitats. Commissioner Frank Bowen was absent.

Planning Director Herb Case said the issue again will be discussed at the next commission meeting after City Atty. Leland H. Jordan decides whether the 2-to-2 vote upholds or overturns the staff recommendation — or whether another vote must be taken with the full five-member commission.

Commissioners also granted a variance to Paul DeMoss to add 36 seats to the Seven Seas restaurant on Bridgeway. They waived a requirement for eight parking spaces to accommodate the larger capacity, but ruled that half of the rear patio area where the new seats will be installed, be landscaped.

The commission set 8 p.m. June 19 for a public hearing on a proposal to require that no building permit be issued for any portion of a development until city approval is obtained for the entire project.

Two Youths Injured In Auto Crash

Two youths were injured yesterday near Fallon when the car in which they were riding plunged 30 feet from the road into a ditch.

Reported today in satisfactory condition at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco, was the driver, Philip A. Backlund, 18, of 200 Eugenia Drive, Petaluma. A hospital spokesman said he suffered a broken arm, a possible shoulder separation, and multiple cuts in the accident.

The passenger in the car, David T. Meehan, 17, of 3797 Tomales-Petaluma Road, Tomales, was reported in fair condition at Hillcrest Hospital. His injuries were not known yet, according to a hospital spokesman.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Backlund lost control of the car while traveling at an "excessive rate of speed" in an S-curve of Fallon-Two Rock Road near Highway 1, at approximately 6:50 p.m.

The car skidded from the roadway and plunged 30 feet into a ditch, officers said. The car was totaled.

Reagan Warning On Proposition 9

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today warned California voters to be "wary" of Proposition 9, the "political reform initiative," saying it went overboard in trying to clean up politics.

"We must be wary of socalled reforms that seem to offer a panacea for all that is wrong with the body politic," Reagan said in his first speech to discuss Proposition 9.

"Most of all, we must be sure that the reforms we adopt are aimed at the abuses and do not restrict the right of any individual or group to legitimately petition government for a redress of grievances," Reagan added.

The governor again urged citizens to support his political reform plan and said opponents of Proposition 9 "feel its impact is something akin to bulldozing the whole forest to clear the tree that is blocking the road."

Speaking to the California State Employees Association, Reagan added that political reform laws must not "unduly" infringe on the right of privacy of state employees, just because they happened to be employed by government."

Six-Month Term Given For Drugs

A San Francisco construction worker convicted on two drug counts was given six months in jail yesterday.

William Reid Lane, 39, was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick.

Lane was tried twice in Superior court. In the first trial, presided over by Judge Broderick in March, the jury convicted him of possessing cocaine and marijuana, but deadlocked on three other charges — possessing a gun silencer and hashish oil and selling cocaine.

In a second trial earlier this month before Judge Joseph G. Wilson, jurors once again deadlocked on the charges.

Broderick dismissed the three contested counts yesterday and also placed Lane on one year's probation.

The judge additionally fined Lane $200 for an outburst during the first trial.

Lane's charges stemmed from a raid by local, state and federal authorities on a Belvedere home last July in which four gallons of hashish oil, marijuana, cocaine and a silencer-equipped pistol were seized.

Foes To Melones Dam Are Hopeful For Ballot Bid

OAKLAND (AP) — Leaders of an initiative drive to halt construction of New Melones dam are optimistic they have enough signatures to qualify the measure for the November election ballot.

"We think we made it, but we won't know for sure for a couple of days," said Robert Caughlan, spokesman for Friends of the River.

Caughlan said yesterday the group has collected between 442,000 and 460,000 signatures. A total of 325,000 valid signatures from registered voters were needed by May 27 to qualify the proposal.

Britain set off its first hydrogen bomb on May 15, 1957.

Recycling To Be Law In Davis

DAVIS (AP) — Recycling will become the law of the land beginning July 1 — at least inside the city limits of Davis.

The city council of this university community voted unanimously to adopt a mandatory recycling program. It provides that residents must separate all newsprint from other garbage, and that the city's franchised garbage collection service will pick up papers separately.

The ordinance, adopted Tuesday, did not say how violators would be caught or punished.

Costly Project

NEW YORK (AP) — Driver education, one of the more costly subjects taught in our schools today, is heavily assisted by private business. In 1972, approximately $138 million worth of cars were loaned to schools by local dealers. Many classroom materials are also provided.

Camp Land Reception Is Positive

A proposal to use part of the Bolinas sewer project land as a mobile home park for vans and campers received a sympathetic reception last night from the Community Public Utility District board.

"As the sewer project is constructed on the upper 52 acres of the 95-acre site, this proposed minihousing project can be constructed on the lower 40-odd acres," Robert J. House of Bolinas suggested to the board.

House said the mobile home park could provide for all existing vans which are being used for living units in the community. Fees of $30 a month per vehicle would amortize development costs and utilities, he said.

He proposed that a planned growth rate be set for the vans by the local planning group and that stays of transients be limited. He said part of the 40 acres should be set aside for a greenbelt and a "community garden" for park residents to help subsidize living costs.

Recalling that both Marin County authorities and the utility board have tried without success to cut back on the growing number of vans, House argued the mobile homes are "a necessary substitute for low-income housing where none other is available."

"Where would they get their water?" asked Lydia Smith from the audience. She noted the water connection moratorium now in effect prohibits any new hookups and declared the community should have additional water supplies before allowing a mobile home park.

Board members appeared unanimous in approving the idea, but they agreed that action probably would have to await completion of the sewer project.

Director Judith Weston suggested that a legal opinion be sought to see if water hookups for the mobile home park would violate the connection ban. She said the local planning group has endorsed the idea of using community-owned land for low-cost housing.

Director Paul D. Kayfetz was absent.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board also:

SEPTIC — Heard from the county counsel's office that the county health officer retains legal authority to regulate septic tanks. Board members had insisted the authority reside with an official of the local septic tank district.

TANK — Agreed to buy a 5,000-gallon portable swimming pool for $143 to use as a holding tank during emergency pumping from Pine Gulch Creek in dry periods this summer.

CLAIM — Voted to pay $108 to Robert Heffelfinger for damage to his truck windshield while he was using the vehicle on district business.

MAIN — Authorized extension of the water main 110 feet to the Martin J. Rubenstein property on Laurel Avenue. Rubenstein obtained permission for a water connection before the moratorium went into effect.

LANDSCAPING — Heard from district architect Donald J. Batchelder that landscaping specifications for the sewer project have been rewritten to provide for lower cost and to encourage local bids.

MEETING — Agreed to award contracts tomorrow afternoon, if written federal authorization for grants on the sewer project has been received.

Plea Made To Multiple Counts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 25-year-old man has pleaded innocent to charges of murder and rape stemming from the claw hammer slaying of a man and the beating and rape of his wife.

Angelo W. Pavageau entered the plea yesterday before Superior Court Judge Morton Colvin who set July 18 for pre-trial motions and July 22 for the trial.

Pavageau is charged with the slaying of Frank Carlson, 25, the raping of Carlson's wife, Annette, 24, and setting their Potrero Hill home afire on April 19.

Bias To Cost AT&T $30 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. has agreed to settle a job discrimination complaint by paying $30 million in back salary and wage adjustments to 7,000 management level employes, the government announced today.

AT&T said it would pay $7 million in back wages to the employes, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) said. In addition, the first full year cost of implementing the wage adjustments is expected to be $23 million.

About 60 per cent of the payments will go to women and minority employes, the EEOC said. The people involved work in all parts of the nation.

The government's complaint charged that AT&T failed to pay equal wages to men and women employes holding management jobs requiring essentially the same skill, effort and responsibility.

The settlement, entered as a consent decree in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia, was signed by representatives of the EEOC, the Labor and Justice Departments and AT&T for itself and 24 operating companies.

Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said the settlement "clearly demonstrates our commitment" to an administration goal of "equal employment opportunity for all American workers —regardless of their race, sex, wage, religion or nationality."

A similar agreement was reached in January, 1973, between the government and AT&T for nonmanagement employes.

The EEOC said the discriminatory practices by AT&T violated a section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act of 1964, the 1963 Equal Pay Act and a presidential executive order.

The EEOC said the back pay awards will be based on a comparative study of starting salaries of men and women promoted for the same job between June 1, 1972, and June 1, 1974.

Fare Increase For SP Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Public Utilities Commission denied permission yesterday to the Southern Pacific Co. to increase its fares on the San Francisco Peninsula by an additional 3 per cent.

The firm had been granted a 6 per cent boost on its commute fares to offset federally required increases in payroll retirement taxes.

It then asked for an additional 3 per cent which was rejected because its figures differed from those of the PUC staff.

CLAIM — Voted to pay $108 to Robert Heffelfinger for damage to his truck windshield while he was using the vehicle on district business.

MAIN — Authorized extension of the water main 110 feet to the Martin J. Rubenstein property on Laurel Avenue. Rubenstein obtained permission for a water connection before the moratorium went into effect.

LANDSCAPING — Heard from district architect Donald J. Batchelder that landscaping specifications for the sewer project have been rewritten to provide for lower cost and to encourage local bids.

MEETING — Agreed to award contracts tomorrow afternoon, if written federal authorization for grants on the sewer project has been received.

Recycling To Be Law In Davis

DAVIS (AP) — Recycling will become the law of the land beginning July 1 — at least inside the city limits of Davis.

The city council of this university community voted unanimously to adopt a mandatory recycling program. It provides that residents must separate all newsprint from other garbage, and that the city's franchised garbage collection service will pick up papers separately.

The ordinance, adopted Tuesday, did not say how violators would be caught or punished.

Costly Project

NEW YORK (AP) — Driver education, one of the more costly subjects taught in our schools today, is heavily assisted by private business. In 1972, approximately $138 million worth of cars were loaned to schools by local dealers. Many classroom materials are also provided.

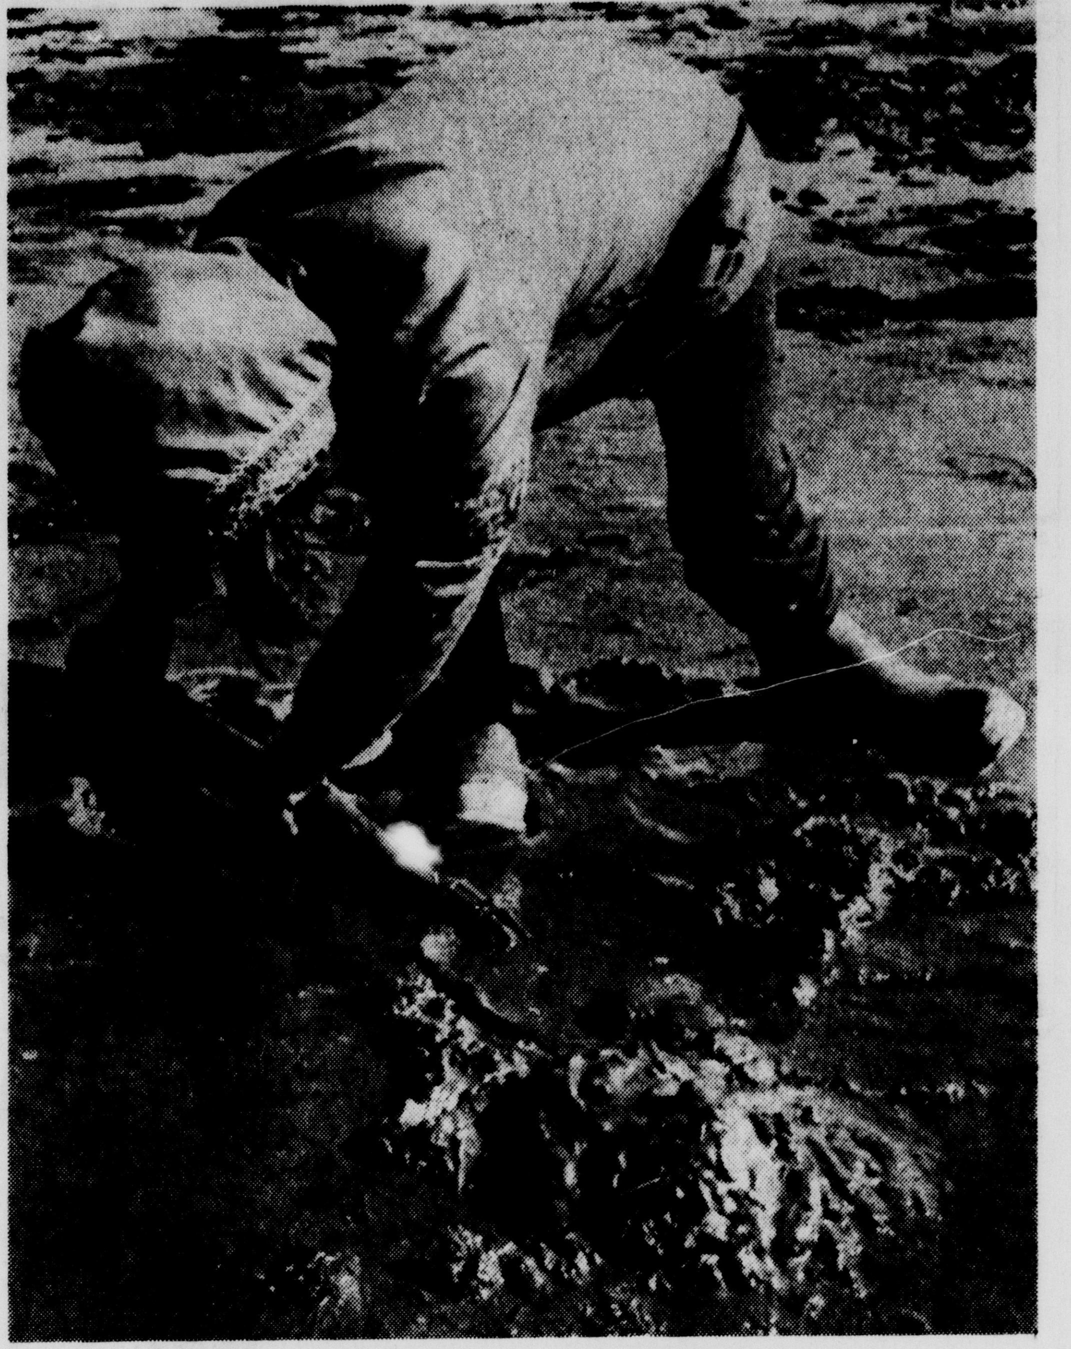
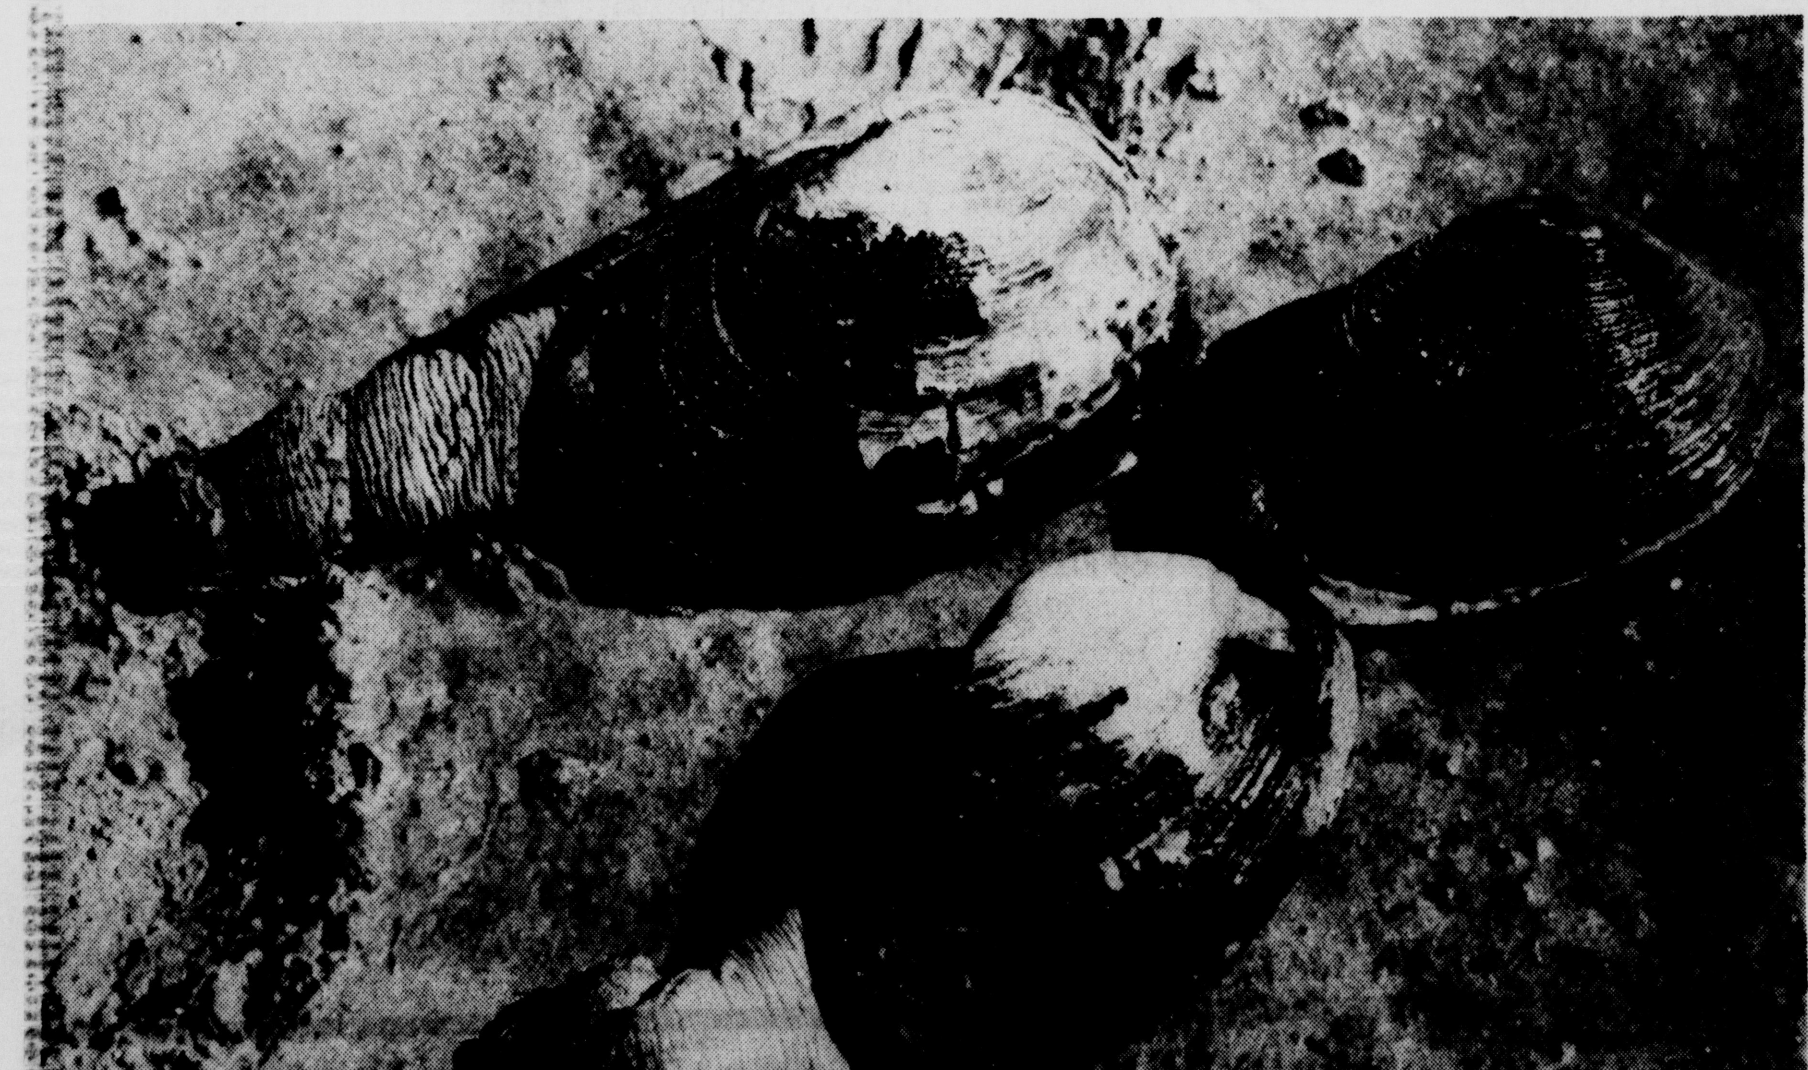
First The Clam, Then Chowder

It was one of the best clamming tides of the year, and the weather promised a sparkling spring day. Point Reyes lawyer John D. Burroughs and his family (above) decided to gather up their shovels and pails, put on their rubber boots and go clamdigging in the muddy flats of Drake's Estero in Point Reyes National Seashore. With them went their friend and Burrough's partner, John Maderious of Inverness. Heading for seldom exposed mud flats near the center of the bay, everyone grabbed shovels and set to work. Jean Burroughs had a double job. She not only dug her own holes, but also filled in those made by herself and others in a bit of work designed to assure the success of future hunts. Scientists say the piles of mud left by many diggers suffocate the smaller clams, whose siphons are too small to reach through the added blanket. They headed home against a nippy wind, looking forward to the promise of warmth and home-cooked chowder. Lasting rewards would be their memories of sun on the water, sea birds wheeling in the wind and morning light on the estero's hills. (Story by Anne West. Photos by Bob Hax.)



STRUGGLE — "I'm really digging up a big load," says five-year-old Bonnie Jean.

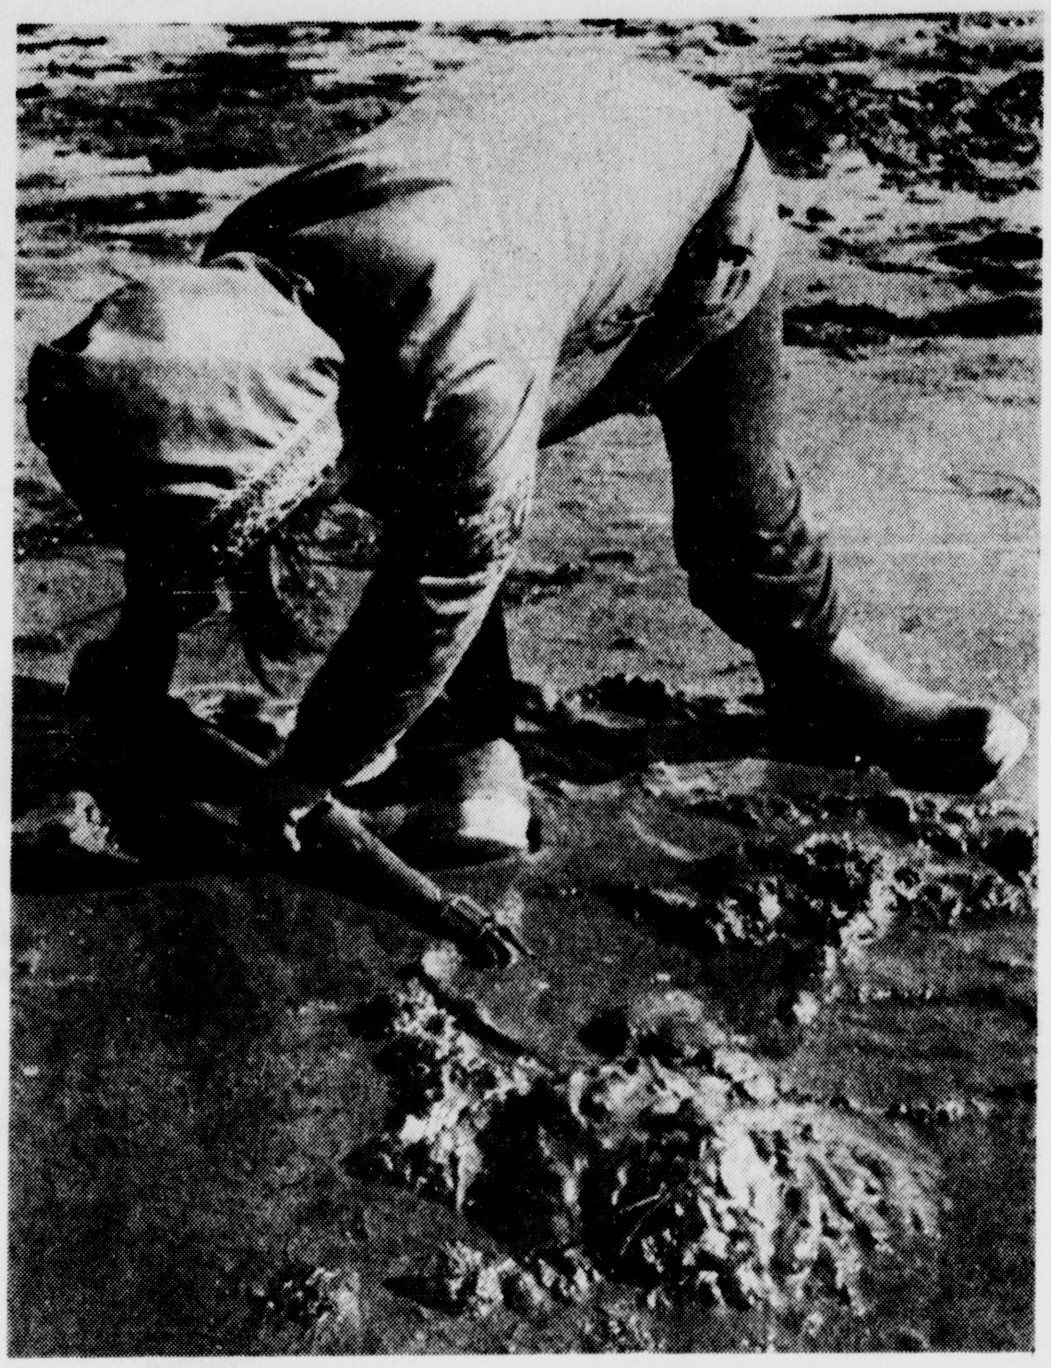
TECHNIQUES — Straining on his shovel handle, Carleton Burroughs (left) works for what he hopes will be a clam chowder supper, while John Madarious (right), who accompanied the Burroughs family on their outing, gropes at the bottom of a hole for the elusive clam.



CHOWDER MAKINGS — Three horsenecks from one hole were the best trophy of the day. Many clams went free, as oozing mud filled in the deeper holes faster than it could be dug out.

AND TRIUMPH — With some help from her father, Bonnie Jean found the prize — a good sized horseneck clam for the pot.

CLEANUP — Jean Burroughs fills in a hole to help assure successful hunts in the future.



STRUGGLE — "I'm really digging up a big load," says five-year-old Bonnie Jean.

Two Candidates For Water Board Clash

Two candidates for the Marin Municipal Water District's fourth division board seat disagreed about almost everything last night at a candidates' night at Tamalpais High School.

But Pamela W. Lloyd and Robert C. Walker apparently failed to generate much interest from the 16,870 registered voters in the division which includes Mill Valley, Corte Madera west of Highway 101, Kent Woodlands and Kentfield.

Only fifteen persons attended the session; nine of those were members of the candidates' families or campaign workers.

Walker, a 54-year-old home and business security consultant, and Mrs. Lloyd, 40, a homemaker active in civic affairs, will compete Tuesday for the seat of L. Martin Griffin Jr. who is leaving the board to move to Sonoma County.

The candidates hold differing views on the water district's controversial moratorium on new water connections. While Mrs. Lloyd called the ban "arbitrary and hard to administer in equitable fashion," she added she believes it is necessary to protect the supply of current customers.

Walker, on the other hand, sees the moratorium as a way to control growth and agrees with Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire's recent ruling that the ban is illegal.

Walker said the district has had detailed reports on possible sources of additional water since 1972 but "hasn't done anything" to obtain more water from some of the smaller sources within the county.

Additionally, he said the threatened water shortage which the board used as the basis for the moratorium was "contrived." Mrs. Lloyd objected, calling his comments "irresponsible. We have a 25 per cent overcommitment of our water supply right now," she argued.

Mrs. Lloyd concurs with the water district board's recent decision to appeal Judge McGuire's decision, while Walker is strongly opposed.

"If the decision is allowed to stand, we will no longer have control of our life support systems," she said. "Even people who don't want the moratorium have reservations about that decision."

Walker objected to the cost of an appeal. "Where will the tremendous funds necessary for such legal action come?" he asked. "That money will come right off your water bill money. The district's customers will have to pay for it (the appeal)."

Students Argue Against Prayers

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Three seniors at a suburban high school, arguing that prayers at their commencement exercises violate the separation of church and state, have asked a federal judge to prohibit the practice at graduation ceremonies June 9 and 10.

U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. set a hearing for June 6 on the request for a temporary restraining order by the students, James C. Grossberg, Judy Gordon and Helaine Wolpert.

The students and their parents said in the suit that the prayers at a baccalaureate service June 9 and at commencement exercises the following day at Douglas Southall Freeman High School in Henrico County would violate constitutional guarantees of separation of church and state.

Aid To Diabetes

TORONTO (UPI) — A Toronto medical research team says that after seven years of work it has produced an artificial pancreas which improves on conventional methods of controlling blood sugar levels in diabetics.

ELECT
Harry Connick
DISTRICT ATTORNEY

HARRY CONNICK is the only candidate for District Attorney who's integrity and judgment have not been attacked.

The only candidate who has served in all three capacities of law — Prosecutor, Defense Counsel and Trial Judge.

A man with a background of leadership, supervision and administrative skills.

HARRY CONNICK believes in careful thorough investigation and evaluation of cases before filing a criminal complaint. Thereafter, prosecution should be vigorous. To be effective, justice must be swift and sure, firm but fair.

Committee to elect Harry Connick D.A., 1408 Fourth St., San Rafael, Chairman - Charles Cahill

$37,626 In Pay Hikes Proposed

Ten Golden Gate Bridge District officials deserve pay hikes totaling $37,626 a year, a committee of district directors agreed yesterday.

The raises ranged up to 21 per cent, while the remaining 184 administrative employees were recommended for an 10 per cent pay hikes.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring was recommended for an annual salary of $42,660, up from his current $35,220.

The unanimous recommendations by the rules, policy and industrial relations committee will go before the full board at 10 a.m. Friday in toll plaza offices.

Auditor-Controller Robert D. Tough and Engineer Harry Beilich, were recommended for raises from $32,280 to $35,508. The fourth top official, District Secty. Peter Clainos, would get $25,884, up from $23,532.

Cited for "exceptional performance" and thus warranting special pay hikes were: John Quigley, deputy auditor-controller, from $21,000 to $24,432; Richard Sadler, supervisor of personnel and industrial relations, from $19,752 to $23,202, and John Shellenberger, coordinator of federal grants, from $17,448 to $19,728.

Given raises and expanded duties were Dale Norton, assistant to the general manager for administration and security, from $21,816 to $24,432; Jerome Kuykendall, assistant to the general manager for planning and research, from $21,132 to $24,432, and James Cowen, assistant bus transit manager, from $15,000 to $21,300.

The committee also recommended that carpenters' hourly wage be raised by 50 cents, to $8.75, effective retroactively to May 15. All other pay hikes would be effective July 1.

Television News Service Will Change Hands

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television News Inc. and UPITN have agreed in principle for TVN to purchase substantially all of UPITN's domestic newsfilm business.

UPITN said yesterday the arrangement will not affect its international newsfilm operations and that it will continue to supply existing services to its international customers without interruption.

UPITN, a partnership of United Press International, Independent Television News of Great Britain and Paramount Pictures, serves more than 75 television stations and national networks abroad. It was established in 1950 as UPI Newsfilm, the first independent newsfilm service.

TVN was formed with the financial backing of the Adolph Coors Brewing Co. of Colorado to provide electronic newsfilm delivery.

Murder Charge Hearing Slated

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Henry Gustav Hensley, 24, of Inglewood, Los Angeles County, will appear at 9:30 a.m. June 6 for a preliminary hearing in Sonoma Municipal Court on a murder charge stemming from a stabbing last Friday in Guerneville.

He is charged with the death of Kevin John Gingher, 22, of 1005 Greenwood Avenue, Novato. During his arraignment Tuesday Hensley pleaded innocent.

A Sonoma sheriff's spokesman said earlier reports listed Gingher's address as Petaluma because he was visiting a brother there.

Hensley was arrested by sheriff's deputies in a rural cabin shortly after the 6 p.m. stabbing.

He is being held without bond in the Sonoma County Jail.

$37,626 In Pay Hikes Proposed

Ten Golden Gate Bridge District officials deserve pay hikes totaling $37,626 a year, a committee of district directors agreed yesterday.

The raises ranged up to 21 per cent, while the remaining 144 administrative employees were recommended for an 10 per cent pay hikes.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring was recommended for an annual salary of $42,660, up from his current $35,220.

The unanimous recommendations by the rules, policy and industrial relations committee will go before the full board at 10 a.m. Friday in toll plaza offices.

Auditor-Controller Robert D. Tough and Engineer Harry Reilich, were recommended for raises from $32,280 to $35,508. The fourth top official, District Secty. Peter Clainos, would get $25,884, up from $23,532.

Cited for "exceptional performance" and thus warranting special pay hikes were: John Quigley, deputy auditor-controller, from $21,000 to $24,432; Richard Sadler, supervisor of personnel and industrial relations, from $19,752 to $23,202, and John Shellenberger, coordinator of federal grants, from $17,448 to $19,728.

Given raises and expanded duties were Dale Norton, assistant to the general manager for administration and security, from $21,816 to $24,432; Jerome Kuykendall, assistant to the general manager for planning and research, from $21,132 to $24,432, and James Cowen, assistant bus transit manager, from $15,000 to $21,300.

The committee also recommended that carpenters' hourly wage be raised by 50 cents, to $8.75, effective retroactively to May 15. All other pay hikes would be effective July 1.

Television News Service Will Change Hands

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television News Inc. and UPITN have agreed in principle for TVN to purchase substantially all of UPITN's domestic newsfilm business.

UPITN said yesterday the arrangement will not affect its international newsfilm operations and that it will continue to supply existing services to its international customers without interruption.

UPITN, a partnership of United Press International, Independent Television News of Great Britain and Paramount Pictures, serves more than 75 television stations and national networks abroad. It was established in 1950 as UPI Newsfilm, the first independent newsfilm service.

TVN was formed with the financial backing of the Adolph Coors Brewing Co. of Colorado to provide electronic newsfilm delivery.

Murder Charge Hearing Slated

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Henry Gustav Hensley, 24, of Inglewood, Los Angeles County, will appear at 9:30 a.m. June 6 for a preliminary hearing in Sonoma Municipal Court on a murder charge stemming from a stabbing last Friday in Guerneville.

He is charged with the death of Kevin John Gingher, 22, of 1005 Greenwood Avenue, Novato. During his arraignment Tuesday Hensley pleaded innocent.

A Sonoma sheriff's spokesman said earlier reports listed Gingher's address as Petaluma because he was visiting a brother there.

Hensley was arrested by sheriff's deputies in a rural cabin shortly after the 6 p.m. stabbing.

He is being held without bond in the Sonoma County Jail.

ISOBEL MANNING of Belvedere sews the final stitch in the needlepoint rug she took time out from studying for her law school finals to design. The rug will be used to help raise funds for cancer immunology research.

IN BELVEDERE WOMAN'S LIFE

Law Takes A Back Seat To Love

By PAT BALMES

A first-year law student at University of San Francisco and the mother of five children, Mrs. Stevens Manning Jr. of Belvedere took time right before final exams to design a sea shell pattern needlepoint rug.

She did it to help fight cancer. "A frightful thing. More frightful than a more sudden thing," she said.

The rug will be sold tomorrow evening at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon where the new Marin chapter of Friends of Cancer Immunology will hold its first fund-raiser, an auction and cocktail buffet.

"I had been studying all day and relaxed with the children in the evening while I designed the sea shells," she said. Then she painted them on 15 canvases which were distributed to volunteers.

The needlepointers are Mmes. Florence Eder, John Thornton, Melvin Tyler, William Johnstone, Wallace Boyer, Donald Smith, Frances Haver, Robert Harris, John Dreyfous, Ann Green, Walter Machette, Dolores Mack, Richard Fisher, Arthur Slaymaker, Alfred Matson, William Wright, Manning and Miss Alli Craig.

Isobel Manning learned needlepoint as a child from her mother and grandmother in Paris, where all French girls were taught needlepoint and embroidery in school, she said.

SHE WAS born in Hue, the old imperial capitol city of Annam province of Vietnam, where her father was in the French colonial service. When she was 3, her family returned to Paris.

After World War II her father was awarded the Legion of Honor for his work in the French underground.

"We were not told at the time what he was doing. We were lucky to still have my father," she said.

Hs family name, Surcouf, has always been given to a ship in the French navy. One ancestor, the commander of a privateer, fought the English under Napoleon and another, an admiral, fought the English under Louis IV, she said.

Her father became governor of a province of Laos. He had more of a Peace Corps mentality toward the people he governed, than a typical colonial attitude, she said. He believed strongly in independence and when the French government did not grant it he went into private business, she said.

In 1948 he started the Los Angeles branch of a French import-export business which dealt with companies in Indochina. The family came to Santa Barbara to live near Mrs. Manning's widowed grandmother, Mrs. Franklin Singer.

Isobel Manning's great grandfather, the sewing machine manufacturer Isaac Singer, and her grandfather Franklin Singer both lived in France and England most of their lives, she said.

A SIXTH grader when her family left Paris, Mrs. Manning was placed directly into ninth grade at Dominican Convent in San Rafael. She later attended Dominican College and was graduated from Scripps College.

"When I was young I planned my life up to 40 and having children. Now I realize that at least a quarter of a century is ahead of me," she said adding that her decision for law school was a "cold-blooded assessment."

Mrs. Manning had already worked as a volunteer — Marin chairman of the Junior League's four-year research project on historic homes for its book, "Here Today."

And she worked a year and a half at her husband's stock brokerage firm.

When she announced her interest in law because "it is challenging and stimulating," some men friends, who intended to be helpful, took her out to lunch and told her she would find it dull.

"I love the whole subject, especially contracts," she said.

After graduation she would like to work in something like Legal Aid but not necessarily for the most underprivileged people, she said.

"The poor can go to Legal Aid. Middle income people do not know where to turn. Perhaps it could be something like health insurance," she said.

Mrs. Manning is also concerned about old people's problems with insurance, utility companies and landlords, she said. She chose night classes so she could study during the day while her children Steve, 18; Emilie, 16; Patrick, 15; Paul, 14 and Kim, 10, were in school.

"IT'S A matter of organizing. You can do a lot of studying while waiting at the dentist," she said, adding that there are several other women in her classes, all married and with children.

Her husband is supportive, she said. He reads to the littlest child at night, takes his turn with the children doing the dishes and likes to grocery shop. "He feels shopping is like investing in stock, I think," she said with a laugh.

"I love being a woman and I am not trying to be a man. I am going to spend the entire summer being with the children. I feel I would be a much better mother when I am not being cranky or trying to live the children's lives; they will be gone someday," she said.

Couple Visits Russia, Finland, Sweden

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Davies of Indian Valley Ranch, Novato, have returned from a trip to Russia, Finland and Sweden. They were on a tour with the American Institute of Architects and American Institute of Interior Design.

Elizabeth Davies said she was very impressed with the cleanliness in the countries and the friendship of the Russian people on the tour. They stayed in Leningrad, which Mrs. Davies said was beautiful with the tulips in bloom. In Moscow they saw the ballet and symphony perform at the circus.

A conference for the 130 members on tour was held in Stockholm for three days.

It was perpetual springtime, Mrs. Davies said of the tour. In Russia they spent a day with two young women who are engineers and live 30 miles from Moscow. The Davies were impressed with their home, where they were served a beautiful luncheon and enjoyed seeing tropical plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Terence Sternberg and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day of Tiburon were also on the tour. Mrs. Sternberg and Mrs. Day, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown, formerly of Belvedere and now residents of New York, were the flower girls when the Davies were married.

BETSY BROMAN of Mill Valley also recently returned from a whirlwind trip to Russia, where she visited Moscow and Leningrad. She was in Leningrad on May Day, which she found was marked with a nonmilitary parade, many bands, children with balloons and lots of flowers. One highlight was visiting the old summer palace near Leningrad. She also attended a performance of the Russian Ballet in an ornate old opera house, completely restored with crystal chandeliers, details of gold leaf and red plush upholstery. This was in contrast to a performance of the opera "Don Carlo," which she witnessed in a super modern building made of glass and steel.

Mrs. Broman made the tour with other Bay Area real estate people, including Marinites James Gallagher, Jerry Newbauer, Alix Porohiles and Mrs. Vance Barnett, all of San Anselmo, James Hendrick and Ralph McClurg of Ross, Mrs. Bernice Andron of Sausalito and Henry Behr of Novato.

ON A tour of the United States since December, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Griffin of Traverse City, Mich., have been visiting at the home of her uncle, Walter D. Kephart in San Anselmo. Griffin is the son of Sen. and Mrs. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

The couple plans to visit the World's Fair in Spokane, Wash., and Yellowstone National Park on their return to Michigan.

Sophisticated Women Set Styles In The Current Sunglass Craze

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press

Who sets sunglass styles so sunglass styles stay set?

The sophisticated woman, that's who. What she approves in higher priced lines is likely to be acquired for the sunglass wardrobe of the average woman about a year later. So says Boris Kliot, who helps make sunglass decisions as president of a company "which originated sunglass fashions 20 years ago."

Although every conceivable style and color of sunglasses are worn from morning bike rides to late suppers, from newest models to oldies that have been worn year in and year out, the search for new ideas goes on, he observed. Soon we will be wearing "cosmetics glasses" in the evening.

THE PROGRESSION of fashion events that spawns the new styles for the average woman often starts at Kliot's at Kliot's home in St. Tropez between Nice and Cannes. There on the Riviera — the name his sunglasses also bear — he spots glasses fashionable women have chosen to wear. After researching sunglass popularity in the United States and elsewhere, he and his partner and other firm members discuss the styles and put "the accepted ones" within the average pocketbook for the following year.

Anything Jackie Kennedy wears becomes popular, Kliot remarked. Ditto those worn by movie people.

"In fact the first of the large-rimmed glasses was designed by us for Audrey Hepburn to wear in 'Breakfast at Tiffany's.' They were talked about long before they became available in our lower-priced line, which is 90 per cent of our business."

THE LARGE mock-tortoise frames worn by Audrey Hepburn in "Charade" are now popular also. In addition, this year's glasses include aviator, pilot, oval or octagonal frames in pewter, copper, licorice, black or silken silvery tones.

"We set fashion, but we don't try to revolutionize it," he explained. "We would not say that one color or one shape will change everything. We are now doing unusual shapes in the bold look, and there are new ideas in metal frames — pastel tinted lenses in thin black frames — and colored tortoise shells. All colored frames are bigger than ever."

There is also concentration on innovative decorative temples —swan shaped, sculptured twists, and cut-out jeweler's metal finishes.

"In 1975 we are coming up with a cosmetic concept to beautify the face for evening wear —colored lenses that will not darken when you go inside."

THE GRADIENT lenses — that go from clear to dark when exposed to infrared or ultraviolet light — represents 25 per cent in additional business for the company, he remarked. They were the first to use the lenses for fashion wear, and the price is determined by the frames chosen.

Each sunglass fashion has 20 or more variations in styling, he observed, because "buying sunglasses is sort of like purchasing a scarf. You find the right shape and size, but you might not like the design or color." He says such a challenge can be met in the thousands of glasses that are available.

ON THE AGENDA

Marin City Mothers Guild Sets A Day-Long Benefit On Saturday

Marin City Mothers Guild will have a day-long event Saturday, beginning at 10:30 a.m., at the Manzanita Recreation Center gymnasium in Marin City to benefit its scholarship fund.

Barbecue dinners will be sold throughout the day. A variety show will begin at 8 p.m. David Jones, drama student at California State University, San Francisco, and last year's scholarship winner, is the director.

This year the scholarship funds will be shared by the two Marin City black students who have shown the most improvement in their work at Tamalpais High School. The school faculty is assisting with the selection.

Mrs. Mary Springer, guild president, is chairman; Mmes. Ruth Williams, Velma Harris and Betty Walker are the assistants. Mrs. Geraldine Huff is reservations chairman.

MARIN BRANCH, American Association of University Women, will have the discovery dinner Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

Chairmen are Dottie Braman and Pam Valeski, both of Terra Linda.

Members will dress as the woman they most admire, and entertainment will be provided by Men of Marin, a local singing group.

"Lines for Listening," a volume by members of the Poetry Section will be available for purchase at the dinner. New officers will be installed by charter member Mrs. Ruth Jones of San Rafael.

Mrs. Valeski is reservations chairman.

OUR LADY of Loretto Parent Teacher Guild will hold its annual "family night" at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school playground in Novato.

Entertainment will include a volley ball game between the faculty of Our Lady of Loretto and the eighth grade class.

Mothers of first grade students will provide refreshments following the game, according to Mrs. Mary Ann Cabral, publicity chairman.

A DINNER dance will be held at the Strawberry Recreation Center beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday to benefit the Strawberry Little League.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m.

Gail Hunter and Jan Blackford are reservations chairmen. Reservations are also being accepted at the recreation center.

THE EPISCOPAL Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley will have a family potluck supper for the parish tomorrow beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Audrey Lawson, ECW president, is in charge of the dinner.

Exploratorium Gift Show Has Educational Objects As Well

By JOAN LISETOR

Mazes, prisms, scientific books and puzzles and magnets might seem an unusual stock for a souvenir gift shop, but those are the popular items at the Exploratorium Gift Shop run by Jackie Oppenheimer of Sausalito.

A volunteer at the museum at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco, Mrs. Oppenheimer is the wife of Frank Oppenheimer, director of the Exploratorium.

Like the museum, the gift shop has educational objectives.

"Most kids who go to a museum want to take something home," Mrs. Oppenheimer said. "The boys and girls both like the magnets. Actually there is little difference in preference, except few girls buy things to do with electricity, but that's not the child's fault. It's the way they are brought up."

A native of Canada, Mrs. Oppenheimer was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with a degree in economics. Her science education comes from being married to a scientist, she said.

Perception is the underlying theme of the museum, and what the children perceive from the exhibits they want to take home, Mrs. Oppenheimer explained.

"They like the scientific books, we call them 'cookbooks,' that have to do with the exhibits. What they have seen they want to know more about, and the technical drawings of the exhibits show them how to make them," she said.

In the center of the museum, the store is shaped like a geodesic dome, which ties in with the theme, but is inconvenient because there is no place to hang items for display, Mrs. Oppenheimer said.

"It's a struggle with no city support, except giving us the building," Mrs. Oppenheimer explained. "Funding has come from private and national science foundations. Five years is not a long time for a museum, so we operate on a low budget."

Admission is free, although "admission free donations" are encouraged, and the gift shop brings in the only revenue.

The shop could use more volunteers on weekends, Mrs. Oppenheimer said.

Nursery School To Hold Open House On Saturday

An open house for former pupils and a party for parents of current pupils will be held by the San Anselmo Co-operative Nursery School Saturday night.

The open house will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the school, 24 Myrtle Lane, San Anselmo for former pupils of the 20 year old program to view the extensively remodeled school.

The former director for 14 years, Elixabeth Rall, will be on hand to greet the former pupils, who will be served juice and crackers as in their old nursery school days. Cocktails and a buffet will also be served to the adults.

Directors Anne Falkenberg and Katharine Buettner will attend the event.

The parents of current pupils will have a party at 8 p.m. at the Robson Harrington House in San Anselmo, also Saturday. A potluck dinner will be followed by dancing.

New Expectant Parents Series Opens Next Week

A new series of classes for expectant parents will be held by the Education for Childbirth Association beginning next Thursday.

The classes will continue for eight weekly sessions at 7:30 p.m. at the offices of Gunhild Brown, Greenbrae physical therapist. Registered physical therapist Margaret Farley will instruct.

Understanding of the processes of pregnancy and birth and exercises, relaxing and breathing techniques will be stressed. Films on child birth will be shown.

The program is based mainly on the teachings of Grantley Dick-Read and Mabel Lum Fitzhugh but also includes other methods of childbirth training.

Enrollment is made by calling Mrs. Gunhild's office.

She also attended a performance of the Russian Ballet in an ornate old opera house, completely restored with crystal chandeliers, details of gold leaf and red plush upholstery. This was in contrast to a performance of the opera "Don Carlo," which she witnessed in a super modern building made of glass and steel.

Mrs. Broman made the tour with other Bay Area real estate people, including Marinites James Gallagher, Jerry Newbauer, Alix Porohiles and Mrs. Vance Barnett, all of San Anselmo, James Hendrick and Ralph McClurg of Ross, Mrs. Bernice Andron of Sausalito and Henry Behr of Novato.

ON A tour of the United States since December, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Griffin of Traverse City, Mich., have been visiting at the home of her uncle, Walter D. Kephart in San Anselmo. Griffin is the son of Sen. and Mrs. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

The couple plans to visit the World's Fair in Spokane, Wash., and Yellowstone National Park on their return to Michigan.

Sophisticated Women Set Styles In The Current Sunglass Craze

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press

Who sets sunglass styles so sunglass styles stay set?

The sophisticated woman, that's who. What she approves in higher priced lines is likely to be acquired for the sunglass wardrobe of the average woman about a year later. So says Boris Kliot, who helps make sunglass decisions as president of a company "which originated sunglass fashions 20 years ago."

Although every conceivable style and color of sunglasses are worn from morning bike rides to late suppers, from newest models to oldies that have been worn year in and year out, the search for new ideas goes on, he observed. Soon we will be wearing "cosmetics glasses" in the evening.

THE PROGRESSION of fashion events that spawns the new styles for the average woman often starts at Kliot's at Kliot's home in St. Tropez between Nice and Cannes. There on the Riviera — the name his sunglasses also bear — he spots glasses fashionable women have chosen to wear. After researching sunglass popularity in the United States and elsewhere, he and his partner and other firm members discuss the styles and put "the accepted ones" within the average pocketbook for the following year.

Anything Jackie Kennedy wears becomes popular, Kliot remarked. Ditto those worn by movie people.

"In fact the first of the large-rimmed glasses was designed by us for Audrey Hepburn to wear in 'Breakfast at Tiffany's.' They were talked about long before they became available in our lower-priced line, which is 90 per cent of our business."

THE LARGE mock-tortoise frames worn by Audrey Hepburn in "Charade" are now popular also. In addition, this year's glasses include aviator, pilot, oval or octagonal frames in pewter, copper, licorice, black or silken silvery tones.

"We set fashion, but we don't try to revolutionize it," he explained. "We would not say that one color or one shape will change everything. We are now doing unusual shapes in the bold look, and there are new ideas in metal frames — pastel tinted lenses in thin black frames — and colored tortoise shells. All colored frames are bigger than ever."

There is also concentration on innovative decorative temples —swan shaped, sculptured twists, and cut-out jeweler's metal finishes.

"In 1975 we are coming up with a cosmetic concept to beautify the face for evening wear —colored lenses that will not darken when you go inside."

THE GRADIENT lenses — that go from clear to dark when exposed to infrared or ultraviolet light — represents 25 per cent in additional business for the company, he remarked. They were the first to use the lenses for fashion wear, and the price is determined by the frames chosen.

Each sunglass fashion has 20 or more variations in styling, he observed, because "buying sunglasses is sort of like purchasing a scarf. You find the right shape and size, but you might not like the design or color." He says such a challenge can be met in the thousands of glasses that are available.

ON THE AGENDA

Marin City Mothers Guild Sets A Day-Long Benefit On Saturday

Marin City Mothers Guild will have a day-long event Saturday, beginning at 10:30 a.m., at the Manzanita Recreation Center gymnasium in Marin City to benefit its scholarship fund.

Barbecue dinners will be sold throughout the day. A variety show will begin at 8 p.m. David Jones, drama student at California State University, San Francisco, and last year's scholarship winner, is the director.

This year the scholarship funds will be shared by the two Marin City black students who have shown the most improvement in their work at Tamalpais High School. The school faculty is assisting with the selection.

Mrs. Mary Springer, guild president, is chairman; Mmes. Ruth Williams, Velma Harris and Betty Walker are the assistants. Mrs. Geraldine Huff is reservations chairman.

MARIN BRANCH, American Association of University Women, will have the discovery dinner Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

Chairmen are Dottie Braman and Pam Valeski, both of Terra Linda.

Members will dress as the woman they most admire, and entertainment will be provided by Men of Marin, a local singing group.

"Lines for Listening," a volume by members of the Poetry Section will be available for purchase at the dinner. New officers will be installed by charter member Mrs. Ruth Jones of San Rafael.

Mrs. Valeski is reservations chairman.

OUR LADY of Loretto Parent Teacher Guild will hold its annual "family night" at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school playground in Novato.

Entertainment will include a volley ball game between the faculty of Our Lady of Loretto and the eighth grade class.

Mothers of first grade students will provide refreshments following the game, according to Mrs. Mary Ann Cabral, publicity chairman.

A DINNER dance will be held at the Strawberry Recreation Center beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday to benefit the Strawberry Little League.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m.

Gail Hunter and Jan Blackford are reservations chairmen. Reservations are also being accepted at the recreation center.

THE EPISCOPAL Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley will have a family potluck supper for the parish tomorrow beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Audrey Lawson, ECW president, is in charge of the dinner.

Exploratorium Gift Show Has Educational Objects As Well

By JOAN LISETOR

Mazes, prisms, scientific books and puzzles and magnets might seem an unusual stock for a souvenir gift shop, but those are the popular items at the Exploratorium Gift Shop run by Jackie Oppenheimer of Sausalito.

A volunteer at the museum at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco, Mrs. Oppenheimer is the wife of Frank Oppenheimer, director of the Exploratorium.

Like the museum, the gift shop has educational objectives.

"Most kids who go to a museum want to take something home," Mrs. Oppenheimer said. "The boys and girls both like the magnets. Actually there is little difference in preference, except few girls buy things to do with electricity, but that's not the child's fault. It's the way they are brought up."

A native of Canada, Mrs. Oppenheimer was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with a degree in economics. Her science education comes from being married to a scientist, she said.

Perception is the underlying theme of the museum, and what the children perceive from the exhibits they want to take home, Mrs. Oppenheimer explained.

"They like the scientific books, we call them 'cookbooks,' that have to do with the exhibits. What they have seen they want to know more about, and the technical drawings of the exhibits show them how to make them," she said.

In the center of the museum, the store is shaped like a geodesic dome, which ties in with the theme, but is inconvenient because there is no place to hang items for display, Mrs. Oppenheimer said.

"It's a struggle with no city support, except giving us the building," Mrs. Oppenheimer explained. "Funding has come from private and national science foundations. Five years is not a long time for a museum, so we operate on a low budget."

Admission is free, although "admission free donations" are encouraged, and the gift shop brings in the only revenue.

The shop could use more volunteers on weekends, Mrs. Oppenheimer said.

Nursery School To Hold Open House On Saturday

An open house for former pupils and a party for parents of current pupils will be held by the San Anselmo Co-operative Nursery School Saturday night.

The open house will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the school, 24 Myrtle Lane, San Anselmo for former pupils of the 20 year old program to view the extensively remodeled school.

The former director for 14 years, Elixabeth Rall, will be on hand to greet the former pupils, who will be served juice and crackers as in their old nursery school days. Cocktails and a buffet will also be served to the adults.

Directors Anne Falkenberg and Katharine Buettner will attend the event.

The parents of current pupils will have a party at 8 p.m. at the Robson Harrington House in San Anselmo, also Saturday. A potluck dinner will be followed by dancing.

New Expectant Parents Series Opens Next Week

A new series of classes for expectant parents will be held by the Education for Childbirth Association beginning next Thursday.

The classes will continue for eight weekly sessions at 7:30 p.m. at the offices of Gunhild Brown, Greenbrae physical therapist. Registered physical therapist Margaret Farley will instruct.

Understanding of the processes of pregnancy and birth and exercises, relaxing and breathing techniques will be stressed. Films on child birth will be shown.

The program is based mainly on the teachings of Grantley Dick-Read and Mabel Lum Fitzhugh but also includes other methods of childbirth training.

Enrollment is made by calling Mrs. Gunhild's office.

$37,626 In Pay Hikes Proposed

Ten Golden Gate Bridge District officials deserve pay hikes totaling $37,626 a year, a committee of district directors agreed yesterday.

The raises ranged up to 21 per cent, while the remaining 144 administrative employees were recommended for an 10 per cent pay hikes.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring was recommended for an annual salary of $42,660, up from his current $35,220.

The unanimous recommendations by the rules, policy and industrial relations committee will go before the full board at 10 a.m. Friday in toll plaza offices.

Auditor-Controller Robert D. Tough and Engineer Harry Reilich, were recommended for raises from $32,280 to $35,508. The fourth top official, District Secty. Peter Clainos, would get $25,884, up from $23,532.

Cited for "exceptional performance" and thus warranting special pay hikes were: John Quigley, deputy auditor-controller, from $21,000 to $24,432; Richard Sadler, supervisor of personnel and industrial relations, from $19,752 to $23,202, and John Shellenberger, coordinator of federal grants, from $17,448 to $19,728.

Given raises and expanded duties were Dale Norton, assistant to the general manager for administration and security, from $21,816 to $24,432; Jerome Kuykendall, assistant to the general manager for planning and research, from $21,132 to $24,432, and James Cowen, assistant bus transit manager, from $15,000 to $21,300.

The committee also recommended that carpenters' hourly wage be raised by 50 cents, to $8.75, effective retroactively to May 15. All other pay hikes would be effective July 1.

Murder Charge Hearing Slated

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Henry Gustav Hensley, 24, of Inglewood, Los Angeles County, will appear at 9:30 a.m. June 6 for a preliminary hearing in Sonoma Municipal Court on a murder charge stemming from a stabbing last Friday in Guerneville.

He is charged with the death of Kevin John Gingher, 22, of 1005 Greenwood Avenue, Novato. During his arraignment Tuesday Hensley pleaded innocent.

A Sonoma sheriff's spokesman said earlier reports listed Gingher's address as Petaluma because he was visiting a brother there.

Hensley was arrested by sheriff's deputies in a rural cabin shortly after the 6 p.m. stabbing.

He is being held without bond in the Sonoma County Jail.

Television News Service Will Change Hands

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television News Inc. and UPITN have agreed in principle for TVN to purchase substantially all of UPITN's domestic newsfilm business.

UPITN said yesterday the arrangement will not affect its international newsfilm operations and that it will continue to supply existing services to its international customers without interruption.

UPITN, a partnership of United Press International, Independent Television News of Great Britain and Paramount Pictures, serves more than 75 television stations and national networks abroad. It was established in 1950 as UPI Newsfilm, the first independent newsfilm service.

TVN was formed with the financial backing of the Adolph Coors Brewing Co. of Colorado to provide electronic newsfilm delivery.

ISOBEL MANNING of Belvedere sews the final stitch in the needlepoint rug she took time out from studying for her law school finals to design. The rug will be used to help raise funds for cancer immunology research.

IN BELVEDERE WOMAN'S LIFE

Law Takes A Back Seat To Love

By PAT BALMES

A first-year law student at University of San Francisco and the mother of five children, Mrs. Stevens Manning Jr. of Belvedere took time right before final exams to design a sea shell pattern needlepoint rug.

She did it to help fight cancer. "A frightful thing. More frightful than a more sudden thing," she said.

The rug will be sold tomorrow evening at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon where the new Marin chapter of Friends of Cancer Immunology will hold its first fund-raiser, an auction and cocktail buffet.

"I had been studying all day and relaxed with the children in the evening while I designed the sea shells," she said. Then she painted them on 15 canvases which were distributed to volunteers.

The needlepointers are Mmes. Florence Eder, John Thornton, Melvin Tyler, William Johnstone, Wallace Boyer, Donald Smith, Frances Haver, Robert Harris, John Dreyfous, Ann Green, Walter Machette, Dolores Mack, Richard Fisher, Arthur Slaymaker, Alfred Matson, William Wright, Manning and Miss Alli Craig.

Isobel Manning learned needlepoint as a child from her mother and grandmother in Paris, where all French girls were taught needlepoint and embroidery in school, she said.

SHE WAS born in Hue, the old imperial capitol city of Annam province of Vietnam, where her father was in the French colonial service. When she was 3, her family returned to Paris.

After World War II her father was awarded the Legion of Honor for his work in the French underground.

"We were not told at the time what he was doing. We were lucky to still have my father," she said.

Hs family name, Surcouf, has always been given to a ship in the French navy. One ancestor, the commander of a privateer, fought the English under Napoleon and another, an admiral, fought the English under Louis IV, she said.

Her father became governor of a province of Laos. He had more of a Peace Corps mentality toward the people he governed, than a typical colonial attitude, she said. He believed strongly in independence and when the French government did not grant it he went into private business, she said.

In 1948 he started the Los Angeles branch of a French import-export business which dealt with companies in Indochina. The family came to Santa Barbara to live near Mrs. Manning's widowed grandmother, Mrs. Franklin Singer.

Isobel Manning's great grandfather, the sewing machine manufacturer Isaac Singer, and her grandfather Franklin Singer both lived in France and England most of their lives, she said.

A SIXTH grader when her family left Paris, Mrs. Manning was placed directly into ninth grade at Dominican Convent in San Rafael. She later attended Dominican College and was graduated from Scripps College.

"When I was young I planned my life up to 40 and having children. Now I realize that at least a quarter of a century is ahead of me," she said adding that her decision for law school was a "cold-blooded assessment."

Mrs. Manning had already worked as a volunteer — Marin chairman of the Junior League's four-year research project on historic homes for its book, "Here Today."

And she worked a year and a half at her husband's stock brokerage firm.

When she announced her interest in law because "it is challenging and stimulating," some men friends, who intended to be helpful, took her out to lunch and told her she would find it dull.

"I love the whole subject, especially contracts," she said.

After graduation she would like to work in something like Legal Aid but not necessarily for the most underprivileged people, she said.

"The poor can go to Legal Aid. Middle income people do not know where to turn. Perhaps it could be something like health insurance," she said.

Mrs. Manning is also concerned about old people's problems with insurance, utility companies and landlords, she said. She chose night classes so she could study during the day while her children Steve, 18; Emilie, 16; Patrick, 15; Paul, 14 and Kim, 10, were in school.

"IT'S A matter of organizing. You can do a lot of studying while waiting at the dentist," she said, adding that there are several other women in her classes, all married and with children.

Her husband is supportive, she said. He reads to the littlest child at night, takes his turn with the children doing the dishes and likes to grocery shop. "He feels shopping is like investing in stock, I think," she said with a laugh.

"I love being a woman and I am not trying to be a man. I am going to spend the entire summer being with the children. I feel I would be a much better mother when I am not being cranky or trying to live the children's lives; they will be gone someday," she said.

Couple Visits Russia, Finland, Sweden

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Davies of Indian Valley Ranch, Novato, have returned from a trip to Russia, Finland and Sweden. They were on a tour with the American Institute of Architects and American Institute of Interior Design.

Elizabeth Davies said she was very impressed with the cleanliness in the countries and the friendship of the Russian people on the tour. They stayed in Leningrad, which Mrs. Davies said was beautiful with the tulips in bloom. In Moscow they saw the ballet and symphony perform at the circus.

A conference for the 130 members on tour was held in Stockholm for three days.

It was perpetual springtime, Mrs. Davies said of the tour. In Russia they spent a day with two young women who are engineers and live 30 miles from Moscow. The Davies were impressed with their home, where they were served a beautiful luncheon and enjoyed seeing tropical plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Terence Sternberg and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day of Tiburon were also on the tour. Mrs. Sternberg and Mrs. Day, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown, formerly of Belvedere and now residents of New York, were the flower girls when the Davies were married.

BETSY BROMAN of Mill Valley also recently returned from a whirlwind trip to Russia, where she visited Moscow and Leningrad. She was in Leningrad on May Day, which she found was marked with a non-military parade, many bands, children with balloons and lots of flowers. One highlight was visiting the old summer palace near Leningrad. She also attended a performance of the Russian Ballet in an ornate old opera house, completely restored with crystal chandeliers, details of gold leaf and red plush upholstery. This was in contrast to a performance of the opera "Don Carlo," which she witnessed in a super modern building made of glass and steel.

Mrs. Broman made the tour with other Bay Area real estate people, including Marinites James Gallagher, Jerry Newbauer, Alix Porohiles and Mrs. Vance Barnett, all of San Anselmo, James Hendrick and Ralph McClurg of Ross, Mrs. Bernice Andron of Sausalito and Henry Behr of Novato.

ON A tour of the United States since December, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Griffin of Traverse City, Mich., have been visiting at the home of her uncle, Walter D. Kephart in San Anselmo. Griffin is the son of Sen. and Mrs. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

The couple plans to visit the World's Fair in Spokane, Wash., and Yellowstone National Park on their return to Michigan.

Sophisticated Women Set Styles In The Current Sunglass Craze

By VIVIAN BROWN

Who sets sunglass styles so sunglass styles stay set?

The sophisticated woman, that's who. What she approves in higher priced lines is likely to be acquired for the sunglass wardrobe of the average woman about a year later. So says Boris Kliot, who helps make sunglass decisions as president of a company "which originated sunglass fashions 20 years ago."

Although every conceivable style and color of sunglasses are worn from morning bike rides to late suppers, from newest models to oldies that have been worn year in and year out, the search for new ideas goes on, he observed. Soon we will be wearing "cosmetics glasses" in the evening.

THE PROGRESSION of fashion events that spawns the new styles for the average woman often starts at Kliot's at Kliot's home in St. Tropez between Nice and Cannes. There on the Riviera — the name his sunglasses also bear — he spots glasses fashionable women have chosen to wear. After researching sunglass popularity in the United States and elsewhere, he and his partner and other firm members discuss the styles and put "the accepted ones" within the average pocketbook for the following year.

Anything Jackie Kennedy wears becomes popular, Kliot remarked. Ditto those worn by movie people.

"In fact the first of the large-rimmed glasses was designed by us for Audrey Hepburn to wear in 'Breakfast at Tiffany's.' They were talked about long before they became available in our lower-priced line, which is 90 per cent of our business."

THE LARGE mock-tortoise frames worn by Audrey Hepburn in "Charade" are now popular also. In addition, this year's glasses include aviator, pilot, oval or octagonal frames in pewter, copper, licorice, black or silken silvery tones.

"We set fashion, but we don't try to revolutionize it," he explained. "We would not say that one color or one shape will change everything. We are now doing unusual shapes in the bold look, and there are new ideas in metal frames — pastel tinted lenses in thin black frames — and colored tortoise shells. All colored frames are bigger than ever."

There is also concentration on innovative decorative temples —swan shaped, sculptured twists, and cut-out jeweler's metal finishes.

"In 1975 we are coming up with a cosmetic concept to beautify the face for evening wear —colored lenses that will not darken when you go inside."

THE GRADIENT lenses — that go from clear to dark when exposed to infrared or ultraviolet light — represents 25 per cent in additional business for the company, he remarked. They were the first to use the lenses for fashion wear, and the price is determined by the frames chosen.

Each sunglass fashion has 20 or more variations in styling, he observed, because "buying sunglasses is sort of like purchasing a scarf. You find the right shape and size, but you might not like the design or color." He says such a challenge can be met in the thousands of glasses that are available.

ON THE AGENDA

Marin City Mothers Guild Sets A Day-Long Benefit On Saturday

Marin City Mothers Guild will have a day-long event Saturday, beginning at 10:30 a.m., at the Manzanita Recreation Center gymnasium in Marin City to benefit its scholarship fund.

Barbecue dinners will be sold throughout the day. A variety show will begin at 8 p.m. David Jones, drama student at California State University, San Francisco, and last year's scholarship winner, is the director.

This year the scholarship funds will be shared by the two Marin City black students who have shown the most improvement in their work at Tamalpais High School. The school faculty is assisting with the selection.

Mrs. Mary Springer, guild president, is chairman; Mmes. Ruth Williams, Velma Harris and Betty Walker are the assistants. Mrs. Geraldine Huff is reservations chairman.

MARIN BRANCH, American Association of University Women, will have the discovery dinner Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

Chairmen are Dottie Braman and Pam Valeski, both of Terra Linda.

Members will dress as the woman they most admire, and entertainment will be provided by Men of Marin, a local singing group.

"Lines for Listening," a volume by members of the Poetry Section will be available for purchase at the dinner. New officers will be installed by charter member Mrs. Ruth Jones of San Rafael.

Mrs. Valeski is reservations chairman.

OUR LADY of Loretto Parent Teacher Guild will hold its annual "family night" at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school playground in Novato.

Entertainment will include a volley ball game between the faculty of Our Lady of Loretto and the eighth grade class.

Mothers of first grade students will provide refreshments following the game, according to Mrs. Mary Ann Cabral, publicity chairman.

A DINNER dance will be held at the Strawberry Recreation Center beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday to benefit the Strawberry Little League.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m.

Gail Hunter and Jan Blackford are reservations chairmen. Reservations are also being accepted at the recreation center.

THE EPISCOPAL Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley will have a family potluck supper for the parish tomorrow beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Audrey Lawson, ECW president, is in charge of the dinner.

Exploratorium Gift Show Has Educational Objects As Well

By JOAN LISETOR

Mazes, prisms, scientific books and puzzles and magnets might seem an unusual stock for a souvenir gift shop, but those are the popular items at the Exploratorium Gift Shop run by Jackie Oppenheimer of Sausalito.

A volunteer at the museum at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco, Mrs. Oppenheimer is the wife of Frank Oppenheimer, director of the Exploratorium.

Like the museum, the gift shop has educational objectives.

"Most kids who go to a museum want to take something home," Mrs. Oppenheimer said. "The boys and girls both like the magnets. Actually there is little difference in preference, except few girls buy things to do with electricity, but that's not the child's fault. It's the way they are brought up."

A native of Canada, Mrs. Oppenheimer was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with a degree in economics. Her science education comes from being married to a scientist, she said.

Perception is the underlying theme of the museum, and what the children perceive from the exhibits they want to take home, Mrs. Oppenheimer explained.

"They like the scientific books, we call them 'cookbooks,' that have to do with the exhibits. What they have seen they want to know more about, and the technical drawings of the exhibits show them how to make them," she said.

In the center of the museum, the store is shaped like a geodesic dome, which ties in with the theme, but is inconvenient because there is no place to hang items for display, Mrs. Oppenheimer said.

"It's a struggle with no city support, except giving us the building," Mrs. Oppenheimer explained. "Funding has come from private and national science foundations. Five years is not a long time for a museum, so we operate on a low budget."

Admission is free, although "admission free donations" are encouraged, and the gift shop brings in the only revenue.

The shop could use more volunteers on weekends, Mrs. Oppenheimer said.

Nursery School To Hold Open House On Saturday

An open house for former pupils and a party for parents of current pupils will be held by the San Anselmo Co-operative Nursery School Saturday night.

The open house will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the school, 24 Myrtle Lane, San Anselmo for former pupils of the 20 year old program to view the extensively remodeled school.

The former director for 14 years, Elixabeth Rall, will be on hand to greet the former pupils, who will be served juice and crackers as in their old nursery school days. Cocktails and a buffet will also be served to the adults.

Directors Anne Falkenberg and Katharine Buettner will attend the event.

The parents of current pupils will have a party at 8 p.m. at the Robson Harrington House in San Anselmo, also Saturday. A potluck dinner will be followed by dancing.

New Expectant Parents Series Opens Next Week

A new series of classes for expectant parents will be held by the Education for Childbirth Association beginning next Thursday.

The classes will continue for eight weekly sessions at 7:30 p.m. at the offices of Gunhild Brown, Greenbrae physical therapist. Registered physical therapist Margaret Farley will instruct.

Understanding of the processes of pregnancy and birth and exercises, relaxing and breathing techniques will be stressed. Films on child birth will be shown.

The program is based mainly on the teachings of Grantley Dick-Read and Mabel Lum Fitzhugh but also includes other methods of childbirth training.

Enrollment is made by calling Mrs. Gunhild's office.

ISOBEL MANNING of Belvedere sews the final stitch in the needlepoint rug she took time out from studying for her law school finals to design. The rug will be used to help raise funds for cancer immunology research.

IN BELVEDERE WOMAN'S LIFE

Law Takes A Back Seat To Love

By PAT BALMES

A first-year law student at University of San Francisco and the mother of five children, Mrs. Stevens Manning Jr. of Belvedere took time right before final exams to design a sea shell pattern needlepoint rug.

She did it to help fight cancer. "A frightful thing. More frightful than a more sudden thing," she said.

The rug will be sold tomorrow evening at Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon where the new Marin chapter of Friends of Cancer Immunology will hold its first fund-raiser, an auction and cocktail buffet.

"I had been studying all day and relaxed with the children in the evening while I designed the sea shells," she said. Then she painted them on 15 canvases which were distributed to volunteers.

The needlepointers are Mmes. Florence Eder, John Thornton, Melvin Tyler, William Johnstone, Wallace Boyer, Donald Smith, Frances Haver, Robert Harris, John Dreyfous, Ann Green, Walter Machette, Dolores Mack, Richard Fisher, Arthur Slaymaker, Alfred Matson, William Wright, Manning and Miss Alli Craig.

Isobel Manning learned needlepoint as a child from her mother and grandmother in Paris, where all French girls were taught needlepoint and embroidery in school, she said.

SHE WAS born in Hue, the old imperial capitol city of Annam province of Vietnam, where her father was in the French colonial service. When she was 3, her family returned to Paris.

After World War II her father was awarded the Legion of Honor for his work in the French underground.

"We were not told at the time what he was doing. We were lucky to still have my father," she said.

Hs family name, Surcouf, has always been given to a ship in the French navy. One ancestor, the commander of a privateer, fought the English under Napoleon and another, an admiral, fought the English under Louis IV, she said.

Her father became governor of a province of Laos. He had more of a Peace Corps mentality toward the people he governed, than a typical colonial attitude, she said. He believed strongly in independence and when the French government did not grant it he went into private business, she said.

In 1948 he started the Los Angeles branch of a French import-export business which dealt with companies in Indochina. The family came to Santa Barbara to live near Mrs. Manning's widowed grandmother, Mrs. Franklin Singer.

Isobel Manning's great grandfather, the sewing machine manufacturer Isaac Singer, and her grandfather Franklin Singer both lived in France and England most of their lives, she said.

A SIXTH grader when her family left Paris, Mrs. Manning was placed directly into ninth grade at Dominican Convent in San Rafael. She later attended Dominican College and was graduated from Scripps College.

"When I was young I planned my life up to 40 and having children. Now I realize that at least a quarter of a century is ahead of me," she said adding that her decision for law school was a "cold-blooded assessment."

Mrs. Manning had already worked as a volunteer — Marin chairman of the Junior League's four-year research project on historic homes for its book, "Here Today."

And she worked a year and a half at her husband's stock brokerage firm.

When she announced her interest in law because "it is challenging and stimulating," some men friends, who intended to be helpful, took her out to lunch and told her she would find it dull.

"I love the whole subject, especially contracts," she said.

After graduation she would like to work in something like Legal Aid but not necessarily for the most underprivileged people, she said.

"The poor can go to Legal Aid. Middle income people do not know where to turn. Perhaps it could be something like health insurance," she said.

Mrs. Manning is also concerned about old people's problems with insurance, utility companies and landlords, she said. She chose night classes so she could study during the day while her children Steve, 18; Emilie, 16; Patrick, 15; Paul, 14 and Kim, 10, were in school.

"IT'S A matter of organizing. You can do a lot of studying while waiting at the dentist," she said, adding that there are several other women in her classes, all married and with children.

Her husband is supportive, she said. He reads to the littlest child at night, takes his turn with the children doing the dishes and likes to grocery shop. "He feels shopping is like investing in stock, I think," she said with a laugh.

"I love being a woman and I am not trying to be a man. I am going to spend the entire summer being with the children. I feel I would be a much better mother when I am not being cranky or trying to live the children's lives; they will be gone someday," she said.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Couple Visits Russia, Finland, Sweden

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Davies of Indian Valley Ranch, Novato, have returned from a trip to Russia, Finland and Sweden. They were on a tour with the American Institute of Architects and American Institute of Interior Design.

Elizabeth Davies said she was very impressed with the cleanliness in the countries and the friendship of the Russian people on the tour. They stayed in Leningrad, which Mrs. Davies said was beautiful with the tulips in bloom. In Moscow they saw the ballet and symphony perform at the circus.

A conference for the 130 members on tour was held in Stockholm for three days.

It was perpetual springtime, Mrs. Davies said of the tour. In Russia they spent a day with two young women who are engineers and live 30 miles from Moscow. The Davies were impressed with their home, where they were served a beautiful luncheon and enjoyed seeing tropical plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Terence Sternberg and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Day of Tiburon were also on the tour. Mrs. Sternberg and Mrs. Day, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown, formerly of Belvedere and now residents of New York, were the flower girls when the Davies were married.

BETSY BROMAN of Mill Valley also recently returned from a whirlwind trip to Russia, where she visited Moscow and Leningrad. She was in Leningrad on May Day, which she found was marked with a non-military parade, many bands, children with balloons and lots of flowers. One highlight was visiting the old summer palace near Leningrad. She also attended a performance of the Russian Ballet in an ornate old opera house, completely restored with crystal chandeliers, details of gold leaf and red plush upholstery. This was in contrast to a performance of the opera "Don Carlo," which she witnessed in a super modern building made of glass and steel.

Mrs. Broman made the tour with other Bay Area real estate people, including Marinites James Gallagher, Jerry Newbauer, Alix Porohiles and Mrs. Vance Barnett, all of San Anselmo, James Hendrick and Ralph McClurg of Ross, Mrs. Bernice Andron of Sausalito and Henry Behr of Novato.

ON A tour of the United States since December, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Griffin of Traverse City, Mich., have been visiting at the home of her uncle, Walter D. Kephart in San Anselmo. Griffin is the son of Sen. and Mrs. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

The couple plans to visit the World's Fair in Spokane, Wash., and Yellowstone National Park on their return to Michigan.

Sophisticated Women Set Styles In The Current Sunglass Craze

Who sets sunglass styles so sunglass styles stay set?

The sophisticated woman, that's who. What she approves in higher priced lines is likely to be acquired for the sunglass wardrobe of the average woman about a year later. GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Grounded Daughter Feels Her Father Treated Her Unfairly

RAP:

The other night I was watching TV movies, but when the bad parts came on I went outside to talk to my younger brother and two of his friends. My folks let us stay up for the late, late show on Saturday (with friends).

Well another fella came along, so this made four boys and me. I knew them all well. Nothing happened but talk. But we were having such a good time that before we realized, it was 2 a.m. and Dad roared out to "get inside fast." He said I was a "disgrace."

Now I'm grounded and can't go on a special date with one of these guys next weekend (that we'd planned before).

Helen, when we just sat on the front steps and talked very quietly, disturbing nobody — and my brother was even there —why do I get called bad names like "streetwalker" when my brother isn't even punished? We have done the same thing inside, and Dad wouldn't have said "Boo." — 16-YEAR-OLD DISGRACE"

DEAR "16"

Your Dad is suffering from a common parent disease called, "What will the neighbors think?" That is: had anyone seen his daughter (but not his son!) with four boys at 2 a.m., they might have spread gossip, and he would be disgraced. "Equal rights" don't apply when it comes to parental discipline.

His ruling isn't quite fair, and I hope your mother makes him realize this. — HELEN

DEAR FATHER OF "16"

Where can your daughter get in more trouble? Outside on the porch talking to her brother, or in a dark room watching the late show?

You allow the movie. Why get tight because the kids forgot the time and sat outside until 2 a.m.?

Since you've brought up your daughter to be sensible and trusted, why ground her for what the neighbors might think? — SUE

RAP:

My fiance's family is the problem. His mother called up my mother and told her a bunch of lies. His little sister hates me and spreads rumors. I think she's jealous. I don't want her as my bridesmaid, but I'm stuck with her.

My folks are paying for the wedding, but his Mom does all the bossing. She is a nosy, two-faced liar and has done so many rotten things, I won't talk to her.

My guy and I are beginning to fight, something we've never done before. That makes his Mom real happy as she wants to break us up. He says I'm "unreasonable"!

I'm nervous and upset and the happiness of my wedding is being destroyed. What would you suggest? — THE "SOMETHING BLUE" IS THE BRIDE

BRIDE:

An elopement and a move so far away that families can't affect you. But, of course, this is idealistic. Your husband can't "divorce" his family for you, even though he could change locations. So learn to put up with Mom and Sis, and hope they'll let up on you. Good luck, Baby! — SUE

DEAR BRIDE:

I'll never understand why girls insist on big weddings when they know family conflicts will make them nothing but trouble! Why not save the money and spend it on a honeymoon?

Remember: if you and your in-laws use your husband as the rope in a tug-of-war, he'll snap, and so will your marriage! — HELEN

HIGHER COSTS

Textile Industry's Eye On Fireproofing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Textile people predict that by 1979 most if not all of clothing and home furnishings will meet government standards for flame retardancy.

The price for this safety, however, will be higher costs and some sacrifice in fabric performance for the consumer.

Meanwhile, the consumer could help to protect against burn injuries with a concentrated program to teach both children and adults the commonplace things that cause fires — matches, open fireplaces, heaters, range burners, flammable liquids, cigarette lighters.

"EDUCATION MAY better serve the consumer than the fire retardant regulations," said Dr. George Buck, of the National Cotton Council of America. "We must educate against carelessness, lack of knowledge. Like not tossing gasoline on a barbecue. Yet this is a common practice."

"We need to find out more about the causes of accidents," said Fred Fortess, chairman of the department of textiles, Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science.

Certainly the toll should be cut, no matter what the means. Some 6,200 persons are killed annually by fires and 1.3 million are burned each year by fires at home. Clothing is listed 18th of 30 in the most frequently reported products linked to injury (there is no breakdown on types of clothing).

This toll is compiled from various safety and health sources and contained in "Fabric Flammability: What the Consumer Should Know", a publication of the Textile Industry Product Safety committee.

Buck and other textile men emphasize that there "is no textile industry resistance to fire retardant fabrics. . . it has an obligation to make all its products as safe as it can.

Federal regulations and flame retardancy were discussed recently in a seminar in New York, under TIPS sponsorship. Its members represented all segments, including the cotton, wool and manmade fibers, apparel manufacturers and retailers.

It was Fortess, former member of the national advisory committee for the Flammable Fabrics Act, who forecast that by 1979 most if not all clothing and home furnishings materials would be flame retardant.

FORTESS AND several others on the panel talked of higher costs for the treated fabrics. "We're not likely to see any decline in cost, now at a 25 per cent increase over other fabrics, in the near future," said Fortess. "The testing, samples, destroying samples, keeping records, the chemicals involved, labeling, all will keep prices high."

Fred B. Shippee, director of technical services for the American Apparel Manufacturers Association, concurred in the 25 per cent or more cost of retardant-treated materials.

With increased safety also comes what the consumer gives up, said Shippee—"fibers offering maximum comfort have been virtually eliminated from the marketplace. Fabrics that you preferred are no longer available. Fashion is severely hampered by regulatory restrictions."

Others mentioned the "sacrifice" of ease of care, durability, waterproofing, durable press and the like.

BUT THE industry keeps working on flame retardancy materials that will let fabrics fill the other bills. "I am eagerly waiting fibers with built-in retardant," said Geoffrey Lund, of M. Lowenstein & Sons, Inc., fabric manufacturer.

And while the textile men urged safety education alongside fabric developments, one demonstration of what a retardant can accomplish was worth a thousand words.

Buck struck a match to the hemline of a child's nightgown of treated fabric. The match burned to the end and the garment didn't burn, only browned at the spot.

"You could hold an acetylne torch against it," he said, "and it would be the same."

Off-Beat World Of Fashion Still Booms

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henry Matthew doesn't exactly start those offbeat men's wear fads you see around town these days but he sure keeps them going.

The fads include second hand and faded blue jeans, over-the-shoulder hand bags in leather or canvas, U.S. Marine dress blue jackets and pants, but not worn together, ponchos, denim fatigues and army surplus jackets — some with World War II insignia intact.

MATTHEW, WHO commutes to his lower Broadway office and showroom from Elmont, Long Island, each day, is one of the big dealers in Army and Navy surplus equipment and the armies and navies include those of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Italy, Sweden and — you name it.

His office is a tiny little room jammed with a crowded desk and packing crates on which visitors perch, and his showroom is a huge loft-like room crammed with bales of goods and hung with jackets, surplus English underwear, duffel bags, handbags, camping equipment, WAC skirts, canvas ammunition boxes. . .

Such are the things boutiques are made of and Matthew's showroom is a Mecca for the people who buy things for boutiques and for the Army and Navy stores. These items in turn find their way to the customers and then are a common sight on college campus, in New York's Greenwich Village — or the chic upper East Side.

THE FADED blue jeans are "recycled," meaning they have been cleaned and pressed. A lot of them come from the Salvation Army or Goodwill Industries which waits until hundreds of people donate them and they sell them to Matthew as a job lot.

"The most popular item remains blue denims — fatigues, pants and the like and sometimes matching jackets," Matthew said. "They are manufactured all over and some of the ones we get are used, or you should say "recycled," and they are in good shape.

"In college towns students had rather have a pair of recycled blue jeans than new ones. In the first place they are cheaper than new ones and they have already been broken in. And besides if they bought new ones they would be considered used after a few days."

SOME OF the stuff he gets in has no market at the moment but he mulls it over and if a buyer comes in looking for something unusual for a boutique he points it out. Right now he has a shipment of Italian army bayonets he has not found a use for yet but keeps turning it over in his mind.

"A lot of these items have a lot of value but I must wait for a buyer," he said. He pointed to a vast array of surplus items such as leather and canvas straps with big brass buckles just waiting to be discovered. "Anyway I have an idea what will be in demand and these probably will be when they figure out how to wear them," he said.

ONE BIG fad waiting to be discovered next winter is a huge shipment of great coats made originally for the British Home Guard in World War II. They are double breasted with eight buttons decorated with the British royal crest, are in dark melton cloth and cut with a lot of flair.

And piled up nearby were red British paratroop berets, battle jackets, English Navy pea coats which have been a fad for years, heavy Swedish army mackinaws, big ammunition bags from Sweden and the popular convoy coats worn by the British merchant marine on the North Atlantic.

He stopped to stare at a big stack of thermal underwear —

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Grounded Daughter Feels Her Father Treated Her Unfairly

RAP:

The other night I was watching TV movies, but when the bad parts came on I went outside to talk to my younger brother and two of his friends. My folks let us stay up for the late, late show on Saturday (with friends).

Well another fella came along, so this made four boys and me. I knew them all well. Nothing happened but talk. But we were having such a good time that before we realized, it was 2 a.m. and Dad roared out to "get inside fast." He said I was a "disgrace."

Now I'm grounded and can't go on a special date with one of these guys next weekend (that we'd planned before).

Helen, when we just sat on the front steps and talked very quietly, disturbing nobody — and my brother was even there —why do I get called bad names like "streetwalker" when my brother isn't even punished? We have done the same thing inside, and Dad wouldn't have said "Boo." — 16-YEAR-OLD DISGRACE"

DEAR "16"

Your Dad is suffering from a common parent disease called, "What will the neighbors think?" That is: had anyone seen his daughter (but not his son!) with four boys at 2 a.m., they might have spread gossip, and he would be disgraced. "Equal rights" don't apply when it comes to parental discipline.

His ruling isn't quite fair, and I hope your mother makes him realize this. — HELEN

DEAR FATHER OF "16"

Where can your daughter get in more trouble? Outside on the porch talking to her brother, or in a dark room watching the late show?

You allow the movie. Why get tight because the kids forgot the time and sat outside until 2 a.m.?

Since you've brought up your daughter to be sensible and trusted, why ground her for what the neighbors might think? — SUE

RAP:

My fiance's family is the problem. His mother called up my mother and told her a bunch of lies. His little sister hates me and spreads rumors. I think she's jealous. I don't want her as my bridesmaid, but I'm stuck with her.

My folks are paying for the wedding, but his Mom does all the bossing. She is a nosy, two-faced liar and has done so many rotten things, I won't talk to her.

My guy and I are beginning to fight, something we've never done before. That makes his Mom real happy as she wants to break us up. He says I'm "unreasonable"!

I'm nervous and upset and the happiness of my wedding is being destroyed. What would you suggest? — THE "SOMETHING BLUE" IS THE BRIDE

BRIDE:

An elopement and a move so far away that families can't affect you. But, of course, this is idealistic. Your husband can't "divorce" his family for you, even though he could change locations. So learn to put up with Mom and Sis, and hope they'll let up on you. Good luck, Baby! — SUE

DEAR BRIDE:

I'll never understand why girls insist on big weddings when they know family conflicts will make them nothing but trouble! Why not save the money and spend it on a honeymoon?

Remember: if you and your in-laws use your husband as the rope in a tug-of-war, he'll snap, and so will your marriage! — HELEN

HIGHER COSTS

Textile Industry's Eye On Fireproofing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Textile people predict that by 1979 most if not all of clothing and home furnishings will meet government standards for flame retardancy.

The price for this safety, however, will be higher costs and some sacrifice in fabric performance for the consumer.

Meanwhile, the consumer could help to protect against burn injuries with a concentrated program to teach both children and adults the commonplace things that cause fires — matches, open fireplaces, heaters, range burners, flammable liquids, cigarette lighters.

"EDUCATION MAY better serve the consumer than the fire retardant regulations," said Dr. George Buck, of the National Cotton Council of America. "We must educate against carelessness, lack of knowledge. Like not tossing gasoline on a barbecue. Yet this is a common practice."

"We need to find out more about the causes of accidents," said Fred Fortess, chairman of the department of textiles, Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science.

Certainly the toll should be cut, no matter what the means. Some 6,200 persons are killed annually by fires and 1.3 million are burned each year by fires at home. Clothing is listed 18th of 30 in the most frequently reported products linked to injury (there is no breakdown on types of clothing).

This toll is compiled from various safety and health sources and contained in "Fabric Flammability: What the Consumer Should Know", a publication of the Textile Industry Product Safety committee.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Canada Making Effort To Push Into Fashion World

By MARGARET NESS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TORONTO, Ontario — Any country with a fashion industry must depend on new young designers for future development.

Canada, while not a trend setter, does have a well-entrenched fashion industry in Ontario and Quebec with some manufacturers located in Winnipeg and Vancouver. And Canada has a number of excellent designers. Some, like John Warden and Claire Haddad, have become well known in the U.S. as well.

But new designers must be encouraged and helped. Fashion/Canada was organized in 1970 for that purpose. With Mrs. Lissa Taylor as coordinator, it is a nonprofit organization with a broad working membership from the fashion industry.

One of its first moves was to establish annual scholarships, averaging about $3,000, to graduate students of Canadian fashion design schools or potential designers already employed in the industry. Scholarships are for one year of study abroad at recognized fashion centers.

MARY LIN CHONG
Fashion winner

OF THE SEVEN 1973-74 winners, Toronto's Mary Lin Chong is studying at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York. Her courses include tailoring techniques, flat pattern design, fashion art and designs, industrial organization and management, and fashion marketing and merchandising.

Another winner, Linda Lundstrom, joined the Young Canadian Designers Group after graduation from one of Ontario's design colleges. This group is run by Jean Pierce, a Toronto designer-manufacturer-retailer. Linda then free-lanced as a patternmaker before becoming assistant designer with a Toronto firm. She chose for her scholarship studies St. Martin's School of Art and the Royal College of Art in London and La Chambre Syndicale de la Couture Parisienne in Paris.

Three men have won scholarships. One went to L'Ecole Fleuri de Laporte in Paris for advanced practical courses in men's clothing. His scholarship was renewed, and he spent six months of 1973-74 with Aquascutum in London and plans another six months at Cossini's in Sienna, Italy.

ANOTHER IS Ukraine-born but came to Canada as a boy. He was working for the Maple Leaf Shoe Co. in Montreal. His firm not only sponsored him for a scholarship but paid his salary while he took a footwear course at Ars Sutoria in Milan. He now has returned to his firm.

The third male winner, who also attended Jean Pierce's Group, went on his 1973-74 scholarship for practical experience to work for Hardy Amies, one of the Queen's dressmakers. Nine of his dress designs were included in Amies' spring collection.

Fashion/Canada also realizes that new designers must be helped to find their place in industry. Unfortunately too many manufacturers resist hiring designers. Two difficulties are the concern that the designer's name might become more important than that of the firm, and the possibility of factory disruption by designers inexperienced in mass production.

To help overcome the second obstacle, Fashion-Canada is beginning a training-in-industry program this summer. Through the cooperation of several manufacturers, a limited number of students at the design schools will be placed in factories for 12 weeks so that they may learn firsthand the work and problems involved in mass production.

Vows Are Repeated In Oregon

The First United Methodist Church in Hillsboro, Ore., was the setting for the marriage of Margaret Elizabeth Lund of Forest Grove, Ore., and Jeffrey Moore Downer of Tiburon at a 7 p.m. ceremony May 20.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Clarence Lund of Forest Grove. She has one brother, Charles Lund of Forest Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Downer of Tiburon are the bridegroom's parents. Nancy Downer of Philadelphia, Pa., is his sister.

Katherine Schwab of Portland, Ore., was the maid of honor, with Barbara Coleopy of Ripon, Wis., and Annie Kelsey of Portland, Ore., the bridesmaids.

The bridegroom's brother, Hugh C. Downer Jr. of North Bend, Ore., was the best man. John Dickinson of Los Altos Hills and Joseph Trezza of Martinez, were the ushers.

The reception was given in the church social hall. The couple took a wedding trip to the Olympic Peninsula in Washington.

Margaret was graduated from Aloha High School in Aloha, Ore. Jeffrey is a graduate of San Rafael Military Academy. The bride and bridegroom were both graduated from Pacific University at Forest Grove the day before their wedding.

He recently had a big stack of U.S. Army officer "pinks," the class A uniform of World War II. The pants legs were a bit too roomy for the boutique trade but some South Africans came in and bought up all in stock. Now they are a leading item in South Africa boutiques.

Matthew has a remarkable resemblance to Walter Mathau the actor and he admitted under questioning they were brothers.

Embroidery By Students Shown

Blue denim shirts and pants embroidered by students in Doris Zimplemann's fourth grade class at San Pedro School are on display in the window at Heller's Baby News shop in San Rafael.

The children brought their own garments to school, did their own designs and needlework, according to Diane Levinson, room mother.

Festival For Women To Be Held Saturday

Workshops, discussion sessions and a tongue in cheek "Ms. Marin" contest will highlight a Festival for Women to be held Saturday from noon to 6 p.m. in the College Center of the College of Marin.

The event is sponsored by the college and the College of Marin Women's Collective. Student coordinator is Laura McIntosh, assisted by Sandy Douglass and Annette Roegiers, members of the collective.

Speakers will include Jo Daly of San Francisco, who will discuss women in politics, and author Billie Hobart. Representatives from the Marin Women's Health Collective, the Otherside, Africa Workshop and the United Farm Workers will also speak.

Elsa Gidlow and Rosalie Moore Brown will lead a poetry workshop. Other workshops planned are a guided daydream and oil change demonstration. Also planned are volleyball games, dancing, arts and crafts sales, book sales and live music. Information tables from women's groups, including the college's Emerging Women, will be set up in the college center.

Purpose of the festival, according to Laura McIntosh, is to encompass the many alternatives women have today.

Free child care will be available.

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Heaslip of Belfast, Northern Ireland, announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra to Alexis M. Sill, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Sill of Corte Madera.

An Aug. 24 wedding is planned by the couple.

Sandra is the sister of Mrs. Bob Duncan of Corte Madera and Dorothy and Adrienne Heaslip of Belfast.

The future bridegroom's brother and sister are Igor Sill of Mill Valley and Mrs. Rick Edwards of Grants Pass, Ore. Mrs. Dolores Sill of San Anselmo and Mrs. Angelina Mattos of Brazil are his grandmothers. He attended College of Marin and Golden Gate University in San Francisco. Alexis is employed by United California Bank in San Francisco.

Peacock Branch Of Marin General Elects Officers

Newly installed president of the Peacock branch of Marin General Hospital is M. Harriett Winckler of San Rafael, former corresponding secretary of the branch for two years.

Mrs. Winckler is a three-year member of the group, which raises funds for Marin General Hospital equipment. She also has been active in planning social activities for the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association.

Born in Alton, Ill., she was graduated from Nerin Hall High School in Webster Groves, Mo., and business school in St. Louis. She and her husband, Robert E. Winckler, have lived in Marin since 1964 and are parents of two sons, Paul Stephen, 8, and Mark Edward, 4.

When not busy with the family, Mrs. Winckler enjoys crewel work and other needlework and is learning needlepoint.

The other new branch officers who were installed last week are Mmes. Wilmar Waksuik, vice president; M. Bradley McNear, recording secretary; Boniface Wadors, corresponding secretary, and James M. Fairchild, treasurer.

Petaluman Elevated To A State Post

Betty Davis of the Petaluma Business and Professional Women's Club has been elected state treasurer of the California Federation BPW.

Mrs. Davis is a past president of the Petaluma BPW, past president of the Redwood Empire District BPW, and past political promotion chairman of the California State Federation of BPW clubs.

Awards Are Won At Convention

Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, received two first place awards at the 25th biennial state convention of Catholic Daughters of America.

The convention was held last Wednesday through Sunday.

Certificates, given at the awards banquet, were for a liturgical banner depicting the theme vocations and for the court's participation in vocations programs. They were presented to convention delegate Mrs. Rose Marie Webb, regent (president) of the court by the Rev. Richard Hecht, state chaplain of the Catholic Daughters and Mrs. Lorraine Irving, state chairman of ecumenism.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Canada Making Effort To Push Into Fashion World

By MARGARET NESS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

TORONTO, Ontario — Any country with a fashion industry must depend on new young designers for future development.

Canada, while not a trend setter, does have a well-entrenched fashion industry in Ontario and Quebec with some manufacturers located in Winnipeg and Vancouver. And Candad has a number of excellent designers. Some, like John Warden and Claire Haddad, have become well known in the U.S. as well.

But new designers must be encouraged and helped. Fashion/Canada was organized in 1970 for that purpose. With Mrs. Lissa Taylor as coordinator, it is a nonprofit organization with a broad working membership from the fashion industry.

One of its first moves was to establish annual scholarships, averaging about $3,000, to graduate students of Canadian fashion design schools or potential designers already employed in the industry. Scholarships are for one year of study abroad at recognized fashion centers.

MARY LIN CHONG
Fashion winner

OF THE SEVEN 1973-74 winners, Toronto's Mary Lin Chong is studying at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York. Her courses include tailoring techniques, flat pattern design, fashion art and designs, industrial organization and management, and fashion marketing and merchandising.

Another winner, Linda Lundstrom, joined the Young Canadian Designers Group after graduation from one of Ontario's design colleges. This group is run by Jean Pierce, a Toronto designer-manufacturer-retailer. Linda then free-lanced as a patternmaker before becoming assistant designer with a Toronto firm. She chose for her scholarship studies St. Martin's School of Art and the Royal College of Art in London and La Chambre Syndicale de la Couture Parisienne in Paris.

Three men have won scholarships. One went to L'Ecole Fleuri de Laporte in Paris for advanced practical courses in men's clothing. His scholarship was renewed, and he spent six months of 1973-74 with Aquascutum in London and plans another six months at Cossini's in Sienna, Italy.

ANOTHER IS Ukraine-born but came to Canada as a boy. He was working for the Maple Leaf Shoe Co. in Montreal. His firm not only sponsored him for a scholarship but paid his salary while he took a footwear course at Ars Sutoria in Milan. He now has returned to his firm.

The third male winner, who also attended Jean Pierce's Group, went on his 1973-74 scholarship for practical experience to work for Hardy Amies, one of the Queen's dressmakers. Nine of his dress designs were included in Amies' spring collection.

Fashion/Canada also realizes that new designers must be helped to find their place in industry. Unfortunately too many manufacturers resist hiring designers. Two difficulties are the concern that the designer's name might become more important than that of the firm, and the possibility of factory disruption by designers inexperienced in mass production.

To help overcome the second obstacle, Fashion-Canada is beginning a training-in-industry program this summer. Through the cooperation of several manufacturers, a limited number of students at the design schools will be placed in factories for 12 weeks so that they may learn firsthand the work and problems involved in mass production.

DRAMA REVIEW

Sunshine Theater Makes Gallant Effort In Field

By GERALD GENESE

Children's theater is a neglected and mistreated child of the arts.

It is neglected because it is not taken seriously as an art form, even as Walt Disney's animated cartoons and features were condescendingly viewed for a long time.

Children's theater is mistreated because inexperienced actors are entrusted with roles on the assumption it is easy to play a Dodo Bird.

And they probably assume, if not consciously, that their audiences are less demanding. They are not, because children are not easily duped.

The standards an adult applies in viewing a play: disciplined actors, good stagecraft, imaginative direction and staging, etc., should be applied even more stringently to children's theater. If these standards are neglected one of two things will happen. Children will be turned off theater, or they will develop poor standards to judge plays when they become adults. Neither sitiation is desirable.

With these thoughts in mind and with mixed feelings, having seen some excellent and some very pool children's theater in the Bay Area, I reluctantly accepted an assignment to review the Sunshine Theater's production of William Glennon's, "Hansel and Gretel," at the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth Avenue and H Street.

My total impression was that the company was not ready to be reviewed. The performances were terribly uneven, ranging from very bad to excellent. In the excellent category was Barbara Jeppesen as the witch. Miss Jeppesen seems to be an experienced and disciplined actress who known how to create and sustain a character throughout a performance.

Somewhere in the middle of this range of experience was Karen Whitelaw, who was physically perfect for the part of Gretel, Kathleen Morgan as Hansel and Mark Shepherd as the father. Miss Morgan and Shepard were very casual on state, a nice quality, but not a very good approach when it lacks dramatic tension.

The play itself was a straightforward presentation of the delightful little story of "Hansel and Gretel". What its presentation lacked was imaginative direction.

The company is going in the right direction. It is trying to fill a need — good childrens theater, but is has not filled this need with its current production. Better luck next time.

"HANSEL AND GRETEL" — A one-act play by William Glennon. Directed by Ann Armour Carr for the Sunshine Theater, costumes, Barbara Jeppesen; lighting, Mike Moder and Jeff Peacock; choreography, Karen Whitelaw. The cast: The Bird, Elizabeth Falk; The Gnome, Hal Carstens; The Witch, Barbara Jeppesen; Hansel, Kathleen Morgan; Gretel, Karen Whitelaw; Mother, Sallie Paskow, and Father, Mark Shepard.

College's Holding Summer Signups

Registration for the summer session at Indian Valley Colleges, 720 Ignacio Boulevard, Novato, is now under way and will continue until July 26.

Two sessions of summer school will be held, from June 17 to July 27 and from July 29 to Aug. 30.

Persons may register at the college admissions office, 720 Ignacio Boulevard, weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. and 6:30 and 9:30 p.m.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and TV Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Twelve Chairs" — A hilarious examination of greed done in slapstick style. Jewels sewn into one of 12 chairs create havoc among those trying to trace them.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin County, story is just one night's activities in the lives of four boys. Some suggestive sex scenes and scruffy language.

"Conrack" — Based on true story of white southern teacher using unorthodox methods to awaken a group of near-illiterate black children to education. Well acted, very frank language.

"Day for Night" — Behind the scenes story of making a movie, serio-comic tale about the realities of creating illusions. Sub titles.

"Fantastic Planet" — Extraordinary animated feature about a planet inhabited by giants and little folk draws on basic myths of war and peace. Very sophisticated.

"The Great Gatsby" — A quixotic hero accumulates a fortune for the love of a rich Southern belle and is then destroyed by her carelessness. Elegant 20s trappings relegate characters and story to the background. Some violence.

"Paper Chase" — Serio-comic story about the pressures in the lives of three freshman students at Harvard Law School. Well cast and acted, some sex scenes and profanity.

"Sugarland Express" — Goldie Hawn hijacks a police car to retrieve her baby in a pointless tragicomedy set in Texas. Violence and cursing.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Charley Varrick" — Bank robber flees both police and Mafia, whose spoils he has accidentally plundered. Another anti-hero gets away with his crimes. Sex, violence, chases, etc.

"Cinderella Liberty" — Romantic comedy about a kindhearted sailor who falls in love with a bar-hustler who has a mulatto son. Their affair is a stormy one. Profanity and nudity.

"Devil's Nightmare" — Belgian made. The devils agent entices seven victims who represent the seven deadly sins. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"M-A-S-H" — Satire set during Korean conflict, of the life style of three Army surgeons. Sex, some bloody operating room scenes.

"Papillon" — A long, well-acted but grim movie about the evils of the old French penal system. Very brutal, cursing.

"The Sting" — A pair of cool 1930s con-men set out to ruin a powerful Chicago racketeer. Violence, cursing but good entertainment for the mature.

"Thunderbolt and Lightfoot" — A middle-aged Vietnam War veteran and a roustabout youth team up to get a fortune from a well guarded armory. Sex, violence. (Products Digest)

"Zardoz" — Pretentious fantasy set in 2293. An enterloper trespasses into a strange, woman-dominated communal society based on eternal life, to learn its secrets and destroy it. Much nudity and vilence.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blazing Saddles" — Mel Brooks' bawdy Western travesty has brilliant bits amidst tedious, tasteless stretches. Much cursing.

"Cries and Whispers" — Psychological drama in early 1900s in Sweden explores the fortunes and personalities of two sisters. Nudity and sex.

"Deadly Trackers" — Sheriff turns into a maddened desperado when his family is murdered by vicious bank robbers. Repulsive violence. Film PG rating makes a mockery of the MPAA rating system.

"Devil's Wedding Night" — Horror drama. Twin brothers become ensnared in a castle of black magic. One as consort to devil's sister and the other as a sacrifice to lure brides for the devil. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Easy Rider" — A pair of motorcyclists, after a fast profit from smuggling drugs, attempt to travel in the South. Though peaceful, they are treated brutally because of their appearance. Very violent.

"The Last Picture Show" — An intimate, unsentimental picture of the moral degeneration of a Texas town in the early 50s. Nudity, sex and cursing.

"Magnum Force" — Sequel to "Dirty Harry", his job is to solve a mysterious series of execution type murders of unconvicted criminals. A mixture of voilent, bloody gore, sadistic mayhem and fast action.

"Mark of the Devil" — Sadistic officials conducting a massive crusade to rid the area of witches find perverse pleasure in torturing innocent women. Brutal — violent. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Woodacre Post Office Bids Called

The U. S. Postal Service, San Francisco District, is calling for bids for a new post office in Woodacre, according to Postmaster Marylu Giddings.

Last year, a bid which had been accepted by the service from a Los Angeles contractor for a creekside site was withdrawn when the contractor failed to gain a use permit from county officials.

A new site 150 feet west of the present building on Railroad Avenue has been selected, and a building with 2,304 square feet of interior space is planned.

The postal service will lease the facility from the contractor on a basic term of 10 years with four five-year renewal options.

Bids may be submitted by June 26 to Richard W. Anderson, manager of real estate and buildings, San Francisco District, U.S. Postal Service, Post Office Box 3734, San Francisco, 94119.

Almonte Sanitary Tax Hike Unlikely

The Almonte Sanitary District board is considering a proposed 1974-75 budget of $57,000, about $4,000 higher than the current year's spending plan, according to John J. Crncich, board secretary.

Crncich said the board began reviewing the budget proposal Tuesday and agreed that if present spending estimates remain stable, the district probably will not raise its tax rate above the current 37 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Prisoner Quits Governor Race

THOMASTON, Maine (UPI) — Danny Trask, who apparently found it difficult to conduct a political campaign from behind prison walls, has dropped out of the race for governor of Maine.

Trask, a 36-year-old convicted robber, tried to get 5,000 signatures on petitions so he could run in November under the banner of the Poor Peoples' party. He had said earlier he was having difficulty getting the signatures and had called on several occasions for volunteers on the outside to circulate the petitions.

Trask did not give an official reason for withdrawing in a brief letter to the secretary of state yesterday.

DRAMA REVIEW

Sunshine Theater Makes Gallant Effort In Field

By GERALD GENESE

"HANSEL AND GRETEL" — A one-act play by William Glennon. Directed by Ann Armour Carr for the Sunshine Theater, costumes, Barbara Jeppesen; lighting, Mike Moder and Jeff Peacock; choreography, Karen Whitelaw. The cast: The Bird, Elizabeth Falk; The Gnome, Hal Carstens; The Witch, Barbara Jeppesen; Hansel, Kathleen Morgan; Gretel, Karen Whitelaw; Mother, Sallie Paskow, and Father, Mark Shepard.

Children's theater is a neglected and mistreated child of the arts.

It is neglected because it is not taken seriously as an art form, even as Walt Disney's animated cartoons and features were condescendingly viewed for a long time.

Children's theater is mistreated because inexperienced actors are entrusted with roles on the assumption it is easy to play a Dodo Bird.

And they probably assume, if not consciously, that their audiences are less demanding. They are not, because children are not easily duped.

The standards an adult applies in viewing a play: disciplined actors, good stagecraft, imaginative direction and staging, etc., should be applied even more stringently to children's theater. If these standards are neglected one of two things will happen. Children will be turned off theater, or they will develop poor standards to judge plays when they become adults. Neither sitiation is desirable.

With these thoughts in mind and with mixed feelings, having seen some excellent and some very pool children's theater in the Bay Area, I reluctantly accepted an assignment to review the Sunshine Theater's production of William Glennon's, "Hansel and Gretel," at the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth Avenue and H Street.

My total impression was that the company was not ready to be reviewed. The performances were terribly uneven, ranging from very bad to excellent. In the excellent category was Barbara Jeppesen as the witch. Miss Jeppesen seems to be an experienced and disciplined actress who known how to create and sustain a character throughout a performance.

Somewhere in the middle of this range of experience was Karen Whitelaw, who was physically perfect for the part of Gretel, Kathleen Morgan as Hansel and Mark Shepherd as the father. Miss Morgan and Shepard were very casual on state, a nice quality, but not a very good approach when it lacks dramatic tension.

The play itself was a straightforward presentation of the delightful little story of "Hansel and Gretel". What its presentation lacked was imaginative direction.

The company is going in the right direction. It is trying to fill a need — good childrens theater, but is has not filled this need with its current production. Better luck next time.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and TV Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Twelve Chairs" — A hilarious examination of greed done in slapstick style. Jewels sewn into one of 12 chairs create havoc among those trying to trace them.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin County, story is just one night's activities in the lives of four boys. Some suggestive sex scenes and scruffy language.

"Conrack" — Based on true story of white southern teacher using unorthodox methods to awaken a group of near-illiterate black children to education. Well acted, very frank language.

"Day for Night" — Behind the scenes story of making a movie, serio-comic tale about the realities of creating illusions. Sub titles.

"Fantastic Planet" — Extraordinary animated feature about a planet inhabited by giants and little folk draws on basic myths of war and peace. Very sophisticated.

"The Great Gatsby" — A quixotic hero accumulates a fortune for the love of a rich Southern belle and is then destroyed by her carelessness. Elegant 20s trappings relegate characters and story to the background. Some violence.

"Paper Chase" — Serio-comic story about the pressures in the lives of three freshman students at Harvard Law School. Well cast and acted, some sex scenes and profanity.

"Sugarland Express" — Goldie Hawn hijacks a police car to retrieve her baby in a pointless tragicomedy set in Texas. Violence and cursing.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Charley Varrick" — Bank robber flees both police and Mafia, whose spoils he has accidentally plundered. Another anti-hero gets away with his crimes. Sex, violence, chases, etc.

"Cinderella Liberty" — Romantic comedy about a kindhearted sailor who falls in love with a bar-hustler who has a mulatto son. Their affair is a stormy one. Profanity and nudity.

"Devil's Nightmare" — Belgian made. The devils agent entices seven victims who represent the seven deadly sins. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"M-A-S-H" — Satire set during Korean conflict, of the life style of three Army surgeons. Sex, some bloody operating room scenes.

"Papillon" — A long, well-acted but grim movie about the evils of the old French penal system. Very brutal, cursing.

"The Sting" — A pair of cool 1930s con-men set out to ruin a powerful Chicago racketeer. Violence, cursing but good entertainment for the mature.

"Thunderbolt and Lightfoot" — A middle-aged Vietnam War veteran and a roustabout youth team up to get a fortune from a well guarded armory. Sex, violence. (Products Digest)

"Zardoz" — Pretentious fantasy set in 2293. An enterloper trespasses into a strange, woman-dominated communal society based on eternal life, to learn its secrets and destroy it. Much nudity and vilence.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blazing Saddles" — Mel Brooks' bawdy Western travesty has brilliant bits amidst tedious, tasteless stretches. Much cursing.

"Cries and Whispers" — Psychological drama in early 1900s in Sweden explores the fortunes and personalities of two sisters. Nudity and sex.

"Deadly Trackers" — Sheriff turns into a maddened desperado when his family is murdered by vicious bank robbers. Repulsive violence. Film PG rating makes a mockery of the MPAA rating system.

"Devil's Wedding Night" — Horror drama. Twin brothers become ensnared in a castle of black magic. One as consort to devil's sister and the other as a sacrifice to lure brides for the devil. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Easy Rider" — A pair of motorcyclists, after a fast profit from smuggling drugs, attempt to travel in the South. Though peaceful, they are treated brutally because of their appearance. Very violent.

"The Last Picture Show" — An intimate, unsentimental picture of the moral degeneration of a Texas town in the early 50s. Nudity, sex and cursing.

"Magnum Force" — Sequel to "Dirty Harry", his job is to solve a mysterious series of execution type murders of unconvicted criminals. A mixture of voilent, bloody gore, sadistic mayhem and fast action.

"Mark of the Devil" — Sadistic officials conducting a massive crusade to rid the area of witches find perverse pleasure in torturing innocent women. Brutal — violent. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Almonte Sanitary Tax Hike Unlikely

The Almonte Sanitary District board is considering a proposed 1974-75 budget of $57,000, about $4,000 higher than the current year's spending plan, according to John J. Crncich, board secretary.

Crncich said the board began reviewing the budget proposal Tuesday and agreed that if present spending estimates remain stable, the district probably will not raise its tax rate above the current 37 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Woodacre Post Office Bids Called

The U. S. Postal Service, San Francisco District, is calling for bids for a new post office in Woodacre, according to Postmaster Marylu Giddings.

Last year, a bid which had been accepted by the service from a Los Angeles contractor for a creekside site was withdrawn when the contractor failed to gain a use permit from county officials.

A new site 150 feet west of the present building on Railroad Avenue has been selected, and a building with 2,304 square feet of interior space is planned.

The postal service will lease the facility from the contractor on a basic term of 10 years with four five-year renewal options.

Bids may be submitted by June 26 to Richard W. Anderson, manager of real estate and buildings, San Francisco District, U.S. Postal Service, Post Office Box 3734, San Francisco, 94119.

Prisoner Quits Governor Race

THOMASTON, Maine (UPI) — Danny Trask, who apparently found it difficult to conduct a political campaign from behind prison walls, has dropped out of the race for governor of Maine.

Trask, a 36-year-old convicted robber, tried to get 5,000 signatures on petitions so he could run in November under the banner of the Poor Peoples' party. He had said earlier he was having difficulty getting the signatures and had called on several occasions for volunteers on the outside to circulate the petitions.

Trask did not give an official reason for withdrawing in a brief letter to the secretary of state yesterday.

COMPLEX SATELLITE — NASA's applications technology satellite, the most expensive in history, was launched this morning from Cape Canaveral. The 3,090-pound craft will test a variety of new space communications concepts. It is described as the most complex, versatile and powerful communications research satellite ever developed.

(UPI Telephoto)

Neo-Fascist Raid Leaves One Dead

ROME (UPI) — Police killed one youth and arrested two others today in a gunfight at a Rascino Mountain campsite and arsenal of a neo-Fascist paramilitary organization.

The clash followed nationwide protests over a bombing blamed on right-wing extremists that killed six anti-Fascist demonstrators in the northern Italy city of Brescia.

A four-hour strike to protest the bombing halted work all over Italy yesterday and nearly one million persons demonstrated in more than 40 cities against a resurgence of fascism in the country.

The Carabinieri (National Police) said the three campers opened fire when the three-man patrol surprised them in a wooded area on the mountain northeast of Rome.

One camper was killed and two patrolmen were wounded, one of them critically, police said.

Carabinieri officers said the other two campers were arrested and told police they were members of the Mussolini Action Squad, a neo-Fascist group.

Complex And Costly Satellite Is Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A $205 million satellite designed to bring literacy to India, special education programs to rural America and televised medical care to Alaska was launched into space today at the Kennedy Space Center.

The Applications Technology Satellite 6 (ATS-6) lifted off its launch pad into a clear blue sky at 9 a.m. EDT. Project officials said the launching was flawless.

The satellite, built by Fairchild Industries, is the most expensive unmanned earth satellite ever launched. Cost of the project will be about half the price of a manned mission to the moon.

The huge 3,090 pound satellite is scheduled for positioning in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the Galapagos Islands in the Pacific Ocean during the first year of its operation.

Initial plans for the satellite were experimental educational programs for remote areas of the 48 contiguous states and Alaska. One of the experiments would be "Telemedecine" for the two-thirds of Alaska's communities which have neither highway nor rail contact with the rest of the state. Patients placed before television cameras would be examined via video by medical specialists in cities thousands of miles away.

In May, 1975, the satellite is scheduled to be moved into a stationary orbit over East Africa for use by India for one year in a special educational experiment aimed at reducing illiteracy among one million persons in 5,000 villages, and provide them with health care instruction and agricultural training.

The satellite also will be used as a traffic control center for ships and planes plying the Atlantic Ocean between North America and Europe.

During its first year, when it is over the Pacific Ocean, the 1 1-2 ton satellite also will be used to beam educational TV programs to schools in remote areas of Alabama, Arizona, Alaska, Colorado, Idaho, Maryland, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, Utah, Virginia, and Wyoming.

The satellite was built by Fairchild Industries at a cost of $180 million. Price of its launching was set at $25 million. Various U.S. and Indian gaovernment agencies will spend nearly $50 million over the next two years on programs associated with its operation.

The Morgan Name Means Top Prices

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (UPI) — A large glazed Ming Dynasty pottery figure, estimated by the auctioneer to be worth about $4,000, was sold for $23,000. Two other similar figures were purchased for $22,000 and $18,000.

The items once belonged to the late financier J.P. Morgan, and they were for sale to the highest bidder yesterday in an auction held on the manicured lawn of the 20-acre Morgan estate on Long Island's north shore.

Rolls Royces were parked bumper-to-bumper in the driveway. A vendor hawked hot dogs with sauerkraut.

The spirited bidding occasionaly brought as high as seven times the prices the prestigious Sotheby Parke Bernet galleries had predicted.

"It is the atmosphere, the name of Morgan, a great old name that draws a different type of crowd," said Theodore Beckhart, president of the art exchange in New York City and among the 500 bidders. He bought two 19th century English porcelain dinner sets, each with more than 300 pieces, for $16,000 and $9,000.

Those bidding sat on folding chairs in a circus tent erected on the lawn near the 50-room stone mansion and were handed blue paddles with white numbers. They were told to hold up the paddles when they wished to bid. Bids ranged from 15 dollars to $23,000.

The dealers, the collectors and the curious sifted through porcelain and Chinese works of art.

The four-day auction of 1,199 items will end Saturday.

The mansion itself, built in 1929, and the 20-acre lot, which belong to Louise C. Morgan, widow of the late financier's grandson who died in 1943, also are up for sale. The asking price is $760,000.

$1.1 Million Donated To Flournoy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican Houston I. Flournoy has amassed more than $1.1 million for his gubernatorial campaign, including $100,000 in loans from a former Nixon administration Defense Department official.

Flournoy, who as state controller is chairman of the commission which has jurisdiction over offshore oil drilling in state waters, yesterday reported he received $1,200 from Standard Oil and numerous donations of $100 or less from individuals associated with the oil industry.

The complete campaign finance statements of the three Democratic gubernatorial frontrunners—Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto—were not on file with the secretary of state's office yesterday.

According to documents filed with Brown's office, Flournoy received $10,000 from firms closely associated with Holmes Tuttle, a Los Angeles automobile dealer and major supporter of Gov. Ronald Reagan. State Finance Director Verne Orr chipped in $100.

Industrialist David Packard, former deputy secretary of defense, made the big loans to the Flournoy campaign. He also is a key Flournoy fundraiser.

Flournoy's contributors also included three members of the state Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board who would be subject to reappointment by the next governor.

They are Hale Ashcraft, who gave $400; Robert Sigg, who also gave $400; and Roy Wonder, who contributed $100. Their terms will expire while the next governor is in office.

The campaign finance statements of Flournoy's major opponent in next Tuesday's primary election, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, were not on file with the secretary of state's office.

Lawrence Sheehy, Reinecke's campaign treasurer, said in a letter to Brown that the statements were not ready by the May 28 deadline and would be filed by Friday.

However, Reinecke has had great difficulty in raising funds since he was indicted for lying to a U.S. Senate committee.

Millionaire William Matson Roth, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, reported receiving $1.3 million in his campaign. His mother, Lurline, gave $250,000 while he loaned his campaign $875,000.

Another Democratic candidate, Rep. Jerome Waldie of Antioch, had contributions of $563,000.

Los Angeles County Supervisor Baxter Ward, another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, reported contributions of $11,344 for his campaign.

Brown said if the reports are sent by registered mail and postmarked before midnight May 28, they will meet the requirements of the law.

Senate Approves Nuclear Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate panel has unanimously approved and sent to the floor a bill to replace the Atomic Energy Commission with two new agencies and establish stronger safeguards against nuclear terrorism.

The measure, adopted yesterday by the Government Operations Committee, would abolish AEC and split its functions.

COMPLEX SATELLITE — NASA's applications technology satellite, the most expensive in history, was launched this morning from Cape Canaveral. The 3,090-pound craft will test a variety of new space communications concepts. It is described as the most complex, versatile and powerful communications research satellite ever developed.

Neo-Fascist Raid Leaves One Dead

ROME (UPI) — Police killed one youth and arrested two others today in a gunfight at a Rascino Mountain campsite and arsenal of a neo-Fascist paramilitary organization.

The clash followed nationwide protests over a bombing blamed on right-wing extremists that killed six anti-Fascist demonstrators in the northern Italy city of Brescia.

A four-hour strike to protest the bombing halted work all over Italy yesterday and nearly one million persons demonstrated in more than 40 cities against a resurgence of fascism in the country.

The Carabinieri (National Police) said the three campers opened fire when the three-man patrol surprised them in a wooded area on the mountain northeast of Rome.

One camper was killed and two patrolmen were wounded, one of them critically, police said.

Carabinieri officers said the other two campers were arrested and told police they were members of the Mussolini Action Squad, a neo-Fascist group.

Complex And Costly Satellite Is Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A $205 million satellite designed to bring literacy to India, special education programs to rural America and televised medical care to Alaska was launched into space today at the Kennedy Space Center.

The Applications Technology Satellite 6 (ATS-6) lifted off its launch pad into a clear blue sky at 9 a.m. EDT. Project officials said the launching was flawless.

The satellite, built by Fairchild Industries, is the most expensive unmanned earth satellite ever launched. Cost of the project will be about half the price of a manned mission to the moon.

The huge 3,090 pound satellite is scheduled for positioning in stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the Galapagos Islands in the Pacific Ocean during the first year of its operation.

County's Budget Contains Increases In Every Area

The $51.3 million Marin County budget proposed by County Administrator John F. Barrows shows marked increases in every department. (Another county budget story, page 1.)

The bulk of the $800,000 increase over the current budget is caused by projected salary and fringe benefit increases and an increase in the total number of county employees.

This year's budget showed 1,534 employees at the start of the fiscal year. That number grew to 1,546 by February. Barrows' proposed budget shows 1,562 employees.

Salary figures are not precise since the county is now negotiating raises with employee unions and associations. They have reportedly asked for a 15 per cent cost-of-living hike.

A breakdown of the proposed budget (compared to this year's allocations in parenthesis) shows:

Board of supervisors, $284,474 ($233,214); assessment appeals board, $27,487 ($24,185); county administrator, $188,908 ($153,282); auditor-controller, $598,622 ($543,601); treasurer-tax collector, $363,634 ($345,401); assessor, $1,281,798 ($1,147,992).

Purchasing, $91,906, ($67,813); county counsel, $321,778 ($293,975); personnel, $223,895 ($180,720); manpower programs, $472,753 ($360,074); elections office, $519,858 ($381,803); communications, $676,160 ($617,066); building maintenance, $1,161,986 ($1,031,883); vehicle acquisition, $248,703 (new budget); capital improvements, $3,060,810 ($4,130,102).

Library site acquisition, $150,000 (new budget); economic development $95,250 ($83,000); county fair, $105,768 ($86,966); veterans memorial building, $242,649 ($232,833); central services, $13,550 ($355); data processing, $575,967 ($311,930); insurance, $295,248 ($1,570,800).

Courses On Tape

CHICAGO (UPI) — Men and women now can earn college credit, prepare for the equivalent of a high school diploma or for college credit by examination — or take a college course just for enrichment through the "Study Unlimited Program" in Chicago.

Muslims' Trial Moves To Store

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trial of four Black Muslims accused of taking hostages and waging a gunbattle with police moved into Joe and Al's Sporting Goods store yesterday, the place where the three-day siege took place in January, 1973.

A day after the trial got under way, Judge Hyman Barshay ordered proceedings shifted to the store so the jurors could familiarize themselves with the layout of the three-story building where the shootout occurred.

It began Jan. 19 when four armed men attempted a holdup but were surprised by police. A gunbattle erupted. Three policemen were shot, including one who was killed. The bandits took refuge in the building, holding customers and store personnel as hostages.

FBI Agent Escapes Indian Supporters

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Supporters of American Indian Movement leaders Russell Means and Dennis Banks surrounded the federal courthouse yesterday in an effort to "arrest" an FBI agent who escaped through connecting skyways.

The agent, who had testified in the Wounded Knee trial against Means and Banks, fled through the passages connecting courthouse buildings, as fellow agents scuffled with AIM supporters. One Indian was knocked to the ground.

The FBI would not comment on the incident but Banks, charged along with Means with 10 felonies in connection with the Wounded Knee takeover, did.

"We're planning to ask for a fugitive warrant for unlawful flight," said Banks. "We're also going to subpoena him," he said of the agent, Gerald Bertinot.

"We've issued an order to arrest all FBI agents that commit acts of perjury during the Wounded Knee trial or who intend to intimidate, harass, injure or maim in any way any Indian person that we intend to call as witness," Banks said.

Bertinot had testified that he was one of several agents who used a telephone on a road block to overhear conversations by occupants of Wounded Knee, S.D., during last year's occupation.

At the end of the testimony, Banks and Means, granted permission to question trial witnesses, attempted to make a citizens arrest, charging Bertinot with violating the federal wire tap law.

U.S. District Court Judge Fred Nichol, hearing the case, had other ideas.

"No one is arrested in the court room except by order of the court," Nichol said.

"We immediately recessed court," Banks said. "Outside another attempt was made to place him under citizens arrest after we notified St. Paul police."

Earlier yesterday, Nichol warned chief prosecutor R.D. Hurd that the charge against Means and Banks of illegal possession of Molotov cocktails may be dismissed unless the prosecution can show a connection between the defendants and the firebombs.

The Molotov cocktails were found in a car which was searched at a road block near Wounded Knee March 6, 1973. Banks and Means were not among the car's four occupants.

The charge is one of 10 against the two AIM leaders.

Corporate Tax Is Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has suggested a minimum tax on the foreign income of American corporations.

Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, told the committee staff yesterday to draft a proposal for possible inclusion in the general tax reform bill now being written by the committee.

TOYOTA

Introducing the Toyota-Chinook Round Tripper.

It takes you just about anywhere within a 120 mile radius and back again! On one 13.7 gal. tank of gas.

That's something you wouldn't expect from a bigger camping vehicle. But this one gets over 19 miles per gallon! (Tests, verified by an independent testing laboratory, were conducted over mountain roads, city streets and freeways in Southern California.)

Yet, you still get the basics you expect in the bigger vehicles. Like a sink. A dinette. An ice box. Carpeting. And a couple of beds.

*Distances were measured, according to the AAA, from city hall to city hall by the most direct route. Actual gas mileage, of course, depends on personal driving habits and road conditions.

It's fully integrated, too. Just walk back through the cab and pop up the top for over six feet of headroom.

The Long Bed 2000 Half-Ton truck, the solid foundation the Round Tripper is built on, was chosen "1974 Pickup Truck of the Year" by Pickup, Van and 4-Wheel Drive magazine. Its bed is almost a foot longer than any other truck in its class. You get a powerful 1968cc engine, standard. A 4-speed transmission. Biggest tires in its class. Big cab (4 inches more legroom than last year). And much more.

County's Budget Contains Increases In Every Area

The $51.3 million Marin County budget proposed by County Administrator John F. Barrows shows marked increases in every department. (Another county budget story, page 1.)

The bulk of the $800,000 increase over the current budget is caused by projected salary and fringe benefit increases and an increase in the total number of county employees.

This year's budget showed 1,534 employees at the start of the fiscal year. That number grew to 1,546 by February. Barrows' proposed budget shows 1,562 employees.

Salary figures are not precise since the county is now negotiating raises with employee unions and associations. They have reportedly asked for a 15 per cent cost-of-living hike.

A breakdown of the proposed budget (compared to this year's allocations in parenthesis) shows:

Board of supervisors, $284,474 ($233,214); assessment appeals board, $27,487 ($24,185); county administrator, $188,908 ($153,-282); auditor-controller, $598,622 ($543,601); treasurer-tax collector, $363,634 ($345,401); assessor, $1,281,798 ($1,147,992).

Purchasing, $91,906, ($67,813); county counsel, $321,778 ($293,-975); personnel, $223,895 ($180,-720); manpower programs, $472,753 ($360,074); elections office, $519,858 ($381,803); communications, $676,160 ($617,066); building maintenance, $1,161,-986 ($1,031,883); vehicle acquisition, $248,703 (new budget); capital improvements, $3,060,810 ($4,130,102).

Library site acquisition, $150,-000 (new budget); economic development $95,250 ($83,000); county fair, $105,768 ($86,966); veterans memorial building, $242,649 ($232,833); central services, $13,550 ($355); data processing, $575,967 ($311,930); insurance, $295,248 ($1,570,800).

Muslims' Trial Moves To Store

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trial of four Black Muslims accused of taking hostages and waging a gunbattle with police moved into Joe and Al's Sporting Goods store yesterday, the place where the three-day siege took place in January, 1973.

A day after the trial got under way, Judge Hyman Barshay ordered proceedings shifted to the store so the jurors could familiarize themselves with the layout of the three-story building where the shoot-out occurred.

It began Jan. 19 when four armed men attempted a holdup but were surprised by police. A gunbattle erupted. Three policemen were shot, including one who was killed. The bandits took refuge in the building, holding customers and store personnel as hostages.

FBI Agent Escapes Indian Supporters

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Supporters of American Indian Movement leaders Russell Means and Dennis Banks surrounded the federal courthouse yesterday in an effort to "arrest" an FBI agent who escaped through connecting skyways.

The agent, who had testified in the Wounded Knee trial against Means and Banks, fled through the passages connecting courthouse buildings, as fellow agents scuffled with AIM supporters. One Indian was knocked to the ground.

The FBI would not comment on the incident but Banks, charged along with Means with 10 felonies in connection with the Wounded Knee takeover, did.

"We're planning to ask for a fugitive warrant for unlawful flight," said Banks. "We're also going to subpoena him," he said of the agent, Gerald Bertinot.

"We've issued an order to arrest all FBI agents that commit acts of perjury during the Wounded Knee trial or who intend to intimidate, harass, injure or maim in any way any Indian person that we intend to call as witness," Banks said.

Bertinot had testified that he was one of several agents who used a telephone on a road block to overhear conversations by occupants of Wounded Knee, S.D., during last year's occupation.

At the end of the testimony, Banks and Means, granted permission to question trial witnesses, attempted to make a citizens arrest, charging Bertinot with violating the federal wire tap law.

U.S. District Court Judge Fred Nichol, hearing the case, had other ideas.

"No one is arrested in the court room except by order of the court," Nichol said.

"We immediately recessed court," Banks said. "Outside another attempt was made to place him under citizens arrest after we notified St. Paul police."

Earlier yesterday, Nichol warned chief prosecutor R.D. Hurd that the charge against Means and Banks of illegal possession of Molotov cocktails may be dismissed unless the prosecution can show a connection between the defendants and the firebombs.

The Molotov cocktails were found in a car which was searched at a road block near Wounded Knee March 6, 1973. Banks and Means were not among the car's four occupants.

The charge is one of 10 against the two AIM leaders.

Corporate Tax Is Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has suggested a minimum tax on the foreign income of American corporations.

Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, told the committee staff yesterday to draft a proposal for possible inclusion in the general tax reform bill now being written by the committee.

Too Early For College Choice

Although University of San Diego publicists are already sending out releases announcing the acceptance of two more of Marin County's top prep basketball players, it's a premature announcement as far as one of the players is concerned.

DARRELL ELDER

San Diego basketball coach Jim Brovelli is expecting to get two of Redwood High School's starting team in Darrell Elder, a 6-foot-7 forward, and Neil Hennessy, a 6-foot-1 guard.

Brovelli has found Marin County to be a well of talent. He's already got two Marin County players on his team in center Neil Traub and guard Joe DeMaestri, and the year before had Joe Smith. All three played at College of Marin. Jared McFerrin, College of Marin guard last season, has sent in his letter of intent and will be trying for a starting spot next fall. Now comes announcement that Elder and Hennessy will be on the U. San Diego basketball team. But for Elder that's a big maybe.

Darrell has track and field on his mind right now. Elder, you see, isn't just a one-sport man. He currently ranks as the second best prep discus thrower in the nation, his latest heave of 194 feet, 2 inches being surpassed only by Vacaville High's Ray Burton who has reached 201 feet, 6 inches.

How well Elder does at the state meet this weekend in Bakersfield and how well he does in two weeks at a national invitational meet in Sacramento will help him decide on his college plans.

"I'VE SIGNED A scholarship agreement at San Diego," Elder said, but added that it is not binding. If he decides on another school the agreement form will be nothing but a scrap of paper.

The problem, you see, is that University of San Diego has a successful basketball program but does nothing in track and field.

"If I decide to play basketball I'll go to San Diego," Elder said, "but I'm waiting for the end of track season. I've been thinking about track lately."

HE WILL NOT TRY to be a two-sport man in college so when he does choose a college it will be for just one sport. "I want to work on one sport all the time."

In addition to the discus, Elder has a chance to win a medal in the shot put at the state meet. He has done 59 feet, 11 inches and feels he will place if he gets into the 60-foot area.

Before the track and field season began Elder thought his best sport was basketball but now that he is improving every week in his weight events he has second thoughts. Now it comes down to which would be his best scholarship offer. "If I don't get a better offer I'll go to University of San Diego."

ELDER IS A 230-POUND athlete who lives in Marin City and since his father, a construction worker, is disabled because of a bad back it is very unlikely he would have gotten the opportunity at a college education. Fortunately his super athletic skills are giving him a chance to get that education.

But he's got a little discus throwing and shot putting to do before his decision comes. Watch out for those 200 and 60-foot barriers. Elder's ready to break them.

Honors Wednesday For 16 Prep Stars

Sixteen high school stars from Marin will be honored next Wednesday at the KTIM-Independent Journal Outstanding Athleties Awards Banquet at Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

The banquet, held for the 16th year, is being co-sponsored by the Independent-Journal for the first time. Guest speaker will be San Francisco Giants catcher John Boccabella, who was honored at the first banquet in 1959 while attending Marin Catholic High School.

Two athletes from each of the eight Marin County Athletic League schools were chosen by their athletic departments.

They are Terry Kom and Hal Wood of San Marin High, George Cagle and Ken Straw of Novato, Steve D'Ambra and Mike Farris of San Rafael, Bruce Bollen and Mark Egide of Terra Linda, Dan Trimble and Warren Pino of Dake, Len Kristensen and Jim Schneider of Marin Catholic, Alvin Hall and Fred Adams of Tamalpais and John Troppmann and Tom Schindler of Redwood.

Master of ceremonies will be Bob Dinsmore, station manager of KTIM radio. Special guests will include MCAL commissioner George Corson, Marin County Supt. of Schools Dr. Virgil Hollis, and I-J Sports Editor Ralph Chatoian.

The banquet, starting at 7 p.m., is open to the public. Reservations cost $8, including tax and tip, and may be made by phoning KTIM.

49er Rookie QB Hurt While Handing Off

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A missed handoff at the San Francisco 49er rookie camp landed a rookie quarterback in the hospital.

Ted Owens, 13th round pick from Wichita, was trying to give the ball to top draft pick Wilbur Jackson Tuesday when the two collided. Jackson's elbow caught Owens in the mouth, fractured a bone, and took out a tooth.

"He took a pretty good crack," said Coach Dick Nolan.

But Owen spent the night in the hospital and was back on the practice field yesterday with his jaw wired.

Day Off Irks Bando After Regaining Batting Touch

OAKLAND (UPI) — Sal Bando is unhappy the Oakland A's have a day off today after getting back in a hitting groove as his club beat the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

Bando, captain of the world champions, had three singles and drove in two runs while Ken Holtzman, now 5-6, stopped Detroit on just five hits and retired 20 of the last 21 men he faced last night.

"That was Kenny's best start of the season," said Bando. "He's been having a few problems but I haven't been worried about him. Kenny's a pro. It was just a question of when he'd put it all together.

Bando has not been able to put it all together himself since being injured on the right calf when hit by a pitch May 5. The third baseman finally returned to the lineup last weekend but didn't feel comfortable at the plate until last night.

"I had to get my coordination back, get the bat around quicker," he said. "I'm sure sorry we aren't playing again Thursday cause I feel like I can just keep going up there at the plate."

The A's, now with a 1 ½-game lead in the American League West, open a three-game series with Milwaukee here tomorrow night. Undefeated southpaw Dave Hamilton (3-0) will work for Oakland against rookie sensation Kevin Kobel (3-2).

(See A's box score on inside page.)

Goolagong, Connors Sue French Group

PARIS (UPI) — Lawyers for Evonne Goolagong and Jimmy Connors have brought a civil action against the French Tennis Federation demanding the two players be allowed to participate in the French Open championships starting Monday, court officials said today.

The case will be presented by advocates Robert Badinter and Bernard Jouanneau to Judge Pierre Regnault Friday.

The French Federation banned the Australian girl and Connors, from Belleville, Ill., from the two-week tournament because they play for the professional World Team Tennis. The French Federation also said their entries were not received by the closing deadline, although this is contested by agents for Goolagong and Connors.

Earlier in the year, the French Federation had announced anyone signing with

FOR CORSON

Some Satisfaction After 38 Years

By LEW CODDINGTON

George Corson is a satisfied man, pleased at what he has been able to accomplish in 38 years of teaching and coaching, and happy that his contribution hasn't ended yet.

Corson, 63, will retire as Dean of Boys at Drake High School June 28, but he will continue to work as Commissioner of the Marin County Athletic League, his raspy voice asking questions and handing out edicts by phone from the basement office of his San Anselmo home.

"Just being able to work with people," is what Corson feels is the greatest accomplishment of his long career. And he has done that at several schools in a wide variety of roles.

Things have changed drastically since Corson started teaching American government and world history at Analy High in Sebastopol in 1936. For the most part, Corson has greeted those changes enthusiastically.

"We have many more sports now than we had, and many more teams in the same sport," he said. "For example, you used to have just varisty baseball, but now you have junior varsity and freshman as well. You used to have just varsity and 'B' basketball, but now you also have J.V., 'C' and frosh.

"It's a good thing. I've always been in favor of as many teams as we could support with finances and coaches. It gets more people participating."

Corson has overseen most of this tremendous growth since becoming MCAL commissioner in 1962. He filled the unexpired term of Victor Jones of San Rafael High, who died of a heart attack, and has been selected again each year since then.

GEORGE CORSON
Happy man

As commissioner, he oversees correspondence, finances, and public relations; helps with scheduling of games and officials; represents the league in meetings with various other organizations; and advises the Board of Managers (principals), which makes the fundamental decisions.

Corson was director of athletics at Drake from the school's opening in 1951 until 1970, before yielding the job to Carl (Red) Brown. He taught physical education until 1972 before becoming dean.

He coached football, basketball and baseball at various levels during his career, winning three varsity baseball championships at Tamalpais High during the late 1940s, when the school was in the North Bay League.

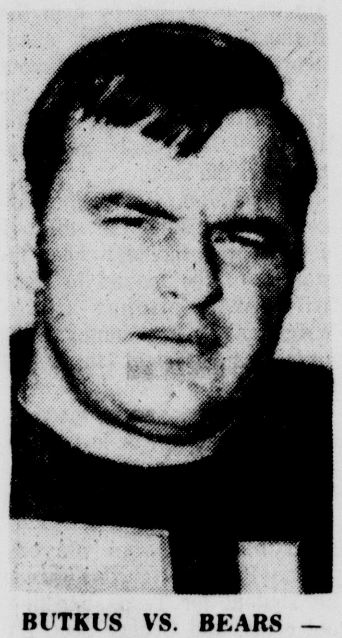
Corson was at Tam from 1942-51, with about three years out when he was commanding officer of a minesweeper in the Pacific Ocean during World War II. He was at Analy from 1936-42.

Retirement is giving Corson a chance to do some things he has been putting off. Travel is one. He and his wife of 37 years, Ruth, went to Europe in 1960-61 but missed Great Britain and Scandanavia and may go back soon.

Corson also plans to go deer and duck hunting in the fall, which must come as a surprise to those who saw him on crutches last month. But a recent tendon transplant operation on his right foot was successful, and he is steadily regaining its use.

"I was helping an injured boy in October, 1962, at a Terra Linda-Drake football game, when three players came over the bench and landed on my back, injuring some nerves in my back and leg." Ever since, he has had trouble moving the foot.

The injury made no dent on his love of athletics. "I believe sports are a good thing," he said. "They've been my life. There are values in playing and trying to win, and in the associations you make with team members and coaches."



BUTKUS VS. BEARS — Former Chicago Bears linebacker Dick Butkus yesterday sued the National Football League club for $1.6 million in damages, claiming breach of a five-year contract. It was charged in the suit that Bear management did not provide Butkus with medical-hospital care promised in a contract he signed last July 13.

Lacrosse Results

Gary Pearce scored seven goals and added one assist yesterday to lead San Rafael Parks and Recreation (1-6-1) to its first Ira Markwett Junior Lacrosse victory of the year, a 10-5 conquest of Novato Parks and Recreation (5-4) at Hill Junior High in Novato.

Moffitt Inflicts 'Sinking' Feeling

CHICAGO (UPI) — If the Chicago Cubs have that "sinking" feeling, blame it on San Francisco relief ace Randy Moffitt.

The 25-year-old Giants right-hander dealt a devastating blow to both the Cubs' offense and morale yesterday by helping stave off a late inning rally and preserving a 5-4 decision for John D'Acquisto.

Moffitt recorded his 11th save although it appeared he was doing everything to help the Cubs win. But in the end, it was his side arm sinker that left the Cubs helpless by leaving five men on base in the two innings he worked.

Moffitt, who last night relaxed by watching his sister, Billie Jean King, win in a World Team Tennis match, appeared just as cool on the mound in the ninth when the Cubs collected three straight hits to load the bases with none out.

"After the first two Cubs reached," Moffitt said, "Rick Monday laid down a perfect bunt along the third base line. Dave Rader, my catcher, hollered third base. I picked up the ball and looked up and saw Billy Williams nearing the base.

"I knew I couldn't get Monday at first, so I just held on to the ball. I really never thought that the Cubs were going to score though. I have to talk that way because if I don't have confidence, I might as well give up."

The next two batters hit ground balls to the infield and Cub runners were retired at the plate. The last out was an easy pop-up.

According to Moffitt it's not a bad feeling to know he's the bullpen ace. In fact, he says the relief pitcher is coming into his own and from some of the salaries being paid Sparky Lyle of the Yankees and Dave Guisti of Pittsburgh, Moffitt has a very bright outlook.

Too Early For College Choice

Although University of San Diego publicists are already sending out releases announcing the acceptance of two more of Marin County's top prep basketball players, it's a premature announcement as far as one of the players is concerned.

DARRELL ELDER

San Diego basketball coach Jim Brovelli is expecting to get two of Redwood High School's starting team in Darrell Elder, a 6-foot-7 forward, and Neil Hennessy, a 6-foot-1 guard.

Brovelli has found Marin County to be a well of talent. He's already got two Marin County players on his team in center Neil Traub and guard Joe DeMaestri, and the year before had Joe Smith. All three played at College of Marin. Jared McFerrin, College of Marin guard last season, has sent in his letter of intent and will be trying for a starting spot next fall. Now comes announcement that Elder and Hennessy will be on the U. San Diego basketball team. But for Elder that's a big maybe.

Darrell has track and field on his mind right now. Elder, you see, isn't just a one-sport man. He currently ranks as the second best prep discus thrower in the nation, his latest heave of 194 feet, 2 inches being surpassed only by Vacaville High's Ray Burton who has reached 201 feet, 6 inches.

How well Elder does at the state meet this weekend in Bakersfield and how well he does in two weeks at a national invitational meet in Sacramento will help him decide on his college plans.

"I'VE SIGNED A scholarship agreement at San Diego," Elder said, but added that it is not binding. If he decides on another school the agreement form will be nothing but a scrap of paper.

The problem, you see, is that University of San Diego has a successful basketball program but does nothing in track and field.

"If I decide to play basketball I'll go to San Diego," Elder said, "but I'm waiting for the end of track season. I've been thinking about track lately."

HE WILL NOT TRY to be a two-sport man in college so when he does choose a college it will be for just one sport. "I want to work on one sport all the time."

In addition to the discus, Elder has a chance to win a medal in the shot put at the state meet. He has done 59 feet, 11 inches and feels he will place if he gets into the 60-foot area.

Before the track and field season began Elder thought his best sport was basketball but now that he is improving every week in his weight events he has second thoughts. Now it comes down to which would be his best scholarship offer. "If I don't get a better offer I'll go to University of San Diego."

ELDER IS A 230-POUND athlete who lives in Marin City and since his father, a construction worker, is disabled because of a bad back it is very unlikely he would have gotten the opportunity at a college education. Fortunately his super athletic skills are giving him a chance to get that education.

But he's got a little discus throwing and shot putting to do before his decision comes. Watch out for those 200 and 60-foot barriers. Elder's ready to break them.

Honors Wednesday For 16 Prep Stars

Sixteen high school stars from Marin will be honored next Wednesday at the KTIM-Independent Journal Outstanding Athleties Awards Banquet at Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

The banquet, held for the 16th year, is being co-sponsored by the Independent-Journal for the first time. Guest speaker will be San Francisco Giants catcher John Boccabella, who was honored at the first banquet in 1959 while attending Marin Catholic High School.

Two athletes from each of the eight Marin County Athletic League schools were chosen by their athletic departments.

They are Terry Kom and Hal Wood of San Marin High, George Cagle and Ken Straw of Novato, Steve D'Ambra and Mike Farris of San Rafael, Bruce Bollen and Mark Egide of Terra Linda, Dan Trimble and Warren Pino of Dake, Len Kristensen and Jim Schneider of Marin Catholic, Alvin Hall and Fred Adams of Tamalpais and John Troppmann and Tom Schindler of Redwood.

Master of ceremonies will be Bob Dinsmore, station manager of KTIM radio. Special guests will include MCAL commissioner George Corson, Marin County Supt. of Schools Dr. Virgil Hollis, and I-J Sports Editor Ralph Chatoian.

The banquet, starting at 7 p.m., is open to the public. Reservations cost $8, including tax and tip, and may be made by phoning KTIM.

49er Rookie QB Hurt While Handing Off

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A missed handoff at the San Francisco 49er rookie camp landed a rookie quarterback in the hospital.

Ted Owens, 13th round pick from Wichita, was trying to give the ball to top draft pick Wilbur Jackson Tuesday when the two collided. Jackson's elbow caught Owens in the mouth, fractured a bone, and took out a tooth.

"He took a pretty good crack," said Coach Dick Nolan.

But Owen spent the night in the hospital and was back on the practice field yesterday with his jaw wired.

Day Off Irks Bando After Regaining Batting Touch

OAKLAND (UPI) — Sal Bando is unhappy the Oakland A's have a day off today after getting back in a hitting groove as his club beat the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

Bando, captain of the world champions, had three singles and drove in two runs while Ken Holtzman, now 5-6, stopped Detroit on just five hits and retired 20 of the last 21 men he faced last night.

"That was Kenny's best start of the season," said Bando. "He's been having a few problems but I haven't been worried about him. Kenny's a pro. It was just a question of when he'd put it all together.

Bando has not been able to put it all together himself since being injured on the right calf when hit by a pitch May 5. The third baseman finally returned to the lineup last weekend but didn't feel comfortable at the plate until last night.

"I had to get my coordination back, get the bat around quicker," he said. "I'm sure sorry we aren't playing again Thursday cause I feel like I can just keep going up there at the plate."

The A's, now with a 1 ½-game lead in the American League West, open a three-game series with Milwaukee here tomorrow night. Undefeated southpaw Dave Hamilton (3-0) will work for Oakland against rookie sensation Kevin Kobel (3-2).

Goolagong, Connors Sue French Group

PARIS (UPI) — Lawyers for Evonne Goolagong and Jimmy Connors have brought a civil action against the French Tennis Federation demanding the two players be allowed to participate in the French Open championships starting Monday, court officials said today.

The case will be presented by advocates Robert Badinter and Bernard Jouanneau to Judge Pierre Regnault Friday.

The French Federation banned the Australian girl and Connors, from Belleville, Ill., from the two-week tournament because they play for the professional World Team Tennis. The French Federation also said their entries were not received by the closing deadline, although this is contested by agents for Goolagong and Connors.

Earlier in the year, the French Federation had announced anyone signing with

FOR CORSON

Some Satisfaction After 38 Years

By LEW CODDINGTON

George Corson is a satisfied man, pleased at what he has been able to accomplish in 38 years of teaching and coaching, and happy that his contribution hasn't ended yet.

Corson, 63, will retire as Dean of Boys at Drake High School June 28, but he will continue to work as Commissioner of the Marin County Athletic League, his raspy voice asking questions and handing out edicts by phone from the basement office of his San Anselmo home.

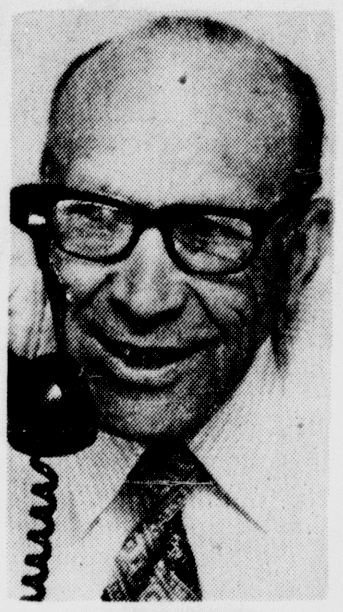
"Just being able to work with people," is what Corson feels is the greatest accomplishment of his long career. And he has done that at several schools in a wide variety of roles.

Things have changed drastically since Corson started teaching American government and world history at Analy High in Sebastopol in 1936. For the most part, Corson has greeted those changes enthusiastically.

"We have many more sports now than we had, and many more teams in the same sport," he said. "For example, you used to have just varisty baseball, but now you have junior varsity and freshman as well. You used to have just varsity and 'B' basketball, but now you also have J.V., 'C' and frosh.

"It's a good thing. I've always been in favor of as many teams as we could support with finances and coaches. It gets more people participating."

Corson has overseen most of this tremendous growth since becoming MCAL commissioner in 1962. He filled the unexpired term of Victor Jones of San Rafael High, who died of a heart attack, and has been selected again each year since then.



GEORGE CORSON
Happy man

As commissioner, he oversees correspondence, finances, and public relations; helps with scheduling of games and officials; represents the league in meetings with various other organizations; and advises the Board of Managers (principals), which makes the fundamental decisions.

Corson was director of athletics at Drake from the school's opening in 1951 until 1970, before yielding the job to Carl (Red) Brown. He taught physical education until 1972 before becoming dean.

He coached football, basketball and baseball at various levels during his career, winning three varsity baseball championships at Tamalpais High during the late 1940s, when the school was in the North Bay League.

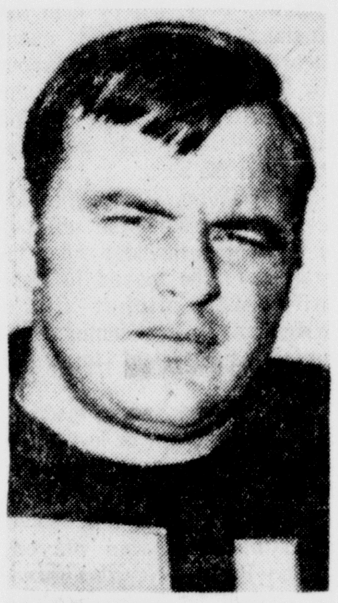
Corson was at Tam from 1942-51, with about three years out when he was commanding officer of a minesweeper in the Pacific Ocean during World War II. He was at Analy from 1936-42.

Retirement is giving Corson a chance to do some things he has been putting off. Travel is one. He and his wife of 37 years, Ruth, went to Europe in 1960-61 but missed Great Britain and Scandanavia and may go back soon.

Corson also plans to go deer and duck hunting in the fall, which must come as a surprise to those who saw him on crutches last month. But a recent tendon transplant operation on his right foot was successful, and he is steadily regaining its use.

"I was helping an injured boy in October, 1962, at a Terra Linda-Drake football game, when three players came over the bench and landed on my back, injuring some nerves in my back and leg." Ever since, he has had trouble moving the foot.

The injury made no dent on his love of athletics. "I believe sports are a good thing," he said. "They've been my life. There are values in playing and trying to win, and in the associations you make with team members and coaches."



BUTKUS VS. BEARS — Former Chicago Bears linebacker Dick Butkus yesterday sued the National Football League club for $1.6 million in damages, claiming breach of a five-year contract. It was charged in the suit that Bear management did not provide Butkus with medical-hospital care promised in a contract he signed last July 13. (AP Wirephoto)

Lacrosse Results

Gary Pearce scored seven goals and added one assist yesterday to lead San Rafael Parks and Recreation (1-6-1) to its first Ira Markwett Junior Lacrosse victory of the year, a 10-5 conquest of Novato Parks and Recreation (5-4) at Hill Junior High in Novato.

Moffitt Inflicts 'Sinking' Feeling

CHICAGO (UPI) — If the Chicago Cubs have that "sinking" feeling, blame it on San Francisco relief ace Randy Moffitt.

The 25-year-old Giants right-hander dealt a devastating blow to both the Cubs' offense and morale yesterday by helping stave off a late inning rally and preserving a 5-4 decision for John D'Acquisto.

Moffitt recorded his 11th save although it appeared he was doing everything to help the Cubs win. But in the end, it was his side arm sinker that left the Cubs helpless by leaving five men on base in the two innings he worked.

Moffitt, who last night relaxed by watching his sister, Billie Jean King, win in a World Team Tennis match, appeared just as cool on the mound in the ninth when the Cubs collected three straight hits to load the bases with none out.

"After the first two Cubs reached," Moffitt said, "Rick Monday laid down a perfect bunt along the third base line. Dave Rader, my catcher, hollered third base. I picked up the ball and looked up and saw Billy Williams nearing the base.

"I knew I couldn't get Monday at first, so I just held on to the ball. I really never thought that the Cubs were going to score though. I have to talk that way because if I don't have confidence, I might as well give up."

The next two batters hit ground balls to the infield and Cub runners were retired at the plate. The last out was an easy pop-up.

According to Moffitt it's not a bad feeling to know he's the bullpen ace. In fact, he says the relief pitcher is coming into his own and from some of the salaries being paid Sparky Lyle of the Yankees and Dave Guisti of Pittsburgh, Moffitt has a very bright outlook.

TEXAS BRAWL — This was the wild scene last night at Arlington Stadium as the Texas Rangers and Cleveland Indians participated in a short free-for-all. The incident began in the bottom of the eighth inning when the Rangers' Lenny Randle ran out of the first base line and collided with Indians' pitcher Milt Wilcox. Cleveland first baseman John Ellis then entered the fracas with Randle. This, in turn, precipitated the emptying of the benches.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Combined AP & UPI

Now that hockey season is over, fans who like their sports spiced with extracurricular fisticuffs have to look to baseball, and they are not being disappointed.

Brawls interrupted two American League games last night, Texas' 3-0 victory over Cleveland and Milwaukee's 7-5 triumph over California. Close pitches precipitated both.

In Arlington, Tex., Cleveland pitcher Milt Wilcox threw an eight-inning pitch which Texas' Lenny Randle thought was a little too close, so Randle laid down a bunt along the first base line and threw an elbow at Wilcox, fielding it. Cleveland first baseman John Ellis tackled Randle, and both teams charged from the dugouts to join the battle.

Ten minutes later, the fighting was over, but by then the Indians were unhappy about debris thrown in their dugout by Texas fans, so some of the players tried to charge into the stands. Police finally were stationed in the area.

In Anaheim, Calif., the Angels' Bobby Valentine suffered a dislocated shoulder when he stalked to the mound to fight Milwaukee pitcher Clyde Wright in the first inning. Valentine said Wright threw at him.

Both players were ejected, and Valentine will be lost to the Angels for about three weeks because of the injury.

In between punches, some good baseball was played. Jackie Brown pitched a three-hit shutout for Texas, striking out eight, and George Scott hit a three-run home run in the ninth inning to win for Milwaukee.

Orioles 13, Royals 3

Mike Cuellar turned in his sixth straight complete game for Baltimore, which snapped a four-game losing streak and ended the Royals' five-game winning streak. Al Bumbry collected three hits for the Orioles while Bobby Grich chipped in with a three-run double.

Twins 5, Red Sox 4

Reliever Diego Segui balked home the winning run in the 13th inning, enabling the Twins to defeat the Red Sox. Rod Carew of the Twins, who scored the winning run, collected two hits in four at bats and raised his league-leading average to .407. Bernie Carbo homered for Boston.

WTT would not be eligible for the French Open.

The sources said the tennis players' lawyers would argue that the International Federation of Lawn Tennis (ILTF), of which the French Federation is a member, has an agreement with World Team Tennis that its players can take part in major international events and the Davis Cup.

The banned players believe the French decision "constitutes a discriminatory action to their great prejudice," the sources said.

The lawyers will ask the judge to order the French Federation to permit the two players to take part in the Paris championships.

No comment was immediately available from the French Federation.

Novato To Open Saturday

"What they don't have in experience, they'll make up in hustle," was coach Gene Ferretti's optimistic forecast as his American Legion baseball team prepared for its opener this weekend.

Novato Post 540 will play a practice game Saturday at 1 p.m. at Novato High against the semi-pro Novato Knickerbockers, then will open District 5 competition with a doubleheader at Vallejo Sunday at noon.

Saturday's game, called the Armstrong-Cook Memorial Game, honors two deceased men who were instrumental in the success of their teams. Wayne Armstrong started the Legion team, and Charles Cook gave the Knicks financial backing.

Ferretti has the only American Legion team in Marin after San Rafael Post 37 decided not to field a team this year. Ballplayers living in San Rafael are not eligible to join the Novato team due to the Legion's geographic rules, Ferretti said.

The season will include 16 games, split into two halves, and will run through July 14. A best-of-three playoff will be held to determine the champion if different teams win the two halves. Post-season competition will follow.

Novato has won the district title three times since it began play in 1966, and never has had a losing season. Last year's record was 10-10.

Other teams in the district are Napa, Vacaville, Petaluma and Vallejo.

Suyderhoud, Athans Head Water Skiing

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Mike Suyderhoud of Petaluma, Calif., and George Athans of Canada head a field of 10 pro stars in a four-day water ski jump tourney which starts today at Marine World.

Suyderhoud was two-time overall world water ski champ until Athans dethroned him last year.

Suyderhoud, now 24, held the world record in the jump for five years as he stretched it from 158 to 165 feet before Wayne Grinditch hit 166 in 1973.

Bucs' Robertson To Let His Bat Do The Talking

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Bob Robertson has decided it's time to do less talking and more hitting.

Robertson, who's complained in the past about being benched, outlined his new feelings last night after he hit two homers and drove in five runs to pace the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 13-3 rout of the San Diego Padres.

"I've popped off in the past but I've changed my attitude," he said. "It didn't do me any good to pop off. I'll play when and where they tell me and that's it."

But even though Robertson says he won't pop off, he will admit he hopes he gets a chance to play a bit more.

Robertson has been in the lineup for three straight games only because Dave Parker is injured so Al Oliver was moved back to the outfield and Robertson was inserted into the lineup at first.

Robertson, who went into the game with a .157 average, said, "I'm not a good pinch-hitter. I have to play regularly to keep my timing. That's the whole secret of the game. I guess I'll never hit for average but I can drive in the runs and that's what this club needs now—RBIs. If I can help by being platooned, then that's the way it will be. But I'd hate to sit three or four days at a time. That's when I start going bad."

In the other games, Cincinnati edged New York 3-2 in 10 innings, San Francisco topped Chicago 5-4, Atlanta blanked Philadelphia 1-0 in 11 innings, Houston beat Montreal 5-3 and Los Angeles beat St. Louis 5-2.

Dodgers 5, Cards 2

Ron Cey's three-run homer in the sixth inning carried Los Angeles over St. Louis. Left-hander Tommy John became the National League's first eight-game winner with a 6 1-3 inning performance and Mike Marshall finished up to get his seventh save.

Braves 1, Phils 0

Pinch-hitter Vic Correll drove home Ralph Garr in the 11th to hand Atlanta the victory over Philadelphia. Correll, an .095 hitter, drove a Steve Carlton 3-2 pitch into deep left centerfield but was credited only with a single scoring Garr from second.

Reds 3, Mets 2

Tony Perez' two-out homer in the 10th, his ninth of the season, paced Cincinnati past the Mets. It was the Reds' sixth straight victory.

Astros 5, Expos 3

Bob Watson drove in two runs with a two-out bases loaded single in the ninth to lead Houston past Montreal.

Ex-Ballplayer Hospitalized

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Gene Lillard a former minor league home run slugging star, was in satisfactory condition today at Cottage Hospital where he is recovering from a severe heart attack.

Lillard, 60, a Goleta construction worker, was stricken Saturday.

Lillard hit 56 homers for the Los Angeles Angels in 1935, four short of Tony Lazzeri's league record.

TEXAS BRAWL — This was the wild scene last night at Arlington Stadium as the Texas Rangers and Cleveland Indians participated in a short free-for-all. The incident began in the bottom of the eighth inning when the Rangers' Lenny Randle ran out of the first base line and collided with Indians' pitcher Milt Wilcox. Cleveland first baseman John Ellis then entered the fracas with Randle. This, in turn, precipitated the emptying of the benches.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Teams Combine Boxing, Baseball

Combined AP & UPI

Now that hockey season is over, fans who like their sports spiced with extracurricular fisticuffs have to look to baseball, and they are not being disappointed.

Brawls interrupted two American League games last night, Texas' 3-0 victory over Cleveland and Milwaukee's 7-5 triumph over California. Close pitches precipitated both.

In Arlington, Tex., Cleveland pitcher Milt Wilcox threw an eight-inning pitch which Texas' Lenny Randle thought was a little too close, so Randle laid down a bunt along the first base line and threw an elbow at Wilcox, fielding it. Cleveland first baseman John Ellis tackled Randle, and both teams charged from the dugouts to join the battle.

Ten minutes later, the fighting was over, but by then the Indians were unhappy about debris thrown in their dugout by Texas fans, so some of the players tried to charge into the stands. Police finally were stationed in the area.

In Anaheim, Calif., the Angels' Bobby Valentine suffered a dislocated shoulder when he stalked to the mound to fight Milwaukee pitcher Clyde Wright in the first inning. Valentine said Wright threw at him.

Both players were ejected, and Valentine will be lost to the Angels for about three weeks because of the injury.

In between punches, some good baseball was played. Jackie Brown pitched a three-hit shutout for Texas, striking out eight, and George Scott hit a three-run home run in the ninth inning to win for Milwaukee.

Orioles 13, Royals 3

Mike Cuellar turned in his sixth straight complete game for Baltimore, which snapped a four-game losing streak and ended the Royals' five-game winning streak. Al Bumbry collected three hits for the Orioles while Bobby Grich chipped in with a three-run double.

Twins 5, Red Sox 4

Reliever Diego Segui balked home the winning run in the 13th inning, enabling the Twins to defeat the Red Sox. Rod Carew of the Twins, who scored the winning run, collected two hits in four at bats and raised his league-leading average to .407. Bernie Carbo homered for Boston.

WTT would not be eligible for the French Open.

The sources said the tennis players' lawyers would argue that the International Federation of Lawn Tennis (ILTF), of which the French Federation is a member, has an agreement with World Team Tennis that its players can take part in major international events and the Davis Cup.

The banned players believe the French decision "constitutes a discriminatory action to their great prejudice," the sources said.

The lawyers will ask the judge to order the French Federation to permit the two players to take part in the Paris championships.

No comment was immediately available from the French Federation.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Par In To Win

By LEE TREVINO

Some day you may come to the last hole needing a par to win. Don't jump on the tee and take your licks without sizing up the situation.

There'll be a lot of pressure, and muscles do funny things when you're tense. Take a few long breaths to help you relax.

Don't flirt with trouble. A driver is a dangerous club with hazards between you and the target. But if it's a long par four, hitch up your belt and give it a solid lick. On a short par four, a 3-wood or 2-iron give you the best odds off the tee. Concentrate on swinging through the ball.

Don't try to get cute on your approach. Trying to cut corners on bunkers will only win you an ear full of sand. Play for the middle of the green.

I needed par on the last hole to win the 1973 Doral tourney. On the tee I thought "Don't hit it in the water and blow a playoff." I figured a bogey on the "Blue Monster" would at least cinch a playoff.

I drove conservatively away from the lake, selected a 3-iron instead of a 2-iron from a sidehill lie, and hit the green to lock up a par and the loot.

Ten years from now, nobody asks how you won, just "Did you win?"

Rangers Operating Under New Owners

Combined AP & UPI

ARLINGTON, Tex. — The Texas Rangers are officially operating under new ownership today after approval of the sale of the American League baseball franchise by league owners in Chicago.

Bob Short of Minneapolis sold 90 per cent of the team to a group of Dallas-Fort Worth residents headed by industrialist Brad Corbett and socialite Mrs. Polland Simons. Short retained 10 per cent of the club that he moved to Texas from Washington in 1972 in the hope of attracting better attendance.

Corbett, who directs a company producing plastic pipe, put up about $4-5 million in the deal and Mrs. Simons reportedly contributed $2 million.

Dr. Bobby Brown, a former New York Yankee and for the past several years a Fort Worth physician, has replaced Short as president of the club and is also a minority owner.

Basketball

PORTLAND, Ore. — Former UCLA superstar Bill Walton, who recently signed a multimillion dollar contract with the Portland Trail Blazers, underwent surgery yesterday to remove a piece of cartilage from his left knee.

Hockey

INGLEWOOD — Bob Pulford, who guided the Los Angeles Kings to their first National Hockey League playoff appearance in five years, yesterday was rewarded with a three-year extension of his contract through 1977.

TORONTO — The Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday acquired left-winger Bill Flett from the Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers for two minor league players.

Tennis

ROME — Fourth-seeded Stan Smith yesterday led the Americans with a 6-3, 6-2 straight sets victory over Attila Korpas of West Germany to enter the third round of the $134,000 Italian Tennis Open.

Football

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Quarterback Scott Hunter, who lost his starting job with the Green Bay Packers last year, signed yesterday a multiyear contract with the National Football League team.

Rites Set Today For Ex-Sparring Partner

OAKLAND (UPI) — Funeral services will be planned today for policeman Clarence C. Williams, 55, a former sparring partner of boxer Archie Moore.

Williams, who died of a heart attack Sunday, was the first black to receive full tenure in the police department here.

Fine Looms For Boston Over Forfeit

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Officials of World Team Tennis were debating today what penalty to impose on the Boston Lobsters for walking off the court in a match with the Florida Flamingos, resulting in the new loop's first forfeit.

Officials assigned to the match last night said they thought the penalty could be a fine of as much as $5,000.

The incident occurred in the final match of the evening with the score tied at 20-all.

Boston Player-Coach Ian Tiriac, teaming with Pat Bostrum in mixed doubles, became enraged by a bad call by a linesman and told his team to leave the court. When the Lobsters failed to return within five minutes as provided by league rules, officials awarded the match to the Flamingos, 21-20.

Tiriac and Miss Bostrum were trailing Florida's Betty Ann Grubb and Mark Cox, one game to two, in the final set, when Boston won a point but a linesman, saying he did not see the serve, ordered the point played over. Tiriac protested to no avail, then zipped up his racquet cover and told his team to leave.

Before the incident, Boston had won the women's singles and women's doubles competition and Florida the men's singles and men's doubles.

Gaters Edge Hawaii Netters

OAKLAND (UPI) — The solid doubles play of world pro co-champ Frew McMillan was the difference last night as the Golden Gaters edged Hawaii 29-26 in World Team Tennis before 1,220 Coliseum Arena fans.

McMillan combined with Roy Emerson to beat Hawaii's Dennis Ralston and Ross Case 6-4. Then in the final match, with Golden Gate holding a slim 22-20 lead, McMillan and Lesley Hunt took the mixed doubles from Case and Ann Kiyomura 7-6.

In other matches, Hawaii's Val Ziegenfuss downed Ilana Klass 7-6 and Ziegenfuss-Kiyomura defeated Klass-Hunt 6-4. Emerson took Ralston in a battle of playing coaches 6-3.

Softball Protest

Sunkiss Heat defeated Heavy Ropers last night, 12-8, in a San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department adult softball league game at Hidden Valley School, but the losers protested the outcoming, claiming Sunkiss Heat had an ineligible player.

NBA DRAFT AFTERMATH

Barnes Eyes $1 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marvin Barnes is thinking of a seven figure pro basketball contract while national collegiate scoring champion Steve Platt is too busy with farm chores to be overwhelmed by his selection in the National Basketball Association draft.

Barnes, the No. 2 pick in the draft, was chosen by the Philadelphia 76ers, who are still trying to get mileage out of last year's top choice, Doug Collins. Barnes, a 6-foot-8 center from Providence, has the ring of cash registers in his ears and dollar signs in his eyes as he states he would not sign for under $1 million.

"I'd go to work in a factory first," said Barnes.

Denver of the American Basketball Association selected Barnes in its draft and it is believed another dreaded dollar war is in the offing for the pivotman.

Platt, the leading scorer the last two seasons at Huntington (Ind.) College, learned about his selection by Washington Tuesday night but planting the corn yesterday morning had priority over any celebrations.

Platt's wife, Peggy, said the 6-5 marksman "is very excited about it. I know he's going to try out."

Platt wasn't taking any chances about hooking up with the pros so he recently signed with the Fort Wayne Hoosiers of the International Basketball Association. But he allowed for a loophole that calls for his release should he be drafted by an NBA team.

Houston Coach Johnny Egan said the Rockets' No. 1 choice, Bobby Jones of North Carolina, should help the club immediately "because he's a lot like Dave DeBusschere. Jones, 6-9, 215 pounds, led the Tar Heels in rebounding the last two years.

The New York Knicks no longer have a DeBusschere prototype, so they took what they believed to be the next best thing—Howard Porter of the Chicago Bulls—in return for a first round choice. The big rebounding forward could take some of the sting from DeBusschere's defection to the American Basketball Association champion New York Nets as a nonplaying executive.

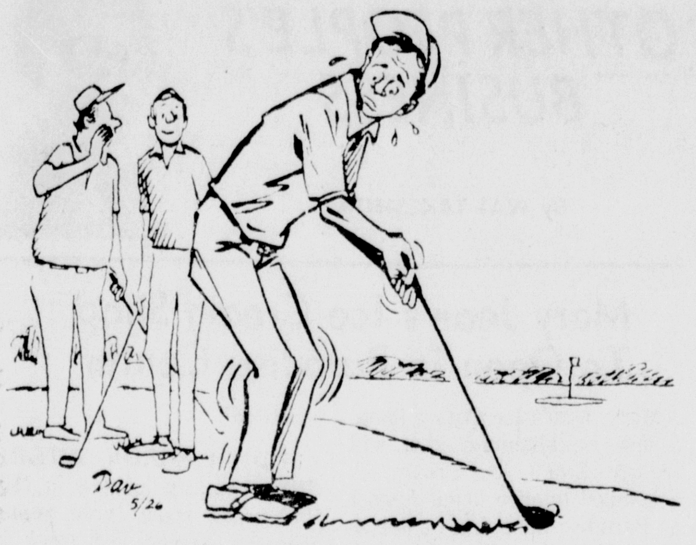
TREVINO TALKS GOLF



Par In To Win

By LEE TREVINO

Some day you may come to the last hole needing a par to win. Don't jump on the tee and take your licks without sizing up the situation.

There'll be a lot of pressure, and muscles do funny things when you're tense. Take a few long breaths to help you relax.

Don't flirt with trouble. A driver is a dangerous club with hazards between you and the target. But if it's a long par four, hitch up your belt and give it a solid lick. On a short par four, a 3-wood or 2-iron give you the best odds off the tee. Concentrate on swinging through the ball.

Don't try to get cute on your approach. Trying to cut corners on bunkers will only win you an ear full of sand. Play for the middle of the green.

I needed par on the last hole to win the 1973 Doral tourney. On the tee I thought "Don't hit it in the water and blow a playoff." I figured a bogey on the "Blue Monster" would at least cinch a playoff.

I drove conservatively away from the lake, selected a 3-iron instead of a 2-iron from a sidehill lie, and hit the green to lock up a par and the loot.

Ten years from now, nobody asks how you won, just "Did you win?"

Rangers Operating Under New Owners

Combined AP & UPI

ARLINGTON, Tex. — The Texas Rangers are officially operating under new ownership today after approval of the sale of the American League baseball franchise by league owners in Chicago.

Bob Short of Minneapolis sold 90 per cent of the team to a group of Dallas-Fort Worth residents headed by industrialist Brad Corbett and socialite Mrs. Polland Simons. Short retained 10 per cent of the club that he moved to Texas from Washington in 1972 in the hope of attracting better attendance.

Corbett, who directs a company producing plastic pipe, put up about $4-5 million in the deal and Mrs. Simons reportedly contributed $2 million.

Dr. Bobby Brown, a former New York Yankee and for the past several years a Fort Worth physician, has replaced Short as president of the club and is also a minority owner.

Eastern Bonds A Little Risky

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I hold 10 Eastern Airlines 5 per cent convertible 1992 bonds at a cost of $600. Would you advise adding more at the current $400 level to reduce my average cost? — M.B.

A. That would certainly depend on how much risk you are willing to assume. At the present trading level these convertible debentures are yielding 12.5 per cent currently and 14.2 per cent to maturity, an indication of the highly speculative nature of the issue. In view of the low quote on the common shares, the price of the debenture, which represents a 320 per cent premium over conversion value, is supported more by its high yield than by its conversion value. Although Eastern is in a tight cash position with $640 million in debt due by the end of 1976, extension of the repayment schedule is a possibility which would help the company through the present situation.

March and April results were encouraging; revenue passenger miles for scheduled operations were up 8.3 per cent and 7.5 per cent respectively. For the first quarter this carrier reported a 9 cents-a-share deficit versus an 11 cents-a-share loss in the 1973 period. The loss was limited by the results achieved during March when a 28 cent-a-share profit was achieved.

Q. My aunt recently turned over 100 shares of stock to me with the idea that it was to be put into my son's name. He is only 11. How do I go about doing this and how much does it cost? — H.H.

A. Your aunt will have to write to the registrar for the issuing company requesting that the change of ownership be made. There is a nominal charge for this service. Because your son is a minor she will have to designate a custodian. In your state, under the terms of the Revised Uniform Gift to Minors Act, an adult member of the minor's family including the donor may be named custodian. The transfer should take about a month to complete.

NEW BUBBLE MACHINE

Dirt and rubble next to Wiltshire Towers motel in San Rafael, across highway from Marin Civic Center, will be transformed into a landscaped Bubble Machine car wash in about three months. Thomas Thatcher of San Francisco, vice president of construction and development for The Bubble Machine, said this will have more landscaping than San Rafael's first Bubble Machine at 1515 Second Street. A unique feature of this outlet is that water will be 100 per cent reclaimed. "We're very ecology minded," said Thatcher. "We won beautification awards for our plants in San Leandro, Pomona and Long Beach."

Little Comfort Is Found In Nixon's Last Message

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — There is very little comfort to be distilled from the latest report of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, which contains forecasts that instead might contribute to financial insecurity.

The rise in the cost of living should slow somewhat in the finai quarter of the year, it states, but still will be at an unacceptable 7 per cent rate. Unemployment might rise from 5 per cent now to nearly 6 per cent then.

But maybe even more significant than these numbers is the greater uncertainty with which economic advisers seem to assess the future. Continued failures have undermined assurance.

Herbert Stein, the chief economic adviser, had been talking about a 6 per cent inflation rate by the end of the year, but apparently he now goes along with the 7 per cent forecast. Once pragmatically opti mistic, he sounds less so now.

The President himself referred to "signs of improvement," which hardly has the starch of those old pronouncements that seemed to say the future is ours. He talked of "a special danger" that inflation might escape restraints.

Slowly the realization seems to be descending on makers of economic policy that they do not get the same response to their actions as they did a decade ago. It may be only that theailments are so extreme, but it might be more than that.

The fact is that the federal budget as an instrument of economic change is not the flexible instrument it once was. The President's authority over the budget is restricted more each year; his spending is done for him.

As more of the budget becomes precommitted to social and defense and income maintenance programs, the nation's ability to hold down federal spending is reduced. It cannot exert the same anti-inflation pressures.

Inflation control becomes less effective also as economies become more influenced by world events. U.S. food prices, for instance, have been influenced by a poor Soviet harvest and by attempts everywhere to raise living standards.

A more obvious example is the changing oil market, which affects so many other industries. It wasn't an increase in U.S. demand nearly so much as a changed attitude by supplier nations that led to price increases.

To a much greater extent than even a few years ago, therefore, prices are beyond the effective control of domestic governments. In that respect, economic advisers probably feel as inadequate, as helpless as any householder.

Investor Incentive Is Low On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market marked time today in the absence of investor incentive. Prices were mixed, volume moderate.

Analysts continued to blame the investor reluctance on record interest rates and inflation, problems that have dominated Wall Street thinking for months. The Israeli-Syrian settlement over the Golan Heights had been largely discounted.

Polaroid was the most active issue, off 4 ¼ at 39 on 165,100 shares. The issue lost 12 ⅛ Wednesday on reports a leading brokerage said Polaroid's new SX-70 film was not selling as well as expected.

Gold mining issues showed the most strength, reflecting higher bullion prices on foreign markets.

Among the glamors, Texas Instruments lost 4 ⅛, Johnson & Johnson and Merck a point apiece.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex was the most active issue, off 3 ⅛ at 44 ½ on 234,300 shares.

1973 Grape Crush One Of Best Ever

Last year may have been the most profitable grape crushing season in California's history, according to Crocker Bank.

The state's total crush was a record 2.5 million tons, 12 per cent above the previous high of 2.2 million tons set in 1971. This figure was 71 per cent above 1972's poor yield of 1.5 million tons. Good weather was a major reason for the prolific production.

LEROY E. CODDING III
Heads Life Underwriters

Codding Is New Leader Of Group

Leroy E. Codding III was elected president of the Marin Association of Life Underwriters, Inc. at a membership meeting last Friday.

Codding, who lives with his wife, Carol, and two children in San Rafael, is agency manager for the Prudential Insurance Company with offices at Northgate Plaza in San Rafael.

During the past year, while he was vice president in charge of membership, the association added 27 new members for a gain of 28 per cent.

Other officers elected with Codding were Sharon Sigmund, vice president-finance; Robert W. Shine, vice president-membership; Chester E. Lee, vice president-education; Charles J. Root, Jr., vice president-programs, and Stryker Warren, vice president-public service.

Elected as board of director members were Jeffrey L. Bailey, Gibson L. Crawford, Richard E. Schlutz and Robert Walker.

Mary Jean's Ice Cream Shop To Open In Paradise Center

Mary Jean's Ice Cream Shop, a new establishment that will feature Bud's Ice Cream, is scheduled to open about August at Paradise Shopping Center in Corte Madera, at 5591 Paradise Drive where a wash and dry is now located.

Owner of the new shop will be Mary Jean Smolsky of Corte Madera, whose son Andy McKee will manage the shop. Mrs. Smolsky and her husband, John Smolsky, just sold a Bay Area retail chain called Shaver's World after running it for four years. Before that, Smolsky was an executive with Schick Inc. in Connecticut.

Bud's Ice Cream, located at 1300 Castro Street in San Francisco, is owned by Alvin (Bud) Edlin of Tiburon, who has been running it for 23 years. Bud's Ice Cream is also being sold in an ice cream shop called Bud's In The Cove, operated by Edy Kelly, at the Cove Shopping Center in Tiburon.

EXCEL INVESTMENT Company in Terra Linda, which merged with First Mortgage Insurance Co. of Greensboro, N.C., last Dec. 31, will close its Marin office by June 15 and move its headquarters to Greensboro.

Thomas W. Hemphill of San Rafael, former president of Excel Investment, has joined another firm, Security Pacific Corp., as senior management advisor. With his office at 150 Shoreline Highway, suite 26, in Mill Valley, Hemphill will serve as a consultant in the field of real estate.

Security Pacific Corp., headquartered in Los Angeles, is the holding company for Security Pacific Bank.

HART'S FOODS at 1161 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur is under negotiation for sale to Lowell B. and Sandra J. Pfeiffer of Kentfield, who would call it Honeycomb Grocery when they take over.

Harry Hartunian, the present owner, said he is still negotiating, and the expected changeover is July 1.

Hartunian has been operating the grocery portion of the store for 18 years, since the days when it was called Miller's Market. About five years ago, he also bought the meat department and changed the name of the market to Hart's Foods.

If the sale goes through, Hartunian said he will look for some other work. "I'll stay in the grocery business but hope to be working shorter hours."

ROBERT NELSON of San Rafael has opened his law practice in association with Raymond H. Shone at 35 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park.

Nelson graduated from Marin Catholic High School in 1966 and from the University of Santa Clara law school in 1973. He passed the California bar last summer and practiced law in the San Jose area before opening his San Rafael office.

PAUL REHS of San Rafael has been appointed assistant vice president, northern division sales, for System 99, an Oakland-based motor carrier.

In his new position, Rehs will be responsible for sales management from Eureka to Santa Maria including the Bay Area. He has been with the company since 1967.

JUDITH BARON INTERIORS, formerly located in Mill Valley for about three years, officially opened last week in its new quarters in Larkspur, at 101 Magnolia Avenue, across the street from Redwoods Presbyterian Church.

Ms. Baron took over an old Cape Cod type yellow house with chocolate trim and completely remodeled the interior for her new shop. She handles all types of residential and commercial interiors and specializes in hard to treat windows.

A member of the National Society of Interior Designers, she has seven years of experience in the field.

MADAME TANYA of San Anselmo, astrologist, palm and card reader who formerly performed at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur, will re-open her business tomorrow at the Old West Arcade in San Anselmo, 411 San Anselmo Avenue.

Madame Tanya's office hours are 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and she can be reached through any of the shops in the Old West Arcade, a collection of stores developed in the Old West tradition.

Madame Tanya is Mrs. Tanya Boyd of San Anselmo, who did palm and card reading at the Fairmont Hotel and at Four Seas Restaurant in San Francisco before opening for a year at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur in 1972-73.

DONALD W. KEHOE of Tiburon, managing partner of the San Francisco office of Arthur Young & Co., will take over Saturday as secretary-treasurer of the San Francisco chapter, California Society of Public Accountants.

Two other Marinites, named to the board of directors, are Donald J. Moulin of Tiburon, partner in Peat, Marwick Mitchell & Co.; and Thomas A. Guerin of Ross, partner in charge of Wolf and Co.

CARNATION-GENETICS, an artificial breeding company, appointed Kevin Lynn as its sales representative in Northern California, with headquarters in Petaluma.

Lynn attended Califrnia State Polytechnic University and has been active in the livestock industry all his life. He has been a breeder of registered Hereford and Angus cattle. He plans to move to Petaluma from his home near Gerber, Tehama County.

MARCIA PETTIJOHN, San Rafael manager of Manpower Inc., a temporary help service, will fly to Milwaukee next Wednesday (June 5) to participate in a five-day seminar celebrating the company's 25th anniversary.

RICHARD T (DICK) CONLAN of Mill Valley has been reelected vice president of the western region for the Graphic Arts Technical Foundation. He is vice president of Conlan Creative Lithography, San Francisco.

Eastern Bonds A Little Risky

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I hold 10 Eastern Airlines 5 per cent convertible 1992 bonds at a cost of $600. Would you advise adding more at the current $400 level to reduce my average cost? — M.B.

A. That would certainly depend on how much risk you are willing to assume. At the present trading level these convertible debentures are yielding 12.5 per cent currently and 14.2 per cent to maturity, an indication of the highly speculative nature of the issue. In view of the low quote on the common shares, the price of the debenture, which represents a 320 per cent premium over conversion value, is supported more by its high yield than by its conversion value. Although Eastern is in a tight cash position with $640 million in debt due by the end of 1976, extension of the repayment schedule is a possibility which would help the company through the present situation.

March and April results were encouraging; revenue passenger miles for scheduled operations were up 8.3 per cent and 7.5 per cent respectively. For the first quarter this carrier reported a 9 cents-a-share deficit versus an 11 cents-a-share loss in the 1973 period. The loss was limited by the results achieved during March when a 28 cent-a-share profit was achieved.

Q. My aunt recently turned over 100 shares of stock to me with the idea that it was to be put into my son's name. He is only 11. How do I go about doing this and how much does it cost? — H.H.

A. Your aunt will have to write to the registrar for the issuing company requesting that the change of ownership be made. There is a nominal charge for this service. Because your son is a minor she will have to designate a custodian. In your state, under the terms of the Revised Uniform Gift to Minors Act, an adult member of the minor's family including the donor may be named custodian. The transfer should take about a month to complete.

NEW BUBBLE MACHINE

Dirt and rubble next to Wiltshire Towers motel in San Rafael, across highway from Marin Civic Center, will be transformed into a landscaped Bubble Machine car wash in about three months. Thomas Thatcher of San Francisco, vice president of construction and development for The Bubble Machine, said this will have more landscaping than San Rafael's first Bubble Machine at 1515 Second Street. A unique feature of this outlet is that water will be 100 per cent reclaimed. "We're very ecology minded," said Thatcher. "We won beautification awards for our plants in San Leandro, Pomona and Long Beach."

Little Comfort Is Found In Nixon's Last Message

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — There is very little comfort to be distilled from the latest report of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, which contains forecasts that instead might contribute to financial insecurity.

The rise in the cost of living should slow somewhat in the finai quarter of the year, it states, but still will be at an unacceptable 7 per cent rate. Unemployment might rise from 5 per cent now to nearly 6 per cent then.

But maybe even more significant than these numbers is the greater uncertainty with which economic advisers seem to assess the future. Continued failures have undermined assurance.

Herbert Stein, the chief economic adviser, had been talking about a 6 per cent inflation rate by the end of the year, but apparently he now goes along with the 7 per cent forecast. Once pragmatically opti mistic, he sounds less so now.

The President himself referred to "signs of improvement," which hardly has the starch of those old pronouncements that seemed to say the future is ours. He talked of "a special danger" that inflation might escape restraints.

Slowly the realization seems to be descending on makers of economic policy that they do not get the same response to their actions as they did a decade ago. It may be only that theailments are so extreme, but it might be more than that.

The fact is that the federal budget as an instrument of economic change is not the flexible instrument it once was. The President's authority over the budget is restricted more each year; his spending is done for him.

As more of the budget becomes precommitted to social and defense and income maintenance programs, the nation's ability to hold down federal spending is reduced. It cannot exert the same anti-inflation pressures.

Inflation control becomes less effective also as economies become more influenced by world events. U.S. food prices, for instance, have been influenced by a poor Soviet harvest and by attempts everywhere to raise living standards.

A more obvious example is the changing oil market, which affects so many other industries. It wasn't an increase in U.S. demand nearly so much as a changed attitude by supplier nations that led to price increases.

To a much greater extent than even a few years ago, therefore, prices are beyond the effective control of domestic governments. In that respect, economic advisers probably feel as inadequate, as helpless as any householder.

Investor Incentive Is Low On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market marked time today in the absence of investor incentive. Prices were mixed, volume moderate.

Analysts continued to blame the investor reluctance on record interest rates and inflation, problems that have dominated Wall Street thinking for months. The Israeli-Syrian settlement over the Golan Heights had been largely discounted.

Polaroid was the most active issue, off 4 ¼ at 39 on 165,100 shares. The issue lost 12 ⅛ Wednesday on reports a leading brokerage said Polaroid's new SX-70 film was not selling as well as expected.

Gold mining issues showed the most strength, reflecting higher bullion prices on foreign markets.

Among the glamors, Texas Instruments lost 4 ⅛, Johnson & Johnson and Merck a point apiece.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex was the most active issue, off 3 ⅛ at 44 ½ on 234,300 shares.

1973 Grape Crush One Of Best Ever

Last year may have been the most profitable grape crushing season in California's history, according to Crocker Bank.

The state's total crush was a record 2.5 million tons, 12 per cent above the previous high of 2.2 million tons set in 1971. This figure was 71 per cent above 1972's poor yield of 1.5 million tons. Good weather was a major reason for the prolific production.

LEROY E. CODDING III
Heads Life Underwriters

Codding Is New Leader Of Group

Leroy E. Codding III was elected president of the Marin Association of Life Underwriters, Inc. at a membership meeting last Friday.

Codding, who lives with his wife, Carol, and two children in San Rafael, is agency manager for the Prudential Insurance Company with offices at Northgate Plaza in San Rafael.

During the past year, while he was vice president in charge of membership, the association added 27 new members for a gain of 28 per cent.

Other officers elected with Codding were Sharon Sigmund, vice president-finance; Robert W. Shine, vice president-membership; Chester E. Lee, vice president-education; Charles J. Root, Jr., vice president-programs, and Stryker Warren, vice president-public service.

Elected as board of director members were Jeffrey L. Bailey, Gibson L. Crawford, Richard E. Schlutz and Robert Walker.

Mary Jean's Ice Cream Shop To Open In Paradise Center

Mary Jean's Ice Cream Shop, a new establishment that will feature Bud's Ice Cream, is scheduled to open about August at Paradise Shopping Center in Corte Madera, at 5591 Paradise Drive where a wash and dry is now located.

Owner of the new shop will be Mary Jean Smolsky of Corte Madera, whose son Andy McKee will manage the shop. Mrs. Smolsky and her husband, John Smolsky, just sold a Bay Area retail chain called Shaver's World after running it for four years. Before that, Smolsky was an executive with Schick Inc. in Connecticut.

Bud's Ice Cream, located at 1300 Castro Street in San Francisco, is owned by Alvin (Bud) Edlin of Tiburon, who has been running it for 23 years. Bud's Ice Cream is also being sold in an ice cream shop called Bud's In The Cove, operated by Edy Kelly, at the Cove Shopping Center in Tiburon.

EXCEL INVESTMENT Company in Terra Linda, which merged with First Mortgage Insurance Co. of Greensboro, N.C., last Dec. 31, will close its Marin office by June 15 and move its headquarters to Greensboro.

Thomas W. Hemphill of San Rafael, former president of Excel Investment, has joined another firm, Security Pacific Corp., as senior management advisor. With his office at 150 Shoreline Highway, suite 26, in Mill Valley, Hemphill will serve as a consultant in the field of real estate.

Security Pacific Corp., headquartered in Los Angeles, is the holding company for Security Pacific Bank.

HART'S FOODS at 1161 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur is under negotiation for sale to Lowell B. and Sandra J. Pfeiffer of Kentfield, who would call it Honeycomb Grocery when they take over.

Harry Hartunian, the present owner, said he is still negotiating, and the expected changeover is July 1.

Hartunian has been operating the grocery portion of the store for 18 years, since the days when it was called Miller's Market. About five years ago, he also bought the meat department and changed the name of the market to Hart's Foods.

If the sale goes through, Hartunian said he will look for some other work. "I'll stay in the grocery business but hope to be working shorter hours."

ROBERT NELSON of San Rafael has opened his law practice in association with Raymond H. Shone at 35 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park.

Nelson graduated from Marin Catholic High School in 1966 and from the University of Santa Clara law school in 1973. He passed the California bar last summer and practiced law in the San Jose area before opening his San Rafael office.

PAUL REHS of San Rafael has been appointed assistant vice president, northern division sales, for System 99, an Oakland-based motor carrier.

In his new position, Rehs will be responsible for sales management from Eureka to Santa Maria including the Bay Area. He has been with the company since 1967.

JUDITH BARON INTERIORS, formerly located in Mill Valley for about three years, officially opened last week in its new quarters in Larkspur, at 101 Magnolia Avenue, across the street from Redwoods Presbyterian Church.

Ms. Baron took over an old Cape Cod type yellow house with chocolate trim and completely remodeled the interior for her new shop. She handles all types of residential and commercial interiors and specializes in hard to treat windows.

A member of the National Society of Interior Designers, she has seven years of experience in the field.

MADAME TANYA of San Anselmo, astrologist, palm and card reader who formerly performed at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur, will re-open her business tomorrow at the Old West Arcade in San Anselmo, 411 San Anselmo Avenue.

Madame Tanya's office hours are 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and she can be reached through any of the shops in the Old West Arcade, a collection of stores developed in the Old West tradition.

Madame Tanya is Mrs. Tanya Boyd of San Anselmo, who did palm and card reading at the Fairmont Hotel and at Four Seas Restaurant in San Francisco before opening for a year at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur in 1972-73.

DONALD W. KEHOE of Tiburon, managing partner of the San Francisco office of Arthur Young & Co., will take over Saturday as secretary-treasurer of the San Francisco chapter, California Society of Public Accountants.

Two other Marinites, named to the board of directors, are Donald J. Moulin of Tiburon, partner in Peat, Marwick Mitchell & Co.; and Thomas A. Guerin of Ross, partner in charge of Wolf and Co.

CARNATION-GENETICS, an artificial breeding company, appointed Kevin Lynn as its sales representative in Northern California, with headquarters in Petaluma.

Lynn attended Califrnia State Polytechnic University and has been active in the livestock industry all his life. He has been a breeder of registered Hereford and Angus cattle. He plans to move to Petaluma from his home near Gerber, Tehama County.

MARCIA PETTIJOHN, San Rafael manager of Manpower Inc., a temporary help service, will fly to Milwaukee next Wednesday (June 5) to participate in a five-day seminar celebrating the company's 25th anniversary.

RICHARD T (DICK) CONLAN of Mill Valley has been reelected vice president of the western region for the Graphic Arts Technical Foundation. He is vice president of Conlan Creative Lithography, San Francisco.

CANDIDATES' DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY

Candidates for queen of Novato's Western Weekend and Rodeo can apply at the Novato Chamber of Commerce office, according to Robert Wright, chairman of Western Weekend.

Candidates must be single, at least a senior in high school, at least 18 years of age as of this October and under 22 as of Jan. 1, 1975, a resident of Novato or a resident of Marin who belongs to an organization based in Novato.

Candidates will be judged at a dinner June 7 and at the Novato Horsemen's Arena June 8.

A queen and two princesses will be selected to ride in the Western Weekend parade June 15 and reign at the rodeo June 16.

Wednesday is the deadline for entering the contest.

Hearing On Peninsula Plan Is Set

Larkspur residents will have a chance to voice their concerns about environmental problems that might arise from a proposed development on the San Quentin Peninsula at a public hearing June 11 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The city planning commission set the hearing on Tuesday, according to Planning Director John E. Roberto. He said that hearings on major developments usually are not held until the environmental impact reports are complete. Roberto noted that this early meeting will insure that major points of citizen concern are investigated by the consultants preparing the project's impact statement.

The developer, Lincoln Property, of Menlo Park, plans office buildings, restaurants, apartments and a tennis complex on the peninsula.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

PERMIT — Approved permits for two homes on Hawkins Way.

DIVISION — Approved a request by Glen Smith to subdivide five acres at 63 Olive Avenue into two parcels.

MEETING — Set a special meeting for June 18 at 8 p.m. to consider revising city zoning ordinances.

TRAFFIC — Agreed that Larkspur, Corte Madera and the county should ask the City-County Planning Council to study transportation problems that could result from several proposed developments in the lower Ross Valley. Roberto said the study should look at the collective impact of the Larkspur ferry terminal and the proposed Corte Madera and Larkspur shopping centers on traffic flow.

Sevareid Puts Blame On Facts, Not News Media

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — CBS correspondent Eric Sevareid yesterday blamed the problems of the Nixon administration on the facts, and not the news media.

"It has indeed been terrible to know these facts," Sevareid told the 88th annual commencement exercises of Temple University. "The only thing worse would have been not to have known them." He said the administration's troubles "do not lie in the press. They lie in the facts. The free, critical press has played an indispensable role in this."

Abel Sees Inflation As No. 1 Problem

ALTOONA, Pa. (UPI) — I.W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers (USW), says inflation is the nation's No. 1 problem and there was no indication it would level off.

"Inflation can destroy the economy and injure a lot of innocent people," Abel said during a news conference yesterday. "These people who have no cost of living escalator clause, those on pension or on Social Security, are in my opinion the real forgotten people of this country. I wonder at times how they're able to keep body and soul together."

KEN E. SCHACHT
Eagle honors

Ken Schacht To Attain Eagle Rank

Ken E. Schacht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Schacht of San Rafael, will receive his eagle scout rank at 8 p.m. Saturday at the San Rafael Elks Club.

Schacht, 17, is president of San Rafael Explorer Post 55. He has participated in scouting for six years and is a member of The Order of the Arrow.

He worked on a program to promote better communications for his eagle project.

He lists his hobbies as skiing, motorcycling, camping, backpacking, and sports car racing.

Schacht, who lives at 102 Rollingwood Drive, is a junior at San Rafael High School.

New Leaks In Novato Outfall Line

The Novato Sanitary District has discovered three new leaks in its new 54-inch outfall line, according to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph.

The leaks in a section of pipeline just north of Hamilton Air Force Base aren't in the area of previous leaks that caused a long delay during the pipe's construction.

The leaks aren't serious enough to shut down the line now but there will have to be a shutdown when repairs are made, Joseph said.

The district board on Tuesday put responsibility for the leaks on the contractor — Healy-Tibbets Construction Co. of San Francisco.

If the firm doesn't commence repair work by Monday, the district will do the job and bill the firm, Joseph said.

Directors also voted to pay time-and-a-half for all overtime work. Previously those called back in emergencies were granted overtime pay and others were granted compensatory time off.

Political Ban Ruled Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A City Charter section aimed at prohibiting municipal employes from taking part in San Francisco politics is unconstitutional, the city attorney ruled yesterday.

Attorney Thomas M. O'Connor held that the wording of the 42-year-old section was too broad.

"It is now well settled that public employes...may not be dismissed from employment for the exercise of constitutional rights," O'Connor said, unless there is a demonstration that a compelling public interest justifies restraints.

Today is Thursday, May 30, the 150th day of 1974 with 215 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full pahse. The morning stars are Jupiter and Venus. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

American actress Cornelia Otis Skinner was born May 30, 1901.

On this day in history: In 1431, Joan of Arc, Maid of Orleans, was burned at the stake in Rouen, France, at the age of 19. She had been found guilty of sorcery.

In 1937, 10 persons were killed and 90 wounded in a battle between police and strikers at the Republic Steel Corp., plant in South Chicago.

In 1972, three Japanese terrorists killed 22 persons at the airport in Tel Aviv, Israel, with automatic gunfire.

In 1973, President Nixon arrived in Iceland for a conference with French President Georges Pompidou.

A thought for the day: French actor Jean Baptiste Moliere said, "A woman always has her revenge ready."

Very few players give much thought to the opening lead. Any reasonable card will do to start the play, and they begin to think only after the dummy has appeared on the table.

WEST'S HAND

Take the West hand today, for example. If West postpones his thinking, he will lead the king of diamonds.

Declarer takes dummy's ace of diamonds, cashes the ace of clubs and ruffs a club in dummy. He ruffs a diamond in his hand, ruffs another club in dummy, ruffs another diamond and then a third club with dummy's last trump.

South makes five trumps in his own hand, three ruffs in the dummy and two side aces. The total comes to ten tricks, and South is home.

EARLY THOUGHT

The result is different if West thinks before he chooses his opening lead. The bidding gives the impression that South has 9 or 10 cards in the black suits.

West looks at his own hand and sees considerable length and strength in clubs. He should expect dummy to be very short in clubs.

These simple reflections should warn West that declarer will probably cross-ruff to make his contract. Since the best defense against a cross-ruff is to lead trumps at each opportunity, West should open a trump.

MEANS TROUBLE

With a trump opening lead South is in trouble. If he ruffs only twice in dummy he will fall one trick short. South's best chance is to win the opening lead in dummy and lead a club to finesse with the queen. The finesse loses, and West leads another trump, whereupon South is in even worse trouble than before.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player bids two spades. Neither side is vulnerable.

You hold:
♠- 6 5 4
♥- 4 3
♦- K Q 10 9
♣- K J 9 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Double.

You were going to bid three no-trump if the opponent had passed, so you can't afford to pass two spades. Still, you have no attractive bid. A double should produce at least 300 points despite your trump weakness.

Public Notice

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln School, Marin County, California, will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services for the

on the property of the School District at Lincoln School, Marin County, California; each bid to be in accordance with plans, specifications and other Contract Documents now on file with Engle and Engle, Structural Engineers, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California. Plans may be examined and copies obtained at the office of Engle and Engle. Plans shall be returned in good condition within five (5) days after bids are opened.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the statutes of the State of California, or local laws thereto applicable, the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln School, has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

A schedule of the Prevailing rates so determined is on file in the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Marin County, California.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the Contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.

Notice is hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Bids shall be made out on forms to be obtained at the office of Engle and Engle, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California; shall be accompanied by a certified cashier's check or bid bond for ten per cent (10%) of the amount of the bid made payable to the Lincoln School; shall be sealed and clearly marked:

REHABILITATION OF LINCOLN SCHOOL

and filed with Engle and Engle at 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, on or before 4:00 p.m. June 4, 1974, at San Rafael, California, and will be opened and publicly read aloud at that hour on that date in the office of Engle and Engle, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California.

The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the Contract if awarded to him and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said Contract after being requested to do so by the Lincoln School.

The Lincoln School reserves the right to reject any and all bids or waive any informality in the bid.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE
(CCP § 1277)
NO. 71087

Superior Court of California, County of Marin

In the Matter of the Application of LLOYD THOMAS CARSEN for Change of Name

WHEREAS LLOYD THOMAS CARSEN, Petitioner, has filed a petition with the Clerk of this Court for an order changing petitioner's name from LLOYD THOMAS CARSEN to TUVYA ZARETSKY:

IT IS ORDERED that all persons interested in the above-entitled matter appear before this Court at 9 A.M., on June 21, 1974, in the courtroom of Judge Wilson, at Dept. 2, San Rafael, the County of Marin, California, and show cause, if any, why the petition for change of name should not be granted.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order to show cause be published in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation printed in Marin County, California, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing on the petition.

Public Notice

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln School, Marin County, California, will receive bids for furnishing all labor, materials, transportation and services for the

on the property of the School District at Lincoln School, Marin County, California; each bid to be in accordance with plans, specifications and other Contract Documents now on file with Engle and Engle, Structural Engineers, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California. Plans may be examined and copies obtained at the office of Engle and Engle. Plans shall be returned in good condition within five (5) days after bids are opened.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the statutes of the State of California, or local laws thereto applicable, the Board of Trustees of the Lincoln School, has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

A schedule of the Prevailing rates so determined is on file in the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Marin County, California.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the Contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.

Notice is hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Bids shall be made out on forms to be obtained at the office of Engle and Engle, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California; shall be accompanied by a certified cashier's check or bid bond for ten per cent (10%) of the amount of the bid made payable to the Lincoln School; shall be sealed and clearly marked:

REHABILITATION OF LINCOLN SCHOOL

and filed with Engle and Engle at 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California, on or before 4:00 p.m. June 4, 1974, at San Rafael, California, and will be opened and publicly read aloud at that hour on that date in the office of Engle and Engle, 1539 Fourth Street, San Rafael, California.

The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the Contract if awarded to him and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said Contract after being requested to do so by the Lincoln School.

The Lincoln School reserves the right to reject any and all bids or waive any informality in the bid.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

. . .A YOUNG GIRL'S FANCY LIGHTLY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF RAH-RAH

Cheerleader tryouts come round each spring at high schools around the country and that often-traumatic day arrived at San Marin High School yesterday. At left Doreen Drake (who later was named one of five cheerleaders) was all concentration as she leaped into a yell. Then, as the contenders waited on pins and needles, the students voted (center). The face of Roberta Lampert (right) reflected anxiety and hope as she scanned the list of winners. (She was one of them). Cheerleaders selected by the students were Miss Drake, Janet Hayes, Jan Hickman, Michele McDonald and Sue Puccinelli. Named songleaders were Tina Briscoe, Rhonda Burgess, Denise De Sousa, Kathy Hamon, Denese Quinones, Debbie Sutherland and Miss Lampert.

Sonoma State To Give Out Diplomas Saturday

Many Marin and Southern Sonoma residents will be among the 1,000 students who will receive degrees from Sonoma State College at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During the commencement ceremony beside the college lake, retiring President Thomas H. McGrath will speak on "The Sonoma Experience."

Graduates will receive their diplomas individually this year, although in the past they were conferred in mass.

Four student speeches will be included in the program, including "Share with Love" by Lois Rawson; "Some Unbiased Remarks on Permissive Education" by Harriet Lionberger; "Thanks from Poverty" by Gildaido Ocequera, and "My Friends and I" by David Valentine.

Bertha Wims, als a graduating senior, will sing "Exodus," while additional music will be provided by the Sonoma State Symphonic Wind Ensemble under the direction of Dr. Lawrence Anderson.

After the ceremony, the five academic divisions of the college, the alumni association and the Mexican-American Studies Department will host several receptions on campus.

Marin and Southern Sonoma candidates for graduation and their degrees are:

Nixon Selects New Treasurer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Francine Neff, a Republican committeeman from New Mexico, is President Nixon's nominee as treasurer of the United States.

The nomination yesterday keeps the tradition that the job is given to a woman. Since 1949, the seven persons who have held the job have been women.

Mrs. Neff, 48, of Albuquerque, has been a GOP national member since 1970 and would succeed Romana Acosta Banuelos, who served from December 1971 until Feb. 14.

Climber Killed As Rope Breaks

MT. McKINLEY, Alaska (UPI) — A Japanese climber has died in a 1,500-foot fall while scaling Mt. McKinley, the National Park Service reported yesterday.

Rangers said Yoshikazu Okada, a member of the Tokyo-Osaka Alpine Club, was killed Monday when a fixed climbing rope broke.

Seven other members of the climbing team were reported to be descending from the 20,320-foot mountain —tallest in North America.

Nixon Tells Guests He's 'Not Guilty'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon told a group of conservative Congressmen last night that "if I was guilty, I'd get the hell out fast, but I'm not guilty."

Nixon's words were reported today by Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., one of 11 conservative lawmakers who accompanied Nixon on a three-hour dinner cruise on the Presidential yacht Sequoia on the Potomac River.

Montgomery, who said he took notes on the discussion, said Nixon was reluctant to even talk about impeachment but he did express concern about the impact of "such a drastic step" on future Presidents.

The Mississippi congressman said Nixon described the House impeachment inquiry as "basically a fight for what the office (of President) stands for." He cited a "great balance" that has existed between the executive and legislative branches of government in the past and expressed concern that "if something happens now, it would throw that balance off and this could happen to every president who disagrees with Congress."

Montgomery said Nixon spent a great deal of time discussing foreign affairs, the Mideast situation and a key domestic issue, inflation.

Transbay Phone Cable Damaged

OAKLAND (AP) — Most of the telephone service between San Francisco and Oakland was disrupted when a thick cable was partially drilled through in Oakland by a Southern Pacific work crew.

A Pacific Telephone Co. spokesman said many persons dialing between the two cities got busy signals during the first hours of the disruption yesterday. The cable was cut near 16th and Peralta Streets.

He said service was reduced up to two-thirds for several hours before circuits were rerouted, and he estimated that the cable would be repaired today.

Art Festival Is Tomorrow

Sir Francis Drake High School's art department will hold its annual art festival from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. tomorrow.

The event at the school's Little Theater will include exhibitions of jewelry, pottery, batik, photographs, paintings and other artwork.

A special music and drama program will be held at 8 p.m.

A Drake High News Bureau report in Tuesday's Independent-Journal erroneously said the event was to be held yesterday.

. . .A YOUNG GIRL'S FANCY LIGHTLY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF RAH-RAH

Cheerleader tryouts come round each spring at high schools around the country and that often-traumatic day arrived at San Marin High School yesterday. At left Doreen Drake (who later was named one of five cheerleaders) was all concentration as she leaped into a yell. Then, as the contenders waited on pins and needles, the students voted (center). The face of Roberta Lampert (right) reflected anxiety and hope as she scanned the list of winners. (She was one of them). Cheerleaders selected by the students were Miss Drake, Janet Hayes, Jan Hickman, Michele McDonald and Sue Puccinelli. Named songleaders were Tina Briscoe, Rhonda Burgess, Denise De Sousa, Kathy Hamon, Denese Quinones, Debbie Sutherland and Miss Lampert.

Sonoma State To Give Out Diplomas Saturday

Many Marin and Southern Sonoma residents will be among the 1,000 students who will receive degrees from Sonoma State College at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During the commencement ceremony beside the college lake, retiring President Thomas H. McGrath will speak on "The Sonoma Experience."

Graduates will receive their diplomas individually this year, although in the past they were conferred in mass.

Four student speeches will be included in the program, including "Share with Love" by Lois Rawson; "Some Unbiased Remarks on Permissive Education" by Harriet Lionberger; "Thanks from Poverty" by Gildaido Ocequera, and "My Friends and I" by David Valentine.

Bertha Wims, als a graduating senior, will sing "Exodus," while additional music will be provided by the Sonoma State Symphonic Wind Ensemble under the direction of Dr. Lawrence Anderson.

After the ceremony, the five academic divisions of the college, the alumni association and the Mexican-American Studies Department will host several receptions on campus.

Marin and Southern Sonoma candidates for graduation and their degrees are:

Nixon Selects New Treasurer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Francine Neff, a Republican committeeman from New Mexico, is President Nixon's nominee as treasurer of the United States.

The nomination yesterday keeps the tradition that the job is given to a woman. Since 1949, the seven persons who have held the job have been women.

Mrs. Neff, 48, of Albuquerque, has been a GOP national member since 1970 and would succeed Romana Acosta Banuelos, who served from December 1971 until Feb. 14.

Climber Killed As Rope Breaks

MT. McKINLEY, Alaska (UPI) — A Japanese climber has died in a 1,500-foot fall while scaling Mt. McKinley, the National Park Service reported yesterday.

Rangers said Yoshikazu Okada, a member of the Tokyo-Osaka Alpine Club, was killed Monday when a fixed climbing rope broke.

Seven other members of the climbing team were reported to be descending from the 20,320-foot mountain —tallest in North America.

Nixon Tells Guests He's 'Not Guilty'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon told a group of conservative Congressmen last night that "if I was guilty, I'd get the hell out fast, but I'm not guilty."

Nixon's words were reported today by Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., one of 11 conservative lawmakers who accompanied Nixon on a three-hour dinner cruise on the Presidential yacht Sequoia on the Potomac River.

Montgomery, who said he took notes on the discussion, said Nixon was reluctant to even talk about impeachment but he did express concern about the impact of "such a drastic step" on future Presidents.

The Mississippi congressman said Nixon described the House impeachment inquiry as "basically a fight for what the office (of President) stands for." He cited a "great balance" that has existed between the executive and legislative branches of government in the past and expressed concern that "if something happens now, it would throw that balance off and this could happen to every president who disagrees with Congress."

Montgomery said Nixon spent a great deal of time discussing foreign affairs, the Mideast situation and a key domestic issue, inflation.

Transbay Phone Cable Damaged

OAKLAND (AP) — Most of the telephone service between San Francisco and Oakland was disrupted when a thick cable was partially drilled through in Oakland by a Southern Pacific work crew.

A Pacific Telephone Co. spokesman said many persons dialing between the two cities got busy signals during the first hours of the disruption yesterday. The cable was cut near 16th and Peralta Streets.

He said service was reduced up to two-thirds for several hours before circuits were rerouted, and he estimated that the cable would be repaired today.

Art Festival Is Tomorrow

Sir Francis Drake High School's art department will hold its annual art festival from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. tomorrow.

The event at the school's Little Theater will include exhibitions of jewelry, pottery, batik, photographs, paintings and other artwork.

A special music and drama program will be held at 8 p.m.

A Drake High News Bureau report in Tuesday's Independent-Journal erroneously said the event was to be held yesterday.

Bees Will Make Jail Sweeter

PLEASANTON (UPI) — It'll be sweeter at the Alameda County Rehabilitation Center.

The county Board of Supervisors approved a request to place 100 beehives in the jail's northwest corner.

John Scroggs, a part-time beekeeper, said the county would receive 60 pounds of table honey a year as a result of the hives.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8 p.m. — "News Close-Up: The Culture Thieves" investigates the mounting illegal traffic in increasingly valuable objects of art — a story of looting, smuggling, and the destruction of much of the world's civilized past. Newsman Howard K. Smith will narrate the special documentary.

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 10 p.m. — In todays youth oriented society, thousands of middle-aged Americans spend millions of dollars each year in a frantic effort to look young. Reasons for this quest will be probed in "The Pursuit of Youth," a news special written by biochemist and author Isaac Asimov who examines the plight of Americans who are forced to retire at 55 or 60 years old even though they may have years of productive life ahead of them.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 10 p.m. — A wealthy woman's daughter is kidnapped and the firl's boy friend, who has a prison record, is implicated in "Chapel of the Damned," an episode of the weekly police drama series, "The Streets of San Francisco."

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 11:30 p.m. — J. Paul Getty III, grandson of the oil billionaire, who was kidnapped in Rome and held captive for five months until he was freed after the payment of a reported three million dollars, will make a special taped appearance on "The Dick Cavett Show," a "Wide World of Entertainment" presentation devoted entirely to the examination of the global outbreak of kidnappings.

Budget Hearings Are Scheduled In Mill Valley

Hearings on Mill Valley's proposed 1974-75 budget of $3,077,025 will be held at 8:30 p.m. today and at 9 a.m. Saturday at city hall.

At today's hearing City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher will summarize the budget and give estimates of revenue for next year.

On Saturday, the council will review the entire spending plan.

The budget proposed by Usher is up $146,401 higher than this year's.

Usher has not yet estimated whether the 1974-75 tax rate will be higher than this year's rate of $2.883 per $100 assessed valuation.

Concert Scheduled At Redwood High

Redwood High School's Jazz Ensemble and Swing Choir will present a concert June 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the school's little theater.

The ensemble will perform arrangements by Nestico, Brown and Kenton and the choir will sing tunes by Dave Bardhum, Anita Kerr and Jimmy Joyce. The combined groups will perform "Mack the Knife," arranged by Redwood music instructor Gary B. Walker.

No Diploma Without Passing Test

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — High school graduates will be required to know the 3-Rs and prove it by balancing a checkbook, filling out a job application and understanding a short income tax form.

Trustees of the San Francisco Unified School District decided unanimously Tuesday that those reading, writing and airthmetic tests would be minimum graduation standards for all seniors by June 1976.

"We have never established graduation requirements," said Trustee Lee Dolson, who wrote the resolution. "As a result, dozens of children emerge from school who can't even read or write.

"If we continue to cop out, we're reimposing another generation of children who are shortchanged educationally."

The district now has no requirements, although seniors generally are expected to have eighth grade reading and mathematics skills. Many do not.

Students in the district rank among the very lowest in the state in reading and mathematics achievement.

The district has about 80,000 students in kindergarten through high school.

Academy Pitch Made For Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon should quit making excuses and begin a sustained effort to find qualified women for entrance into the military academies, a New York congressman said yesterday.

Testifying before a House Armed Services subcommittee hearing on a bill to open academies to women, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., criticized the Pentagon for opposing the legislation. "They have no official arguments, only excuses," he said.

Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements Jr. had written the committee saying the "academy's mission is to produce male officers to fill combat billets." To admit women would reduce "the number of critically needed males." Stratton labeled the combat argument, "unmitigated nonsense."

More Rich Beat State Income Tax

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Some 288 Californians with incomes exceeding $50,000 paid no state income taxes in 1973 — almost three times the 101 "easy riders" in the same bracket who escaped taxation in 1972, it was disclosed yesterday.

The number of such persons in the $20,000-$50,000 income bracket rose from 1,774 in the 1972 tax-paying year to 2,105 in 1973; and 39 persons earning in excess of $100,000 paid no taxes last year, compared with 21 in 1972.

The figures were disclosed by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, who had requested the tabulation by the state Franchise Tax Board.

"The upward trend in numbers of tax-free returns underscores the critical need for tax reform so we can tax these easy riders," said Dymally, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

"Can you imagine having an income of $1 million and getting an income tax rebate to boot? It must be a good feeling," he told a news conference.

Dymally also disclosed Franchise Tax Board statistics showing the state's 10 largest oil firms paid a record $22.8 million in state income taxes in 1972 on net income of $249 million — "making 1972 their second best year in five years up to that time."

"This raises serious questions about the oil companies' claims that 1972 was a "bad year" when they try to explain away the huge percentage increases in their 1973 profits," Dymally said.

Dymally said he could not explain why the number of tax-free returns rose in 1973.

"Franchise Tax Board spokesmen say they cannot explain the increase, that it may have been partly a result of improved statistical methods," he added.

"Or it may have come about from a 1971 tax law change that was supposed to squeeze down a tax break on investment interest, but may have worked the opposite way," Dymally said.

Circus Is Sponsored By Firemen

The Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen's Assn. is sponsoring American Continental Circus performances at Tamalpais High school Sunday at 1:30 and 5 p.m.

Scott Myers of the association said 20 per cent of the gate receipts will go to the association to support its programs and charities.

Out of $1,174 that came to the association last year from the circus, the group gave $200 to Marin Aid to Retarded Children, $200 to the Marin Autistic Society and $200 to the College of Marin film library. The rest of the proceeds went to the firemen's association sick and relief fund, he said.

Telephone solicitation to sell circus tickets will be done by circus organizers.

Acts will include juggling, high wire walking, balancing, chimpanzees, trapeze artists, elephants and performing lions.

Legal Opinion Is Given In Poetic Fashion

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Attorney General Warren Rudman has replied to a request for a legal opinion on a poem with an opinion and another poem.

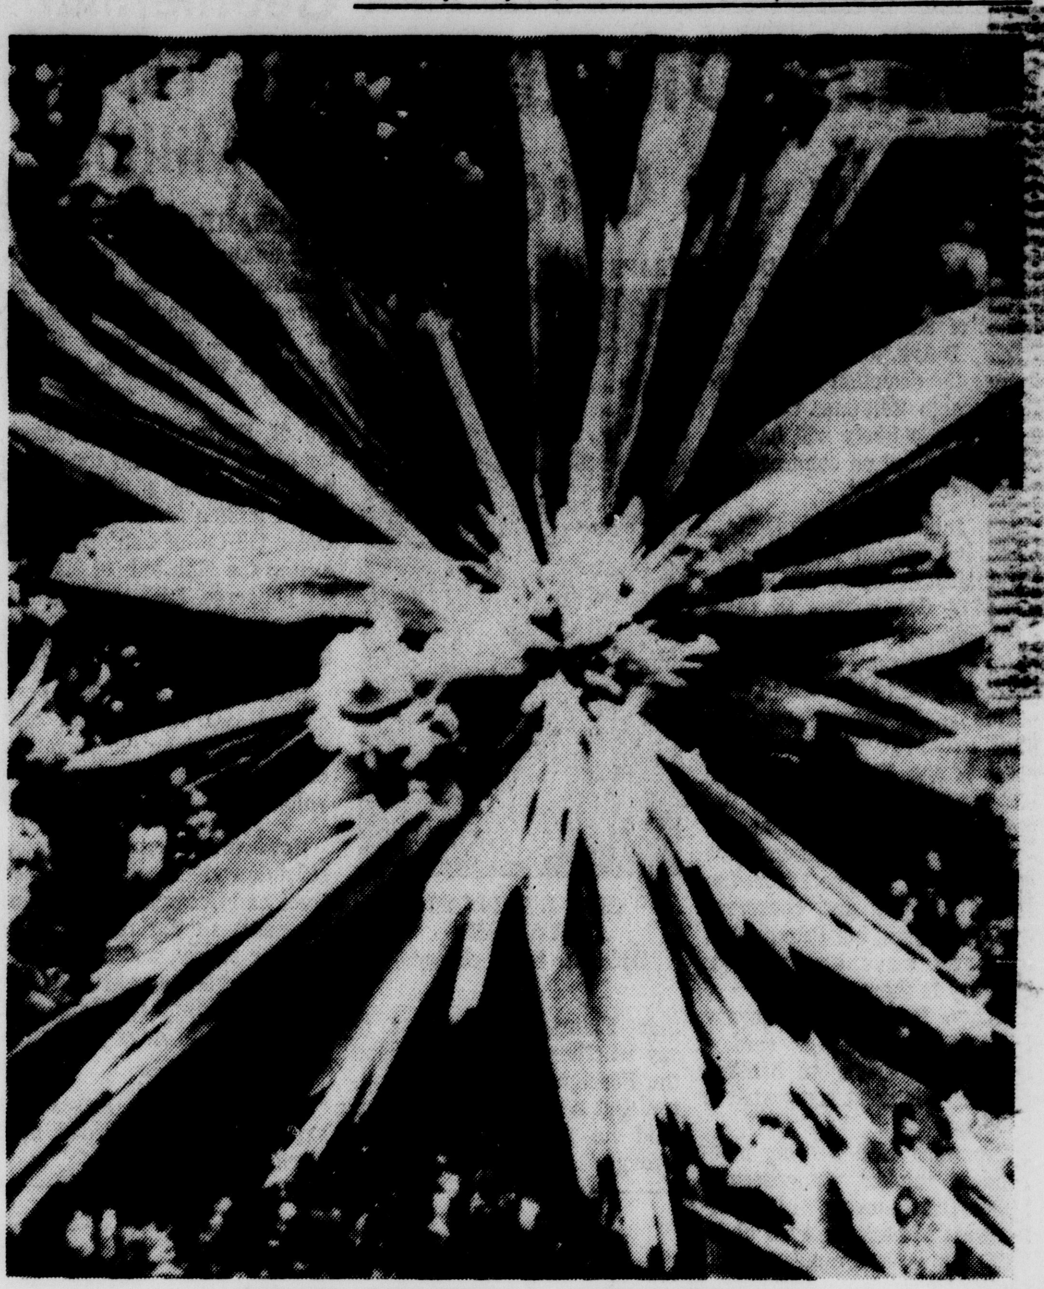
The state refused a grant of $750 for the small poetry magazine, "The Granite," because it included a poem called "Castrating the Cat."

The poem used blunt language which Gov. Meldrim Thomson termed "filth."

Rudman said the poem did not fall within the U.S. Supreme Court guidelines on obscenity or pornography, but that those guidelines had nothing to do with determination by government officials of how tax funds should be used.

He said the governor and Executive Council can "refuse a grant to anyone for any reason."

Attached to Rudman's legal opinion was this unsigned poem: "For a grant to the Granite Use no language worse than dammit; For we're averse to printing verse That oversteps this common curse. If you think dirty words are so funny Don't print them with taxpayer's money For we'll never part With money for art If to do so would waste Public cash on bad taste."



LEAD CRYSTAL CREATION

Had it been entered in a flower show it might have taken the grand prize, but it's not a flower. In fact it is a lead crystal, magnified 2,000 times, produced by a chemical action on the negative electrode of a lead acid battery. It was made with a scanning electron microscope at the General Electric Research and Development Center in Schenectady, N.Y., as part of the research into making longer lived batteries.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Rocky Survival Road Is Seen For Emmy-Winning TV Show

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — One would think that the children's TV series called "Zoom," having won its second Emmy award in two years, would be on Easy Street now. But one would be very wrong, says David Ives.

He's president of Boston's WGBH, the station that has produced "Zoom" since January, 1971, and he says he's worried whether the series will survive public TV's version of the auction block.

"This is one of those odd stories in the whole Emmy business," he says. "Some people have said the Emmy award is the kiss of death. I just hope to God it isn't this time."

The source of his concern is the Public Broadcasting Service's new national program cooperative, in which stations are now asked to pay a percentage of some national shows they once got gratis.

"Zoom" is one of those shows. It's getting no federal funds next season from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. CPB says it no longer will finance public TV series beyond two years.

Under the new cooperative plan, now undergoing a series of initial price rounds, the final per-station price of each show involved rises or falls, depending on the number of stations willing to pay.

What worries Ives is that many stations may decide the "Zoom" price is too high and drop out of the early bidding, thereby increasing the tab for those still interested.

And those stations in turn may subsequently decide the new price is too high and that they'd rather put their money into series that'll offer them more programs next season than "Zoom" will.

"And if the price is roughly the same," Ives says, "there's going to be a tendency — and it's showing up already — for the stations to want more programming for the dollars they put up.

"So that's the ironic situation," says Ives. "Here is "Zoom," winning its second Emmy in a row against the best competition the commercial boys could put up, then facing this situation.

"The economics of public broadcasting this year are raising some questions about whether it's going to make it or not. And it's got us worried at the moment."

The series, one of seven children's shows offered by the cooperative, isn't cheap. The tab is more than $1.4 million for 32 new half-hour shows for next season.

Border Patrol Denies Allowing Aliens To Cross Mexican Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service yesterday denied charges that the Border Patrol is deliberately allowing illegal aliens to cross the Mexican border to work on California farms.

Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., who has headed the Immigration Service since November, said charges by United Farm Workers leader Cesar Chavez of collusion between the Border Patrol and California growers were "an unjustified slur" against the federal agents.

"The U.S. Immigration Servide is not in cahoots with growers or any other employer," Chapman said.

The former Marine Corps commandant said the 1,700 Border Patrol agents expect to have apprehended 800,000 illegal aliens by the end of the fiscal year on June 30. Of these, he said, about 700,000 would be aliens who crossed over from Mexico.

Another Immigration Service official said about 200,000 aliens were picked up in California during the first 10 months of the 1974 fiscal year and that the total was expected to reach about 250,000 by the end of June.

Chapman did not dispute Chavez' contention that "a flood of illegal aliens" had invaded California fields, but said this was due to lack of manpower to cope with the large numbers who cross the border illegally.

The commissioner also said it was not possible to estimate how many illegal aliens escape apprehension.

"If we could catch them, we could count them," he said. Immigration officials also denied charges made by Chavez recently that there was "a deliberate misallocation" of border patrol officers away from the California border. Of the patrol's 1,700 officers, they said, 490 are assigned to watch the relatively short segment of the border.

Officials noted that the budget for the next fiscal year would provide for some increase in the Border Patrol but said it would not be enough to contend with the large number of illegal crossings.

They estimated that the Border Patrol would pick up between 900,000 and 1 million illegal aliens in the 1975 fiscal year beginning July 1.

A spokesman for the Immigration Service said the agency was strongly in favor of legislation introduced by Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee to make it unlawful to employ illegal aliens. The bill has been passed the House but the Senate has not yet acted on it.

The Immigration Service official said it was hoped that passage of the bill would reduce the number of aliens crossing the border to seek work.

Drive Slowly And Quietly

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Motorists in Utah's capital may soon have to drive quietly —as well as slowly —through police speed traps in order to avoid a ticket.

Police officials are toying with the idea of merging noise monitors with radar units to catch both the fast and the offensively loud cars, trucks and motorcycles.

Assistant Police Chief Dewey J. Fillis suggested the idea after Public Safety Commissioner Glen N. Greener complained that the health department, which enforces the city's noise ordinance, had too few employes to really crack down on loud vehicles.

Since the noise ordinance was adopted several months ago, about 250 vehicles have been cited for violating the noise standard.

Count Of Firing Gun Admitted

A Waldo Point man pleaded guilty yesterday to a misdemeanor count of shooting a gun on private property, and was sentenced to 90 days in Marin County Jail and fined $100.

Patrick Michael Quinn, 28, thus averted a scheduled trial in Marin Municipal Court. He was sentenced by Judge Peter Allen Smith.

A second man arrested with Quinn, John Bonner Davison, 33, of Fetters Hot Springs, Sonoma County, faces a Marin Superior Court trial the week of Aug. 19.

He is charged with the same gun count as Quinn, plus possessing amphetamines for sale, narcotics paraphernalia and a switchblade knife.

Marin Sheriff's Deputies arrested the pair in April in Marin City.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8 p.m. — "News Close-Up: The Culture Thieves" investigates the mounting illegal traffic in increasingly valuable objects of art — a story of looting, smuggling, and the destruction of much of the world's civilized past. Newsman Howard K. Smith will narrate the special documentary.

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 10 p.m. — In todays youth oriented society, thousands of middle-aged Americans spend millions of dollars each year in a frantic effort to look young. Reasons for this quest will be probed in "The Pursuit of Youth," a news special written by biochemist and author Isaac Asimov who examines the plight of Americans who are forced to retire at 55 or 60 years old even though they may have years of productive life ahead of them.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 10 p.m. — A wealthy woman's daughter is kidnapped and the firl's boy friend, who has a prison record, is implicated in "Chapel of the Damned," an episode of the weekly police drama series, "The Streets of San Francisco."

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 11:30 p.m. — J. Paul Getty III, grandson of the oil billionaire, who was kidnapped in Rome and held captive for five months until he was freed after the payment of a reported three million dollars, will make a special taped appearance on "The Dick Cavett Show," a "Wide World of Entertainment" presentation devoted entirely to the examination of the global outbreak of kidnappings.

Bees Will Make Jail Sweeter

PLEASANTON (UPI) — It'll be sweeter at the Alameda County Rehabilitation Center.

The county Board of Supervisors approved a request to place 100 beehives in the jail's northwest corner.

John Scroggs, a part-time beekeeper, said the county would receive 60 pounds of table honey a year as a result of the hives.

Budget Hearings Are Scheduled In Mill Valley

Hearings on Mill Valley's proposed 1974-75 budget of $3,077,025 will be held at 8:30 p.m. today and at 9 a.m. Saturday at city hall.

At today's hearing City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher will summarize the budget and give estimates of revenue for next year.

On Saturday, the council will review the entire spending plan.

The budget proposed by Usher is up $146,401 higher than this year's.

Usher has not yet estimated whether the 1974-75 tax rate will be higher than this year's rate of $2.883 per $100 assessed valuation.

Concert Scheduled At Redwood High

Redwood High School's Jazz Ensemble and Swing Choir will present a concert June 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the school's little theater.

The ensemble will perform arrangements by Nestico, Brown and Kenton and the choir will sing tunes by Dave Bardhum, Anita Kerr and Jimmy Joyce. The combined groups will perform "Mack the Knife," arranged by Redwood music instructor Gary B. Walker.

No Diploma Without Passing Test

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — High school graduates will be required to know the 3-Rs and prove it by balancing a checkbook, filling out a job application and understanding a short income tax form.

Trustees of the San Francisco Unified School District decided unanimously Tuesday that those reading, writing and airthmetic tests would be minimum graduation standards for all seniors by June 1976.

"We have never established graduation requirements," said Trustee Lee Dolson, who wrote the resolution. "As a result, dozens of children emerge from school who can't even read or write.

"If we continue to cop out, we're reimposing another generation of children who are shortchanged educationally."

The district now has no requirements, although seniors generally are expected to have eighth grade reading and mathematics skills. Many do not.

Students in the district rank among the very lowest in the state in reading and mathematics achievement.

The district has about 80,000 students in kindergarten through high school.

Academy Pitch Made For Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon should quit making excuses and begin a sustained effort to find qualified women for entrance into the military academies, a New York congressman said yesterday.

Testifying before a House Armed Services subcommittee hearing on a bill to open academies to women, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., criticized the Pentagon for opposing the legislation. "They have no official arguments, only excuses," he said.

Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements Jr. had written the committee saying the "academy's mission is to produce male officers to fill combat billets." To admit women would reduce "the number of critically needed males." Stratton labeled the combat argument, "unmitigated nonsense."

More Rich Beat State Income Tax

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Some 288 Californians with incomes exceeding $50,000 paid no state income taxes in 1973 — almost three times the 101 "easy riders" in the same bracket who escaped taxation in 1972, it was disclosed yesterday.

The number of such persons in the $20,000-$50,000 income bracket rose from 1,774 in the 1972 tax-paying year to 2,105 in 1973; and 39 persons earning in excess of $100,000 paid no taxes last year, compared with 21 in 1972.

The figures were disclosed by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, who had requested the tabulation by the state Franchise Tax Board.

"The upward trend in numbers of tax-free returns underscores the critical need for tax reform so we can tax these easy riders," said Dymally, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

"Can you imagine having an income of $1 million and getting an income tax rebate to boot? It must be a good feeling," he told a news conference.

Dymally also disclosed Franchise Tax Board statistics showing the state's 10 largest oil firms paid a record $22.8 million in state income taxes in 1972 on net income of $249 million — "making 1972 their second best year in five years up to that time."

"This raises serious questions about the oil companies' claims that 1972 was a "bad year" when they try to explain away the huge percentage increases in their 1973 profits," Dymally said.

Dymally said he could not explain why the number of tax-free returns rose in 1973.

"Franchise Tax Board spokesmen say they cannot explain the increase, that it may have been partly a result of improved statistical methods," he added.

"Or it may have come about from a 1971 tax law change that was supposed to squeeze down a tax break on investment interest, but may have worked the opposite way," Dymally said.

Circus Is Sponsored By Firemen

The Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen's Assn. is sponsoring American Continental Circus performances at Tamalpais High school Sunday at 1:30 and 5 p.m.

Scott Myers of the association said 20 per cent of the gate receipts will go to the association to support its programs and charities.

Out of $1,174 that came to the association last year from the circus, the group gave $200 to Marin Aid to Retarded Children, $200 to the Marin Autistic Society and $200 to the College of Marin film library. The rest of the proceeds went to the firemen's association sick and relief fund, he said.

Telephone solicitation to sell circus tickets will be done by circus organizers.

Acts will include juggling, high wire walking, balancing, chimpanzees, trapeze artists, elephants and performing lions.

Legal Opinion Is Given In Poetic Fashion

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Attorney General Warren Rudman has replied to a request for a legal opinion on a poem with an opinion and another poem.

The state refused a grant of $750 for the small poetry magazine, "The Granite," because it included a poem called "Castrating the Cat."

The poem used blunt language which Gov. Meldrim Thomson termed "filth."

Rudman said the poem did not fall within the U.S. Supreme Court guidelines on obscenity or pornography, but that those guidelines had nothing to do with determination by government officials of how tax funds should be used.

He said the governor and Executive Council can "refuse a grant to anyone for any reason."

Attached to Rudman's legal opinion was this unsigned poem: "For a grant to the Granite Use no language worse than dammit; For we're averse to printing verse That oversteps this common curse. If you think dirty words are so funny Don't print them with taxpayer's money For we'll never part With money for art If to do so would waste Public cash on bad taste."

LEAD CRYSTAL CREATION

Had it been entered in a flower show it might have taken the grand prize, but it's not a flower. In fact it is a lead crystal, magnified 2,000 times, produced by a chemical action on the negative electrode of a lead acid battery. It was made with a scanning electron microscope at the General Electric Research and Development Center in Schenectady, N.Y., as part of the research into making longer lived batteries.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Rocky Survival Road Is Seen For Emmy-Winning TV Show

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — One would think that the children's TV series called "Zoom," having won its second Emmy award in two years, would be on Easy Street now. But one would be very wrong, says David Ives.

He's president of Boston's WGBH, the station that has produced "Zoom" since January, 1971, and he says he's worried whether the series will survive public TV's version of the auction block.

"This is one of those odd stories in the whole Emmy business," he says. "Some people have said the Emmy award is the kiss of death. I just hope to God it isn't this time."

The source of his concern is the Public Broadcasting Service's new national program cooperative, in which stations are now asked to pay a percentage of some national shows they once got gratis.

"Zoom" is one of those shows. It's getting no federal funds next season from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. CPB says it no longer will finance public TV series beyond two years.

Under the new cooperative plan, now undergoing a series of initial price rounds, the final per-station price of each show involved rises or falls, depending on the number of stations willing to pay.

What worries Ives is that many stations may decide the "Zoom" price is too high and drop out of the early bidding, thereby increasing the tab for those still interested.

And those stations in turn may subsequently decide the new price is too high and that they'd rather put their money into series that'll offer them more programs next season than "Zoom" will.

"And if the price is roughly the same," Ives says, "there's going to be a tendency — and it's showing up already — for the stations to want more programming for the dollars they put up.

"So that's the ironic situation," says Ives. "Here is "Zoom," winning its second Emmy in a row against the best competition the commercial boys could put up, then facing this situation.

"The economics of public broadcasting this year are raising some questions about whether it's going to make it or not. And it's got us worried at the moment."

The series, one of seven children's shows offered by the cooperative, isn't cheap. The tab is more than $1.4 million for 32 new half-hour shows for next season.

Border Patrol Denies Allowing Aliens To Cross Mexican Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service yesterday denied charges that the Border Patrol is deliberately allowing illegal aliens to cross the Mexican border to work on California farms.

Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., who has headed the Immigration Service since November, said charges by United Farm Workers leader Cesar Chavez of collusion between the Border Patrol and California growers were "an unjustified slur" against the federal agents.

"The U.S. Immigration Servide is not in cahoots with growers or any other employer," Chapman said.

The former Marine Corps commandant said the 1,700 Border Patrol agents expect to have apprehended 800,000 illegal aliens by the end of the fiscal year on June 30. Of these, he said, about 700,000 would be aliens who crossed over from Mexico.

Another Immigration Service official said about 200,000 aliens were picked up in California during the first 10 months of the 1974 fiscal year and that the total was expected to reach about 250,000 by the end of June.

Chapman did not dispute Chavez' contention that "a flood of illegal aliens" had invaded California fields, but said this was due to lack of manpower to cope with the large numbers who cross the border illegally.

The commissioner also said it was not possible to estimate how many illegal aliens escape apprehension.

"If we could catch them, we could count them," he said. Immigration officials also denied charges made by Chavez recently that there was "a deliberate misallocation" of border patrol officers away from the California border. Of the patrol's 1,700 officers, they said, 490 are assigned to watch the relatively short segment of the border.

Officials noted that the budget for the next fiscal year would provide for some increase in the Border Patrol but said it would not be enough to contend with the large number of illegal crossings.

They estimated that the Border Patrol would pick up between 900,000 and 1 million illegal aliens in the 1975 fiscal year beginning July 1.

A spokesman for the Immigration Service said the agency was strongly in favor of legislation introduced by Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee to make it unlawful to employ illegal aliens. The bill has been passed the House but the Senate has not yet acted on it.

The Immigration Service official said it was hoped that passage of the bill would reduce the number of aliens crossing the border to seek work.

Drive Slowly And Quietly

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Motorists in Utah's capital may soon have to drive quietly —as well as slowly —through police speed traps in order to avoid a ticket.

Police officials are toying with the idea of merging noise monitors with radar units to catch both the fast and the offensively loud cars, trucks and motorcycles.

Assistant Police Chief Dewey J. Fillis suggested the idea after Public Safety Commissioner Glen N. Greener complained that the health department, which enforces the city's noise ordinance, had too few employes to really crack down on loud vehicles.

Since the noise ordinance was adopted several months ago, about 250 vehicles have been cited for violating the noise standard.

Count Of Firing Gun Admitted

A Waldo Point man pleaded guilty yesterday to a misdemeanor count of shooting a gun on private property, and was sentenced to 90 days in Marin County Jail and fined $100.

Patrick Michael Quinn, 28, thus averted a scheduled trial in Marin Municipal Court. He was sentenced by Judge Peter Allen Smith.

A second man arrested with Quinn, John Bonner Davison, 33, of Fetters Hot Springs, Sonoma County, faces a Marin Superior Court trial the week of Aug. 19.

He is charged with the same gun count as Quinn, plus possessing amphetamines for sale, narcotics paraphernalia and a switchblade knife.

Marin Sheriff's Deputies arrested the pair in April in Marin City.

Senate Direction Likely To Change

By DON PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The defeat of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., not only could change the direction of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but also likely will have a profound effect on congressional economic policy.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., is all but certain to relinquish his chairmanship of the Senate Banking Committee to take Fulbright's post as Foreign Relations chairman, according to sources close to Sparkman.

This would propel Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to the head of the Banking Committee, a prospect that has left the nation's bankers rather uneasy.

Over the years, bankers have learned what to expect from the rather low-key and conservative Sparkman, but Proxmire is in many ways an unknown quantity to them.

"There is at least an uneasy feeling about him," said a source in Washington banking circles. "We don't know what to expect."

Proxmire is a fiercely independent thinker, sometimes a maverick among his colleagues, sometimes even abrasive. He is a compulsive and seemingly tireless worker.

Proxmire also is an acknowledged expert on economic affairs.

But Proxmire, though he may be liberal in many areas, is not an economic liberal. He is basically a conservative economist who believes in a balanced budget and controlled government spending on which he wants to put a ceiling.

While other Senate liberals have been calling for a tax cut for individuals, Proxmire has joined conservative Republicans in damning a tax cut as inflationary.

Whatever his economic philosophy, the Banking Committee is likely to become more active under Proxmire and to keep a much closer eye on banking and economic interests.

Fulbright was beaten by Gov. Dale Bumpers in the Arkansas Democratic primary Tuesday. Sparkman, whose foreign policy views have been much more in tune with the administration than Fulbright's, declined to say whether he wants to head the Foreign Relations Committee. But a source close to him said he was "leaning very strongly" toward it.

Tam High School To Present Play

The 1950s play "Bernadine" will be presented by the Tamalpais High School drama department at 8 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday in Ruby Scott Auditorium on campus, the school has announced.

Performance also will be staged at 8 p.m. June 5, 6, 7 and 8. The anxieties of teen-age life in the 50s, from chocolate malt and french fry addiction to the metal flake and chrome wheel auto syndrome, will be dealt with in the drama.

Principal roles will be played by James Chestnut, Anthony Fuscio, Paula Nitsunaga and Alison Hall. Director is teacher Dan Caldwell.

Summer School Calendar Passed

A summer school calendar has been adopted by the Petaluma Board of Education.

Elementary classes at McDowell School will be held from July 8 to Aug. 2, according to the schedule approved Tuesday. Special education classes will be offered at Grant and Valley Vista schools from June 17 to July 12.

Secondary summer school sessions at Kenilworth and Rohnert Park junior high schools will take place from June 17 to July 26.

Geothermal Bids Top $2 Million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — High bids totaling $2.27 million were received yesterday by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management for sale of geothermal steam leases on two tracts in Sonoma County.

J. R. Penny, California director of the BLM, said the Natomas Co. made a high bid of $2.055 million for 625 acres and Union Oil Co. of California submitted the high bids of $220,342 for 168 acres. Both tracts are in the geysers area which has geothermal resource potential.

He said both tracts had been offered last January but bids were rejected by the secretary of the interior as being below valuations.

However, Union Oil has conservation rights on the larger tract and Occidental Petroleum possesses similar rights on the smaller parcel, and as a result both could be awarded the leases if they submit matching high bids within 30 days of written notice.

Penny said the leases are expected to be awarded next week.

Lightning Storms Leave Seven Dead

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

A storm system which swept from the Central Plains to Ohio brought death by lightning to seven persons in the Midwest yesterday.

Four young girls and a woman died in the St. Louis area, and to the eastward two men were killed in Indiana.

Jimmie Hibbs, 19, was standing under a tree in Columbus, Ind., and was killed by a lightning bolt. A 15-year-old girl standing with him was injured. In Spencer, Ind., John Vaughn, 68, died when hit by flying wood from a tree struck by lightning, and the fragments injured another man.

The bodies of four teen-aged girls were found huddled together under a tree near a high school in the St. Louis suburb of Manchester. Authorities said they apparently burned to death after being struck by lightning.

The girls, who got out of school early after taking final exams, were taking a shortcut through the woods to their homes.

Two women were hit by lightning in north St. Louis County when they sought shelter under a tree on a golf course. One died several hours later at a hospital. The other was treated and released.

A Kensett, Iowa, school lost its roof when a tornado blew through the town. Several persons were injured by flying glass. Livestock were killed by storms throughout northern Iowa.

Heavy thunderstorms plagued Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, and Ohio into the night last night. More thunderstorm activity was reported in southern Alabama, Texas, Delaware and Virginia. Showers and thundershowers hit West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and from Wyoming and Montana into eastern Washington.

Hail the size of golf balls pounded the Columbia, Mo., area, parts of northwest Nebraska, Kansas, central Indiana and Iowa. At Esterville, Iowa, the hail smashed through windows and cars.

Late last night, tornado warnings were in effect in Sullivan County, Ind., Clinton County, Iowa, and Boone and Callaway counties in Missouri.

Dense fog, billowing off Lake Michigan, reduced visibility from a quarter of a mile to zero in Chicago early today. Planes were still able to take off from O'Hare International Airport. Meigs Field, which reported zero visibility, had no traffic.

Isolated thundershowers were reported along the central Gulf Coast and in the northern Rockies and a heat wave enveloped Texas.

The National Weather Service predicted showers and thunderstorms scattered from the mid Atlantic Coast through the Ohio Valley and the southern portion of the upper Great Lakes today.

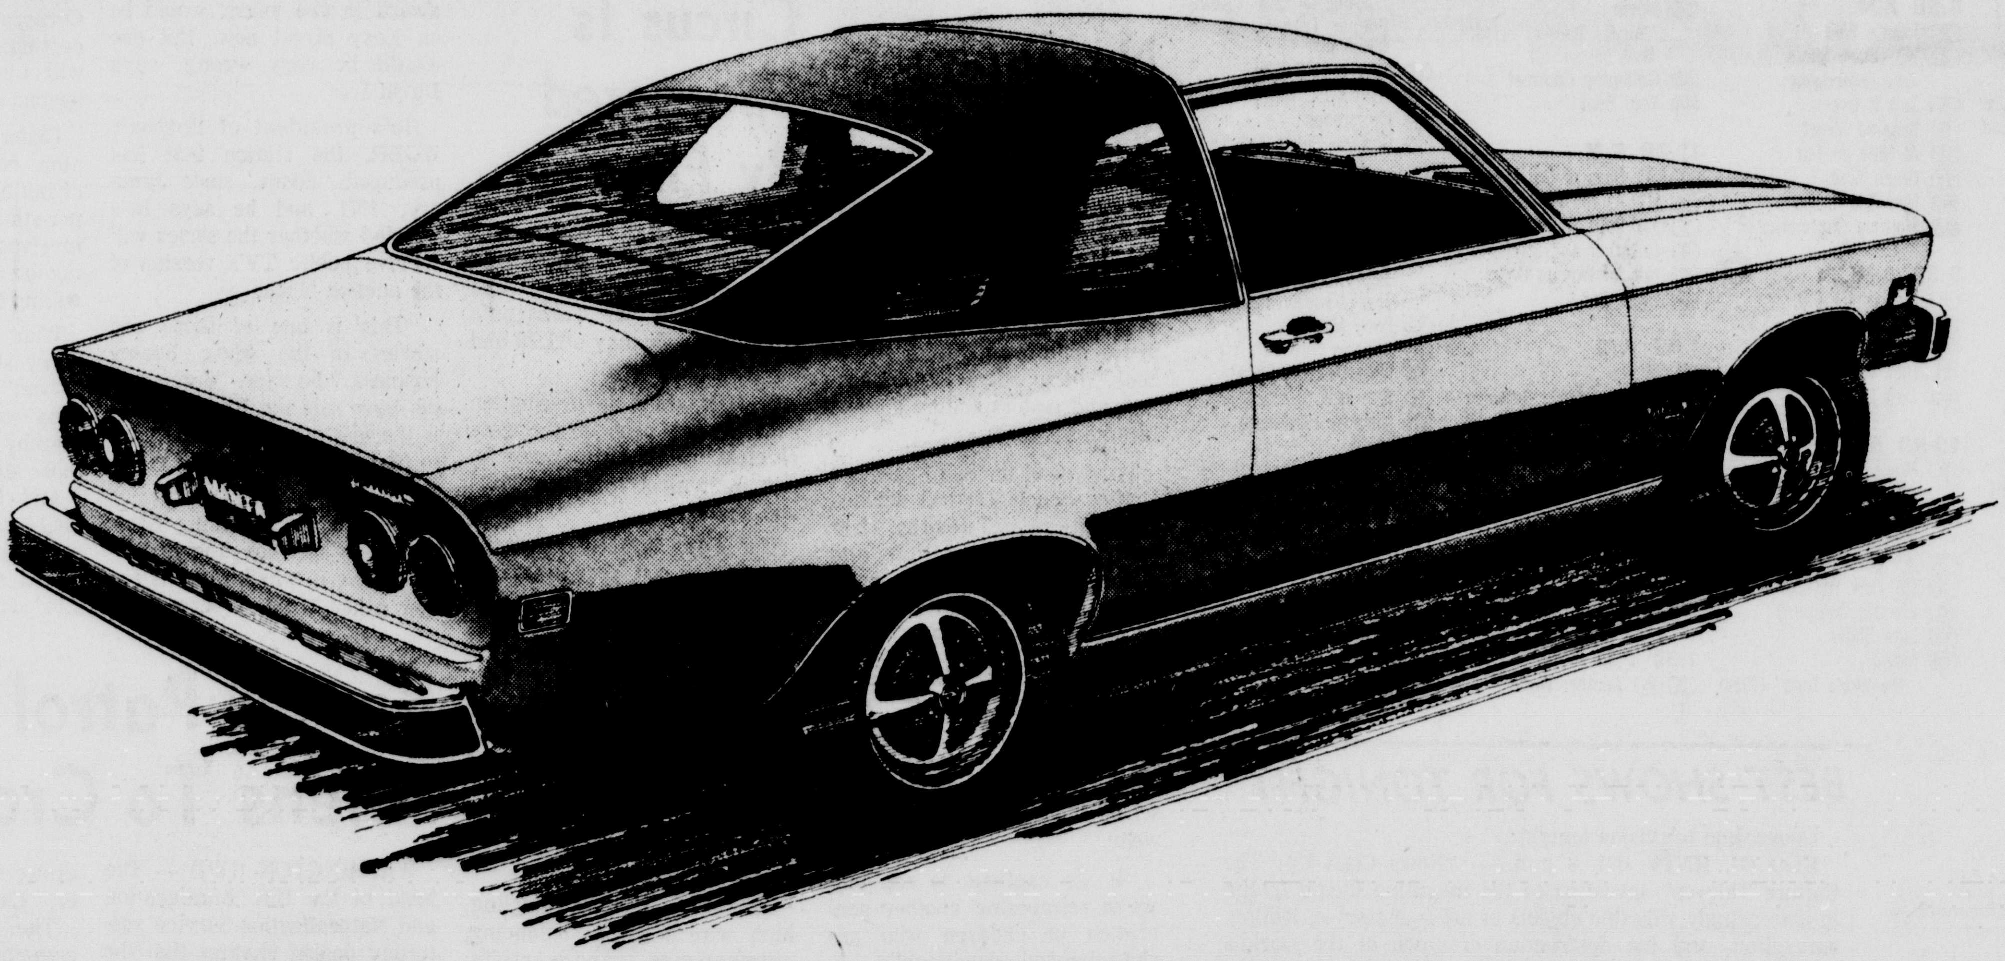
Introducing the Opel Manta Landau.



That landau top won't make Opel faster. It won't make the Manta tougher in the corners. It won't really change the way Opel approaches a stretch of road, in other words.

It's simply the kind of roofline a lot of people like. And since we like to please people, we're now offering a landau top for our Opel Manta.

All we ask is that you keep one thing in mind. The least important thing about an Opel Manta is what kind of top it has—landau, plain vinyl, or paint.

Because deep down inside—where it most certainly counts—Opel is a driver's car.

After all, the Manta was designed for people who think a whole lot more of gas economy than they do of chrome. For people who think great cornering ranks up there with Wagner and Beethoven. For people who think a great suspension is one that helps hold the road . . . not one that makes the road disappear.

But enough philosophy. Let's get a bit more specific.

Economical performance is at the bottom of it all.

The heart of an Opel's economy is a small, precision-built, 1900cc, cam-in-head, 4-cylinder engine.

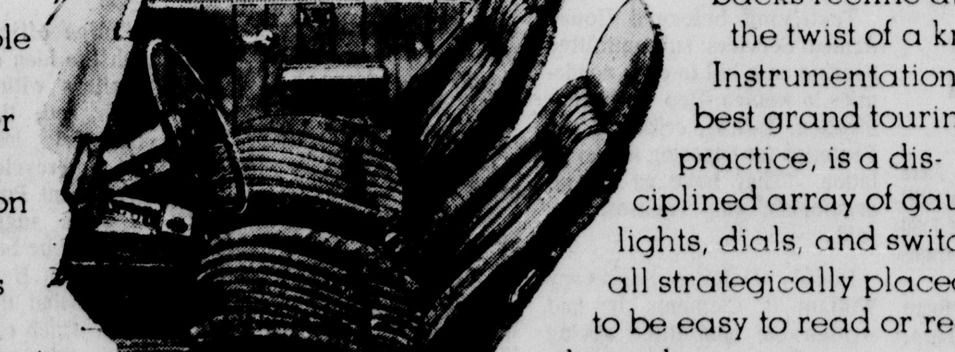
Mated to this is a standard 4-speed transmission (although a 3-speed automatic is also available).

Front and rear stabilizer bars are standard, as is rack-and-pinion steering and power front disc brakes.

No-nonsense seating, instrumentation.

Front bucket seats are designed for comfort in turns as well as long stretches of highway. They're upholstered in long-wearing, perforated vinyl. And the seatbacks recline at the twist of a knob.

Instrumentation, in best grand touring practice, is a disciplined array of gauges, lights, dials, and switches, all strategically placed to be easy to read or reach, depending.



Reclining bucket seats, standard.

A proven best-seller.

Top Hobbies Now Move To Outdoors

With the advent of warm weather, Marinites are spending more and more time outdoors and the effect is definitely felt in the hobby business, according to Mike Illich, president of the Hobby Tree in the Corte Madera Center.

"At the Hobby Tree, we've been experiencing a continued interest in almost all crafts and hobbies," Illich said. "It seems that more people are simply interested in making their leisure time count. I'm really amazed at the amount of business we're doing in what used to be considered off season crafts.

"The most popular items now are those that lend themselves to either being outside or going along on an outing. Kites, kite kits, kite books and the sticks and tissue paper to make them are very popular right now. A lot more people are into kite flying now and many are interested in more sophisticated models and in making their own designs," he noted.

"Macrame is very popular now, especially macrame plant hangers which go along with spring planting. Actually, macrame will probably be popular all summer since it's so easy to take along out-of-doors. Weaving falls in the same category as far as portability is concerned", Illich said. "Of course, model rockets and control time flying model airplanes are very popular now. They only work outside and now that the weather's right, a lot of people frustrated by the long winter are resuming these hobbies with a vengeance. Also, a lot of schools are offering courses in model rocketry as part of their enrichment programs and this has created many new enthusiasts."

Illich went on to say that at the Hobby Tree they are experiencing a large customer demand for those items that make painting more portable." We've been selling a lot of cases for paints, air tight boxes for pallets, and portable easels. Also art books concerned with painting or sketching out of doors are in great demand," and a lot of people are into needle work such as needlepoint, crewel, knitting and old fashioned embroidery.

LIBERTY BELL REPLICA

Now on display at the Hobby Tree in the Corte Madera Center is this one-fifth size replica of the Liberty Bell, one of only 2,400 to be manufactured in connection with the nation's bicentennial celebration. Those wishing to hear the bell's pure E-flat note may do so by purchasing a "Shoot the Works" button which entitles them to one ring. Proceeds from the sale of the buttons will help finance this year's Corte Madera-Larkspur fireworks display.

Penney Points Out Hazard With Bikes

J.C. Penney Co. has reported a potential safety problem involving the front fork of approximately 110,000 bicycles manufactured in Austria by Juniorwerke Ing Franz Weiss.

Penney said the problem may be present on 10-speed, 5-speed, and 3-speed men's and women's Penney bicycles which were sold through stores and catalogs starting in late 1972.

Penney further pointed out that the problem involves only bicycles with a "made in Austria" decal affixed to the post which supports the seat. Bicycles with chrome-plated forks do not present any problem.

The company has urged customers who determine that they have bicycles with the potential fork problem to stop riding them immediately. Customers should return the bicycles for free fork replacement either to the nearest Penney store selling bicycles or to the in-store catalog sales center from which the individual bicycle was purchased.

Catalog customers who purchased by mail should contact the customer service section at the nearest Penney Catalog Distribution Center in either Atlanta, Ga., or Milwaukee, Wis.

Auction Buck Sale Is Slated

The Corte Madera Center Merchants Association wishes to remind everyone that the Auction Buck Sale will be held June 1 in the Central Mall.

Bidding will begin at 2 p.m. with a color TV to be auctioned off first.

CMC Auction Bucks will be the only valid means of bidding.

Endangered Species

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men have placed bounties on wolf pelts for more than 2,500 years. The animals have been speared, clubbed, shot, trapped, poisoned and machine-gunned from airplanes. They have been so decimated that today wolves are listed as an endangered species.

lot more people are into kite flying now and many are interested in more sophisticated models and in making their own designs," he noted.

"Macrame is very popular now, especially macrame plant hangers which go along with spring planting. Actually, macrame will probably be popular all summer since it's so easy to take along out-of-doors. Weaving falls in the same category as far as portability is concerned", Illich said. "Of course, model rockets and control time flying model airplanes are very popular now. They only work outside and now that the weather's right, a lot of people frustrated by the long winter are resuming these hobbies with a vengeance. Also, a lot of schools are offering courses in model rocketry as part of their enrichment programs and this has created many new enthusiasts."

Illich went on to say that at the Hobby Tree they are experiencing a large customer demand for those items that make painting more portable." We've been selling a lot of cases for paints, air tight boxes for pallets, and portable easels. Also art books concerned with painting or sketching out of doors are in great demand," and a lot of people are into needle work such as needlepoint, crewel, knitting and old fashioned embroidery.

LIBERTY BELL REPLICA

Now on display at the Hobby Tree in the Corte Madera Center is this one-fifth size replica of the Liberty Bell, one of only 2,400 to be manufactured in connection with the nation's bicentennial celebration. Those wishing to hear the bell's pure E-flat note may do so by purchasing a "Shoot the Works" button which entitles them to one ring. Proceeds from the sale of the buttons will help finance this year's Corte Madera-Larkspur fireworks display.

Penney Points Out Hazard With Bikes

J.C. Penney Co. has reported a potential safety problem involving the front fork of approximately 110,000 bicycles manufactured in Austria by Juniorwerke Ing Franz Weiss.

Penney said the problem may be present on 10-speed, 5-speed, and 3-speed men's and women's Penney bicycles which were sold through stores and catalogs starting in late 1972.

Penney further pointed out that the problem involves only bicycles with a "made in Austria" decal affixed to the post which supports the seat. Bicycles with chrome-plated forks do not present any problem.

The company has urged customers who determine that they have bicycles with the potential fork problem to stop riding them immediately. Customers should return the bicycles for free fork replacement either to the nearest Penney store selling bicycles or to the in-store catalog sales center from which the individual bicycle was purchased.

Catalog customers who purchased by mail should contact the customer service section at the nearest Penney Catalog Distribution Center in either Atlanta, Ga., or Milwaukee, Wis.

Auction Buck Sale Is Slated

The Corte Madera Center Merchants Association wishes to remind everyone that the Auction Buck Sale will be held June 1 in the Central Mall.

Bidding will begin at 2 p.m. with a color TV to be auctioned off first.

CMC Auction Bucks will be the only valid means of bidding.

Endangered Species

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men have placed bounties on wolf pelts for more than 2,500 years. The animals have been speared, clubbed, shot, trapped, poisoned and machine-gunned from airplanes. They have been so decimated that today wolves are listed as an endangered species.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Psoriasis Sufferers Finding Day Care To Be Big Blessing

Psoriasis is not an infection and it is not contagious. This common disorder appears as itchy, silvery-scaled red patches on various parts of the head and body. Elbows, knees, and the trunk are the favorite sites. In scalp involvement, the red, sharp-bordered plaques usually are visible at the hairline. This silvery white scales are easily mistaken for dandruff.

Many victims have so little involvement that even their best friends do not know they have psoriasis. In addition, it tends to come and go and marked improvement may occur in summer following exposure to the sun. At the other extreme, we find those who are so disfigured and incapacitated, life is almost unbearable.

ALTHOUGH THERE is no sure cure, the majority of victims can be helped. Most psoriasis remedies are salves and ointments. Corticosteroids are popular and their effect is enhanced by covering the treated area with a plastic such as Saran Wrap. The latter keeps the medication in close contact with the scaly lesions over long periods of time. Tar, a well-established remedy, gives best results when it is followed by exposure to ultraviolet light.

Stanford Medical Center has day care facilities for psoriasis patients. The new setup is proving to be a blessing for those disabled by the psoriasis but who cannot afford the expense of three weeks of hospitalization or who are unable to leave their families.

ON ARRIVING in the morning, they may receive a tar bath followed by ultraviolet therapy. Anthralin paste (a tar derivative) is then applied. After lunch they may see a film or listen to a lecture on psoriasis. In the afternoon the treatments are repeated and then they go home. Day care of psoriasis is cheaper, does not disrupt their routine, and boosts their morale.

In the past decade, oral anticancer remedies such as methotrexate have been used successfully in the treatment of severe, extensive psoriasis. Azaribine, a newcomer in the field, recently was reported effective in 75 per cent of 600 patients. At this writing, it has not been approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

PLEURISY TREATMENT

H. T. writes: What is the treatment for pleurisy in a 69-year-old woman?

REPLY

The same as any other age: Antibiotics to combat the infection, salicylates or codeine for pain, and surgery if fluid or pus is present. The chest seldom is strapped with adhesive tape, because in a woman this age the skin is too sensitive. An elastic bandage is better.

TOBACCO IS OUT

A. E. writes: A friend of mine has Buerger's disease. Is it all right for him to smoke a pipe if he doesn't inhale?

REPLY

The relationship between Buerger's disease and smoking is so well established, I would throw away all my pipes if I had this circulatory disorder.

VALLEY FEVER

V. N. writes: During one of my annual visits to Arizona, I contracted valley fever. One lung has a large area of this fungus. Am I now immune to this disease or would it be unwise to continue going to the desert?

REPLY

You may be immune because the condition seldom recurs after the disease has healed. On the other hand, a friend of mine had the disease in one lung and it healed completely. Two years later, he developed the condition on the other side.

STARCHY SNACK

B. H. writes: If a person eats starch will she gain weight?

REPLY

No, because starch is poorly absorbed and adds little to the caloric intake. This practice is not advocated, but fatties add less poundage this way than when munching on chocolates or cookies.

BOWLEGS

Mrs. F. N. writes: I'm 35 and all my life have had a complex about my bowlegs. Would plastic surgery change the shape of my legs?

REPLY

Surgery would involve the bones rather than the flesh.

BEER AND GOUT

A reader writes: Is beer out in gout?

REPLY

The answerto your question depends upon the amount; overindulgence in alcoholic beverages may precipitate an attack of gout.

Girls Discouraged From Engineering

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — More women could become engineers if their parents would let them tinker with toy trucks instead of making them play with dolls and dishes, a college professor said yesterday.

"One trouble is that too often parents discourage daughters from playing with mechanical toys, helping father fix the car, getting grease on their clothes," said James H. Lawrence, chairman of the department of mechanical engineering at Texas Tech University.

"Parents want girls to play with dolls and dishes and help their mothers."

He said there are relatively few women in mechanical engineering, although there are plenty of jobs available for them. And one main reason for the lack of women in the field is the attitude of their parents.

Lawrence, who has two daughters, said that playing with dolls and helping mothers is just fine, but if a daughter has an interest in what her father does, it should be encouraged.

"Any industry that hires engineers is likely to hire mechanical engineers," he said, "but they have to perform whether they are men or women. The hiring is done on the basis of ability."

Sale Of Arts And Crafts Set July 4

The towns of Corte Madera and Larkspur have announced that there will again be a show and sell arts and crafts section in the festivities to be held in the Corte Madera Town Park on July 4.

Milo Illich of the Hobby Tree in the Corte Madera Shopping Center has agreed to act as chairman. He will be assisted by Georgella Amundsen, Lois Pierie and Nancy Ramsey.

Any child in the county is eligible from nursery school through high school, although most highschoolers prefer being listed in the adult segment of the show.

Any creative handmade object, except food items, may be manufactured and sold. While there is a $5 entrance fee for the adults, Illich said this would be waived for the children's segment. Set up time is 8:30 a.m., July 4 and the show officially begins at 10 a.m. and closes at 7 p.m., with time out to watch the parade.

Flyers and entry forms have been distributed to the schools in Larkspur and Corte Madera and are also available at the Hobby Tree, or you may call there or either of the town chamber offices and have one mailed to you.

Illich said more and more children have participated each year and that he hopes for more than 75 entrants this year.

Entry forms must be turned in to the Hobby Tree by June 24.

A STRONG BEGINNING

Backed by a misty cloud, these unfinished columns will become part of the Indian Valley Colleges arts and humanities buildings in Novato. Although they now appear as isolated columns, foundations, walls and roof soon will surround them. College officials are planning to begin using the buildings in the 1975 summer session. (Photo by Alfred M. Arn)

Hanna Ranch Plan Ruled Flop In Test

The master plan for the Hanna Ranch in Novato was given short shrift by a majority of planning commissioners and planners from throughout the United States at a recent course in Chicago.

Commissioner Albert Solnit said he set up a mock hearing on the plan before about 200 persons who were given information about Novato Planning Commission minutes and the environmental impact report.

Sixteen tables of planning commissioners, about 160 persons "passed on this thing," Solnit said, referring to the plan which calls for commercial industrial and recreational development east of Highway 11, north of Highway 37.

Four commissions said there was insufficient information "and the other 12 rejected it outright and said it bristled with adverse impacts," Solnit reported.

About "half voted to rescind immediately the commercial zoning (35 acres at Rowland Boulevard and Highway 101), Solnit said. "They didn't think it was the proper place."

Novato planning commissioners on May 14 accepted the environmental impact report on the proposed commercial and industrial development by a 5-1 vote with Richard L. O'Connell dissenting. Solnit was absent.

Commissioners continued until June 10 a hearing on a portion of the master plan, the area north of Lynwood Slough, including the proposed K-Mart center.

Solnit said he will bring the Hanna Ranch master plan up again at a short course for planning commissioners, under the auspices of the University of California, in San Francisco tomorrow.

A STRONG BEGINNING

Backed by a misty cloud, these unfinished columns will become part of the Indian Valley Colleges arts and humanities buildings in Novato. Although they now appear as isolated columns, foundations, walls and roof soon will surround them. College officials are planning to begin using the buildings in the 1975 summer session. Hanna Ranch Plan Ruled Flop In Test

The master plan for the Hanna Ranch in Novato was given short shrift by a majority of planning commissioners and planners from throughout the United States at a recent course in Chicago.

Commissioner Albert Solnit said he set up a mock hearing on the plan before about 200 persons who were given information about Novato Planning Commission minutes and the environmental impact report.

Sixteen tables of planning commissioners, about 160 persons "passed on this thing," Solnit said, referring to the plan which calls for commercial industrial and recreational development east of Highway 11, north of Highway 37.

Four commissions said there was insufficient information "and the other 12 rejected it outright and said it bristled with adverse impacts," Solnit reported.

About "half voted to rescind immediately the commercial zoning (35 acres at Rowland Boulevard and Highway 101), Solnit said. "They didn't think it was the proper place."

Novato planning commissioners on May 14 accepted the environmental impact report on the proposed commercial and industrial development by a 5-1 vote with Richard L. O'Connell dissenting. Solnit was absent.

Commissioners continued until June 10 a hearing on a portion of the master plan, the area north of Lynwood Slough, including the proposed K-Mart center.

Solnit said he will bring the Hanna Ranch master plan up again at a short course for planning commissioners, under the auspices of the University of California, in San Francisco tomorrow.

It's the real thing!

Imagine enjoying all the benefits of real leather: The touch, the texture, even the smell — a certain wonderful something hard to describe. We've taken a chapter from the Cadillac El Dorado and the Lincoln Continental Mark IV in designing this fantastic sofa.

Seat and back cushions are top-upholstered in rich genuine leather, as are bolster-arms, for long-wearing luxurious pleasure. Everything you could ever ask for in a leather sofa can be yours at this incredibly modest price. As with the El Dorado and Mark IV, non-wear areas such as outside back, side panels, etc., are covered in fine matching vinyl, so carefully and artfully matched, it is difficult to know where leather ends and vinyl begins. See this marvelous sofa for yourself!

Done entirely in leather, this sofa could easily sell for $800, $1000, or even more, but we are delighted to present you with the opportunity to enjoy the pleasure of leather in a big, supercomfortable sofa for just $599.

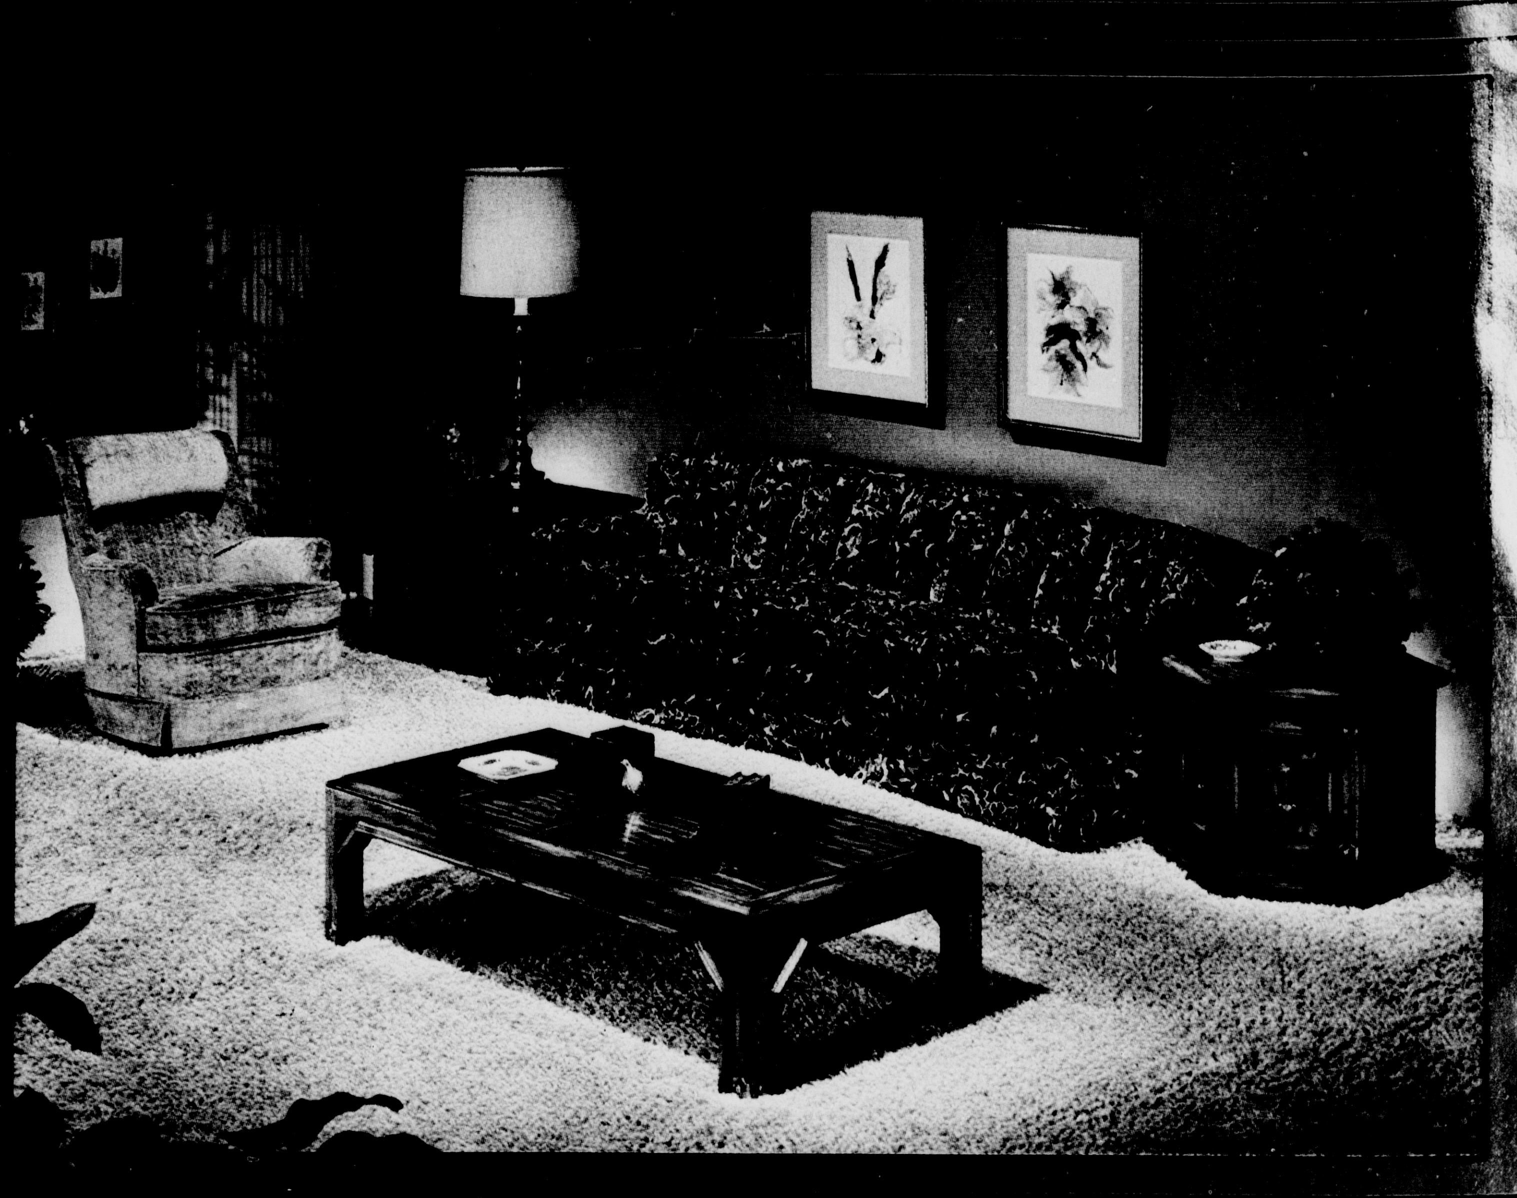
Superabundance Sale

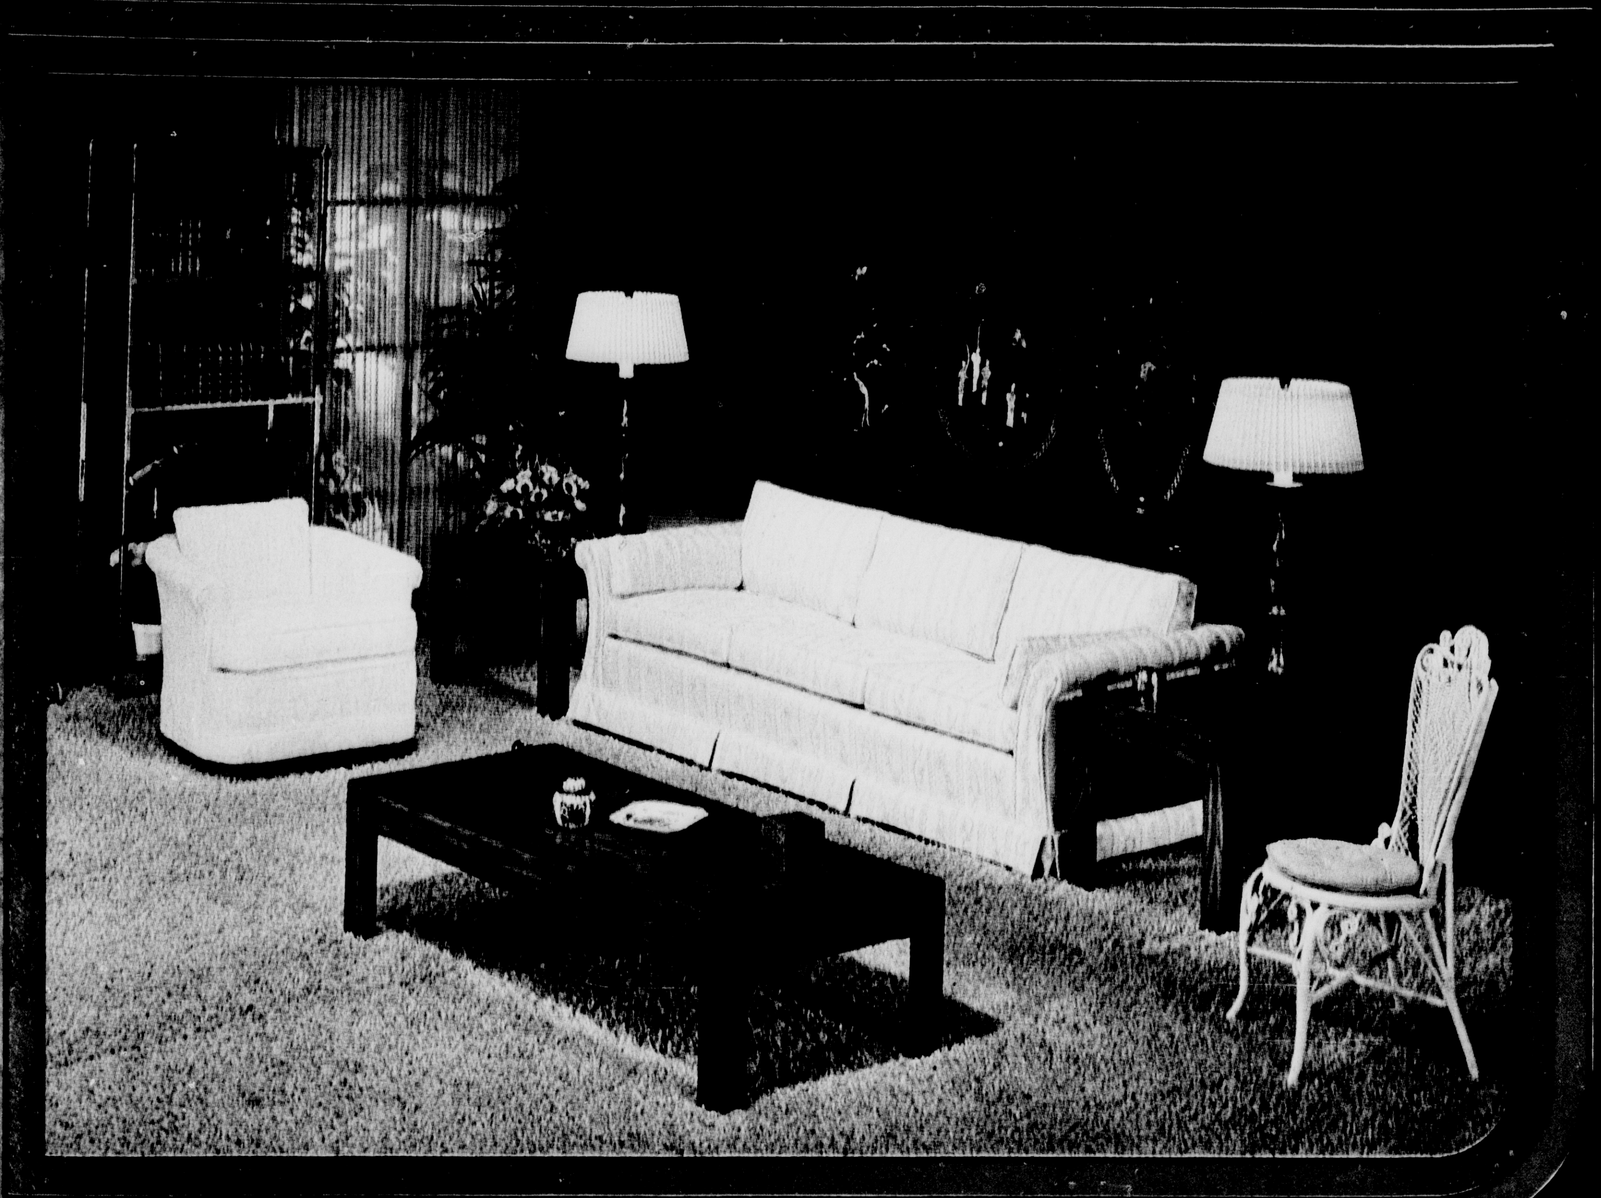
In a year full of shortages, you'll be delighted to know we have a wealth of values in store for you! In fact, we have a superabundance of them to offer as you'll see in these pages.

You'll find beautiful bargains throughout, all designed to help you enhance your home — to make it more beautiful and more comfortable — and since most of us will be spending more time at home these days, what better way to enjoy it more?

In the interest of fuel economy, please feel free to telephone for additional information on any of the excellent values in this brochure.

Well coordinated:





Warmly rich and distinctively different, a delightful collection in fine earthy tones, giving comfort wherever it goes. Beginning with a Parkview crescent shaped, channel-back sofa, upholstered in imported velvet, and quilted for that final touch of perfection. Self-welt and plump cushions, plus the fascinating texture of velvet create a sofa of rare charm. The chair, a warm burnished-orange pleasure to settle into, is done in practical yet elegant nylon velvet. High backed with built-in relaxing pillow, this chair features Marflex cushioning, self-welt, lined skirt and coil spring construction. The massively durable tables, by Bauman-Weitz, show inlaid parquetry detailing, hand-rubbed finishes with many coats of protective lacquering. The natural patina of fine-finished wood adds loveliness to the practical and richly carved storage tables to add an extra dimension to this fine furniture. A strikingly warm collection and very heartwarming values too!

Sofa	$ 399.	Square or
Chair	$ 169.	Hexagon Table . . .	$ 139.
		Cocktail Table . . .	$ 159.

Shapely elegance is the mark of this excellent Parkview sofa, and grace is the word for this entire setting by two fine manufacturers. The Parkview sofa is crisply done in lemon and white in a richly textured fabric, with all stripes carefully tailored and matched. Marflex cushioning, self-welt and coil spring construction for a look of lemon perfection you're sure to enjoy. The swivel chair, a bright lemon velvet, adds to this collection's bright cheeriness, and also features Marflex cushioning, coil spring construction, quality fabric and careful tailoring, and would look superb singly or as a pair. The tables by Bauman-Weitz, have a simple contemporary flair about them, and yet are so versatile, they add just the right eclectic touch to virtually any style. Hand-inlaid cross-fire veneers add detail to these fine tables, which have been hand-rubbed to a beautiful finish then lacquered many times to protect their warm finish.

The bookcase, a fun yet practical accessory, is finished in plated silver and gold: the glass shelving is tinted, and the overall effect is smashing — a go-anywhere bookcase to add interest to any room.

TABLE MATTERS

Here are a group of lovely tables to grace your manor! Hardwood bases and genuine Italian marble tops are the interesting features of these fine tables: "A" features the warmth of solid wood done in fruitwood finish and the delicate beauty of Italian marble; "B" features a formal brass gallery and solid wood base in antique white finish, topped off by lusturous Italian marble. "C", a classically elegant solid mahogany-based table with its genuine Italian marble top accompanies an equally classical velvet accent chair with hand-tufted back and seat, in your choice of decorator hues. An outstanding buy!

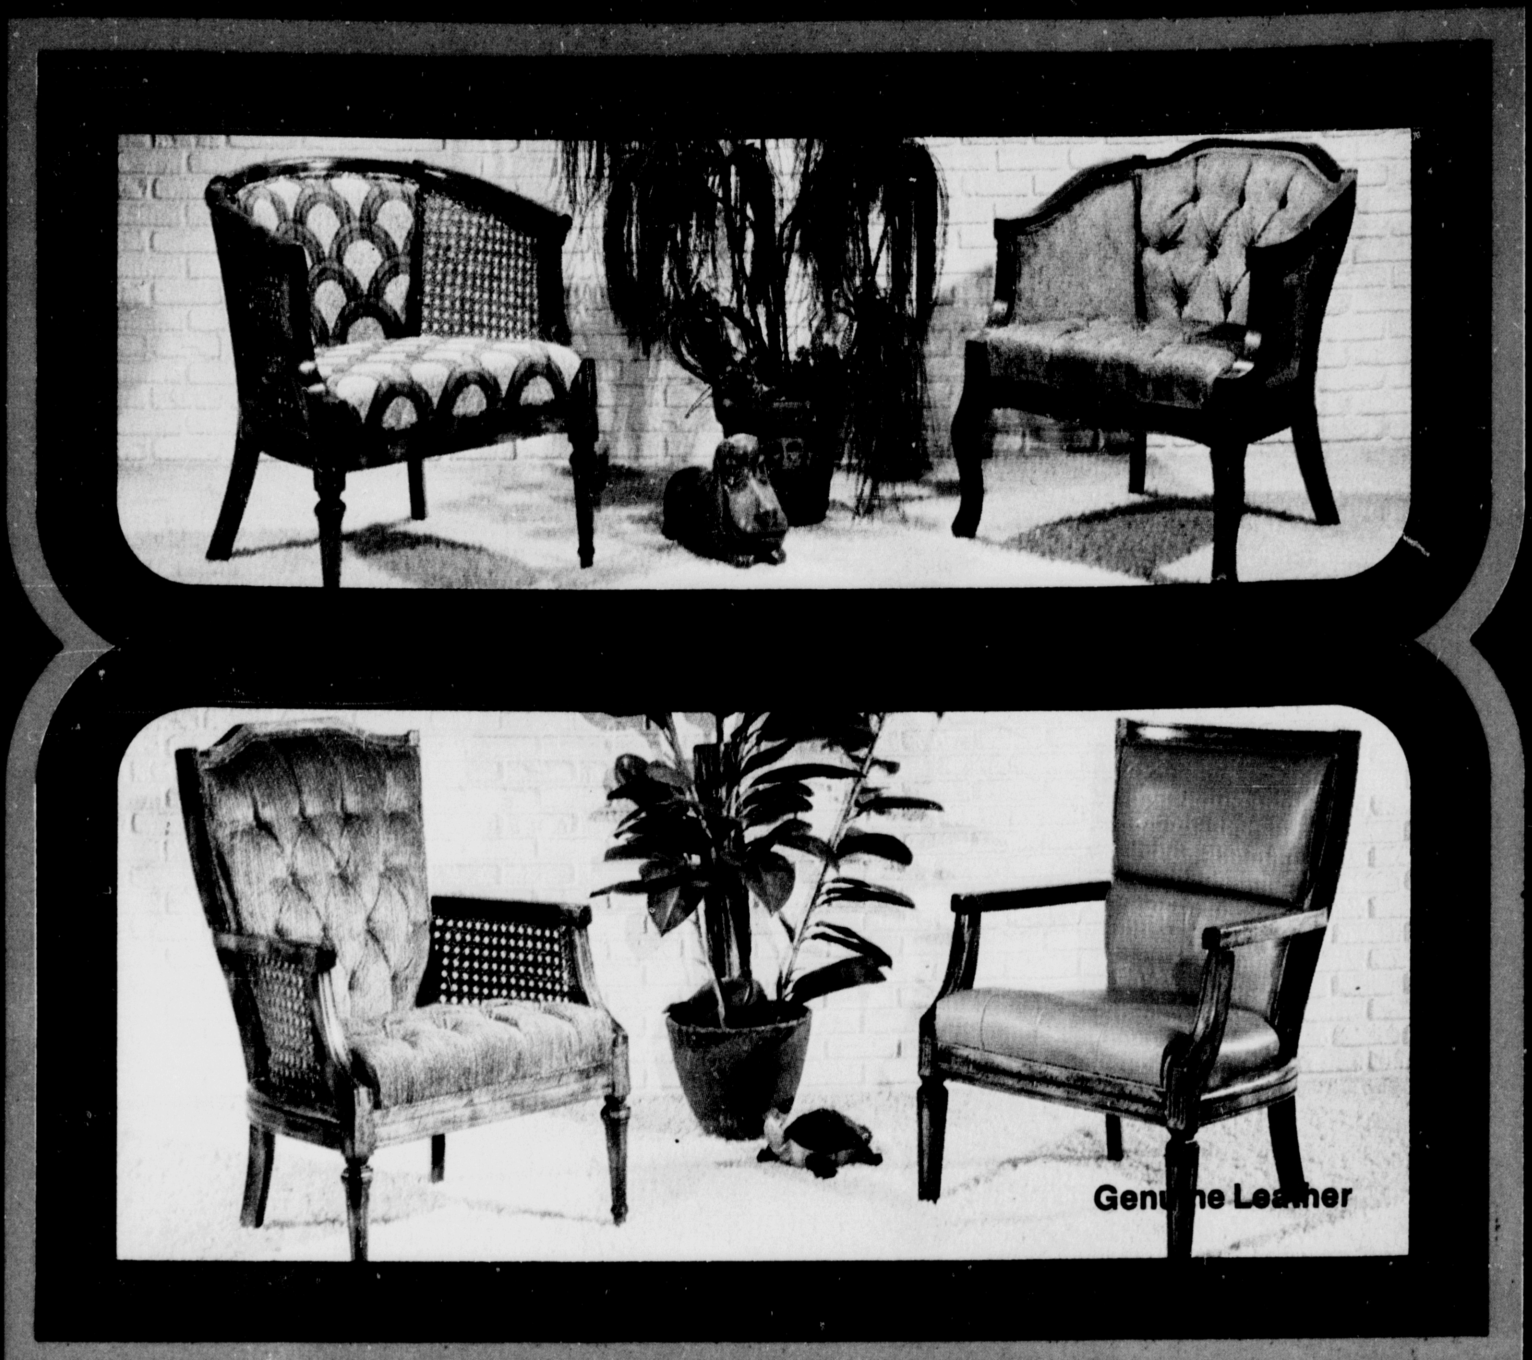
FOUR SPECIAL OCCASIONS



Four of the most special occasional chairs we've seen; each with its own personality, its own style, and each with a very special price. Four spectacular values you're sure to enjoy in your home!
The first (top photo, left) a cane-sided curved beauty with wood accent and hand-rubbed finish, is done in timeless styling and in a marvelously versatile fabric. The second (top photo, right), is traditionally designed with French turned legs, tufted back and tufted seat in luxurious velvet and hand-rubbed wood trim. Third (bottom photo, left), a high-backed creation with tufted back and seat, cane sides and hand-rubbed wood trim is upholstered in luscious velvet. Last, and very impressive, a simple and classically styled chair, upholstered in top-grain genuine leather. It's perfect for nearly any room in your home and its natural warmth and hand-finished patina will give pleasure for a very long time.

Chairs 1, 2 and 3, your choice $88.

Chair 4, leather-upholstered $166.

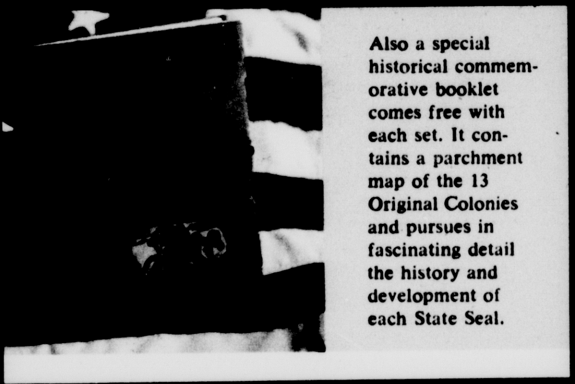
THE 13 ORIGINAL COLONIES BICENTENNIAL SPOON COLLECTION.

The world-famed International Silver Company has designed a set of 13 silverplated spoons depicting one of the seals of each original state. In addition to the seal in the bowl of each spoon the front of each bears the name of the state, the American Eagle and the date of which the state entered the Union. On the reverse side appears the crossed flags, today's United States Flag and the original 13-Star Flag.

International Silver Company includes a traditional display rack made of pine with a Salem finish typical of the Colonial period.



Also a special historical commemorative booklet comes free with each set. It contains a parchment map of the 13 Original Colonies and pursues in fascinating detail the history and development of each State Seal.
